UP SALT RIVER.

The "Gen. Weaver" Carries the Boys Up the Historic Stream.

A GOOD CROWD ON BOARD.

It has been a custom in this country for time out of mind for the defeated candidates, after an election, to take a trip on some safe and reliable excursion boat up Salt River. The trip has always been made soon after the first Monday in August when the weather was warm and water plentiful, but this year it was agreed early in the summer to postpone it until after the 8th of November so that a larger crowd of important dignitaries than usual might join the party. This trip is always looked forward to with great interest, yet those who compose the passenger list try to avoid making the trip, but its passengers and officers do not go of their own will but they are selected in a way that fate says they must go, and they have no way of a part remaining at home and a part making the trip. This party has always had the power and privilege of naming the vessel that is to carry it and name the number of stops and the places where the boat is to land while on its voyage, and also its starting point.

Notwithstanding there is not a passenger aboard of the boat, that goes by choice, yet when the great voice of the people speaks out and says who shall go they begin at once to make all of the necessary preparation for comfort and a good time generally while absent on the trip. It has been a mooted question for five months whom the people would select to make the famous trip of the historic stream of Salt River, but on Tuesday the 8th of this month they came together and in no uncertain sound said who should make the perilous journey. The persons named were B. C. Keys, Josiah Harris, J. C. Jones and M. N. Sims, allowing each one of these gentlemen the privilege of naming special friends who might go along with them without extra charge.

According to previous arrangements the above named gentlemen set Wednesday November 9th the time for them to hold a business meeting and arrange further details concerning the trip, which they did and decided to make the voyage on that old, shaky side-wheel steamer, "Gen. Weaver," and that B. C. Keys should be her captain, Dr. W. J. Deboe her first mate, J. C. Jones her pilot, Major Josiah Harris her steward and M. N. Sims should act as her first and second clerks and that the other officers should be appointed by and by. The day set for their departure was last Friday, and after begging loud and long a reporter for the Tribune was finally allowed on the "Gen. Weaver," provided he slept by himself and gnawed a file. This he gladly agreed to do with becoming dignity.

On the day named the "Gen. Weaver" was ready to leave the landing at Buena, and the pilot was ordered to make the following stops, viz: Dexter, Olive or (Sub-Treasurer), Hamlet or (Free-Coinage), Grahamville or (Anti-National Banks), Littlejohn's Landing or (Cheap Money), Jones' Landing, Deboetown or (Protectionville) and a few other places of not sufficient note to mention. Friday morning promptly at 10 o'clock the "Gen. Weaver" with steam up and in as good trim as possible, after the heavy gale she had to encounter on the high seas on Tuesday before, she steamed up to the wharf ready for her departure up Salt river. Great crowds of people were there to witness her departure—men of all religious and political grades—for upon this vessel was to sail Hon. Ben C. Keys, one of their life-long neighbors. When the first tap of the bell was heard vociferous calls were made by the crowd for a speech from Mr. Keys, who was to be the captain of the boat.

Finally he came out of the ladies' cabin and in a very polite little speech, he said: "Ladies and gentlemen, it is with a heart full of sadness and sorrow that I take my leave of you on an occasion like this, but before doing so I will say that I have never been as stable in politics as I might have been; I have done many things I ought not have done and left undone many things I should have done. I have tried to make the people believe many foolish things, but they would not do so; I have abused the democratic party all over this district and said but little against the republican party, when in fact I knew better, but you see I wanted votes and I knew I could not get them from the democrats, but hoped to receive them from the republicans, but I failed to get them from any one save a few from the people's party. I know my mistakes, for they have been many, and now in conclusion let me admonish you to go back into the democratic ranks for they are now in power and can do you some good; as for me I cannot tell where I will finally land, but I can say of a truth of all men I am certainly the most miserable." With streaming tears in his eyes he bowed himself back into the cabin and in a moment the bell was tapped for the last time and the big hull of "Gen. Weaver" moved away amid the shouts of the people on the shore. John Keys and a few of the captain's intimate friends were taken aboard where comfortable quarters were given them. Only forty minutes and the boat was landed at Dexter, where the gang plank was put out to receive Wm. Barnhart and a few others of the trusted few. They were invited into the cabin where a general hand-shaking took place, but up to this time no mention had been made of Tuesday's election. The whistle soon told that the boat was nearing Olive, or the sub-treasurer headquarters. It was landed and the captain called out in a husky voice: "Where, oh! where art Thou, my brethren?"

It was but a moment until M. G. Nelson, John H. Goheen, John Stringer, Cyrus Watkins, Wm. Filbeck and one or two others came stepping aboard the "Gen. Weaver" to join their weeping brethren. There was a big crowd of people present who clamored for a farewell speech from some of the departing statesmen, but the boat was ready to take its departure to Hamlet, which was its next landing, and the genial captain satisfied their desires by telling them they had doubtless heard enough speaking recently, and asked them to excuse any further ceremonies. It was but an hour until the boat rounded into Hamlet, where stood in waiting J. H. Ham, J. M. Johnson, L. C. Hamilton, John T. Lents, T. D. Brown and Bart Jones, all of whom came aboard the "Gen. Weaver" and joined the party for Salt river. The people on shore called for a speech when Hon. L. C. Hamilton came forward and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have belonged to all the political parties that ever were organized in the United States and have voted all of the tickets, and they have all been beaten, but none were ever so badly snowed under as our people's party was on last Tuesday. I can offer you, my brethren, no comfort save my absence which I hope will do you some good. I have been advocating the sub-treasury, the free-coinage of silver, the ownership by the government of all lines of transportations. These schemes by the popular vote of the people have been repudiated and I hope when I return to be able to offer you some other plan of relief by which we can get into power."

After Mr. Hamilton closed his remarks many calls were made for T. D. Brown. He finally yielded to the pressure and amid almost deafening applause came forward and said: "I have been a republican most of my life, but of recent years I have been voting most any way until the people's party was organized, and since then I have been voting with it, but I am congratulated by the democrats for my speech at Olive, which they claim carried it by a large vote for the democrats. It looks to me my brethren, when I try to do good evil is always present. Thanking you for your patient attention I will say no more at present." In a moment the "Gen. Weaver" was on its way to Grahamville, but while on its way there J. H. Goheen said: "Brethren, it simply beats h—l." The biggest crowd was at Grahamville to greet the departing boat of any landing along the route. Democrats, republicans and people's party men were there in large numbers to witness the "Gen. Weaver." After Riley Culp, Wm. Graham, Pierce Humphrey, Mr. Bibro and others were on board a speech was called for from Wm. Graham before the boat should depart. Captain Keys consented for Mr. Graham to address the people and he came forward the very picture of despair and said: "Ladies, gentlemen and fellow citizens, this is a serious and momentous occasion, one that I had hoped never to witness; but before leaving with these, my weeping friends, I will say that only a few years ago I made a few democratic speeches and the counter went republican; this year I made Weaver speeches and the counter has gone democratic from h—l to breakfast; in fact, has carried every state in the Union but h—l and Vermont, and you can at once see that my speeches were strong and powerful and simply played h—l with our little party. I see no hope at present for the success of the people's party or for an independent, and the only advice I can give you that is good and wholesome is to find out if you can which side I am on and then you take the 'other,' and I think by so doing you will be on the right side, and be a happy people." He then thanked his hearers and retired to the cabin where he joined the balance of his unhappy colleagues. By this time the big boat was getting well filled with passengers and was sailing along smoothly, when the captain ordered Pilot Jones to stop at a way landing and take on Cris Littlejohn and John Pool and perhaps Louis Alexander and Jas. Barnes. Sure enough when the boat came in sight she was hailed by the said Christopher Littlejohn, and the before named gentlemen were taken aboard amid a silence that was indeed painful. John Stringer who was sitting back smoking a 25c cigar, said: "Boys, this beats the devil, but not the democratic party," when Riley Culp spoke up and said, "I should say so." The boat was whistling for Jones' Landing, but the verge of Pilot Jones was steady and the big craft was soon landed, where an immense crowd was in waiting. This was the home of Pilot Jones and his friends and neighbors were out in full force to witness his second trip up Salt river. Captain Keys called the pilot from above and told him, in answer to public demands, to make a few farewell remarks before leaving. His speech was short and to the point, in the course of which he said: "I have had my ambition on the sheriff's office for years, but from my political mistakes it is now impossible for me to gratify my ambition." To his wife and children he said he would soon return and settle himself down to farming, where he intended to spend the balance of his life with them. He made but little reference to politics and after his remarks went to his place in the pilot-house, and in a moment the "Gen. Weaver" turned her prow for Salt river. George Coursey, Cy Hale and many others were taken aboard at that stop.

The boat only made two other landings, one at Paducah where Maj. Josiah Harris and Dr. J. D. Smith were taken aboard and the other at Marion, where Dr. W. J. Deboe was given a prominent place in the cabin. On the way up Salt river it was amusing to hear the many excuses for the great land-slide that took place Tuesday. Some would curse, some would cry, but very few would laugh. On the way up it was decided that Major Harris would speak at Hawesville, but Captain Keys said there would be no more speaking; that he and others had killed three political parties in the First district by too much speaking and he had determined to throw the first man in the river who attempted to again make a speech.

The boat was gone ten days and strange to say only one resolution was passed which reads as follows: Resolved, "That no more independents be allowed to run for office in the First congressional district of Kentucky."

The "Gen. Weaver" made the trip safe and returned each and all back to their homes safe and sound and was then sent to Nebraska to carry coal.

This was the home of Pilot Jones and his friends and neighbors were out in full force to witness his second trip up Salt river. Captain Keys called the pilot from above and told him, in answer to public demands, to make a few farewell remarks before leaving. His speech was short and to the point, in the course of which he said: "I have had my ambition on the sheriff's office for years, but from my political mistakes it is now impossible for me to gratify my ambition." To his wife and children he said he would soon return and settle himself down to farming, where he intended to spend the balance of his life with them. He made but little reference to politics and after his remarks went to his place in the pilot-house, and in a moment the "Gen. Weaver" turned her prow for Salt river. George Coursey, Cy Hale and many others were taken aboard at that stop.

The boat only made two other landings, one at Paducah where Maj. Josiah Harris and Dr. J. D. Smith were taken aboard and the other at Marion, where Dr. W. J. Deboe was given a prominent place in the cabin. On the way up Salt river it was amusing to hear the many excuses for the great land-slide that took place Tuesday. Some would curse, some would cry, but very few would laugh. On the way up it was decided that Major Harris would speak at Hawesville, but Captain Keys said there would be no more speaking; that he and others had killed three political parties in the First district by too much speaking and he had determined to throw the first man in the river who attempted to again make a speech.

The boat was gone ten days and strange to say only one resolution was passed which reads as follows: Resolved, "That no more independents be allowed to run for office in the First congressional district of Kentucky."

The "Gen. Weaver" made the trip safe and returned each and all back to their homes safe and sound and was then sent to Nebraska to carry coal.

For lame back there is nothing better than to saturate a flannel cloth with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on the affected parts. Try it and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. The same treatment will cure rheumatism. For sale by R. H. Starks.

There is a class of men in Kentucky that have been saying that when the secret ballot was introduced the democrats would not be "in it." We had the secret ballot in Kentucky last week and what did it show? It shows that Kentucky is democratic in any kind of election. Don't be alarmed, this state has always been and always will be democratic.

Many old soldiers, who contracted chronic diarrhoea while in the service, have since been permanently cured of it by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by R. H. Starks.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

WED. EVENING, NOV. 16.

The tariff is a sham. Ah! but a few believed it to be a sham fight from the way they voted last Tuesday.

Did Christ o'er sinners weep? If he did he will certainly weep over the republicans in this their great time of sorrow.

The democratic editors in the First district made a gallant fight and by their united efforts brought the First to be the Gibraltar again.

Delaware's official count shows the following vote for the state complete: Cleveland 18,573, Harrison 18,067, Bidwell 559. Cleveland's plurality 506.

There is no one thing more easily explained than the sweeping victory that was gained last week by the democrats. The greatest number of votes were cast in that election by the working people than were ever cast for one political party before in its history. The working people have been educated in the past few years to know that there was no hope for them save in the great democratic party. These people saw that the republican party was a plutocratic party; that it was fast becoming a centralized money power who cared but little for the common people more than to receive their votes. They saw that the tariff was a tax and that the many were being taxed to enrich the few; they in the north had seen their neighbors who were engaged in some manufacturing industry grow rich while they themselves were slow to prosper; they saw that the principles laid down in the democratic platform, if carried into operation, would result in the greatest good to the common people. They were also alarmed over the position the republican party took relative to the passage of the force bill, and for fear such a measure would ultimately become a law, if that party remained in power, they became willing to risk the democrats rather than continue the republicans in power any longer. The republicans owe their defeat to the McKinley bill and the force bill.

Last week the district papers have been coming in teeming with glory. The big headlines in them have surpassed even the city papers and their roosters have been brought into full play, a few of the editors and publishers themselves coming to town to find out it was all really so and join with the town crowd in vociferous enthusiasm. It was the Standard's happy privilege of furnishing George Warren with his first good news. Lee Elmore of the Mayfield Mirror took time to run in. Logan Curd of the Murray Ledger seemed to almost be here at the election—he helped us figure up the Paducah returns. Jim Lemon came in from Benton aboard of the same train Logan beat here. They were anxious and gathering up their own vote, hurried down to see what the rest of the world had been doing. All the democratic newspaper boys in the trenches fought nobly and deserve their proper share in the spoils. Without the work of the democratic newspapers in their district it would have been foreclosed and sold out months ago and Ben Keys or Dr Deboe would have been the district's next representative in congress. Its newspapers are of the right ring as a rule, and that has more than any other one thing to do with our claim to be the Gibraltar of Kentucky's democracy. All honor to the First district newspapers—Standard

The electoral college this year consists of 444 votes, which is 43 more than in 1888, the increase being caused by the admission of the states of Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming. These states have three electoral votes each, except South Dakota and Washington, which have four each and the remaining 23 new votes are distributed among the older states under the new congressional apportionment bill, the result of the census of 1890. In the electoral college a clear majority of the full vote is necessary to elect. In 1888 201 votes were necessary, and in 1892 223 are required. The democrats have some to spare, as will be seen by the above tables. Pete Turney was elected governor of Tennessee by a large majority.

THE TEACHERS.

An Interesting Meeting Expected At Murray.

Live Questions to Be Discussed—Every Teacher in the District Should Be in Attendance.

The First District Educational association meets at Murray November 25 and 26. Papers will be read on the following subjects: "The Cultivation of the Memory" "To What Extent Shall the Teacher Honor the Whims of His Patrons?" "The True Basis of Discipline." "The True Tests of Advancement." "How Not to Do It." "How Shall We Advance Teaching to the Dignity of a Profession?" "Compulsory Education." "The Survival of the Fittest." These are live, interesting and instructive questions. Besides this we are arranging for and especially interesting programme Friday night.

The citizens of Murray will entertain all teachers who enroll as members of the association and pay the enrollment fee. The railroad will give reduced rates, so there is no reason why this should not be the most successful meeting in its history. The time has come when Kentuckians, so proud of their state in every other respect, must do something to advance the public school interests of their state. The advance movement is indicated by increased facilities and increased outputs in all her commercial, manufacturing and agricultural pursuits; by the adoption of a new and better constitution; by better and stricter election laws, and by a closer investigation by her most humble citizens, into the causes of stagnation, corruption and oppression. The people are beginning to think, and while they are thinking is the time for teachers to press upon them the consideration of the public schools. We who have studied them know their vast importance as a factor in American civilization, and concerted action on our part will go far to bring about those results which we so much desire. It is little short of a burning shame that Kentucky, proud in her reputation for eminent lawyers, orators and statesmen, should have thus far neglected to provide any means for the training and education of her teachers.

We need at least two good normal schools; a longer school term; local taxation, and above all a higher sense of honor and professional dignity among the teachers themselves. We must interest the people in these ideas if we expect to see them realized. So long as the people are unconcerned just so long will our legislature be unconcerned. There is no better way to interest the people than by teachers' associations.

Let every teacher in the district make arrangements to be in attendance at Murray, if possible, cannot come both days, come Saturday. And especially ought every county superintendent to be present. The teachers look to you for guidance, and you can do much to increase the attendance and the interest by urging upon your teachers the necessity of attending. I hope to see every superintendent of the district there with a good delegation of teachers. Respectfully,
E. A. Fox,
President First District Educational Association.

ARNETTSTVILLE. HERE AND THERE.

Saturday night was ratification time for democracy at this place; and the 41 guns for Cleveland and the 45th for Henry Waterson, tariff reform, the $10,000 premium, etc. "Take it for granted the democratic boys made it lively for the repub's. In an instant here they are sick and sick to hurt, too; for instance, Mr. D. H. Byerly, a very clever man and good neighbor, but so sick can't hold his head up when telling of the election. Also Mr. W. S. Griffith. But there is a little more life in him, yet he gets weary over the results. They were engaged in holding a political convale during the ratification, but adjourned to come over and hear the latest news, which the boys told them was that Harrison voted for Cleveland. Mr. Griffith being a prudent and cautious man admonished the boys to be careful and not get a leg blown off, to which they replied, that it made no difference, as they were sending a one-legged man to congress and could send another. May the Tribune live long and grow in grace and the knowledge of the truth. DEMOCRAT.

The Advertising
Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

An Assignment.
B. J. Roberts, the owner of the stove factory, made an assignment last Saturday morning evening. W. M. Oliver as the assignee. He assigned in his deed the stove machine, engine, boiler, saws and all machinery, connected with the factory. The liabilities amounted to about $4,000 while the assets were worth about $1,500 or $2,000. Mr. Roberts came home nearly two years ago with Turner Gardner, who was to share the profit with him in the business, but neither one having much capital the business has been on a drag ever since it was started, and from a lack of backing and the ability to secure timber he was compelled to assign. The estate will probably pay 10 to 15c to the dollar. The cause of the failure can in no way be attributed to the extravagance of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

What Ails You
If you have sudden darting pains in the joints or muscles, and it recurs every time you get cold, and appears in new places without leaving any of the old ones, the best thing to do is to send five dollars to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48-50 Maiden Lane, New York, for a bottle of Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy for Rheumatism. It will cure you as wise in time, and do not be fooled with anything else. If you have got the above symptoms you have got the rheumatism and if the druggist tells you the truth he will say Dr. Drummond's remedy is the only known cure. Agents wanted.

Capt. Stone's Vote.
The officer Capt. Stone runs for congress the more popular he becomes with the people of Marshall county. He has been voted for five times for the same position, receiving the following votes. In 1884 he received 492 votes, in 1886 625 votes, 1888 837 votes, 1890 602 votes, 1892 1019 votes. The republican vote remaining the same. This shows that there has always been a number of men claiming to be democrats in this county that were always kickers, and now since they are out of the party the democrats are united and feel free to vote the ticket without any one else to please or dictate to them. When the party is united Capt. Stone received his largest vote. As long as the democratic party in this county tried to please everybody it could please nobody, and now since it proposes to please itself, it has become united and can nominate its own candidate and elect them. The party is now all right in this county, having cast the largest vote for Capt. Stone ever given for a nominee before.

Murray, Mayfield, Bardwell, Fulton and all other neighboring towns may boast of their creameries but we have the pleasure of announcing the first organization of a "Gipsy Gang" of any county in this end of the state. Dan Thompson, Pete Eley, Wash Pearson and Arthur Pearson went out of the town a few days since as a Gipsy Gang for Jackson, Tenn., and other points in the south with a large gang of stock, to be gone during the winter. They looked every inch like gipsies of the old order.

Election Echoes. SAM CROSSLAND DEFEATED

Stones has a nice majority over Deboe and Keys.
The republicans carried only two states—H— and Vermont.
Stone's majority in this district keeps climbing. Where will it end?
Judge Grace was elected circuit judge in the third judicial district.
Capt Stone will now know how to turn the rascals out! on short order.
The vote of the people's party in Ohio was just one-half what it was last year.
Keys did not carry a voting precinct in his own county and but three in this.
W S Bishop and W F Bradshaw will run our circuit courts here for the next five years in this the second district.
Fifteen states elected governors on the 8th, twelve of whom were democrats, two republicans and one people's party. The tide knew no bounds! it swept the country.
The election is now over and after the democrats get through rejoicing and gratifying everything will settle down to business and await patiently the result of the change.
There has been lots of talk in this county about it going for Maj Harris. His carrying this judicial district was certainly a joke for Bradshaw's majority is about 1800. That's enough we should think, and why's the use of saying anything more.
The man who expected that Keys was "in it" is badly left. He did not carry a voting precinct in his own county and but few anywhere else. His strength was small indeed; too small to see without a magnifying glass.
The average voter came to the conclusion last week that there was no party so much interested in the welfare of the poor man as the democratic party and how cast his vote. The poor man trusted the republicans until they would risk it no longer, and deemed it best to put it aside and give the democrats a chance.
James Locker, an aged and life long republican, of Birmingham, frequently talks to himself when alone, so when on election day he entered the booths to vote he laid down his ticket and picked up the stencil and said, "well, thank God, I will vote the republican ticket one time more before I die, and now I'm right under the rooster."
He never thought of how he voted the democratic ticket until he had deposited the ballot. Now they say he has to be sit up with in order to console him.

The Loss of a Leg
Or arm by amputation would not cause so much suffering as many people endure with rheumatism. One of the greatest discoveries of the century is a certain cure for this terrible disease, a speedy relief from horrible suffering, and a rapid cure. What a blessing! The public spirited citizens of Murray have ordered a new cannon for the purpose of having on hand a suitable instrument to use in all the ratifications that may be necessary during the next four years. For Circuit Judge in the First Judicial District.
There was a very heated contest down in the First judicial district for circuit judge between S. H. Crossland, of Mayfield, and Dick Moss, of Clinton, in which Mr Crossland was defeated by Mr Moss by about 200 votes. From the beginning of the contest it seemed that Mr Crossland had won, but two weeks before the election he became involved in a difficulty with John Bolinger, one of his fellow townsmen, in which hard things were said by both parties and from which emanated a very scathing and scorching open letter from the hand of Bolinger to Mr. Crossland, in which several severe charges were brought and published against him which it is said had much to do with the great landslide against him. In this county the many friends of Mr. Crossland are sorry of his defeat, while the friends of Col. Moss are glad of his success. Both parties are well known in this county and we publish these lines for the information of their respective friends.

When it comes to pass that the public speakers of the republican party can tell an eagle from a phoenix its about time that the party should throw up the sponge.

The democrats ratified here last Saturday night. There was a large crowd here from the country and the boys made Rome bowl and the welkin ring with guns, anvils and other noisy instruments. Every body is happy from the sucking babe to the centenarian. When our democrats get happy they are as happy as any people on earth. The entire week was taken up in yelling and shouting for Cleveland.

Colorless, Emaciated, Helpless A Complete Cure by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is from Mr. D. M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and one of the most respected citizens of Otsego Co., N. Y. "Fourteen years ago I had an attack of the gravel, and have since been troubled with my Liver and Kidneys gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I was making but green. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla."
