NUMBER FORTY-THREE.

Santa Claus Makes First Appearance In Fulton Nov. 30

Santa Claus is on his way to Fulton, and Christmas is just around the corner of thirty days. That grand old man will arrive in this city next Friday, November 30th, and will be at Baldrick's Store from 2:00 to 3:30 when he will entertain the kiddies and hand out "bags of gold" to all children under the age of ten who pay him a visit there.

Christmas is a short month off and it's time to think about your gift problems this year. Merchants of Fulton are prepared with large stocks, and ready to aid you with solving your Thanksgiving and Christmas shopping.

All you kiddies make a list of the things you would like for Old Santa to bring you, write him a letter and hand it to him in person next Friday afternoon.

The Fulton County News will publish Santa Claus letters again this year, and if you have a letter you should get it in early so that Santa will be sure to get it. Remember, last year he arrived in Fulton via train, and what fun you had? Don't miss seeing him on his first trip to Fulton this year on next Friday. He will be here only a short time before journeying on to other points where he must visit other little folks.

BURGULARS ACTIVE HERE

The register was later found under the railroad trestle near the Express office. A colored man who works at the Huddleston Barbecue stand on the Mayfield highway and lives nearby, was attracted by barking dogs, went to investigate and saw two white men prowling around the stand. They ran when they saw him.

Rain Floods City

Torrential rains flooded the downtown business district of Fulton and blanketed this entire community Wednesday and Wednesday night. It started raining late Tuesday night and rained almost constantly until Wednesday night. The Harris Fork Creek which comes through the heart of Fulton was unable to carry away the onrushing waters from northeast of Fulton, backed up, flooding the business section, and the longest portion of residential sections in Fulton and South Fulton. Many downtown business were flooded, and the office of this newspaper had nearly a foot of water in it at one time.

COMMITTEES PLAN BANQUET

Committees from the Lions Club and the Rotary Club have been appointed to work out plans for the joint celebration marking the completion of the new Dukedom to Fulton road. Ernest FUL, Bob White and Raymond Peoples composed the Rotary committee, and Smith Atkins is chairman of the Lions Club committee.

The Dukedom Road

(Editorial)

The Dukedom road is being hard surfaced. It has been a long-felt need by Fulton and the people residing along this route, or use it. It took long patient work to make it an actuality, but success was the reward.

Work has been progressing nicely on graveling the last gap of this road. Good weather has hastened its progress. There remains only a small portion, and this will be finished as soon as the weather will permit. There remains only a small stretch to be gravelled between Doug Chapel and Fulton. Most of this distance has a rock foundation, as a result of previous gravel work, and having over this strip should not cause a great deal of trouble even in bad weather.

The celebration being planned by civic clubs of Fulton, marking the opening of this road, is one that deserves commendation. According to present plans Fulton business and civic interests are to gather in a social affair with the people of the Dukedom neighborhood. A banquet is proposed.

The Dukedom territory is an infinite part of the Fulton trade area, and the new road will offer easier and quicker trips to Fulton—the hub of railroads and highways.

Moreover, the new route through Dukedom, when the other end is completed to Tri-City, will offer a short route to Murray and other points northeast of here.

But there remains yet another job for Fulton. That is the surfacing of the road to Beelton, another important link in the roads radiating out of Fulton. While visiting in the Beelton community recently, a group of citizens remarked that Fulton should get solidly behind a movement which would be the foundation for the establishment of a hard surfaced road into Fulton. These and other citizens are ready and anxious to assist in every possible way to obtain this end.

So let's make our net road effort, a movement to obtain a good road to Fulton from Beelton.

A CHRISTMAS SMACK

George—Would you be alarmed if I kissed you while you are under that mistletoe?

Grace—Yes, but it would be a still alarm.

Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas, immortalized in the well known carol, was really a Bohemian prince who died in A. D. 935. His name should properly be spelled "Wenceslaus." He was famous for his great kindness to the poor and needy. When, in September, A. D. 935, he was killed by his brother, Boleslav, the people of the country were heartbroken. He is still regarded as their patron saint.—Tit Bits Magazine.

Santa Claus Is Popular

"Dat gen'tman Mistah Santa Claus," said Uncle Eben, "is sho' popular. No body else could carry around so much valuables w'out sooner or later being hijacked."

When Christ Was a Child

It is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas, when it's mighty fondle, was a child himself.

Little Christmas Trees

They haven't yet invaded the colossal Christmas tree for the little tree, but the cedars and spruces grow more plentiful.

COMMENTS

The Bureau expects to increase the tax yield by $85,000,000 this year and to lay heavy penalties against corporations which pile up surpluses for long periods in an effort to escape surtaxes. In addition, much closer examination is to be made into the "husband and wife business"—sales of stock and property from one to the other.

James A. Moffett, chief of the Federal Housing Project, is trying to revive the heavy industries, relieve unemployment, and prevent another general maturing of private debt during a depression. He is hoping that the government guarantee of mortgage and construction projects within certain cost limits, will accomplish these purposes solely thru private initiative and the use of private capital. More than this, he is afraid that the use of public capital in this field will drive private capital into hiding again because it would be unable to meet the competition.

Recently the President, after much discussion, authorized the Administrator of the Federal Housing Act to enlarge the scope of its activity. For several months, Mr. Moffett and his aides had been working on a "renewing" plan, which has developed business of more than $70,000,000 from private capital. Now, he is empowered to go into the mortgage and new construction field with a uniform interest rate of five per cent set on new home mortgages by the President himself.

Those who have studied the possibilities of the housing program believe that it is possible to underwrite a vast business expansion and, what is better, that it will be largely based upon private undertakings. By making steady work readily available for the construction of new homes, it is expected to provide employment for thousands of men now out of work in the building trades and in industries producing lumber, bricks, cement and other materials.

That there is a great need for homes in our country is clear, because of the almost cessation of home building in recent years. Experts estimate the shortage of homes in the country at from 750,000 to twice that figure. If cost of building can be reduced, there exists the likelihood of great improvement in the construction trades and related industries.

A communication was read from the Newport Rotary club inviting members of the local club to attend an inter-city meeting there on December 5.

Among other things of importance discussed at the Rotary luncheon this week, was the possibility of obtaining state aid in repairing and maintaining State Line-st, provided the city or county will put gravel on it. Labor might be obtained through the Kentucky Relief Commission, it was pointed out.

South Fulton Hi-Y Club Presents 'Her Emergency Family'

The South Fulton Hi-Y Club will present "Her Emergency Family," a farce-comedy in three acts at the school auditorium Wednesday evening, Nov. 28 at 7:30 o'clock.

"Oh what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive." A matter of $50.00 is involved, dependent upon Kate Storm setting a husband, pro tempore and a baby immediately; the result of certain representations—or misrepresentations—would be more accurately made to rich Aunt Hannah Steele, resident of a distant state. Ted Bliss is considerably proud of his prowess as an actor, a weak point upon which Kate works to induce him to impersonate a husband. An indigent neighbor loans the baby. Haste is necessary on account of Aunt Hannah suddenly popping in to pay a visit to the newly weds. Complications are inevitable. The mix-up that follows drives Kate and her fellow conspirators to the verge of nervous collapse. Herat interest threads its way through the comedy and farcial situations.

"Her Emergency Family" is a brand new play checked full of comical situations, lovely romance and thrilling suspense. Don't miss it.

Music between acts.

P. T. A. MET TUESDAY AT SCIENCE HALL

The P. T. A. of West Fulton met Tuesday afternoon in the Science Hall. Mrs. S. E. Campbell, program chairman, presented a most interesting program. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Serena, new pastor of the First Christian church, were honor guests of the afternoon. Dr. Serena read the devotion in a most understanding fashion. The newly organized school board presented several numbers. Mrs. E. K. Binford presented the topic for the afternoon study, "The Library Service for Everybody." She discussed plans for the enlargement and improvement of our local library. After the program a business session was held, led by the president, Mrs. Lon Berninger. Reports of different officers were read.

For the use of the high school, they decided to purchase a set of Junior Harvard Classics and also a set of Mark Twain. They also are going to pay for a stencil set to be used by the primary teachers.

There will be no meeting in December, but the next will be held on the third Tuesday in January.

FULTON HIGH

As everyone knows Friday afternoon ended the football season for Fulton High. Our team succumbed to the Mayfield Cardinals with a score of 32 to 0. But we are satisfied because our boys fought till the last whistle. Our team made next to the most earned downs that has been made against Mayfield this year.

Marley made the most. Being as how the football season is over that brings on another subject—basketball. Believe you me, Fulton has a hard schedule this year. There will be a second team this year and they will have as many games as the first team. The second team will be made up of Freshmen and Sophomores.

Freshmen coming out: Ernest Hancock, Dan Lovelace, H. L. Hardy Jr., Ronald "Doc" Grogan, Robert Kuehler, James Thomas, Nancy
Harvey Shelton, Wilburn Allen, Neal
Lambert, L. H. Cooke, Billy Williams,
Jack Parker, Bobby Snow, George
B. Crofton, John R. Allison, Fred
Cramer, Bob McCannell, James Underwood and Harold Fields. Let's hope the boys have a good luck as they did in football.

The Freshman class is losing one of its members this week. Ruth Jefery is moving to Memphis. Ruth is secretary and treasurer for the Freshman class and she was also business manager for the football team. We hate to lose Ruth for she was a very valuable member of our class.

The Sophomores made a good showing on the gridiron this year.
There will be only a few lettermen from our class.

We are expecting to see some Sophies on the first team during the basketball season. Among those from this class coming out are: Joe Bradley, Harold Peoples, John Dunn, Ellis-worth Crawford, James Robert Powers, Bill Gouner, W. L. Weather, Ray Hunter, and Billy McAnally.

The other lay in one of Miss Gayles
French classes one girl said: "Miss Gayles, are we supposed to use those idiotic expressions in our lesson for tomorrow?" She meant idiomatic expressions.

Ann Marrell Whitnell journeyed to Nashville Saturday to see the Vanderbilt-Tennessee game and had a pleasant surprise in seeing the President and his wife.

At the end of the first six weeks
there were thirty boys and eighteen girls in the Sophomore class. This is unusual because there are usually more girls than boys.

Maxine McGee spent the week end in Greenfield. Sarah Helen Williams spent the week end in Mayfield.

According to announcement made this week by T. M. Franklin, who has been in communication with the Kentucky Relief Commission, it is indicated that this commission favors the project for building a new Woman's club on the old Junior High lot near the postoffice. Mr. Franklin told The News that it is hoped to obtain aid from the commission, including labor cost on construction, and 10 percent of total building cost also. The Woman's club has already raised about 50 percent of the funds to finance this project.

TERMITES, FEEDING ON WOOD, COST HOME OWNERS MILLIONS

It has been estimated that termites, tiny ant-like insects that feed on wood, annually damage buildings to the extent of millions of dollars.

Termites, sometimes improperly called white ants, are prevalent in practically every section of the U. S. They live in colonies just beneath the surface of the ground and commute daily to their cafeteria, which is your house. They feed with gusto on foundation posts, siding, joists, walls, studs or wood flooring that may be handy. The flavor of the inner portion of wooden members seems most to their liking, since they bore into the wood, leaving the surface intact thus escaping detection.

Persistent and resourceful creatures, if they find no wood in direct contact with the ground, they will often blaze a trail through poor mortar joints in old foundations and build tunnels up the inside wall to reach the wood, which they completely destroy in time.

It is easy to determine whether termites are present in a building, by simply examining the outside of the foundation. Tiny dirt tunnels, which may appear to be soil daubed up on the masonry, reveal the trail of these destructive insects.

Every building should be examined for termites immediately if many dollars in costly repairs are to be saved.

PAINTING OF WOOD TRIM IN CONTRAST IS MODERN TREND

No longer need the wood trim of a room be conventional. Now rooms are blooming forth with Chinese red, black, navy blue and other various shades outlining door panels, top curve of the baseboards, ceiling molding and window trim.

It is fashionable to outline the trim in contrasting colors, and such a treatment impart expression to a house otherwise lacking in character may be used in the living room, hall or individuality. Vigorous shades, dining room, kitchen, etc. But pastel shades are more correct in bedrooms. In any case, the colors selected should be a definite part of the color scheme, blending or contrasting masterly with the outstanding color of the room.

Home owners taking advantage of modernization loans made available by the Federal Housing Administration, might find it opportune to modernize the wood trim while the house is undergoing its transformation.

ABOUT "INDECENT" MOVIES

We haven't heard very much about the campaign against indecency in the movies lately but we call to the reader's attention the evident fact that there is no system in the universe which compels a man or a woman to pay money to see a picture that they prefer not to see.

There is much to be said in defense of the operators of the moving picture theatres in this section, as well as elsewhere. They are not to be blamed, as a class, for the type of films put out by the producers, nor are they responsible for showing so-called "indecent" pictures. They would not show them if the public did not demand certain types of pictures. Certainly unless they people attended the show it would indicate a disapproval of that picture, with a loss to the producers and show house.

We have witnessed a great number of moving pictures in our day. Some we did not like; others we enjoyed. However, it has been our practice to watch the advertising matter and write-ups of the screen's offering. When we know that the theatre is showing a type of picture that we do not care to see, we stay at home. It is a good rule for everybody and, in time, the most effective form of censorship that the world provides.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD MAKES TEST OF NEW SYSTEM

Co-ordinated truck and rail movement of livestock from feedlot to market, all under one billing and without extra cost to the shipper, will be offered experimentally by the Illinois Central System at twenty-two stations on its lines west of Chicago, beginning December 20. The announcement is made by C. C. Cameron, vice-president in charge of traffic.

The experiment will run 6 months. The extension of the practice for a longer period and into other territories will depend upon the reception accorded this experiment.

The new truck and rail arrangement is intended to give the smaller shippers the advantage of railroad rates and related marketing commissions. As compared with trucking all the way, it is expected to reduce losses in bruised and dead animals, to permit stock to take better feed and water fills to get the shipments to market looking better and commanding higher prices.

The experiment is limited for the time being to shipments moving into Chicago. Straight or mixed lots of one thousand pounds or more of calves, cattle, goats, hogs, kids, lambs and or sheep will be picked up by truck at farms within a radius of ten miles of any of the twenty-two stations and assembled in the Illinois Central stockpens or yards for forwarding by rail in carloads.

Contracts covering this pick-up service have been made by the railroad with local truck operators. The railroad will pay the charges of all trucks it sends out, and it will allow three cents per hundred pounds to livestock owners in the same area who deliver their shipments at the stations.

Considerable enthusiasm for the plan has been shown by prospective users of it, according to Mr. Cameron. The stations at which it will apply experimentally are: Atworth, Apple River, Charter Grove and Counsell Hill, Ill., Dyersville, Ia., East Dubuque and Eleroy, Ill., Epworth and Farey, Ia., Freeport, Ga., Irene and Lena, Ill., Manchester, Ia., Nora and Perryville, Ill., Peosta, Ia., Rockford, Seales Mound, Seward, Waddams Grove and Warren, Ill. Merchants at shipping points are expecting to derive some benefit from the stimulation of local trade.

WASHINGTON NEWS FOR U. S. FARMERS

FARMERS MUST STUDY. SHOULD KNOW THE FACTS. DROUGHT THREAT FOR 1935. RETIRING USELESS LAND.

Farmers in the United States, if they expect to understand the sale of their own crops, should not lose sight of the vital influence of export sales or of the necessity of foreign markets for agricultural products, whose production exceeds domestic requirements.

Agricultural economists believe that the United States will have a considerable exportable surplus of wheat in 1935-36. Moreover, it is well known that the price of cotton and some tobacco will be effected by demand from foreign buyers. Unless the government takes special measures, such as subsidized exports or storage to relieve pressure on the market, domestic prices will be on an export basis.

These conclusions are based on expressions from a conference of agricultural economists from forty states with officials of the AAA in Washington, where some satisfaction was voiced at the billion dollar increase in farm income over 1933 and the prediction of a further moderate increase next year.

The picture for cotton was not very encouraging, however. For the first three months of the current season, which began on August 1st, exports declined forty-seven per cent, as compared with the same period last year and the present outlook points to further reduction in consumption of American cotton in foreign countries in 1934 and 1935.

A continuation of the drought, which ravaged the western states this year, into 1935 is considered possible by the Weather Bureau which points out that the drought area is still far from its normal reserve supply of moisture.

Sub-soil was depleted this year and unless the winter brings heavy rains another dry spell would make itself felt much more quickly than usual. J. B. Kincer, climatologist, says that based on past performances, there is a two to one chance against the drought playing a return engagement although much of the West still needs moisture. The heavy droughts of 1901 and 1930 became worse in 1935. Recent rains in the Midwest have not replenished subsoil moisture and unless effective rains or snows revive moisture, the moisture demands of next year's crops can be met only by copious rains next spring and summer.

Agents of the Government in 150 communities in all excepting eight states are taking options in areas where experience has shown that the land is not suitable for profitable farming. The activity is part of the far-reaching sub-marginal land purchase program which may ultimately retire 50,000,000 acres from cultivation.

While the areas in forty states are being kept secret to prevent speculation, land is being taken under options at $5 an acre. The only states in which such areas are not been acquired at this time are New Jersey, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Kansas, Colorado, Arizona and Wyoming.

Land being purchased includes areas with insufficient rainfall, land worn-out, eroded, or too poor for economic use, farms in mountainous regions too rough for cultivation, thin soil in cut over regions that are droughty and infertile and land where the water supply for stock and household use is insufficient.

When purchased the land will be used for numerous purposes, such as forests, water sheds, recreational parks, game refuges, bird sanctuaries or at least for grazing purposes.

It is pointed out that farmers in no instances are compelled to sell their farms but, as a rule, the areas affected are so poor that those living

YOUR HEALTH

By C.W. CURLIN, M.D.
FULTON, KENTUCKY

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY FOR CHILD'S HEALTH

Parents are wholly responsible for every case of diphtheria, small pox, scarlet fever and typhoid fever with which their children are afflicted. This is a very strong statement, but it is true. Most parents do not realize that these diseases are definitely preventable, and if they do not have their children treated and immunized, and these diseases prevented they and they alone are responsible.

A child should be immunized for diphtheria at nine months of age, or scarlet fever and typhoid fever later. Medical science has so perfected these preventive measures, that at the present time they are inexpensive, absolutely safe, surely preventive and within the reach of all.

In the past ten years measles and whooping cough have been responsible for more infant deaths, in the State of Kentucky, than any other two communicable diseases. While as yet we have no sure preventive or measles and whooping cough, parents can do a great deal by having their children avoid contact with these diseases until they are older, when the diseases are not near so fatal, in this way materially lessening both the morbidity and mortality.

In this section parents are prone to treat both measles and whooping cough lightly, many times not having a physician early or until some complication has set in, and also in allowing the children to be up and about before the danger of complications has past. Every case of measles and whooping cough, no matter how mild, should be under the direct care of a doctor from its inception, and parents should heed his instructions to the letter, especially their care during convalescence when complications are most apt to arise. See your doctor and have your babies immunized, thereby clearing yourself of these responsibilities.

There are glad to take cash and move, some have indicated intention to make their own arrangements, while the other one-third will be resettled by the government on individual tracts or in rehabilitation communities.

C.C.C. TO ASSIST FARMERS IN STOPPING EROSION

A letter has just been received from R. C. Beheymier, who has charge of soil erosion work in Kentucky, stating that one farmer who wish to get assistance from the C. C. Camps should apply to A. J. Lisle at Clinton, Ky.

Farmers within twenty-five miles of Clinton can secure aid from the conservation work in running terrace lines, building earth dams across gullies. The land owner will be expected to construct terraces and furnish all teams or power to complete the work and supply seed to sow land that has been terraced to a pasture mixture. The land owner is permitted to raise any crops that he wishes to on this land, but land needs terracing should be kept in mind to aid the terraces in preventing erosion.

This is another wonderful opportunity for farmers to get government aid in improving their eroded fields at a very little cost.

Lawrence Holland attended the football game in Mayfield Friday afternoon.

South Fulton boys 21.

South Fulton girls 33.
Cloverdale girls 22.
South Fulton grade boys 7.
Hillcrest grade boys 10.

That in brief is the story of the Friday night games that kept the fans thrilled from start to finish. The Hillcrest grade boys showed a superior passing attack and alert defense to down the South Fulton grade boys in the opener. The girls game was a hard fought battle. At half time the homelings held a 17 to 15 advantage which was stretched to an eleven point margin during the last half, after Upton had fouled out. Johnson was out-finding for the visitors as she made 19 of her team's points. There was no particular star for South Fulton as each player did her job well and no substitutions were made.

The South Fulton boys were trailing the visitors most of the game. In the last quarter Mansfield rang up two long goals in succession and the team thought the score a tie. When time was up however, it developed that Cloverdale had won by a single point. The play of Ferguson and Mansfield was impressive while McIntosh for Cloverdale was outstanding in jumping for the tip off and in shooting baskets. Ralph Roberts refereed.

The local teams go to Dresden Friday night to meet the onrushing Palmersville team.

The gym here has been given a new coat of white paint inside and the boundary lines have been repainted. Players say they can see much better now since the walls reflect the light instead of absorbing it.

Six weeks examinations are being given this week. (No further comment is necessary on this subject. Report cards will tell the story in full.

Gaylon Mallory has advanced enough in Early Progress to teach. John D. Smoot has decided to sit on the front seat in Mr. Moore's period. Wonder why?

We wonder what book of rules James D. Hall has been reading. The spy saw him walking down the walk with a Freshman girl on the inside.

I'm sure everyone enjoyed "Love in Bloom" over your radios dedicated to S. F. H. S. Thanks to Oma M.

Hi-Y HAPPENINGS

A contest is being held in the school for salesmanship. It is being sponsored by the Hi-Y Club in the form of selling flavoring. The proceeds will go for a worthy project. Prizes are as follows: Individual selling most $1.00; Class selling the most, free pass to Hi-Y Play; Teacher of Class selling most, if all bottles are sold, Beautiful Bedspread.

A great deal of interest is being shown by the lower grades as each grade wants to win the prize.

The regular twice a month meeting was held Tuesday and a very interesting program was presented. A statement of the financial condition of the club was made by Mr. Moore. An announcement was read announcing the West Tennessee Hi-Y Conference Dec. 1 at Martin. Five delegates are expected to attend from here.

A Christmas Prize in Person

"Do you ever win anything in those contests you are always entering?" Muriel Wilson queried of her sister Agnes, who was home for the holidays, as they sat on the bed doing up last minute family gifts Christmas eve.

"Not yet," Agnes laughed. "But by the law of averages I should win sometimes."

"Soon, I'd say," Muriel said grimly. "You've been entering contests of one kind and another ever since we were infants and mother entered you in a prettiest baby contest."

"That's where I began my losing. If I'd won then I'd probably have kept on winning like these people we read about who live on what they make from contests."

"Phooey!" Muriel scoffed. "What makes you do it, anyway?"

"Just my love of adventure. I'm really a born gambler—in a discreet way, of course. That's why I write for my living. Just to see if my brain children will find a place or come back home to me."

"Was it your love of adventure, or gambling spirit, or whatever you call it, that made you turn down Harold Ryan three years ago when he came home from college with his cousin Fred to spend the holidays? Now, why did you do that, Agnes? He was everything anyone would want in a husband—looks, family, money, and aren't we always told that marriage is the great adventure?"

"Maybe it is an adventure but what who already has everything. No, I preferred to gamble with my own career."

"And now that you've made a success where is the gamble in it?" Muriel carefully stuck a sprig of holly in the knot of her red tissue ribbon.

When Agnes replied it was in a more serious manner:

"Since you ask me so pointedly, Muriel dear, I think, perhaps, if Harold lost his money during the depression, as so many did, and if he were to present himself now as a man winning his way through his own efforts, I might trust myself to adventure along with him. But, I fancy, it is too late. He's probably found some less adventurous soul ere this."

"Most likely," Muriel answered, as she rose to answer the door bell which had been persistently ringing. "Guess we're home alone." She hurried down the stairs.

Five minutes later she was back, trying vainly to refrain from any show of excitement.

"Some one on business for you, Agnes. He's the persistent kind. Insisted he had to see you right now."

"Oh, well, all right. I'll go down and get it over with," Agnes took off her smock and departed.

Muriel heard Agnes' surprised ejaculation, but it was some time before she was summoned to join the two in the living room below.

"Muriel is just dying to congratulate me," Agnes gayly greeted her younger sister. "Behold, sister mine, I've actually won in a contest. You see, Harold is managing editor now of the paper that was running this particular contest. When the judges were sort of stuck as to which of three people had won second prize they referred the matter to him and, recognizing your honorable sister's name among the three, he immediately decided in her favor and came, in person, to deliver it."

"But I thought it was for another reason I was to congratulate you," Muriel did not try to conceal her disappointment.

"There is," Harold answered promptly. "I let Agnes speak first. But the reason I had for bringing Agnes the prize in person was to see if I could win it: prize person."

Just then the door of the room adjoining was thrown open and another overcast young man appeared. This time it was Agnes' turn to show astonishment.

"Of all things, Fred Ryan! Have you been there all the time?"

"Sure thing. I came with Harold, a sort of moral support. You see, Muriel, and I have our wedding all planned. Let's make it a double one!"

To which bright idea they all joyfully agreed, hugging one another and shouting "Merry Christmas!"

THANKSGIVING DINNER

Few of us who deserve the name, "homemaker," would willingly renounce her privilege and responsibility of preparing Thanksgiving dinner next week. And on that day set aside by national proclamation, dinner must live up to the month-watering traditions of a century—potatoes mashed to snowy whiteness, giblet gravy, savory stuffing, buttered squash, cranberry relish, amber jelly and aromatic pickles, and a turkey larded to perfection!

The fun of Thanksgiving is planning a dinner worthy of the central theme, roast turkey. Of course you have decided whether your turkey will wear a shining, glazed surface (by basting with melted butter and hot water) or whether you'll dredge your bird with flour for a dull finish. But first, have you ordered your turkey? It isn't too late yet to ask your butcher to set aside choice bird for you. Be sure to have him clean it and remove the pin feathers and tendons. Then all that's left for you is to ash the fowl inside and out with a damp cloth, rub a little salt in the cavity and stuff it loosely with the dressing you select. Old-fashioned New England sage and bread crumb dressing is by far the most famous, though oyster and chestnut dressings also have an early American origin. When the turkey is stuffed and trussed, it may be placed in refrigerator of safely cold temperature until roasting time, even a day before Thanksgiving. In fact, much of the preparation for modern Thanksgiving dinners is made the day before, thanks to modern refrigeration. Vegetables, for example are prepared and sometimes even cooked the previous day. Pie-fillings frozen dishes, the giblets for the gravy, cranberry relish, are made ready the day before, and early Thanksgiving Day the preparation of the cocktail and salad is out of the way.

Looking for ideas? A cranberry cocktail will start the Thanksgiving feast in true Cape Cod style if cranberries aren't already cast in the role of relish. Other refreshing beginnings are seafood cocktails, spiced tomato juice, sections of grapefruit and orange chilled in ginger ale, and mint ice on crushed pineapple. Something new in an appetizer to serve with the cocktail is large, crisp potato chips spread with a seasoned anchovy or chicken liver paste. A simple salad of greens with French dressing is most appropriate between the substantial meat and dessert courses at Thanksgiving dinner. Endive and romaine will be cutting in on the popularity of head lettuce for Thanksgiving salads, and avocado pears will lend a delicate and unusual flavor to many a Thanksgiving repast.

For dessert, Indian pudding or a plum pudding is quite within the Thanksgiving tradition. The pudding may be old-fashioned, served with hard sauce, or jellied in the modern manner. Cranberries apply for a position in the pies, if not already employed. But if you're using pumpkin pie, serve with unwhipped cream topped with nests of tempting golden honey!
