62 MAY RECEIVE DEGREES AT END OF SUMMER TERM

Total for 1930-31 is 96, Record Number in Murray History

MURRAY'S EIGHTH YEAR CLOSES ON AUGUST 28

Breaking all previous records in number of graduates, Murray State College will close its eighth year of existence at the end of the present summer session, August 28, with the expected graduation of 62 seniors with bachelor's degrees to make a total of 96 graduates for the school year of 1930-31. Thirty-four were granted degrees in June.

According to the provisional list of applicants for degrees provided by Registrar Cleo Gillis Hester, 48 seniors have applied for bachelor of science degrees and 14 for the bachelor of arts degrees.

Records of the summer reveal that 781 students have been enrolled, marking a 14 per cent increase over the summer registration of 1930.

The list of seniors who have applied for degrees follows:

Bachelor of Arts—Valetta Brandon, Malone Cobb, Louise Davis, Mary Donoho, Mary Dunn, Frances Hillard, Annie McDaniel, Eugene Mitchell, Julian Peck, F. C. Pogue, Louise Swann, Mary Thompson, Volecie Walters, Myrtle Parke.

Bachelor of Science: Helen Allen, Betty Ballow, James Bowman, Pat Brewer, Ardith Canon, Emma Chambers, Clemmie G. Cox, Sarah Diggs, Frank Dunn, Ola Douthitt, Maurine Duncan, James Fisher, Thelma Flint, Albert Greer, Vada Grogan, William Grogan, Erma Herning, Rob Hicks, Mable Howard, Ruth James, Niva Jones, Emma Keel, Ralph Lents, Frances Linn, Oris McCall, Milodean McGowan, James Miller, Roselle Miller, Reanos Newton, Mrs. Wilma Outland, Harry Potts, Jessye Pryor, John Richardson, Earle Routon, Frankie Spicer, Wella Spicer, Fannie Stephenson, Ralph Suter, Lucille Throgmorton, Tommie Tolbert, Hattie Veal, Anabel Waters, Neva Watson, Walter Wells, Mozelle Williams, Iris Wilson, Searey Wooldridge, Orlando Magnus.

Club of Chemists Hears Dr. Nall in Regular Meet

Dr. James O. Nall, head of health education at Murray State College and a former resident of Clay, Ky., addressed the Chemistry Club July 21 on "Chemistry and Medicine".

"Medicine is a general term referring to the science, prevention, and cure of disease. In the early centuries medicine was chiefly an art, but chemistry has made it a science because it permits the use of drugs in the treatment of diseases," according to the report of Dr. Nall.

The college physician stated that in 1905 the American Medical Association established a council on pharmacy and chemistry to examine the worthwhileness and to make a report on them. The council never accepts patent medicines which are advertised through newspapers. Patent medicines are investigated by the bureau of investigation of the American Medical Association and reports are made on them for the benefit and safety of the public.

"There is no chemical when added to the bath water which will cause the loss of weight," announced Dr. Nall. This chemical was examined by the Medical Association and was found to contain Epsom salt, table salt, and Glauber salt.

Miss Katherine Simpson, Jerold Weatherford, and Fred Dink appointed on the committee.

Russian Cossack Chorus Gives Program

Murray Audience Is Pleased With Group

Clad in characteristic Cossack costumes, the Russian Cossack Chorus amazed concert-goers at Murray State College Wednesday evening, July 22, with voices of remarkable range, force, depth, and beauty.

Directed by Sergei Sokoloff, former Cossack officer, the group of artists combined vocal proficiency and intense feeling to express the tradition of the Russian people, and the exhibit the power of the voice.

If one thought he had placed too high a value on that which he had heard, the spirited and enthusiastic applause of the audience would reassure him that other hearers, too, felt the power of the human voice. Again and again the audience called the singers back.

Dressed in white Cossack garb, Sokoloff presented a contrast to the black costumed singers.

With deft, controlled movement of his fingers and arms, Sokoloff directed each singer. No gesture was superfluous. Each carried with it a suggestion of the artist who with skilled and dextrous fingers directs the music of the great instrument.

SERGEI SOKOLOFF

The singers were given solo parts in the concert, and each was applauded again and again.

The bass singer was recognized early in the performance for his low tones, and the facility with which he could range from the highest to the deepest bass note. The baritone added color and rich tonal quality to the parts which he performed.

Selections which were most applauded included, "Love Song" by Aht, "Prisoner's Escape" by Turencoff, "Medley of Folk Songs" by Sokoloff, and "Snowstorm" by Warlamoff.

For encores well-known numbers were used. "The Volga Boatman" was executed, "My Wild Irish Rose" earned the spirited applause of the audience.

As the audience called the singers back for their final encore, Sokoloff raised his hands and the group burst into "Dixie." Immediately the audience broke into thunderous applause which stopped only for the group to finish.

Each of the group who had done solo singing took his bow. The director was called back for a final bow, and he bade his hearers a goodby.

ORCHESTRA GIVES CHAPEL PROGRAM; MRS. BANKS VISITS

Training School of Murray State Has Charge of Assembly July 27

PROF. BUELL AGEY IS GROUP DIRECTOR

Sponsored by the Training School, the chapel program of Murray State College Monday, July 27, was presented by the college orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Buell Agey.

Before presenting the orchestra, Dr. Charles Hise outlined plans for "Picnic Day" on July 31. He also explained that the orchestra would complete its program which it had not finished on the preceding Friday.

President Wells presented to the audience his daughter, Mrs. Genevieve Wells Banks, of Port Wayne, Ind. He explained that when Dr. Carr was president of the college, Mrs. Banks was in charge of home economics, art, and music. Mrs. Rainey T. Wells was also present with her daughter in chapel.

The orchestra played the following selections: "Ching Chang" by E. Brooks, "Roses of Picardy" by Haydn Wood, "Indian Summer" by M. L. Loke, "L'Estonian" by E. Waldeufel, "Vito" by S. Lope, "Radoitzky" by John Strauss, "On the Road to Mandalay" by Oley Speaks, and "The Sunny South" by J. Bodeural Lampe.

Notes And Quotes From The Dorm

By Robert Sanders

Some of the men feel insulted if only one monitor is sent up to quite them.

There appeared on the bulletin board Tuesday, a petition against the "horn tooters" practicing in the dormitory. The men believe that there should be a place in every college for music but not two places.

If a fellow had to meet a class every time a bell rang, the proper wearing apparel would be a gym suit and track shoes.

Seventy-five men have already reserved rooms in the dormitory for next fall. The future promises more liveliness.

Harold Byrd is planning on writing a book entitled, "My first four years in college".

VISIT COLLEGE

Among the visitors at Murray State College Thursday, July 23, to hear Judge Camille Kelley of Memphis were Mr. and Mrs. James O. Finley of Guthrie, Ky.

Mrs. Mae Harris, who is employed to teach in the city school system of Guthrie next year, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Finley at dinner in Wells Hall Thursday. Mr. Finley is principal of the Guthrie High School and is employed this summer by the Compton Encyclopedia Company of Chicago, Ill.

Miss Wilhelmina Doepfner was the week-end guest of her parents in Paris, Tenn., July 24-26.

Instructor's Father Weds in Jackson

The wedding of Miss Ethel Jane Reed and Dr. H. E. Watters was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock in Jackson, Tenn.

Dr. Watters, the father of Miss Lillian Watters, instructor of music at Murray State College, recently resigned as president of Union University at Jackson to accept the presidency of Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.

The bride was graduated from Union during Dr. Watters' presidency and since receiving her master of arts degree from Iowa State College, she has been instructor of home management and home economics at Union.

MURRAY SELECTED HEAD OF CLINTON

Graduate of College Has Been Chosen Superintendent of Schools for Next Year

R. Clay Murray, Weakley County, Tenn., and a graduate of Murray State College in 1927, has been selected as superintendent of the city schools of Clinton to succeed Supt. F. J. Rouek.

Murray, who received his A. B. degree from Murray College in 1927, was a major in education, and was a minor in history and mathematics. He was a member of the Wilsonian Society and the World's Affairs Club.

Last year the new superintendent was superintendent of the schools at Dresden, Tenn. He was unanimously re-elected, but resigned to take the Clinton position.

Prior to his position at Dresden, Mr. Murray held two principalships. One of these was at Troy, Tenn., 1927-28, 1928-29. The other was at Henry, Tenn., from 1929 to 1930.

Dennis McDaniell, graduate of February 1931, was recently elected principal at Oakton, Albert Greer has been re-elected as principal at Beelerton. He will receive his degree in August.

Harry Potts has been re-elected principal at Shiloh. He will receive his degree in August.

Potts, Greer, and McDaniell have each succeeded a Murray student as principal. McDaniell will succeed Orlando Magnus at Oakton, Potts succeeded C. L. Manning at Shiloh, and Greer succeeded Dwight Crisp at Beelerton.

Baby Boy Born

Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Pasmore of the State College at Jonesboro, Ark., are the parents of a son, Frederick Howard, born on Saturday, July 25 at the Keys-Houston Clinic in Murray.

Mrs. Pasmore, formerly Miss Howard Wooldridge, is secretary of the State Federation of Art Clubs of Arkansas and was last year head of the art department of the Jonesboro State College. She was at one time head of the art department of Murray State College, a position which her sister, Miss Margaret Wooldridge, now holds.

Dr. Pasmore is head of the foreign language department of the Jonesboro College.

Dr. and Mrs. Pasmore will be at home to their friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wooldridge for several weeks Tuesday, August 11.

TRAINING SCHOOL GIVES SKETCH OF CHILD FAVORITES

Characters of Fairyland Are Portrayed on Stage of Auditorium

APPROXIMATELY 50 TAKE PART IN PLAY

All the characters of fairyland mingled together on the stage of the Training School Wednesday morning, July 29, as the Training School presented a program in the college chapel entitled "Children's Favorites".

Approximately 50 children from the first six grades of the Training School gave an exhibit of characters from stories and rhymes of children's literature. Mrs. Naomi Maple, fifth grade instructor, was chairman of the group. Critic teachers of the other grades are: Miss Lottye Suter, first; Mrs. Susie Beale, second; Miss Mary Gabbert, third; Miss Mattie Trousdale, fourth; and Miss Annie Kate Lockard sixth.

The opening of the curtain veiled a mother and her two children in a sitting-room. Mrs. James Deweese was the mother, while her small son and daughter were represented by Elizabeth Ray Finney and Joseph Robertson.

While their mother was reading a story of the three bears, the children went to sleep. Soon their mother joined them in their slumber and four elves came, bearing a huge volume of children's favorites.

While the pages, Zane Houston and Frances Gatlin bowed in the fairyland characters, soft music was played offstage. Scampering around the stage were Miss Muffet and the spider. Little Jack Horner sat in the farthest corner, and Little Red Riding Hood went into hiding.

The characters recited parts of rhymes and stories. Little Orphan Annie, The Raggedy Man, and Wynken, Blyken and Nod were each ushered in to the recitation of a rhyme. The Gingham Dog and Calico Cat fought on the stage as the clock told the story.

Uncle Remus hobbled on while the little boy begged for a story. Tiny Tim limped in on his crutches, and Little Boy Blue blew his horn.

The grand convocation of notables continued through the tales of Robin Hood and Little Bo-Beep until a page shouted that the family was awakening. Frightened lest they be discovered, the "Children's Favorites" scampered back into the pages of the volume.

The children, who had been asleep on the sofa awoke declaring to their mother that they had had a pleasant time.

HENLEY VISITS PARENTS

Eugene Henley, sophomore at Murray State College, visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Henley of Paducah, July 18.

Miss Ruth Rule, of Louisville, visited her cousin, Helen Tibbs, of Wingo, at Wells Hall Saturday, July 25. Miss Tibbs accompanied Miss Rule to the home of the parents of the latter at Mayfield Saturday afternoon.

YOUNG MUSICIANS APPEAR, DIRECTED BY MISS WATTERS

Students of Training School Give Program for College on July 30

PUPILS HAD STUDIED ON PIANO SIX WEEKS

Class piano students of Miss Lillian Watters entertained with a display of their year's progress in the auditorium in chapel on Thursday, July 30.

Miss Watters explained that all except four of the students she was presenting had studied only six weeks on the piano. Prizes were then awarded to the students who did the best work in their respective music classes. J. D. Hamilton, Billy Jones, and Rachel Linn were the ones to get their ear to the top of the hill first.

The program opened after the awarding of prizes with a scene of a children's costume party. Such characters as Amos 'n Andy, Friar Tuck, Alice in Wonderland, Robin Hood, Huckleberry Finn, and Little Red Riding Hood were introduced.

The queen's demand for magic music was gratified with Friar Tuck at the piano and the rest joining in vocal accompaniment. The numbers included piano solos, duets, trios and two dances.

The queen gave a Spanish number. Other pieces followed, but soon the Queen desired a wedding scene. So one of the students played the wedding march on the piano and the wedding party marched in with royal pomp. The Queen extended her hands and touched the to-be-wedded couple on their heads as she bestowed upon them her blessings.

"The ice cream and cake is ready," came the call from the dining room. The wedding party was demoralized, a mad scramble ensued and the stage was emptied in record time.

Mr. Caplinger complimented Miss Watters for the interest she had inspired in her pupils.

STAR GAZING IS POPULAR STUDY

Prof. R. R. Patterson Has Charge of Astronomical Observatory

The astronomical observatory recently established by the science department on the top of the administration building at Murray State College has proved to be interesting and fascinating to members of the astronomy class, who meet on every clear night from 9 to 10:30 o'clock to study the heavenly bodies under the direction of Prof. R. R. Patterson, superintendent of city schools, Mayfield, Ky.

A 4-inch refractory telescope, together with binoculars, is used for the observations. The class has made a special study of the planets, moon, constellations and nebulae. On observing the planet Saturn, the class was able to see three enormous rings surrounding the planet which distinguish it from the other planets. Three of the nine satellites of Saturn were visible.

Thirty constellations have been located and identified, and the brightest star of each constellation noted.

Observations of the moon were made during the first quarter phase, as this phase is the best for observations. The circular pits, craters, and spire-like mountain were clearly visible.

From 15 to 20 visitors including members of the faculty usually attend the observation, on one of these Dr. Wells observed with the class. The pupils are able to name 30 constellations, and the brightest star of each, according to a statement made by Mr. Patterson.

Wells Hall Co-eds Sign For Tables

The women of Wells Hall signed for the tables at which they wish to eat for the rest of the summer, Tuesday evening, July 21.

At one table is seated a group of girls who wish to talk French and it isn't unusual to hear such phrases "Passez-moi le pain, s'il vous plait" or "Je n'ai de la soupe". Many tables are composed of girls from the same community, while still another is made up of girls who have been seated together for six semesters.

Miss Stephenson Secures Post in Virginia

Miss Fanny D. Stephenson, senior in Murray State College, has been elected home economics instructor in Damascus High School, Damascus, Va. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stephenson, Paris, Tenn.

Miss Stephenson entered Murray State College in September 1930 and will receive her B. S. degree in August. Miss Stephenson is a member of the English Club and the Wilsonian Society.

She is a graduate of Hall-Moody Junior College, Martin, Tenn. She also attended Western Kentucky Teachers College, Bowling Green, Ky.

Miss Spencer Named in Hubbardsville, Ky.

Miss Jessie Spencer of Henderson, Ky., has been employed to teach in the primary department of the Hubbardsville Consolidated School for the school year of 1931-32.

In Murray State College, Miss Spencer is a junior. She is a member of the Allentown Society and of the Christian Association.

Murray College Is Host to Parents In Picnic Day

HARRY FARBMAN TO GIVE RECITAL

American Student of Leopold Auer Will Play on August 13, at Murray State Auditorium

Harry Farbmam, one of the world's outstanding violinists, will appear in the chapel assembly, Thursday morning, August 13 presenting one of the choice programs of the season.

Mr. Farbmam is an American artist, although the majority of his entertainments have been presented in South America and Europe. His tour to South America was made just after his graduation in Chicago, and also after the winning of the Auer scholarship given by Chicago.

In spite of the fact that there is noted prejudice in South America against those who come from North America in an attempt to present anything in the field of art, Mr. Farbmam was most successful. He gained a wide reputation as an artist while in South America.

This was clearly brought out by a statement made about him by the foremost critic in Brazil: "In my forty years experience as music critic, never have I been so thrilled by a violin as played by Harry Farbmam last night."

Although this distinguished artist is practically new on the American stage, his skill with the violin, together with his wonderful personality, has placed him at the top of the great list of performers. His American audiences have often referred to him as nothing short of miraculous, as an artist.

His programs are always begun very quietly and modestly, and then with something, as though magic, he causes everyone to lend a listening ear. Everyone becomes amazed at his wonderful control.

When asked to express his opinion in regard to American audiences, he stated, "To me they are the best audiences in the world to play to. But best of all I enjoy the audiences in the smaller cities, they are really ideal. People there go to hear the music, for the sheer love of it, regardless of the performers. And they are most musical I find. It is not the easy task, we hear it is, to select programs for them. Only the choicest of the repertoire, which are, as a rule, the most difficult to perform, interests them."

The New York Times writes: "Harry Farbmam gave a recital last evening, honored by the presence of his former master, Auer. Four years of concert tours to South America and Austria had developed the self command of the young artist, broadening his style to that of an individual interpreter."

MISS OVERALL VISITS INDIANA DUNES PARK

Miss Nadine Webb Overall, Latin teacher of the Training School of Murray State College, stated on a post-card to a Murray student that she had just returned from a picnic of a party of nine at Dunes State Park, Tremont, Ind., on Saturday, July 25. The Summit, a high point in the park, was pictured on the card. Miss Overall is taking graduate courses in the University of Chicago during the summer semester, but she will return to the Training School in September.

Miss Overall has her B. A. degree and M. A. degrees from Vanderbilt University and has done graduate work at Peabody College, at the American Academy in Rome, and at the University of Chicago.

921 Register for Festivities on July 31

F. J. SCHULTZ IS SPEAKER

Nine hundred twenty-one, parents, school administrators, and students registered at the Educational Picnic Day held at Murray State College Friday, July 31. Of this number approximately 400 were out-of-town visitors. States represented included Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, and Illinois. Fred J. Schultz, Sturgis, was principal speaker.

The entertainment of the day consisted chiefly of speeches, musical entertainment, a physical education exhibition, picnic dinners, and a free baseball game. Chief among the speakers were: Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president of the college; Claude T. Winslow, regent, Mayfield; Supt. Fred J. Schultz, Sturgis; and S. J. Snook, regent, Paducah. Dr. Charles Hise, acting president, was in charge.

Musical entertainment was under the supervision of Prof. J. H. Dameron, band director; Prof. Buell Agey, violin instructor; Mrs. Italy Conner, voice instructor; and Prof. Price Doyle, head of the music department.

Registration showed the following enrollment: Calloway 252; Graves 135; Henry, Tenn., 60; McCracken 55; Henderson 5; Weakley, Tenn., 40; Crittenden 21; Hickman 19; Daviess 4; Ballard 30.

Gibson, Tenn., 3; Lyon 17; Fulton 43; Caldwell 2; Hopkins 12; Stoddard County, Mo., 1; Carroll, Tenn., 13; Trigg 11; Carlisle 16; Morley, Mo., 2; East St. Louis 1; Gibson, Tenn., 1; Onan, Mo., 1; Detroit 1; Shreveport, La., 1; Steele, Mo., 1; Livingston 11; Jackson, Tenn., 1; Cairo, Ill., 1; St. Louis 2; Chicago 1; Union 1; Webster 8; Providence, R. I., 1; Elderado, Ill., 1; Muhlenburg 1; Maclean 5; Memphis 1; Louisville 1; Princeton 1; Nashville 1.

The program began at 9 o'clock with free lemonade and registration. Prof. E. H. Smith, director of extension. During this time the college band, directed by Prof. J. H. Dameron, gave a concert.

At 10:30 the group assembled in the college auditorium for the program of the morning. After several selections by the college orchestra the devotional services were held. The Rev. E. B. Motley, pastor of the First Christian Church, Murray, read the scripture lesson and led the assembly in prayer.

Dr. Wells Speaks
The address of welcome was given by Dr. Rainey T. Wells who outlined the work of the college and showed the opportunities that it offered students.

The magnitude of the college plant, the college faculty, college activities, the college personality were touched upon by the speaker.

Vice-Chairman S. J. Snook, when called upon for a speech, expressed his delight in having the group as guests of the college.

"Get sold on your job" was the advice of Regent Claude Winslow to teachers in his address. He also asked the audience to get sold on Murray State College. He paid tribute to the work of President Wells, and explained that no county or city could have done a better job with a college than Murray and Calloway county had done with Murray College.

At the close of Mr. Winslow's address the college chorus sang three selections.

Supt. Fred Schultz, head of the Sturgis City Schools, in the main address of the day pointed to the number of schools in America and quoted a German professor who said that America's chief contribution to world civilization was the public school system.

The morning's program closed with a selection by the college orchestra.

At noon the group ate picnic lunch around the table which extended from Wells Hall past the administration building. Many brought picnic lunches. The college furnished lunches to school administrators and to the college students.

In the afternoon the men and women's quartets presented the first part of the program. Physical education exhibits were presented by the physical education classes of the college.

Judge Kelley Addresses Students of Murray State

Is First Woman Juvenile Judge of South.

Judge Camille Kelley, Memphis, Tenn., first woman judge of the juvenile court of the South; second of the United States, addressed the students and faculty of Murray State College in chapel Thursday, July 23.

In introducing Judge Kelley, Dr. Charles Hise, acting president of the college, stated that she was interested in all young men and women. Mrs. Kelley's manner was gracious; intimate yet dignified.

She acknowledged the introduction by asserting, "If I didn't feel a closeness to what life represents to these healthy mentally and physically, I would be unfit to judge the poor unfortunate ones."

As to her technique of administering justice, she stated that she was by no set of rules. Only one-half the offenses brought to her mentioned in the law books. Besides, while the moron and high class crooks are able to omit the same crime, there is a justice in applying the rule to each. She seeks to help life linked with the living. She depends on this upon her ability to keep close to humanity that she knows its very heart beat by ear.

Judge Kelley has been judge of the juvenile court at Memphis for ten and a half years. As for women entering business that is all right, but she insisted that they must enter it as women. She was glad of her feminine qualities. If one tries to acquire masculine traits and manners when one becomes a misfit. Only with women as women and men as men can there exist perfect harmony according to this motherly judge.

Mrs. Kelley wore a white dress, in her hand she carried a round fan of unusual design. She immediately created the impression that here was one who was sympathetic and kind.

"Look Sweet!" She believed that it was proper for each woman to look her best. Don't think for one moment I couldn't dress up," she laughed. "Look the sweetest you can."

A balance must be kept between beauty of the body and beauty of the spirit and mind.

The greatest danger of this lies in the immediate response necessitated by speed. Nevertheless I wouldn't advise you to slow down. Speed mentally and spiritually so your body won't run in.

WILSONIANS ARE ENTERTAINED BY STOMPERS GROUP

Approximately 250 Hear Program Given July 28 by Orchestra

PERFORMERS MAKE SECOND APPEARANCE

An audience of approximately 250 listened with interest to the selections given by the Kentucky Stompers in the regular meeting of the Wilsonian Society of Murray State College, Tuesday, July 28.

Twice this year have the "Stompers" appeared before the Wilsonian Society. Among the selections given by the performers were: "Dream a Little Dream of Me," "You're So Different," "Nobody's Sweetheart," "After You're Gone," "Waltz You Saved for Me," "Dinah," "Coming Round the Mountain," "St. Louis Blues," and "Ding Dong Daddy from Dumas."

Since not all of the members of the orchestra could be present, Robert Mills Williams explained that those present would provide a program of request numbers. Those who appeared on the program were: Paul Bryant, piano; Howard Jolly, bass; Conn Linn Humphreys, saxophone and clarinet; Robert Mills Williams, vocalist; Dean Dowdy, vocalist and trombone; and Yewell Harrison, saxophone.

Members of the audience called out the names of popular numbers which they desired the Stompers to play.

COLLEGE STUDENT HAS TRACK RECORD

Jerrold O'Bryant Will Head Track Team at State University.

Jerrold Duke O'Bryant, special student, son of Mrs. W. W. Gregory, Santa Anna, Calif., who lives however with his grandfather, Mr. H. M. Vaughan, Clinton, Ky., holds the University of Kentucky record for the mile run of 4:35.4. This record was made against the University of Tennessee team last season.

Mr. O'Bryant has made the track team at the University of Kentucky for three consecutive years as well as the cross country for two years. He has engaged in track meets at the University of Cincinnati, University of Louisville, and ran fifth in the mile event at the Southern Conference meet held at Birmingham last season in which Kentucky placed eighth with 17 teams competing.

He has been elected captain of the track team at the University for next year. Mr. O'Bryant attended the University of Southern California in 1928-29 and will be a candidate for the degree of bachelor of arts at the University next year.

Miss Watters Visits Parents in Jackson

Miss Lillian Watters, instructor in piano, at Murray State College, visited her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Watters at Jackson, Tenn., July 18.

Dr. Watters, former president of Union University, has accepted the presidency of Georgetown College in Kentucky.

Miss Juanita Hawkins spent the week-end at the home of her parents in Clay, Ky. Miss Virgie Derrington spent the week-end with Miss Voice Walters, of Melber, Ky. Evelyn Shaw of State Line, Ky., spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Shaw.

Rooster Breaks Into Society

BY W. D. COX

A big white, red combed rooster smashed the windshield of Miss Jessie McLain's new Chevrolet to smithereens on the morning of July 20 while the student was on her way from Cottage Grove, Tenn., to Murray State College.

The action of the rooster inflicted cuts about Miss McLain's face and limbs and he flew in the face and lap of Miss Jennie McLain who was in the back seat. She also received minor bruises along with Miss Louise Call who was seated with the driver.

The glass was swept out of the car and the rooster was thrown to the side of the road as dead. The rooster soon recovered, however, and escaped at full speed.

Miss McLain does not remember how she managed to stop the car when the episode took place, but expects to find out from the chapter on memory in Psychology 101, which she missed that morning.

The rooster knew his psychology for he struck the windshield at the psychological moment, broke into society, and made a hit with Miss McLain and her sister.

A plausible explanation for the actions of the rooster is that he was trying to hitchhike to Murray State College to enroll in a course. As it looks now the only course he will ever take will be the main one on some festive board. In the meantime he can crowd about making a hit with the girls, while they are thinking about a new windshield.

MURRAY DEFEATS DIXIE POOL 7-6

Haynes Allows Tennessee Nine Eight Hits on College Field July 23.

In the opener of a 2-game series, the Murray Collegians took advantage of four passes in the first inning and then hopped on Stewart for four safeties in the sixth to defeat the Dixie Pool team from Henderson, Tenn., 7-6, on the college diamond Thursday afternoon, July 23.

Haynes, winning pitcher, allowed eight hits. Stewart yielded five safeties in six innings, while Farrell left down the Kennedys with one hit in three frames.

Jeffrey's single to right, a pass to Dewees, a bingle by James Miller, a base on balls for John Miller and Allen, a wild pitch to the plate by Stewart in the first frame allowed three Murrrayans to cross the plate.

Stewart then settled down and the Collegians went hitless until the sixth when, following a base on balls given to James Miller, Allen tripped to right. Stewart heaved a wild pitch, walked Haynes, and permitted Holland to double to center. Shaw singled to left and Jeffries raced home on an attempted double play. Murray collected a total of four failures before the inning ended.

Farrell, a young left-hander who went in for Stewart in the seventh, struck out six Kennedians in the last three frames. Haynes held the Henderson club to one single until the fourth when he gave a base on balls to Simmons. This counted for a tally when Holland found Lowrance's grounder too hot to handle.

Simmons opened the sixth for Henderson with a single to center, but was forced at second by Lowrance who was safe at first. Lowrance stole second and crossed the plate on Robertson's single. King, who batted for Davis as the seventh opened, struck out, but Farrell was safe at first. Stewart then hit for the circuit, accounting for two runs.

Henderson's final scoring came in the eighth when Milton galloped from first to third on Davis' double and came home on a wild throw from left to third. Farrell then lifted one over short to score King.

DANNACHER TO RETURN
According to information on the campus it is understood that Charles Dannacher will return to college in the fall to take up his work where he "left off" at mid-semester of the school year 1929-30.

A former student of the college, Miss Olive Seaton, of West Paducah, visited friends in Wells Hall.

ALLENIAN SOCIETY HEARS ROTARIANS; 350 ATTEND MEET

Dr. E. B. Houston Presides Over Program at College

ROTARY INITIATES BAILEY AS MEMBER

The Murray Rotary Club entertained the Allenian Literary Society of Murray State College Tuesday morning. Approximately 350 attended the program, which was characterized by the Allenians as one of the best of the year.

The entertainment opened with a number of songs by some of Murray's leading citizens, with Mrs. Roy Farmer at the piano.

Each member carried a cane and wore a white hat with the Rotary emblem and the Rotary badge in his lapel. Dr. E. B. Houston, chairman of the club presided. Each member was introduced.

Charles Day, visitor of the club, sang two solos: "Rosary" and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." Then began the demonstration of initiation of a new member with Rotarian Herbert Bailey, Murray jeweler, as the subject. The candidate was presented by Mayor Ed Filbeck.

The Rotary badge was presented by Hall Hood, who stated: "This badge represents not your occupation or wealth, but your name. Your name stands for something."

Since Rotarians are not known as Mr., Dr., or Hon., the new member was given the name of "Herb".

The code of ethics was read. The points included: To serve society. To improve myself, increase efficiency. Realize I am a business man. Fair exchange of goods. Elevate the standards of a vocation in which I am engaged.

E. J. Beale, W. J. Caplinger, T. A. Sanford, and Luther Robertson sang "Sweet Adeline". E. J. Beale was scheduled to play the accordion, but he lost his key. He entertained the audience with songs.

The Rev. Ernest Motley gave the six principles of Rotary: Encourage and foster the idea of service. Efforts to support ourselves and families. Foster and encourage high standards in business and community or "Golden Rule". Development of acquaintances for the ideals of service. Worthiness of all occupations, and international peace. The three things for which Rotary stands are: World fellowship, world friendship, and world peace. The assembly sang "America" and Dr. Rainey T. Wells dismissed the group.

"JINGLE BELLS" IS CHAPEL SONG; DR. HIRE SPEAKS

Prof. C. P. Poole Conducts Devotional Exercise in Program

ACTING PRESIDENT DEFINES DEMOCRACY

"Dashing through the snow." These were the words of a "seasonal song" sung in chapel at Murray State College, Monday morning, July 20, as a preliminary exercise to the speech of Dr. Charles Hire on "Democracy". Prof. C. P. Poole conducted the devotional.

Prof. Price Doyle led the audience in singing "Flow Gently Sweet Afton", "Jingle Bells", and "America". He explained that "Jingle Bells" in July was a "seasonal song".

Dr. Charles Hire, acting president of the college, gave as his definition of democracy: "An institution in which all classes of influence are recruited from the poorer classes".

He added that in his opinion this definition was the best that could be made.

Plato's "Republic", he explained, is an outline of the theory of justice in government. Education is the channel through which people of the lower classes reach the top and there become leaders of the world.

Democracy was compared to a pond wherein the mud supplies the material for producing a lily. So in government the lower classes must supply the basis for the leadership and progress. He quoted Mr. Lowry in saying that when "everything gets so bad, somebody steps in and takes a hand".

Mr. Poole read 10 verses from the eighth chapter of Proverbs in the devotional exercise.

HILLARD-STEPHENS

Miss Lauratitia Hilliard, former student of Murray, was married Thursday night, July 23, to W. A. Stephens Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stephens, of Bardwell. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Turk of Bardwell. The Rev. Eugene Murray officiated. Mrs. Stephens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Turk of Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Banks and Son Visit With Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Wells at Edgewood; Entertainment Given

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Banks and their little son, Gordon Rainey, of Fort Wayne, Ind., are visiting Mrs. Banks' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Rainey T. Wells, at their home, "Edgewood," Murray, Ky. Mrs. Banks was one of the out-of-town guests at the entertainment given by the J-O-Y circle of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church at the home of Mrs. Rainey T. Wells from 4 to 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, July 28.

Approximately 100 guests were present at the entertainment. Games and contests were played, but the main feature of the program was a song contrasting the old fashioned woman with the modern girl. The first part of the song gave the differences in the ways of the two, but the concluding part showed that they were just about the same as in former days.

One group of the singers appeared dressed in old fashioned costumes while the other group wore modern lounging pajamas. The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Fayette Gilbert, Jackson, Tenn.; Mrs. J. T. Thompson, Hickman; Mrs. J. B. Knight, Tampa, Fla.; and Mrs. Gordon Banks, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The refreshments consisted of punch, ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Banks was formerly Miss Genevieve Wells. She was the first teacher employed to instruct in the music department of Murray State College, 1924-27. She taught violin, piano, and theory. She also directed the band and the orchestra.

Mrs. Banks received her musical training in Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and Chicago Musical College.

Since her marriage three years ago, Mrs. Banks has lived in Fort Wayne. Shortly after going there her musical talent was recognized by the European School of Music in Fort Wayne and she was employed as a member of the faculty of the school where she taught for two years.

"I see a marvelous improvement in the music department of Murray College every time I come home" was the statement made by this teacher who was the first to begin the progress of the department.

HENDERSON WINS 1-0 IN 13 INNINGS

Murray Collects 6 Hits, While Robinson Gives Visitors 9 Safeties.

A double by Rainey, scoring Jester, enabled Henderson to defeat the Murray Independents, 1-0 in the thirteenth inning of the final game of the two game series on college field Friday, July 24. In giving Murray their third defeat of the season, Henderson's pitchers allowed Murray but 6 hits while their mates were gathering 9 safeties off the offerings of Robinson.

Robinson pitched air-tight ball until the tenth inning when the Henderson batters began to find him for two hits in each of the tenth, eleventh and thirteenth innings before putting over the winning run. Robinson struck out 6 Henderson men.

Jett, starting pitcher for Henderson, allowed 4 well-scattered hits but gave way to Farrell, left handed high school pitcher, who finished the game allowing Murray 1 hit and striking out two Murrray men.

Batteries: Robinson and Dewees; Jett, Farrell and Lawrence.

Field Agents Give Favorable Reports For Fall Semester

"We have been very busy this summer, and I think, doing some worthwhile work," stated Prof. E. H. Smith, head of the extension department of Murray State College.

"The three field representatives of Murray College are doing exceptionally good work. They have visited and reported about 500 prospective students each. This is an unusual report," he added.

The field workers are: Max B. Hurt, principal of Water Valley; J. B. Cox, superintendent of schools, Clay, Ky.; and R. B. Chrisman, junior in Murray College. His home is in Henry, Tenn.

A teachers' meeting was held in Smithland, Friday, July 25, at which Mr. Smith spoke on the subject of "School Organization". W. L. Matthew, superintendent of the Training School at Bowling Green, Ky., was also present and gave a talk.

Mr. Smith stated that there was a study center organized in Cadiz of Geography 214, which will be taught by Prof. W. M. Caudill, of Murray. Students were scheduled to begin Saturday, July 31. During the absence of Miss Martha Kelly, who is away on her vacation, Miss Ruby Austin has been acting as secretary in the extension department.

Leath To Teach in Faxon School

Dalton Leath, sophomore at Murray State College, has been employed to teach the fifth and sixth grades at Faxon High School in Calloway County next year.

At present, Mr. Leath is attending the summer session of the college and will start teaching in September. He is a member of the college male quartet and has membership in the Allenian Literary Society.

Mr. Leath is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Leath of Clinton, Ky.

Miss Laura Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ferguson, visited her parents at Edgewood over the week-end July 24-25. Miss Vivian Hart spent the week-end of July 24-25 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hart, New Madrid, Mo.

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS PRESENTS COLLEGE COMEDY

"Fourteen" is Drama Presented by Miss Burch's Pupils on July 22

ALICE GERTENSBERG IS AUTHOR OF PLAY

The students and faculty of Murray State College were entertained in chapel Wednesday morning, July 22, by Alice Gertensberg's one act play "Fourteen", which was given by Miss Inez Burch's play production class.

The characters were as follows: social climber, Reva Kemp, Dixon, Ky.; Elaine, her charming debutante daughter, Reta Warford, Kevil, Ky.; Dunham, the capable butler, Harold B. Moody, Eldorado, Ill.

The play was directed by Miss Burnedeen Olive, student, Cottage Grove, Tenn. Other members of the play production class served as stage hands.

The play was laid in the dining room of Mrs. Pringle. She was preparing to give one of her most brilliant dinners of the season. A young millionaire was invited that he might become acquainted with Elaine.

Places were set for fourteen when a message came saying that one of the guests could not come. His absence left only 13 guests. Mrs. Pringle immediately prohibited this catastrophe. Soon, however, she was notified that another guest could come. Then it developed that such an arrangement was impossible.

Mrs. Pringle set about to invite new guests only to find that she had too many. This situation was righted when the millionaire who was to be a special guest sent word that he couldn't be present.

The hostess began to berate the millionaire, saying that never again should she give a dinner. This tirade was stopped by the information that two guests were at the door. It developed that the guests were the Prince of Wales and his secretary. The millionaire had found it necessary to leave, but had sent able substitutes.

The millionaire was forgiven, the hostess forgot her harsh words, and ended the scene reminding her hearers that at last everything was all ready to make her party a sensational success.

Miss Kemp characterized the social climber by portraying the scheming, intriguing mother, and the hostess who attempts to give successful parties.

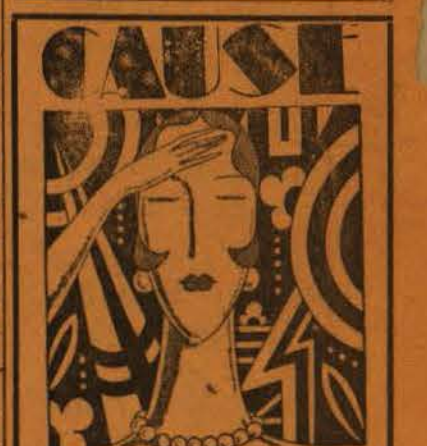

Elaine represented a daughter who is dominating by her mother. Everything from Elaine's hair to where she should sit was regulated by Mrs. Pringle.

Dunham was a well trained butler, who changed the service as often as guests changed their minds about coming.

Duke Mayfield Is Visitor at Murray

Duke Mayfield, graduate of Murray State College, visited on the Murray College campus Wednesday, July 22. He attended the program of the Russian Cosack Chorus.

While attending the Murray College, Mr. Mayfield was managing editor of the College News and president of the Christian Association. He will serve next year as principal of Pilot Oak High School in Graves County.

Student Editorials

Lucky Freshmen!

To aid new students in adjusting themselves to an unfamiliar environment at the opening of the fall semester, seniors of Murray State College might well follow the example of those of the University of Illinois.

According to a recent announcement by the administrators of the Illinois institution, the fourth year students will assist the freshmen through the ordeal of registration. To shield Murray's new students from the buff of a blunderful and blue-begetting registration day seems a worthy service of upperclassmen for the newcomers.

Murray State College last semester enlarged its force of assistants in registering, but still further can the college help its neophytes by posting two or three student advisers at each table in the gymnasium in order to facilitate and quicken the process, the perplexities and tiresomeness which have to collegians become the dread of September.

WHAT TIME IS IT?

"I do not see a clock in the auditorium so I don't know just how much longer I will be allowed to speak," said Judge Kelley in her speech before chapel, Thursday, July 23. Perhaps this is not the first speaker who has noticed this lack of a time piece in the auditorium, but it was the first time any speaker had given voice to his or her observation.

A large clock should be placed in some appropriate position in the auditorium which would be convenient for both entertainers and listeners. The College News realizes that when they are of the calibre of Judge Kelley, should be given more time.

However, many speakers talk overtime, musical programs are run overtime, and many announcements are held until the last minute. The result is that classes are shortened and the third and fourth period instructors suffer especially for their lack of time necessary to instruct properly their classes. Students likewise suffer the consequences by not being allowed their allotted time in these hours.

Speakers should be told beforehand as to the amount of time given them, and a clock should be placed in the auditorium in order to remedy this situation.

Be Reasonable

The College News believes that the programs presented in chapel during the first six weeks of the summer session were in general interesting, educational, and enjoyable.

Talent in the school was exhibited by various departments. Citizens of Murray entertained, and several famous persons spoke and gave musical programs in the presence of the student body. Among the best of the summer were: Harry Gilbert, New York composer and artist; Dr. Gus Dyer, professor of economics and sociology at Vanderbilt University and editor of the Southern Agriculturist magazine; Miss Ver Haar, who sang in Sweden as soloist with the Sweden Choral Society of Chicago; the Rev. F. H. Oert, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Paducah; the Rev. Jesse Wells, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Paducah; and Dr. Rainey T. Wells, whose addresses have always merited the best of attention.

In spite of this imposing array of chapel speakers and artists, there are always a few pessimists and knockers who complain against chapel-going.

If these persons look on life with the same adverse view-point the College News fears that there will be nothing worthwhile in store for them anywhere in the world.

PAVED ROADS TO THE INTELLECTUAL MECCA

Elliot C. Mitchell, a leading thinker of western Kentucky, and publisher of the "Sun Democrat", the largest paper published in this part of the state, advocates that there should be paved roads leading into Murray, which would make it the "intellectual mecca" of this section.

On the front page of the Sun Democrat, July 24, Mr. Mitchell said: "Often as I go to Murray I never fail to marvel at the transition the Teachers College has brought about. Listening to the beautiful programs in the spacious hall, it is impossible not to envy those who live there their good luck and applaud them for their success."

He said that he wished he lived where he could have ready access to its facilities, but knowing the impossibilities he returns home reproaching the state for the lack of paved roads into the locality.

Programs are presented four days out of a week in chapel at the Murray State College. Famous speakers and musicians often appear at that meeting. Various concerts are staged each semester in the auditorium which are free to the public.

During the fourth week of this month, ending the day the article written by Mr. Mitchell, appeared in the paper, there were presented in the auditorium: The Russian Cossack Chorus; Judge Kelley, the only juvenile judge ever appointed in the South and who has served in Memphis for 11 years; a play was given by the play production class of the college; and an orchestra concert.

Unpaved roads prevent many people from seeing and hearing these interesting and educational programs. There are visitors at every program and many of them have to come over the same unpaved roads that Mr. Mitchell does or roads worse. The roads leading into Murray come from the four main directions. They lead in from Mayfield, Ky., on the west; Hopkinsville, Ky., on the east; Paducah, Ky., on the north; and Paris, Tenn., on the south. If these highways were paved more people of Western Kentucky could receive the benefit of the advantages offered by the city and Murray State College.

It is to the advantage of the whole commonwealth that the roads be paved.

"JUDGE KELLEY"

Judge Camille Kelley of Memphis, Tenn., the only woman Juvenile Court judge South of the Mason Dixon line and the second woman to be appointed to her position in the United States, gave one of the most interesting and inspirational lectures before the student body, July 23, the College News believes, that has ever been delivered in the auditorium of Murray State College.

Judge Kelley has a charming personality. She has served for ten and one-half years as judge and stated that from 350 to 365 cases were brought before her monthly. This woman of unusual ability seems to understand human nature and the reactions of mankind. She sincerely believes in the young people and has the utmost confidence in the coming generation.

"I believe," she said, "the people of this age and hour are better than those of any past age."

She believes society is responsible for most of the crimes. The judge worked for a bill that was passed in Tennessee and Mississippi that fixed a period of five days between the application of a marriage license and its issue to applicants under 21. This of course reduces the percentage of divorces as a result of hasty marriages.

If more people would take the interest in welfare of the human race and society that Judge Kelley has taken, there would be fewer cases brought before the Juvenile Courts in the United States. Her faith in youth has inspired her to be of this great service. The reward to her faithful service is happiness.

We Thank You Mr. Norris

Mr. Norris, of Guthrie, Ky., a gentleman at the age of 87, who reads and studies at his home, is a godfather to many of the students that have attended and are attending Murray State College.

With optimistic views of the coming generation, Mr. Norris has donated a fund of $20,000 to the college to be used as it sees fit. It was decided by the board of regents, with the consent of the donor, to use the money as a loan fund for the students.

Students borrow the money on liberal terms to finish their college work. "At the present," stated Dr. Hire, "there is great demand for this fund."

To many students this fund is essential for them to complete their work in college. As a result of this donation better teachers are sent out to teach. They have more ability and are better prepared to perform better service to the commonwealth.

A letter in the "Point of View" column of the Courier Journal June 22, signed W. M. W., headed "Kentucky Normal Schools" stated that there were 24,000 licensed teachers and 16,000 jobs. This fund has a tendency to help this situation in that it raises the qualifications of the teachers sent out from this institution.

May there be more good men like Mr. Norris.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

In advocating that the bridge across the Tennessee River be named "Irvin Cobb", Fred Newman of the Paducah Sun-Democrat compares the idea to that which prompted the naming of the Wells Hall.

A part of his article in the Twice-a-Week Leader follows: "The name of 'Irvin S. Cobb' fits the big bridge exactly. Naming it after a living individual is a good way of scattering flowers while the recipient can appreciate them. That is what Murray had in mind when it called one of its large college units Rainey T. Wells Hall; what Paducah thought of when it called its leading recreation center Bob Noble Park, and what the nation had in mind when the largest dam in the world was christened Hoover Dam."

Uncle Aleck Says

Some people would not be so talkative if they only spoke their minds.

Them's Our Sentiments

A Murrayan said to me one day, "Murray has something to be proud of."

"Yes, we do have a good school here," I replied.

"While that is true," he agreed, "I was thinking of our splendid campus. If I were a poet, I would like to be able to describe the beautiful panorama that spreads out before me when coming suddenly upon the campus at night from a drive in the country."

"The sparkle of lights; the contrasting shadows of rectangular buildings; winding walks and drives; tall, slim trees everywhere with shrubbery beneath; flower beds and a carpet of green; a campus bench and a couple listening to the karydids lyre... This would make a perfect setting for a poem."

"But it doesn't always take a poet to see and appreciate the beautiful," I countered. "As Dr. Carr often quotes: 'Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree'."

"Yes, that expresses it," the Murrayan concluded. "But I wonder if some of us are like the man who couldn't see the forest for the trees when it comes to appreciating the natural beauty of the college campus."

These are not the exact words between a student and a Murrayan, but them's our sentiments.

"KENTUCKY"

One state is known as "Old Kentucky"
In which the sun is spilled in pools;
It makes us feel we're all in luck
To know her free and tolerant rules.
A state of radiant maidens fair—
Her horses are known as thoroughbreds;
We work and play in her balmy air,
With faith in God Divine o'er head.
Her fields are spread with coats of blue,
And feed of course the best of stock,
Which graze this grass of soothing hue,
That springs from a soil of limestone rock.
The home of daring Daniel Boone
Who traveled lonely toward the west,
But tarried for the deer and coon;
Kentuck in game led all the rest.
The home of famous Nancy Hanks,
The mother of Abraham Lincoln;
'Twas here he led in wisdom's ranks
And built a sense of kind emotion.
The native land of Henry Clay
Who's known for his powerful eloquent speech—
His name is loved and cherished today;
His thoughts are topics for teachers to teach.
She intervened the North and South
And tried to curb a national battle,
Which she could see like a famine drouth,
Would down her boys like helpless cattle.
Until at last the pressure great
Aroused to arms this state of rest,
To union and confederate
She gave of her manhood the best.
She's rich in coal and oil wells rare
And full of kindness for the stranger
Who passes through her portals fair
And heeds the temptation to linger.

Home Economics Department To Have Practice House as Part of Smith-Hughes Requirements at Murray State College

By Katherine Simpson

A practice house will be maintained for home economics students as a part of the Smith-Hughes program at Murray State College, according to the statement of Miss Lyda Muse, head of the home economics department, in a recent interview with a College News reporter.

Other members of the department are Miss Elizabeth Lovett, Benton, and Miss Sunshine Colley, Farmington.

"There has been an increased enrollment of students in the advanced courses of home economics over the previous semester enrollment," stated Miss Muse.

The department is trying in every way to meet the needs of the students taking Smith-Hughes work, as required by the state. Therefore advanced courses are being added as they needed.

The practice house will be rented near the college campus next spring, and there the instructor with four or six women will live for a period of nine weeks. In this house the women will get practical experience in all phases of household management.

Through the work of the instructor and the large enrollment of students the department has extended so that additional rooms have been added at different times. At the present time part of the old library office is considered as being added as a dining room. "Also a promise has been to have all the windows screened," said Miss Muse.

New equipment is being added in each of the departments. The latest piece is a new electric machine in the sewing room which is in the liberal arts building.

The department has made progress in the last few years. A club was organized seven years ago, but Miss Muse states in 1930 this club became a national affiliated member of the American Home Association and the Kentucky Home Association.

Miss Lyda Muse, head of the department, is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. She received her master's degree from Columbia. For the past three years she has been teaching in Murray College.

Miss Elizabeth Lovett, another instructor, is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has been teaching in the college and Training School for the past four years.

Not until this summer was it necessary to have a third faculty member added. Miss Sunshine Colley, graduate of the University of Kentucky, is now teaching in the college and Training School.

DR. WELLS SPEAKS IN FARMINGTON

Addresses Gathering on "American Citizenship" on Tuesday, July 21.

Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president of Murray State College, spoke on "American Citizenship" at Farmington Tuesday, July 21, at a community meeting arranged by the Mayfield Lions and the Homemakers of Mayfield.

Murray's Will Rogers, E. J. Beale, entertained with accordion selections and a humorous talk. Other speakers included R. C. Butterworth and Clinton Jones. Introductions were by Robert Humphreys and Claude T. Winslow.

As the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Wells laid stress on the cooperation of counties and state. Good roads and schools and what they have accomplished were also brought out in his talk.

Mr. Beale declared "That was one of the best speeches I ever heard Dr. Wells make and it was enthusiastically received by his audience."

Mr. Lewis Chippis of Birdsville, Ky., was the week-end guest of Philip Gardner in the men's dormitory July 25-26.

TUCKER SPEAKS IN VESPER MEETING

Murray High School Student Addresses Christian Association.

Bruce Tucker, age 15, Murray High School student, addressed the Murray College Christian Association Sunday evening, July 28.

His next text was taken from Obadiah 1:11: "In the day that thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots upon Jerusalem, even then thou wast as one of them."

After a song by the assembly, Pat Brewer read the scripture lesson and Miss Jessie Spencer led in prayer. R. T. Parker and Dalton Leath sang "Is It You". They were accompanied by Miss Tennessee Parker.

Miss Lucy Glass gave as a reading "The Selfish Giant" by Oscar Wilde.

After reading his text, Mr. Tucker explained that the city of Jerusalem had been attacked and had fallen while her people were content to stand by and look on while their city was being destroyed.

He showed that many persons today are content to look on. Many enjoy the citizenship of the world but do not contribute anything. There are those who knock against the church and government. The speaker classed these as "driftwood along the shore."

"Where would we be if our grandfathers had not been willing to contribute to civilization? We must contribute if we would have the paths of our children made easier. The world does not owe us anything," stated the speaker.

Mr. Tucker pointed out that there were two kinds of critics, constructive and destructive. He showed that the world needed more of the former, and fewer of the latter.

The speaker showed that in international relations no country can stand alone and have life, health, and prosperity.

In conclusion Mr. Tucker insisted that persons should not be mere onlookers, but that it was "great to be out where the heaviest troops belong and fight for God and man."

Miss Mary Donoho spent the week-end of July 24-26 with her parents in Fulton, Ky.

"Geneva Is Most Interesting" Writes Dean John Wesley Carr in Letter Dated July 8 Concerning His Tour

In a letter to Prof. L. J. Horton, dated July 8, Dr. John W. Carr, dean of Murray State College, writes: "To my way of thinking Geneva is the most interesting city which we have yet visited."

Dr. Carr sent extracts from his diary in which he tells of the marble tablet in front of the building now occupied by the League of Nations, with the inscription "A Memoriam de Woodrow Wilson, President des Etats-Unis, Fondateur de la Societe des Nations."

"Three events of world wide importance have taken place in the council chamber of the city hall of Geneva since my birth," said Dr. Carr. "In 1862 the Congress of Geneva organized the Red Cross now known and honored throughout the world."

"In 1873 the first arbitration commission met to settle the Alabama claims. These claims grew out of the damages done to the United States commerce by the Confederate Steamship 'Alabama', which was fitted out in England. The pictures of both the American and British delegations adorn the walls of the celebration hall."

CRIME IS THEME OF H. B. MOODY

Burt Burkhardt and Jess Beadles Give Vocal Selections at Vesper Meeting.

Harold B. Moody, Murray student, addressed the Christian Association of Murray State College on "Crime and Its Causes" Sunday evening, July 19. Burt Burkhardt and Jess Beadles sang.

The meeting began with a song. Mrs. Marion Happy Allbright played the piano, and Glenn Morrow led singing. The scripture lesson of the evening was read by M. N. Cooper. Miss Frances Westerman led in prayer.

Accompanied at the piano by Miss Mary Louise Graves, Burt Burkhardt and Jess Beadles sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord".

Moody began by speaking of crime today. He mentioned a survey made by the College News, and by an Ohio professor which were made relative to the amount of crime news published in papers.

Five or six chief causes were pointed to by Mr. Moody, and the underlying factors were discussed. Home environment was shown to be one of the chief factors in crime. This point was proved by statistics made by criminologists.

The elements of home environment which play a part in crime included: divorce, lack of parental control, parents addicted to alcohol.

The economic factor was next discussed by the speaker. Depressions, periods of unemployment, and poverty were shown to enter into the crime wave.

Density of population was proved by statistical information to be a large factor in crime. While 16 per cent of the adult male population of the United States live on farms, only 3.5 per cent of the crime committed is by the rural group.

Negroes and the foreign born element were next discussed. A list of the public enemies of America included mostly persons who were foreign born, while cities wherein there was a large negro population had large crime waves. The speaker showed from statistics that where the negro lived to himself, and where the negro was educated the amount of crime was practically nothing.

Heredity and diseased parents were shown to be responsible in large part for crime. The Jukes family was pointed to as an example of this point.

In the last point Mr. Moody discussed the education element. Many criminals he explained were very ignorant. The difficulty of drawing a definite conclusion was shown, however, when the speaker pointed to the cases of Loeb and Leopold.

Concluding Mr. Moody showed that to abolish crime America must get at the roots of crime, the causes shown above. Not until these roots are rooted out, he continued, shall we be able to rid ourselves of crime.

A Happy Day

The Picnic Day at Murray State College was a success. To prove this statement one needed only to observe the happy faces present when the spacious tables were spread at 1 o'clock Friday on the college campus.

Parents were there—proud of their sons and daughters who were attending college at "the best institution in this country." School boards and school officials unbent a little from their dignity to smile complacently at the festive board.

The faculty members, likewise, appeared almost human, and seemed to forget Homer, Napoleon, Shakespeare, Differential equations, and absentee cards.

The program was inspirational and instructive. All the speakers stressed the importance of education and the advance made by Murray State Teachers College.

And those students who regret that the day passed all too quickly may console themselves by the fact that ONLY 365 DAYS REMAIN BEFORE THE NEXT PICNIC DAY.

Assistant Coach Stewart Elected for Murray State

Is Scheduled For Duty in Murray August 1.

Roy Stewart, who was scheduled to report for duty on the football coaching staff of Murray State College, August 1, is an outstanding leader in athletics.

He resigned the position of head coach of Union University, Jackson, Tenn., which he has held for four years to accept his position. In addition to coaching football, he will be connected with the physical education department of which Prof. R. L. Montgomery is head.

Mr. Stewart obtained his first college work at Rush College, Texas. He was an outstanding football star while there. Then he entered Union University from which he received his degree. During all this time he was a four-letter man, and was rated by many as the best player on the team. He was especially known for his broken field running.

The coach was a member of the A. T. O. fraternity of which he was president one year. He married Miss Ryan Jones of

Director Predicts 25 Per Cent More Students in Fall

That Murray State College enrollment, September 18-21, 1931, will increase 25 per cent over the 1041 students registered last fall is the conservative prediction of Prof. E. H. Smith, director of extension.

This institution last September had 82 per cent more students than were present in the preceding year.

Although the offering of a business course is under discussion, Dr. C. H. Hire, acting president, asserts that there will be no changes of importance made in the fall course of study.

The schedule of the fall work is posted on the third floor of the liberal arts building in the women's gymnasium.

The tentative list of courses follows:

STUDENTS APPLY FOR CERTIFICATES

Thirty Make Applications for Standard Certificates to be Granted on August 28

Thirty students of Murray State College have applied for standard certificates to be issued at the close of the present summer session, August 28. Others will probably be added.

The provisional list of applicants as provided by the registrar of the college, Mrs. Cleo Gillis Hester, follows:

Maurine H. Allbright, Martha Ella Boothe, Mary Helen Broach, Maurine Bullock, Pearl Darnell, Gladys Adams Darnell, Mary Hawthorn Davis, Novella Elkins, Earline Hall, Mrs. Mae Harris, Chloë W. Haynes, Eloise Kester-Mozelle Lynn, Francis MacLean, Mary Lou Megary.

Hazel Moore, Vila Morris, Katherine Whitened Nance, Novella Shelton Rawls, Nola Riley, Gilie Norman Rose, Louise Scott, Jennie Spencer, Mrs. Beulah Pace Stratton, Mrs. Essie Cross Taylor, Thelma Roberts Tolley, Helen Tyler, Imogene Walker, Mrs. Ethel L. Williams, Roy H. Willoughby, and Roy S. Yates.

Prof. W. J. Caplinger, superintendent of the Training School, talked to the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church of Paducah, Ky., Sunday morning, July 19.

Miss Lockard, sixth grade critic teacher, entertained her students and practice teachers with a watermelon feast Wednesday, July 22.

The students of the primary and elementary grades of the Training School arranged a characterization in the college chapel on Wednesday 29. This presentation is the outgrowth of the work in literature covered by these students. The characters were representatives of the literature studied in each of the grades beginning with the "Mother Goose Jingles".

The program was under the direction of Miss Naomi Maple, assisted by the teachers of the first six grades.

Approximately 125 children will put away books for play on Friday, July 31, when the first six grades of the Training School will complete the work of the summer school.

W. D. COX EXPLAINS DEBT MORATORIUM

Addresses World's Affairs Club Tuesday at Murray State College.

W. D. Cox, Murray, spoke before the World's Affairs club of Murray State College on "Prosperity and the Debt Vacation" Tuesday, July 21.

His speech follows: "Hope and expectation that this proposal will receive confidence and promote prosperity among all peoples". This is the gist of President Hoover's reply July 9 to President Von Hindenburg's message of July 7 expressing gratitude for the successful culmination of the moratorium plan.

This plan provides for the suspension of the war debts under the Young Plan for one year. Tentative provisions have been made to spread this payment over a period of five years. All nations affected by the war reparations payments have approved the plan. France however is not in absolute accord with the details of the plan, but has argued to let experts provide means to put the plan in operation.

Under this plan Germany will not be allowed to make any naval or military expenditures during this year. She may have to suspend the customs agreement with Austria in order to negotiate a huge loan.

In order for the moratorium plan to be a success Germany must have a loan of about $500,000,000. It has been suggested by the nations that they will make the loan to serve as a first mortgage on Germany and have priority over war reparations.

Demands of Trade
In diplomatic negotiations, France has asked certain political and financial demands of the United States and England in regard to the huge loan for Germany. One of the reasons why France has not come to complete accord on the moratorium plan is that she is holding out for financial guarantees that Germany will pay, and is asking for certain political appeasements from Germany. Germany was notified to this effect in a conference in Paris, July 18-19, in which France stated that she would be ready to talk terms on the debt vacation plan as soon as these demands were met.

The Young Plan has not followed the original course as mapped out by experts. The basis of the young plan was that war reparations were to be paid out of Germany's export surplus.

Everyone who heard the address said that he "enjoyed the speech".

Prof. W. M. Caudill, sponsor of the club, stated "People can get more out of a talk like this than they can by reading papers for some time."

The next meeting will be August 4.

Dr. Chas. Hire

Mr. Stewart attended Northwestern University one summer. At another time he had a coaching course with Knute Rockne. This summer he is working on his M. A. degree at the University of Missouri, majoring in physical education.

Since he has been at Union he has turned out many successful high school coaches. Among these are:

Dick Stewart, who turned out the state championship team of Tennessee last year; Stripling of Newborn, Tenn., and Kaywood of Lexington, Tenn.

SOKOLOFF GIVES VIEWS ON MUSIC

College News Editor Interviews Famed Director of the Cossack Chorus

Sergel Sokoloff, director of the Russian Cossack Chorus, which sang at Murray State College Wednesday evening, July 22, swung a free arc with each loosely clinched fist.

"Indeed, yes! The governmental troubles in Russia are certainly affecting her music and musicians," translated the interpreter, Mr. Nantuloff. The director of the Russian Cossack Chorus was interviewed by a representative of the College News at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, July 22.

"You see," he explained, "the present government encourages everything that is for its own interest; and the people must make something to live on."

He paused. Waving his left hand, "That is one side," he informed. "The other is that the new government will not tolerate that which revives the glory of the old regime. It is most surely affecting Russia's music progress," he concluded gravely in a soft and deep tone.

Quizzed concerning music's future in America, the calm artist smiled and teased: "You mean jazz?" Though the necessity for a mediator forced a more formal interview, his mild, bland, smile expressed directly, and he dismissed the "jazz" which sounded more like the "as" in "was" than that in "as" on his tongue.

"Great progress in music is being made by American musicians," the Cossack-uniformed director confidently affirmed. "The Chicago boy who returned to his city after having studied in France and who wrote 'Camille' gave sure evidence of America's progress."

Distinctly not of the highly nervous and "temperamental musician" type, the bland Russian appears to be patient, gentle, and polished in manner, and happy of humor.

"The young audiences, and we have performed for many colleges and universities, prefer classical music, while the United States as a whole seems to hold as a favorite both the classical music and the folk songs," he observed. Tchaikowsky and Rimski-Norska are the Russian composers most liked in America, he declared.

The narrow black belt winked out of sight as Director Sokoloff bent his firm and stocky body forward in his chair. "Italy, the country where we began our concert tours, gave us our most enthusiastic receptions," he exclaimed, "and Spain too!"

High black boots, long coats, flashing sabers, and long bows—the Cossacks had come!

—Louise Davis.

J. C. RANSOM TO SPEAK AUGUST 7

Rhodes Scholar From Vanderbilt University Will Address Students in Chapel

John Crowe Ransom, professor of English at Vanderbilt University, will address the students in the faculty of Murray State College Friday morning, August 7, at 10 o'clock. The subject will probably be "Oxford." He was secure by Dr. Herbert Drennon, acting dean.

The instructor received his A. B. degree from Vanderbilt University in

Elementary Schools Are Praised by President Wells

Urges Continuance of Equalization Fund.

The four teachers colleges of the state are united to make of major importance elementary school teaching, and the college presidents intend to advocate the continuance of the equalization fund at the next General Assembly, according to Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president of Murray State College, in a chapel address Monday morning, July 6. He paid tribute to the rural school teachers.

The president, who had just returned from a two weeks absence, began his address with the statement that the policy of Murray college for the next year was to make of major importance better teaching in the elementary schools of the state. He explained that he intended to promote a program whereby he might aid the schools, with special emphasis on the rural schools.

Dr. Wells became reminiscent as he talked of the rural school. He explained that he had just heard the tone of a school bell, which had awakened old memories. Barefoot boys and girls with their slates and with presents for their teacher were described by the Murray educator.

The privilege and the responsibilities of teaching in the rural school were pointed to, as the resident spoke of the work that he country teacher was doing and his influence he possessed.

Better Pay
In regard to the effort of the teachers college heads, Dr. Wells said that the heads of the four state institutions were going to oil and work with the state legislature until the country teachers "are paid paid like college professors are paid."

Discussing the equalization bill, he Murray head advised the teachers to go to the candidates or representative and senator to discover their attitude toward continuing the equalization fund. He said that perhaps the state cannot afford it, ask them if the teacher can afford it, continued the president.

Throughout his address the president used as a text the parable of the talents. In conclusion he reminded his hearers of the lesson the parable taught, saying:

ing that a person who was well trained and loved children has the greatest opportunity to serve in the elementary school.

Do as the men did when they were given their talents. "When you are given talents don't try to get by, but do efficient service," Dr. Wells concluded.

COACHES RETURN FROM TENNESSEE

Prof. Carlisle Cutchin, Prof. John Miller Attend Coaching School at Memphis

Prof. Carlisle Cutchin, varsity coach, and Prof. John Miller, freshman coach, returned from Southern University, Memphis, Tenn., Thursday, July 2, where they have been taking a two-weeks course in coaching of football, basketball, and track, under the direction of Wallace Wade, coach at the University of Alabama, and his staff.

Lectures on football, basketball, and track were given in the morning by Jess Neely, assistant football coach at Clemson University, and James Haygood, athletic director at Southwestern University.

In the afternoon methods of tackling, blocking, charging, and plays of offense and defense were demonstrated by Wallace Wade and six members of last year's football team.

Training School Sends Students to Paducah for Test

Three boys of the Training School of Murray State College went to Paducah July 9 to take a nation-wide intelligence test sponsored by the Central Press Association. The Murray representatives were Charles Sherffius, Charles Pomeroy, and William Cutchin.

The Central Press Association divided the United States into six districts. The Paducah Sunday Democrat was the sponsor of this district.

The test, which was a general test, was given to the young men and they had four hours in which to answer the questions. The papers will be graded and the winners of each district will be notified.

The winners will be sent tickets to New York where they will sail on the S. S. Vulcania for a two-months cruise of the Mediterranean Sea and a tour of Italy.

Charles Sherffius is the son of Mrs. H. C. Sherffius of College street and a graduate of the Murray Training School in 1931. Charles Pomeroy is the son of C. Perrin of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a relative of Mr. J. H. Dameron of the music department of Murray State College and a senior at Murray Training School. William Cutchin is the son of Carlisle Cutchin, head coach at Murray State College, and is a junior in Murray Training School.

MURRAY NINE TOPS PARIS, TENN., 4-3

Merchants Have Won All Five of Their Games This Season

Winning in all their five starts of the season, the Murray Independent baseball team defeated Paris, Tenn., in a thrilling game staged at Murray, July 9, by a score of 4-3.

Hugh May's pitching was the feature of the game. He went into the box in the seventh with the bases full, and allowed no one to score.

Walter Wells' home run over the right field fence in the eighth gave the Murray merchants the winning margin.

Murray collected nine hits while Paris received only 4, but Murray made four errors and Paris only one.

Batteries for Paris were Tucker-Williams, for Murray, Robinson, May and Dewese. Umpire, Allman.

DENTISTS TO SPEAK

Two Murray dentists, Dr. Hugh McElrath and Dr. B. F. Berry, will give health talks to the Murray Training School assembly on July 20.

Dr. McElrath is to speak on "Care of the Teeth," while Dr. Berry will talk on "Care and Treatment of the Gums."

MUSIC FEATURED BY WILSONIANS

Prof. J. H. Dameron Presents Clarinet Solos at Meeting

Music was again the feature of the Wilsonian Society's regular meeting Tuesday, July 14, in the auditorium building. About 200 members attended.

Opening the program, Prof. J. H. Dameron, instructor in the music department, played two clarinet solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hazel Graham. His selections were "Serenade" by Badinet, and "Lightning Flingers" by Filmore.

Substituting for Joe English, who was scheduled for trumpet solos but was not present, Garvice Douglas played two banjo solos and accompanied them with his voice. They were "Tell Me With a Smile" and "A Cottage Small."

Dean Dowdy and Laudell Atkinson, with trombone and trumpet, played two duets. The numbers were "The Seize of Rochelle" and a waltz, "Flower of Damascus."

A "quartet of three" composed of Harold Byrd, Dean Dowdy, and R. T. Parker, sang two numbers. For an encore, and having found an additional member, Mr. Atkinson, the quartet gave its version of "Sweet Adeline."

Prof. Buell Agey of the music department, who was scheduled for violin solos, was unable to be present. The Wilsonians' president, Harold Moody, assured the audience that it would have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Agey in the future.

Extension Directs Speaks on "Jesus, A Social Worker"

Prof. E. H. Smith, head of the extension department of Murray State College, addressed the college Christian Association Sunday evening, July 12, on "Jesus as a Social Worker." Miss Jessie Pryor gave a reading.

Thomas W. Watson read the Scripture lesson from John 13:12-20. Miss Mildred Alcock led the group in prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Tommie Tolbert, secretary.

Professor Smith showed that in the works of many writers religion was playing a smaller part. He showed that many were discrediting the work of Christ on the grounds that what he did was idealistic and not practical.

"Jesus came that there should be a happier life in the home and in social activities," showed the speaker. "Any careful meditation will make us agree with this statement," he said.

No writer, speaker, or leader has been so practical as Christ was the assertion of Professor Smith.

That one of the most harmful things in the social order today is social greed, was the statement of the extension head. Christ saw this social evil and laid down the principle of the Golden Rule. It need only be applied, the speaker continued, to solve the social and economic problems. Impractical? he queried. If all nations would apply that rule their troubles would be solved.

Pessimism was shown to be among the great curses of the age. Among the pessimists were included those persons who believe in making life on earth worse while, but who say there is no hereafter.

Jesus tried to make living conditions better on earth. He aided the sick and administered to the helpless, yet he taught of something beyond.

Paul was an optimist. Even as he wrote his last letter to Timothy urging him to follow Christ, he knew that the next day he was to be executed. Yet he was optimistic and he penned the lines, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

Miss Pryor gave as her reading selection, "Home" by Edgar A. Guest.

The services were concluded with a song by the assembly, and the benediction by Prof. A. B. Austin.

WALKER ELECTED LEADER OF CLUB

Student From Bruceton, Tenn., Is Named Head of World's Affair.

Fred Walker, Bruceton, Tenn., was elected president of the World's Affair Club of Murray State College Tuesday morning, July 7.

Other officers elected were: Fred Phillips, Murray, vice-president; Louise Mays, Pryorsburg, secretary-treasurer; Prentice Lassiter, retiring president, Mr. Phillips and Miss Mays were appointed on the program committee.

The club decided to meet every two weeks as usual.

Prof. W. M. Caudill, sponsor of the club, stated: "Mr. Walker was an active member last fall when he got hurt, and I appreciated the fact that he is interested more now than ever."

No program was given since the speaker had been unable to prepare his talk.

WHITAS-CHAPMAN
A former student of Murray State College, Miss Ann Whitas, was married to James G. Chapman of Courtland, Miss., Saturday afternoon, July 4, in New Orleans by the Rev. T. B. Brown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whitas, 331 Twenty-sixth street, Cairo, Ill. She is a graduate of Wickliffe High School and she attended Murray State College during the summer of 1928-29. She has been teaching in Ballard county for several years.

Mr. Chapman is connected with a company in Atlanta, Ga. He is a graduate of Tate High School, Charlotte, Miss., and a student of A. and M. College, Mississippi.

Copeland-Watwood
Miss Evelyn Copeland, a former student of Murray State College, and George Thomas Watwood of Barlow, were married at Wickliffe Saturday, July 4. The Reverend Mr. Rollins officiated.

Mrs. Watwood is the daughter of A. O. Copeland of Bardwell. She enrolled in Murray last year as a freshman. She will teach Wright district school in Isle county this year.

Mr. Watwood, a farmer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watwood. They plan to live near Barlow.

GILBERT PRESENTS PIANO SELECTIONS

New York Composer and Artist Gives Impressive Program at Murray State.

By Helen Shemwell
Through a personality that charmed and a masterful touch that held his audience spellbound, Harry Gilbert, well known composer, pianist, and organist of New York, won the applause and admiration of the students of Murray State College and a large number of visitors in chapel Thursday, July 9.

Mr. Gilbert, a native of Paducah, Ky., has studied at the Cincinnati College of Music and in Berlin at the Sternchen Conservatorium under the direction of Hans Pfitzner.

For the past 11 years Mr. Gilbert has been organist of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City and conductor of the Choral Club called the "Gilbert Singers" which give two subscription concerts a season in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Plaza.

Mr. Gilbert is a member of the board of governors of the Musicians Club of New York City and a member also of the board of governors of the Dutch Treat Club of which Irvin Cobb, O. McIntyre, Rupert Hughes, and Rex Beach are members. Among its membership are editors of the larger Metropolitan newspapers and many well known publishers as George Putnam, Doubleday, Doran, and Stokes.

In his first group of selections Mr. Gilbert presented "Pres de la Mer" by Arensky, "The Juggler" by Moszkowski, "Nocturne" by Grieg, and "County Gardens" by Grainger. In the second group were "Etude in E Flat" by Chopin, "Nocturne" by Chopin, and "Intermezzo" in octaves by Leschetizky. The third group was composed of "Gabrielle Valse" by Harry Gilbert, "May Night" by Palmgreen, and "Rhapsodie" by Dohnanyi. As encores Mr. Gilbert played "The Irish Washwoman" and an original arrangement of "Turkey in the Straw."

Gay, lilting melodies, the chime of bells, and the roll of the sea all came forth by his touch in an inimitable manner that won the hearts of the many who were privileged to hear him.

Mr. Gilbert's own composition "Gabrielle Valse" was laughingly introduced by "after I wrote it I had to take lessons on how to play it" and one wondered what master could ever be able to teach a composer how to present a composition that came from his soul.

While in Murray, Mr. Gilbert and his son and daughter, have been the house guests of his relatives, Dr. W. H. Graves and family. On Tuesday, July 8, Mr. Gilbert played for the Exchange Club which met for luncheon at the National Hotel.

ATKISON ELECTED IN TRIGG COUNTY
Senior of Murray State College Will Direct Bands Next Year.

Douglas Laudell Atkinson, senior of Murray State College, has been elected as band director of Trigg County Schools for next year, according to an announcement made by Prof. E. H. Smith, director of extension. Mr. Atkinson, who will receive his B. S. degree in August at Murray, was elected Monday, July 6.

At Murray, the musician has been a member of the Wilsonian Society, Les Camarades, Music Club, band, orchestra, and chorus. He is the son of E. D. Atkinson of Dresden, Tenn.

In the department of music, Mr. Atkinson is taking his major work. He has had instruction under Prof. John Burham, Prof. Price Doyle, Mrs. Italy Conner, and Prof. J. H. Dameron. He has been a member of the Kentucky Stompers novelty orchestra.

Two Enlisted in Mock Initiation of Les Savants
Miss Edith Carter, junior, and Mrs. Mary Alice McMackin, sophomore, were initiated at the mock initiation of Les Savants, honorary French Club of Murray State College, at 8:15 o'clock Thursday evening, July 2.

Miss Carter is the daughter of Mrs. George Carter of Paris, Tenn., and is a teacher in the Paris, Tenn., public schools. Mrs. McMackin is a graduate of Camden, Tenn., high school and is a member of the Tennessee club and Wilsonian society.

Formal initiation will be held Friday evening, July 10.

Miss Louise King visited her parents at Fulton, Ky., July 10-12.

Exhibits to Be Prepared for F.D.E.A. at Murray

Dr. Carr Writes to Prof. G. C. Ashcraft

While he was viewing Germany, Dr. J. W. Carr sketched the situation there in a letter to Prof. G. C. Ashcraft in a letter dated June 18.

In describing the prospects of the country he wrote: "Much of it is in grass with fine herds of cattle. Forestry is also quite an industry—forests in different stages of development. There is much meadow land, but none in corn. The country is well-kept every place, and the gardens are splendid."

But despite the favorable looks of the war were shown when Dr. Carr wrote: "The people have a sad, dogged look. We talked to one quite a while yesterday. He spoke of the high taxes and the great amount of unemployment."

Dr. and Mrs. Carr were staying at the Hotel Adlon in Berlin when the letter was written. Almost immediately they planned to continue to Potsdam.

MUSIC STUDENTS PRESENT RECITAL
Pupils of Prof. L. Putnam, Miss Eaves, Prof. B. Agey Appear.

Students in the music department of Murray State College presented vocal and instrumental selections in chapel Wednesday morning, July 8. According to Prof. Price Doyle, some of the students were beginners.

The vocal numbers were given by pupils of Prof. Leslie Putnam, the violin solos by pupils of Prof. Buell Agey, and the piano number by a student of Miss Mary Evelyn Eaves.

The program was as follows: 1. Vocal solo—"My Little House"—Pierce, Miss Dorothy Broyles

2. Vocal solos—"A Bowl of Roses"—Clarke; "Allah"—Chadwick, Miss Thyra Creekmur

3. Violin solos—"The World is Waiting for the Sunrise"—Seltz Garvis Douglas

4. Vocal solos—"Smilin' Through"—Penn "Ten Thousand Fathoms Deep"—Petrie Burt Burkhardt

5. Piano solo—"Prelude in G Minor"—Rachmannoff Miss Marguerite Wiggins

6. Vocal solo—"A Brown Bird Singing"—Wood Miss Mary Charles Vaughn

7. Vocal solos—"As the Dawn"—Canton "Rose in the Bud"—Forster Miss Reva Kemp

8. Violin solo—"Mazurka"—Wienawski Miss Mildred Alcock

9. Vocal solos—"Thanks Be to God"—Dickson "Even Bravest Heart"—Faust—Gounod Charles Day

Miss Louise Graves accompanied Misses Broyles, Vaughn, Creekmur, Kemp, Mr. Burkhardt, Miss Mary Evelyn Eaves accompanied Mr. Douglas. Mrs. Italy Conner accompanied Mr. Day. Professor Agey accompanied Miss Alcock.

Dr. Charles Hire, director of the summer session, commented on the students' ability as performers. He stated that he thought they even compared to some of the greatest artists.

Stahl-Swain
The marriage of Miss Arleen Stahl and Cecil Swain of Calvert City, Ky., was solemnized July 4 in Paris, Tenn.

Mrs. Swain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stahl, of Benton. She is a former student of Murray State College and has taught in Marshall county schools. Mr. and Mrs. Swain are at home in Calvert City.

Supt. W. J. Caplinger Appointed in Charge.

Exhibits will be prepared by each county of the first district of Kentucky and placed on display at the meeting of the First District Educational Association Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28, at Murray State College.

The arrangement of exhibits has been worked out by K. R. Patterson, president of the association, and Supt. W. J. Caplinger, head of the Murray City Schools and chairman of the exhibits committee.

The plan of exhibits has been worked out with the different counties and cities from material on specific phases of school work. They are as follows:

Ballard county, reading grades 1-4; Caldwell county, reading grades 5-8; Carlisle county, language, grades 1-4; Crittenden county, languages grades 5-8; Fulton county, history in the elementary grades; Hickman county, geography; Livingston county, arithmetic, grades 1-4; Graves county, history, upper grades; Calloway county, agriculture; Lyon county, arithmetic, grades 5-8; Marshall county, hygiene and health; McCracken, home economics.

Trigg county, penmanship; Fulton city, English, high school; Mayfield, foreign languages; Murray, science; Princeton, high school mathematics; Training School, music; Paducah, art.

A commercial exhibit will be held by the various school supply houses.

The details of the exhibits will be worked out and mailed to the schools by Superintendent Caplinger by the last of September. There will be no competition on the exhibits.

The program of exhibits is in harmony with President Patterson's slogan that he intends to give those who attend the association meeting this fall, something to see, something to hear, and something to do. The exhibits will be some thing to do. When those who attend want something to see they will attend the "Beggars' Opera". Speakers for the meeting have not been secured.

Chemistry Club Postpones Meet
The Chemistry Club adjourned Tuesday morning, July 7, to visit the Henry Clay Debating Club, according to a statement made by James Armstrong, president of the club.

The program will be carried over to be presented at the next meeting of the club on July 21. New committees will be appointed at this time.

GRIDDERS EXPECT GOOD RECORD IN S. I. A. A. SEASON

Eight Lettermen Will Be Lost Through Graduation at Murray

FRESHMEN PROVIDE STRONG MATERIAL

Murray State College is looking forward to its first year in S. I. A. A. football this fall as it is believed Coach Cutchin will have a team on par with the other teams of the conference.

Although Coaches Cutchin and Morgan will miss eight stalwart football players whose faces are familiar to the gridiron fans of West Kentucky, they will recruit more than enough material from Coach Miller's 1930 freshman squad to offset the losses. Harlan Brodie, 1930 captain, Walter Wells, William Mahew, James Miller, Jess Haynes, Sam Traugher, Pat Brewer, and James Bowman, are the eight who have made football history at Murray State.

There will be 13 members of last year's squad that will report to the coaches this fall. Led by the red-haired flash of Mayfield, Captain Henry "Red" Evans, the Thoroughbreds will carry on and write history upon the gridiron this fall. They are: David Reed, James Heath, Zahn Wells, Brooks Ware, Paul Perdue, W. H. Foster, Harry Smith, Robert Chambers, Harold Byrd, Harry Heath, Charles Wickliffe, and Charles Todd.

Members of last year's freshman squad who will report for varsity practice this fall are: Allan Shaw, Thompson, Brinkley, Belote, King Reed, Cutchin, Miller, Yarbrough, Bryant, Hays, Gardener, Jones, Rahm, Laster, and Whitman.

Mrs. Pearl Holt Hodges attended a picnic supper at Noble Park, Paducah, Saturday evening, July 11. This was an annual reunion of the Heath High School graduating class of 1924.

Training School News

Through a misunderstanding, Dr. E. B. Houston did not appear on the assembly program of the Training School July 13. Dr. Houston will deliver his speech on "Temperance" before the assembly on August 3.

On Monday July 27 the music department of the college will entertain the Training School at assembly period. According to Prof. Price Doyle, head of the music department, the program has not been made out.

According to Prof. J. W. Compton of the Training School, a tennis tournament will be held for the Training School boys. Professor Compton states that no definite date has been set, except that it will be during the week of July 20-25. At present no girls have showed inclinations to enter the tournament, but the boys have been signing daily. Some 15 to 20 entrants have signed and more are expected before the tournament. The tournament will consist of both singles and doubles.

MURRAY DEFEATS CAMDEN NINE 6-3

Local Baseball Team Loses 7-5 in Series Opener on July 4

Two hits, two errors, two passed balls, and a wild pitch in the eighth inning gave the Murray independent baseball team four runs and enough to defeat Camden, Tenn., 3-5 in the second game of the three game series at Murray, Thursday afternoon, July 16.

The victory enabled Murray to even the series having dropped the opener Wednesday at Camden, 7-5.

Murray came to bat in the last of the fatal inning needing only one score to bring the count to an even bases, 3-3. Jess Haynes, former Murray star, went in to pinch hit for Houston, Murray first baseman, and slapped the first pitch to the far end of left field for a home run. The blow was the deciding one for the Camden players immediately "blew" the game by committing two serious infield errors, followed by two passed balls by Hudgins, Camden catcher, with a wild pitch intermingled.

Koch, Murray pitcher, encouraged by the lead, struck out the opposition to return the side and put the game on ice in the ninth. Each pitcher allowed 7 hits.

DR. DYER SPEAKS TO STUDENTS AND FACULTY JULY 4

"Three Revolutions" Theme of Editor of Southern Agriculturist

DR. WELLS RETURNS TO HEAR ADDRESS

Dr. Gustavus W. Dyer, professor of economics and sociology at Vanderbilt University and editor of the Southern Agriculturist magazine, delivered the Independence Day address on "The Three Revolutions" at Murray State College Friday morning, July 3, at 9 o'clock. Mayor Ed Filbeck of Murray presided.

Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president of the college returned from a two-weeks absence to be present at the program.

The American Revolution was the first revolution in the group, according to the Dr. Dyer. He reminded his hearers that the revolutionists in America were conservatives rather than radicals and that the revolution was a step backward rather than forward.

The far-reaching influence of the revolution, he summarized in the statement of Lloyd George that George Washington was the founder of the British Empire. The revolution taught England how to make and keep colonies. Fiske said that the five men who made the constitution were: Washington, Madison, Jefferson, Marshall, and Hamilton, four of whom were Virginians.

The steam revolution tended to centralize. Industry went to the cities. Schools were centralized in the larger centers. The revolution affected religion, the home, and the family.

Dr. Dyer showed that the present revolution, that of electricity and gasoline, was the greatest that the world had known.

In 15 years this new revolution has enabled millions to hear the world's finest music, to hear great sermons, to understand other persons better. The effect that the radio might have on education was shown.

Dr. Dyer showed that big business was already coming to the small towns for location. The rapid pre-eminence of the South as a result of the change was emphasized. Decentralization has come with the new revolution.

Napoleon's comment that the Anglo-Saxons won only the last battle was pointed to by Dr. Dyer as a characteristic of the race. The Anglo-Saxon, he said in conclusion, often get in a hole, but they have never met with a fight in which they did not win at last.

At the conclusion of the program Dr. Wells introduced Dr. Dyer's daughter, and Principal W. C. Jetton, Paducah.

Miss Susan Peffer Is Dinner Host

Miss Susan Peffer, dean of Murray State College, entertained at dinner at Wells Hall, Wednesday evening, July 15. The honor guests were Miss Rowena Noe, former teacher in the Training School, daughter of Dr. Cotton Noe, noted poet; Miss Sarah Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gardner, matron of Wells Hall, and Miss Elizabeth Lovett, instructor in the department of home economics in the Murray State College.

Sleeping Porch

Opening of the sleeping porch on the west front of the library building was held informally Monday morning, June 29, between the hours of 7 and 9 a. m.

A cool breeze stirred. Visitors strolled leisurely about. A spring graduate, Leon Smith, Heath, was noticed. Also Charles Wickliffe, Paducah; Lois Frazier, Paducah; Laura Fitzpatrick, Mayfield; Curdy Raney, Paducah; Dorom Grissom, Fulton; and Sheila Mizell, Mayfield.

No pillows are furnished in these new sleeping quarters. Harry Smith and Robert Wrenn overcame this difficulty by a clever arrangement of their own in which Wrenn slept on Smith's shoulder and Smith slept on Wrenn's shoulder. Apply to them for further information.

John G. Samuels, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Samuels, Bardwell, is home on a two weeks vacation from the Medical School, University of Tennessee, Memphis. He visited friends on the campus Sunday, June 2. He is a former student of Murray College.

Miss Louise Saunders of Chicago visited Miss Evelyn Shaw of Hickman in Wells Hall July 12-17.

Miss Katherine Adams of Mayfield and Mrs. C. A. Matthews of Paris, Tenn., visited Miss Virginia Williams July 10-12.

Prof. C. S. Lowry Speaks at Mayfield

Before the Lions Club of Mayfield, Ky., on June 30, Professor C. S. Lowry, head of the social science department of Murray State College, again made his plea for a new state constitution.

In his speech Mr. Lowry pointed out many faults of the present constitution, such as: poor qualifications of magistrates, purchasing of political offices, low salaries of state officials, unequal taxation, and the lack of anyone that can be held directly responsible for bad administration.

The social science head suggested that improvement be made in the legislative, judicial, and executive departments of the state government.

MISS VER HAAR SINGS IN CHAPEL

Miss Mary Evelyn Eaves Accompanies Noted Contralto.

Murray State College was doubly honored, July 15, during the chapel exercises, first by having Miss Edna Swanson Ver Haar appear in a recital and secondly by the selections of Miss Mary Evelyn Eaves as accompanist.

Miss Ver Haar, a very beautiful as well as an accomplished recitalist, is one of the most satisfactory concert and oratorio contraltos before the American public. Since her first professional appearance she has steadily grown in popular favor, the increasing demands for her services keeping pace with her remarkable advancement. During this time she has appeared with leading orchestras and choral organizations with unvarying success.

The accompaniment of Miss Eaves was done with the excellence of an artist.

Miss Ver Haar sang in Sweden as soloist with the Swedish Choral Society of Chicago, and achieved a sensational and artistic triumph. This series of 40 concerts was marked by a continuous ovation for this talented artist.

The recital was heard by the faculty, by the students of the college, and Training School, and by many visitors from Murray. Miss Ver Haar stirred her audience to enthusiasm. This young vocalist has both voice and style that are attractive. She sings with great freedom. Her voice is of good quality and range well up into the register of soprano, in addition to having the rich tones of a contralto.

STUDENTS DISPLAY CORRECT CLOTHES

Home Economics Department Exhibit on "Personality in Dresses"

The importance of correct dress for women was stressed in a program given by the home economics department of Murray State College at the chapel hour Friday morning, July 17. Miss Lida Muse, Miss Sunshine Colley, and Miss Elizabeth Lovett are home economics instructors.

Miss Louise Swann, senior, who had as her major subject, home economics, introduced the meaning and aim of the program.

In the "Free Personality Clinic" Miss Helen Shemwell acted as doctor to diagnose the cases, with Miss Mary Donoho as her nurse assistant.

Miss Niva Jones was the patient that Miss Shemwell judged as a typical brunette with a classic pointed face and an air of sophistication.

The doctor told Miss Jones that she should wear straight lines and she demonstrated by the effect of different shaped neck lines that the oval line was very becoming. Miss Shemwell also showed that warm colors, as those containing red, orange, and green were becoming.

Miss Juanita Luther represented a blonde with an oval face, curly hair, and a sweet expression. Dr. Shemwell showed that this type wears all the pastel shades very well.

Next the products of personality in dress were exhibited by the students who made them. They showed various styles of street, afternoon, and evening dresses.

The third act was devoted to an exhibition of the speed of making clothes. Miss Lois Hopper exhibited the first made in 54 minutes with a cost of 93 cents. The second was shown by Mrs. Earl Rounton which was made in 50 minutes at a cost of 50 cents. The last was worn by Miss Fannie D. Stephenson and was made in 49 minutes.

SECOND HALF OF SUMMER SESSION TO OPEN JULY 20

Approximately 85 per cent of Student Body Remains for Term

SIX WEEKS PERIOD ENDS ON JULY 17

Approximately 85 per cent of the student body of Murray State College will continue through the last six weeks of the summer session, according to conservative estimates made by the administrative offices. The first six weeks of the summer session ended Friday and the last half began this morning, July 20.

Practically all the students who left school Friday were school teachers whose schools will open in August before the summer term would end.

New courses will be opened to accommodate those students who enroll for the last half. President Wells has expressed his satisfaction with the fact that so large a per cent of the student body is remaining to continue through the present session.

Plans are under way to graduate in August one of the largest summer classes in the history of the college. "I think no one is leaving just to loaf," commented Dr. Charles Hire, acting president for the summer on the general attitude of the student body. He further declared that 83 of the 143 students that were leaving would begin schools within the time of these closing weeks. "Urgency of rest," "doctor's orders," and "various lines of work" were assigned as reasons for not remaining.

Dr. Hire indicated the following changes in the faculty. While Miss Florence Wyman, instructor in English, left Friday, Miss Orla Depey resumes today her work in the English department. The place of Miss Carrie Allison, physical education instructor, will be filled by Miss Mary Louise Harkless.

Miss Anne H. Augustus, head of the foreign language department, was given a leave of absence for the summer term and her place filled by Mrs. G. B. Pennebaker.

Mrs. Cloo Gillis Hester, registrar, stated that the demand for new courses could not be known until the enrollment today.

To obtain maximum credit registration must be completed by Wednesday, July 22, and to receive credit by July 25.

The courses which closed last Friday are as follows: Dr. James O. Hall completed the last half of Hygiene 101. Prof. K. R. Patterson finished four half courses, astronomy, last half; mathematics 100, last half; and both the first and last half of psychology 101.

Prof. O. S. Wells rounded out double courses in History 101 and History 104. Miss Helen Rounton conducted classes through both halves of English 101 and the last half of English 102. Miss Florence Wyman taught the last half of English 103. Dr. G. T. Hicks brought to a close the last half of education 222.

BEALE PLAYS FOR ALLENIAN GROUP

Largest Audience of Year. Attends Meeting; Dr. Poret Gives Address

E. J. Beale of Murray, entertained the Allenian Literary Society in Chapel Tuesday morning, July 14, before the largest audience of the year. Approximately 300 heard Mr. Beale who gave an address and played favorite selections on the accordion. Dr. George C. Poret of the education department gave a humorous talk.

"Nothing pleases me more than a welcome from the Allenian Society," declared Mr. Beale. "No heritage do I desire more than to have its members say that they know E. J. Beale."

"You have two fine societies in this college," he continued. "Yet, I, too, would be an Allenian if I were here."

The musician then gave favorite songs on his accordion: "Little Gypsy Love Song," "Last Rose of Summer," "When You and I Were Young Maggie," "Mighty Like a Rose," "Massa in the Cold, Cold Ground," and "Washington Lee Swing."

Applause and cheers brought Murray's comedian again to the stage. Calm and at ease, he appeared in his shirt sleeves with the accordion strap around his neck.

Dr. George Poret spoke on the subject, "Do Earthworms Sing?"

Murray Wins From Fulton Nine by 8-0

The Murray baseball team, comprised mostly of college athletes, beat Fulton Friday, July 3, 8-0.

Jeffrey led the hitting for Murray with four hits while Shaw knocked a homer in the sixth inning. Murray tallied 10 hits while Fulton ran up only 3 and they were scattered.

Batteries for Fulton: Jackson and Potts.

For Murray: Robinson and De-weese.

MURRAY WINS 4-2 TO TAKE SERIES

Koch's Home Run in Tenth Brings Victory to Kentuckians.

A home run by Koch, substitute second-baseman, in the tenth inning with Sullivan on first by virtue of a single was enough for the Murray independent baseball team to nose out the Camden, nine Friday, 4-2.

Murray won the series, 2-1.

Murray entered the ninth on the short end of a 2-1 score, when Jim Miller, former Murray College star, reached second as a result of a wild throw by West to first trying to catch the runner after he had muffed a roller. John Miller, brother to Jim, was safe and scored Jim with the tying run when he was hit in the back by Porter in the effort to throw him out at first base.

Neither team scored in the first although Jones singled for Camden in that half, and Holland dropped one in right center for a single in Murray's half.

Murray opened the scoring in the second inning. John Miller doubled to the fence in right center to lead off, and Sullivan singled through second, scoring Miller.

The third inning found both sides going down in order. McEwen, Camden center fielder, picked on one of Haynes' slow balls to knock it over the right field fence for a home run to tie the score in the fourth inning.

In the fifth Bowles dropped a Texas-leaguer into left field, Porter sacrificed, Hunt flew to Wells, Bowles going to third, and Keon singled to left to bring Boles home with Camden's second run.

Murray came close to scoring in the sixth when Allen singled, went to second on a sacrifice, reached third on a fielder's choice, but his mates were unable to bring him home.

The next scoring came in the last half of the ninth when Murray, aided by Camden's errors, forced over the tying run.

Jim Miller played a great game at short for Murray. He accepted 11 chances without a bobble. Both pitchers struck out several Haynes five.
