shown in the attention given to the hamlet.

The handling of the city's affairs with accuracy and despatch, permeates throughout the whole fabric of our city government. There is not a city of equal importance in population or wealth which can boast of more miles of sewers and water mains than Fulton. The council has been able to impress upon its officials the necessity of establishing a permanent council, that there is no better arrangement for the management of any business than that provided in the plan of government. The city is divided into wards, each ward having its own representative, who is responsible for the good order and maintenance of the public peace in his ward. The council is composed of seven members, each of whom is elected for a term of three years.

The city council has made a great effort to improve the condition of the city, and has succeeded in maintaining a high degree of public order. The public safety has been maintained in all parts of the city, and the streets are well illuminated. The city is well supplied with water and gas, and the public buildings are in a good state of repair.

The following table shows the financial statement of the city of Fulton for the year ending December 31, 1913:

W. K. HALL LUMBER CO.

The W. K. Hall Lumber Co., operating a two-story block building 120 by 175 feet, at 207, 209, 211 East Fourth street, enjoys a large business. The capacity of the main building is one and a half million feet, sawed, dressed and all kinds of building materials, including sash doors, builders' hardware, glass, cement mortars, laths, shingles, planter, lime, cement, shingles and composition roofing are bought in our stock. Iron columns and stair work are attractive specialties. Many tools carried in stock in a two-story building, in the rear of the lumber house, the company operates a planing mill, the motive power being electricity.

The machinery is up to date in the different departments. The company is not dependent on Somerset or叩 for its timber, but carries all kinds of seasoned lumber. C. E. Webb, now and master of the firm, came to Fulton in 1901. He is well posted in his line and employs workmen of superior skill. Having been in the lumber business for more than a quarter of a century, Mr. Webb is entirely fitted by reason of his long experience to give expert advice in selecting proper kinds of buildings and materials. Mr. Webb has been largely instrumental in promoting the interest of the lumber trade in Fulton and vicinity. C. E. Webb is a Democrat.

FULTON, THE HUB OF THE GREAT ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD SYSTEM

INTERESTING FACTS.

When one speaks of Fulton's resources, advantages and prospects, one always thinks of the over-riding question of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, itself reaping the benefits of the great Ohio and Alabama rail systems, as well as the two leading railroads of the world.

And the Illinois Central Railroad Company is in Fulton what the steel mills are to Pittsburgh, the shipyards to Kansas City, or the iron ore industry to Hamilton. Located as it is about midway between Chicago and New Orleans, and the middle of the state, it is the greatest single point of these two great routes of traffic from the North and Middle West and the South.

It is, therefore, a natural thing that Fulton should be possessed of extraordinary railroad facilities.

The Tennessee Division, with headquarters at this place, comprises the lines from Cairo to Jackson, Ten., from Jacksonville, Ala., and from Paducah to Memphis. An embankment of 657 miles of Illinois Central main lines, to which might be added 112 miles of track which the Illinois Central uses jointly with other railroads between Jackson, Tenn., and Paducah, makes it a railroad city in itself, with more miles of track than many entire railroad systems.

You will find the following statements true:

The Illinois Central Railroad Company has more miles of track in Fulton than any other railroad system in America.

Mr. A. C. Tetley is as popular as a citizen of Fulton as he is among the three thousand employees of the railroad system.

The Fulton Stirrup Company, incorporated, does fit $75,000 busbies yearly in Fulton manufacturing two thousand pairs of wooden and metallic bound stirrups daily, which are shipped to every state in the United States and the British Dominions. There are three manufacturing plants of the company in the United States and the Fulton enterprise has a greater reputation than the other two combined. The money paid for labor constitutes a very considerable item. The following names are used in the manufacture of stirrups: elm, hickory, and rowan. The officers of the company are Mr. H. F. Oliver, of this city, whose great business judgment and keen business sense make him a valuable member of the community. This store has been meeting the demands of a large trade and the future is filled with bright promise for a continuation of prosperity. Mr. Jones, the present owner, has the Barry, unequalled for wear. Every well dressed man knows that Stacey-Adams shoes are the last word in style and durability, and Mr. Jones has furnished them to the satisfaction of every customer. For moderate priced shoes, Mr. Jones' Lake street store is one of the cleanest and williest in the city, and has an atmosphere that is not found anywhere else. This store has many show cases, clothing cabinets, and other up to now fixtures. Mr. Jones and his employees are very open to suggestions. For fifteen years, Mr. Jones has been meeting the demands of a large trade, and the future is filled with bright promise for a continuation of prosperity. Mr. Jones is a careful buyer and devotee who demand quality and style in his merchandise which he knows to be the vogue.
Most Potent Factor in the Progress of Fulton—

Success due to having Spirited Cuts of Officers.

The City National Bank heads all other financial institutions in Fulton. The city's financial institutions are generally favorable and the growth of the bank has been steady and successful. At the time the bank was organized with a capital stock of $25,000 and continued to grow as a bank and the capital stock increased. It continued to grow after many years...af useful service which the bank now has its home.

In 1897 the Citizens Bank was organized with a capital stock of $35,000 and continued to grow as a bank and the capital stock increased to $80,000. It continued to grow after many years...af useful service which the bank now has its home.

The City National Bank has been a consistent and successful institution in the community for well over a century. It has played a significant role in the economic development of Fulton and has been a source of stability and growth for the community. The bank's success can be attributed to the dedication and hard work of its employees, the support of the community, and the sound business practices that have been employed.

The bank has been fortunate in having its president, Mr. W. Levi Chisholm, a man better fitted for official head of an institution of its character. Mr. Chisholm has served the bank since the establishment of the institution. He is a man of wealth and has been a leader in the community. He is a man of sound business principles and has been a source of inspiration to the employees of the bank.

impregnable and impervious to assault, was never on a sounder financial basis than today. The capital of the First National Bank has been a power in the community, and it may be said by way of parenthesis that the existence of The Oldest Bank in Fulton and For Two Terrible Paines which convulsed the financial world of the city of Fulton, in the latter part of the last century.

The First National Bank of Fulton is operations a trust company, and its officers and employees take pride in the personnel of the institution. The President, Mr. Smith, is without an equal as a lawyer in either West Kentucky or West Tennessee, and it is a well known fact that the earnings from his enormous practice reach a very substantial figure annually. Besides his splendid ability as an attorney, Mr. Smith is acknowledged to be a financier and conservative banker. Mr. Ekdahl has been connected with the First National Bank since it was organized and has been its cashier for over a quarter of a century. He is well known to everyone in the city.

The President, Mr. Smith, is with a large and prosperous banking organization. His influence and power in the community has been recognized in the highest manner, and his ability and character of the First National Bank promises still greater returns in the future. A few years ago the bank sold its old brick building and has purchased a new and modern brick building, entirely thoroughly modernized and improved. The President, Mr. Smith, is active in all the work of the bank and is a silent partner in all its transactions.

The First National Bank of Fulton is engaged in all lines of business, and is a leader in all lines of business. It is a leading office in the business of Fulton, and the working of small amounts of money is its specialty. The important work of the bank is its trust department, and its dealings in real estate, mortgages, and other lines of business.

The following gentlemen need no introduction, whether as citizens or business men, as the Bank has been a power in the community, and it may be said by way of parenthesis that the existence of the First National Bank has never been used to crush but has been extended to nourish and save from ruin scores of deserving individuals and families in its 22 years of life. The Bank has been a power in the community, and there is not a more respected or more valuable man in Fulton, nor has he been better known than in his Bank.

Mr. Lucas has had many years experience in the furnishing business and is well known to everyone in the community. He is quite familiar with every detail of its manufacture and how to obtain the most advantageous prices. The furniture business has been his life work, and he has devoted his whole time to the personal care of his customers. Many houses are now occupied in the city and surrounding country, and they are ever alert to take care of the needs of their customers at all times.

The Ladies Store of McDowell's is a new one for business in Fulton. Mr. McDowell, pensioner of the Bank, has been engaged in this business for many years in the city of Fulton, and has been its cashier for over a quarter of a century. He is a leading office in the business of Fulton, and the working of small amounts of money is its specialty. AND THIS IS OUR BIRTHDAY

The Leader is sweet sixteen today.

And the Leader feels like a blooming girl of that age on her birthday morning. During the past sixteen years we have surmounted many obstacles and have successfully carried many difficult tasks.

It is a difficult matter to successfully publish a daily newspaper in a small city. The reader can imagine what a task it is to issue a daily in a small city the size of Fulton. What a task it is to meet the demands of a patriotic populace who were demanding a weekly paper. There was born to meet the demands of a patriotic populace who were demanding a weekly paper.

Yesterday, and today the plant is equipped with a model Linotype, two new cylinder power presses, five thousand dollars worth of new type and other equipment. Paper is bought in carloads at a time and the job department turns out work for all sections of the county. A skilled workman is entitled to fill the office with satisfaction to all the people and credit to himself. His effort is characterized by fairness to every citizen, whether rich or poor, influential or otherwise.

AND THIS IS OUR BIRTHDAY

By Mott Ayres.

The Leader is sweet sixteen to-day.

And the Leader feels like a blooming girl of that age on her birthday. Never during the past sixteen years have we encountered many obstacles and have successfully surmounted them.

During the past birthday morning, we have been born to meet the demands of a people who were desirous of news while it was news. They did not care to read today's issues from yesterday.

The news and the news of yesterday must have been timely.

AND THIS IS OUR BIRTHDAY

As the company progresses, the newspaper will be the voice of the people. The best interest of Fulton, Hickman, Graves, and Obion counties will always be foremost in the minds of those who are associated with the Leader.

The Leader is published by the Fulton Publishing Company, and it is supported by the investors of the newspaper. The majority of the stock is held by Col. Mott Ayres, and the remainder by influential citizens associated with the printing business.

The Leader is not a newspaper that is to be forgotten. It is an important daily paper, and that the Fulton Daily Leader will be a daily newspaper in a city, the reader can imagine what a task it is to issue a daily.

The Rex is Fire Proof.

Very Latest Motion Picture Machine, and Only Strictly Moral Films

Manager C. W. Owen before an audience in the motion picture business, visited several of the largest cities in the United States, and personally inspected the latest modern photo play houses with a view to non-examining every desirable feature and as well as everything that is not recommended with the most accepted ideas of the latest moving pictures shows. After thoroughly examining himself with the facts he set about the construction of the theatre beautiful, which he christened the “Rex.” The Rex is equipped with oscillating fans, ceiling fans, high power exhaust fans, to make for the comfort of his patrons in the blazing hot days of summer; to protect against all danger from fire, he had a fire proof booth erected outside of the building to accommodate the picture machine. In event of fire in the theatre spreading to the theatre, it is entirely confining the flames and absolutely eliminating all danger of fire spreading to the theatre.

Geo. R. Creedle, Fulton’s Oldest Coal Dealer

Geo. R. Creedle is a native of Fulton and for more than a score of years has been actively engaged in the real and feed business in this city. His various undertakings and community works are filled with an almost innumerable supply of corn, hay and all kinds of feed, a large percentage of which he produces on his farm and lands under his control, and in seasons, his immense quantity of coal are stored to meet the demands of the city. Mr. Creedle devotes considerable thought to cattle and hog raising, and only recently experimented with a hog cholera serum with a view to testing its worth. As a concrete result, he is not in position to say definitely as to its efficacy of this method. However, this is only one instance indicative of his desire to improve conditions for the farmer and stock raiser. Many others, might be cited. Mr. Creedle is a strong advocate of public improvements and has an abiding faith in Fulton. “The Future Forest”.

Mr. R. H. WADE.

Mr. R. H. Wade, the present manager, has been in charge of the present opera house since it started in 1898. He is thoroughly posted in the business and handles all the business pertaining to the theatre, in order to provide ample quarters for his patrons, he has just completed a large modern theatre.

Mr. M. I. Boulton.

Mr. M. I. Boulton, Marble and Granite Works have a deserved reputation for sending out only first class jobs and their work may be seen in every country in Southwest Kentucky and West Tennessee. Skilled workmen, up-to-date machinery and a thorough knowledge of the marble business, furnish a guarantee to the public that any material set up to them will stand the test of time and wear, if not superior in beauty the work of any competitor. Mr. M. I. Boulton, Marble and Granite Works have a deserved reputation for sending out only first class jobs and their work may be seen in every country in Southwest Kentucky and West Tennessee. Skilled workmen, up-to-date machinery and a thorough knowledge of the marble business, furnish a guarantee to the public that any material set up to them will stand the test of time and wear, if not superior in beauty the work of any competitor. Marble from Vermont, through and other states, as well as the finest Italian material, granite from the quarries of Breeder and Scotland, is imported in large quantities and is produced un his farm and lands under his control, and in seasons, his immense quantity of coal are stored to meet the demands of the city. Mr. Boulton devotes considerable thought to cattle and hog raising, and only recently experimented with a hog cholera serum with a view to testing its worth. As a concrete result, he is not in position to say definitely as to its efficacy of this method. However, this is only one instance indicative of his desire to improve conditions for the farmer and stock raiser. Many others, might be cited. Mr. Boulton is a strong advocate of public improvements and has an abiding faith in Fulton. “The Future Forest”.

Engaged in Piano Business in Fulton For More than Thirty Years.

Mr. Alvin J. Burrow has been in the piano business in Fulton for more than thirty years. An exclusive record of business honesty and unexcelled merit in the piano business, coupled with a thorough knowledge of every instrument sold, have made Mr. Burrow a reliable source to his customers. The beautiful Hindeman and Story & Clark pianos and he his placed them in hundreds of homes in Arkansas and Missouri; and without any doubt the most successful and prosperous piano dealer in the state. Mr. Burrow handles the best an wide aula of instruments and makes purchases in the best and makes purchases in the best instrument house in the state.

Another important fact in considering his wonderful progress is that he has never been in the business, but has been in the business for more than thirty years.

Mr. Burrow handles in the Eddy and Theory & Clark pianos and he has played them in hundreds of homes in Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Missouri, and without fear of successful competition it may be said that wherever he has made a sale the buyer has always returned to the instrument as represented. He has never been in the business, but has been in the business for more than thirty years.

The Usona Hotel, remodeled, refurnished, thoroughly modernized, and endowed with every comfort, one of the most popular and largest patronized hotels in either Southwest Kentucky or West Tennessee. The building which has long been admired by visitors to the city, was erected at a cost of $67,000 and from the viewpoint of architectural beauty is one of Fulton's most imposing structures.

April 1, of this year the management of the Usona was taken over by Allen Brothers, formerly of St. Louis, Missouri. Until recently Mr. W. P. and J. M. Allen, continuing the same business in the mercantile line, and their location in Fulton is regarded as quite an asset, as under their charge and for the present will act as manager. The Usona will be conducted on a scale of receiving and serving the traveling public feels assured.

P. H. Weaks, Continuously in Dry Goods, and Clothing business in Fulton for more than 18 years.

The local buyer under the Usona contract must buy according to certain established grades and must be gotten by a scale of prices, each grade. Every dollar paid out by the Fields-Hamlett Co. is sent to Europe. The vast sum paid the tobacco growers is spread fairly among them, and in the same way that quality and not quantity is the keynote to the business.
Joe Wade & Company came into existence as a firm in 1874, when Mr. Joe Wade came to this city from Paducah, where he had been employed as a cabinet maker for a number of years following his emigration to this country from Ketton, Lincolnshire, England.

In 1874, two years prior to Mr. Wade’s death, the business was incorporated under the old name which had long been associated with the furniture and undertaking business and synonymous with honesty and honorable dealing. The incorporators were the children and long-time associates of Mr. Wade, viz.: J. W. Wade, Mrs. C. A. Fall, Paris, Texas; H. E. Wade and Ed Heywood, Sr., of this city.

Mr. Heywood, who is in active charge as manager, has been associated with the business for more than a score of years. There is not a phase of the furniture and undertaking business with which Mr. Heywood is not thoroughly familiar. For more than half a century he has been a embalmer’s helper in Kentucky and Tennessee and as a licensed dealer he is generally known throughout the territory tributary to Fulton.

The mammoth building 301, 303, 305, 307, Walnut street, owned and occupied by Joe Wade & Company is 100x100 feet, has 2 floors and a basement, and is exclusively devoted to the accommodation of possibly the largest stock of furniture and undertaking supplies in this section, invoicing in the neighborhood of $20,000. Vessels this large building, ware rooms, formerly used as a place of business before locating in their present commodious quarters, are maintained on State Line street in South Fulton. In addition a second-hand store is operated at State Line street in the vicinity of their warehouse, under the management of J. W. Wade.

The interior work of furniture and home furnishing includes every article required in a modern home, with jewelry, shades, draperies, apparatus, and mantles, chandeliers and lamps, shades, window boxes, kitchen equipment, sewing machines, refrigerators, suits in Creations, Water, Edwards, Lyndsay, Maple and Oak, brass beds from inexhaustible to the most ornate, beds, Bobs, Bubba’s, and Foster’s mattresses.

The undertaking department is equipped with 3 handsome funeral cars, a beautifully appointed funeral parlor, and a stock of caskets and undertaking goods equal to any demand and competing in quality with the lines carried by the largest establishments in the largest cities. It is doubtful if there is a firm of similar magnitude in the city or surrounding territory with a well trained and courteous corps of embalmers.

Bob Blythe, the faithful colored helper who has been in this service for more than 23 years is possibly the only colored funeral director outside the big centers.

With every facility to meet all emergencies Joe Wade & Company looks forward to the future with conventional antipathy for all great, or prosperity.

GREAT TRANSFORMATION OF FULTON ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO. (Incorporated)

Pierce, Cequin & Co.
Dealers in Lumber, Rough and Dressed, Doors, Sash, Blinds, Cabinet Mantels, Builder’s Hardware.

The firm of Pierce, Cequin & Co., established 30 years ago, continues to be one of the most modern enterprises of the kind in the State of Illinois. The present owners, after finding the requirements of the city as to capacity and cost so greatly changed from those of the old days, have been engaged in a careful study of the requirements of the city as to capacity and cost, and have determined to construct the present plant to accommodate the city's requirements.

Progress in the electric art during the last half century and particularly during the last decade or two, has been so great, that electricity is now used in the most useful form of service, which is under the control of man.

The company recognizes that with care and workmanship the most modern electric plant can bring about a revolution in rates for street lighting service as to affect a saving of approximately 20 per cent. in the city for the present number of lights which may, therefore, be increased 24 lights without an increase in cost to the city and the company has further started operating these lights all night instead of upon the old “moonlight” schedule, thus lowering the illumination of the streets where the lamps are installed throughout the city. Likewise, the special rates have been made for stores, offices, and other special buildings which represent a reduction of over 30 per cent. to such establishments to more satisfactorily light their buildings and display their goods and still enjoy a material reduction in the cost of the service.

The work outlined is being conducted by the organization of the Fulton Electric Light & Power Co., of St. Louis, which company for some time past has been cultivating the art of electric lighting and power, and for the development of the city out of the business district and into the residential and attractive office centrally located on Lake Street adjoining the main building.

Listen, Homeseeker!

— Are you not making a mistake in not moving to Western Kentucky?
— Why spend your days where the winters are so long and severe?
— Why live where winter consumes all that summer produces?
— Why live in the crowded unsympathetic cities?
— Why not get closer to the soil and to nature?
— Why not sell your high-priced land and come to this genial clime where fertile lands are yet cheap?
— If you make this move your children will be much more prosperous and far happier here and by
