Fulton's Growth Evenly Balanced

Nothing bespeaks Fulton's steady growth more eloquently than its ideal location, its natural blessings and far reaching benefits. Fulton has three banks and the progressive Building & Loan Association. The deposits of these banks at this season of the year are approximately a million and a half dollars, and the total resources are about two millions. The population of Fulton is conservatively estimated at seven thousand, which shows the per capita wealth in the banks and Building and Loan Association to be more than three hundred dollars, or in other words, more than three hundred dollars for every man, woman and child, both white and colored in the city limits. This will give you some idea of the wealth of Fulton in dollars and cents only.

This money represents the savings of the citizens of the county and territory who patronize these financial institutions and should be considered over and above their investments in real estate, live stock and other property. This money is available at all times along with the Federal reserve, for financing and for the promotion of various enterprises in the city and country. These strong financial institutions are an index to the prosperity and systematic development of the city and trade territory, and indicative of the thrift of the community and countryside.

This community is fairly evenly balanced in every way. No matter from what point of view Fulton is considered it will measure up fully to all expectations, whether it be along financial lines or that of industry, from point of educational advantages, moral tendencies, or from civic beauty, it will not be found wanting, but will prove to be far ahead of many cities its size and equal to some of the larger ones in the great commonwealth of Kentucky. Fulton in her past prosperity has not overlooked the important fact that no matter how prosperous a community may be, its growth can never be maintained nor its prosperity be made permanent unless at the bottom of it all lies a solid foundation of moral and intelligent citizenship, and to that end the community has established parallel to its industrial, commercial and financial achievements a strong and progressive system of educational institutions; places of worship, and a live-up-to policy of social and civic government, based upon moral character, and a broad public sentiment.

HOUSE BOAT FOUND SUNK AT HICKMAN

Sheriff John Thompson and his deputies are busy searching for clues as to why Peter Larsen's houseboat was sunken near Hickman. Papers found on the boat signified that Peter Larsen, of Bay City, Wis., was the owner of the boat and that it had recently been occupied. Holes were bored in the bottom which caused it to sink and it may be that the owner was foully dealt with and the villains attempted to cover up the deed by sinking the boat. Sheriff Thompson is now trying to find acquaintances of Larsen in hopes that the mystery can be solved.

NEW SODA FIXTURES INSTALLED

The beautiful soda fountain recently installed at Redfearn's Drug Store is in keeping with the progressive spirit of the firm. The new fountain is the latest design in modern fixtures and adds materially to the interior beauty of the store.

LOVELY YOUNG GIRL PASSES AWAY

Tuesday afternoon, when the gentle spirit of Miss Eleanor Kirkland, the talented young daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kirkland, winged its flight heaven-ward, many friends and relatives felt her going keenly, and realized they had suffered a distinct loss. She had been in failing health for several years and during that time, a mother, whose devotion marks her as a standard-bearer of noble motherhood, secured for her all that a change of climate, medical skill and good nursing could secure to prolong her life and restore her to health.

Eleanor Kirkland was born in this city and all of her young life was spent here. She graduated in the Carr Institute class of 1923.

During her four years in high school, she carried off many honors and was editor of the annual the year she graduated. That number was a credit to the Institute and demonstrated the fact that she had a decided talent for journalism. In the fall she matriculated in William Wood College in Fulton, Missouri, and specialized in journalism, but her health began failing while there, and she was compelled to return home and from then, until her passing, she made a brave fight for life.

During the next few years she was treated in a Louisville sanitarium; spent several months in Albuquerque, New Mexico; San Antonio and Port Arthur, Texas, but all to no avail.

We sometimes wonder why the young, whose lives live them to a wonderful panorama of possibilities, are compelled to sever earthly ties for "the beautiful land of somewhere," and yet, if in heaven, there were no infants, no young girls and boys, methinks, even in that land of celestial glory, old age would yearn for the companionship of youth and beauty.

During her long term of invalidism, her friends vied with each other in showering her with loving attentions. Tender messages were received daily in winter's hothouse treasures, until a riot of spring beauties converted her room into a bowler of loveliness. When she realized she was nearing the end, she often spoke of the loved ones who had crossed the bar and looked forward to a happy reunion.

The devoted mother and sister have the deepest sympathy of a host of friends and relatives—but why weep?

"Take all the pleasures of all the spheres, And multiply each through endless years, One minute of Heaven is worth them all."

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence, Carr street, Thursday morning at 9:30, by Rev. J. V. Freeman, pastor, of the First Methodist church, interment immediately afterward in Fairview cemetery.

SOME ONION

The biggest thing that happened around The Advertiser office lately is a big Bermuda onion, grown by J. W. Matthews, of Pierce, Tenn. It is a monster and measures 17 1/2 inches in circumference. This onion was grown on land that has been in cultivation the past 60 years, "and is good for 60 years more," says Mr. Matthews. Mr. Matthews only set out one thousand this year to try out his soil and is being richly rewarded.

If any one can beat Mr. Matthews growing onions, we want to see the color of your eyes, and a sample of the product.

Hand us a dollar bill and get your name on the Advertiser list as a regular subscriber.

His Hundred and Fiftieth Birthday

Great Opportunity For Young Men.

Uncle Sam does not believe in unemployment for his nephews and is always offering them means of finding employment. He is continually advertising for men and women to do the work required to run the country; he offers work in the post office, railway mail service, revenue service, such as tobacco inspectors, warehouse men, customs inspectors, etc.

But the jobs he offers the young men of the country are particularly appealing, or should be; there is the navy, for instance, and the marines, and the army, with its numerous branches of infantry, cavalry, artillery signal corps and aviation corps.

Just at this time there is an opportunity for the young men of Fulton to enter the army, as a recruiting station has been opened at the Post Office, in charge of Sergeant George M. Dearing, a native of Princeton, Ky., who has been in the service for a number of years and has served in the Philippine Islands, and can tell the recruits all about it from actual experience.

The particularly alluring part of the offer to young men is that they will have an opportunity to see, not only their own country, but to see many foreign places, as well, and at the same time learn almost any trade they may desire, and get paid for doing so.

The government pays you a salary, furnishes board, clothing, dental and medical treatment free, and as stated above, teaches a trade, at the same time, placing the students in schools throughout the country during the winter months, and sending the men to camps during the summer and fall, so that there is no monotony of either place or work.

Every encouragement is given to perfect oneself in the particular branch selected, which runs all the way from plain electrician to becoming an army doctor, and the life is pleasant and interesting all the way through.

NEW HEARSE

Winstead & Jones, Fulton undertakers, have added to their equipment, the latest model Washington Limousine Coach Hearse. Mr. Sam A. Winstead, manager of the Latham branch of the company arrived in the city Monday from Cincinnati with the car.

The new machine is in keeping with the progressive spirit of this firm.

AN ENJOYABLE TRIP

Mrs. J. Kelly Wood, cashier and accountant of the Kentucky Utilities Company, has returned from the national meetings of the Woman's Committee of the Kentucky Utilities Company, held at Danville, Ky., when women employees from all over the state and from other states were present to discuss matters of general interest and enjoy the courtesies of the hostesses. Mrs. Wood reports a delightful time, which proved to be an exceedingly educational event, entwined with pleasure. She visited Dix Dam, near Danville, the $7,000,000 property of the Kentucky Utilities Company, which has a capacity of 30,000 horsepower of electricity. The length of the dam is 1,030 feet; height 275 feet, with a base thickness of 750 feet and contains 1,800,000 cubic yards of rock. It is said to be one of the outstanding engineering feats of Kentucky, and means more to the state than probably any other enterprise within its border.

Mrs. Wood and other ladies of the company were recipients of many courtesies at Danville, banquets, boat rides and sight-seeing trips. The splendid addresses delivered at the meetings were both entertaining and educational and Mrs. Wood is delighted that she was honored with the trip, and that she is associated with a corporation who has the best interest of its employees at heart.

STARTS WITH 1,500 CHICKS

Every little while the members of the Fulton Poultry Association have a chance to celebrate in a quiet way, the organization of that association, through hearing of some new convert to their plea for better chickens and more eggs.

The last recruit to the ranks of believers in thoroughbred chickens is Hale Williams, son of "Joe Doc" Williams, south of Mt. Moriah church. Hale has purchased 1,500 chicks this season and has already sold a considerable number of "frys" and is rapidly getting his runs and buildings into shape to take expert care of his large flock.

He has purchased a reliable strain of egg-producing White Leghorns and they are showing remarkable growth and development. He has made a thorough study of the subject of poultry raising and is following the latest and most approved methods in housing, feeding and caring for the young fowls.

It is the hope of the Poultry Association officials that more of the farmers of the Fulton district will go into the raising of poultry, and should the production of eggs warrant it, the association will father a movement to sell the egg production through cooperative efforts.

Delegates Go After Concrete Roads in Fulton

A special meeting of the road committee of the Chamber of Commerce was called on last Friday at the Chamber of Commerce, when delegates were selected to go to Frankfort to appear before the Highway Commission and make demands for a concrete surface for the Mississippi Valley Highway from Cairo to the Tennessee line.

This committee consisted of J. R. Graham, R. H. Wade and Heber Finch. These gentlemen were met Sunday morning in Fulton by Messrs. Emerson, Brock and Hindman of Clinton, and the entire party left on No. 102.

Other interested M. V. H. officials and enthusiasts were expected to meet these delegates in Frankfort and make a strong plea to the Commissioners for a hard surfaced road through Kentucky, as news had been received that it was the intention of the commissioners to gravel this section of the highway.

The Mississippi Valley Highway is a Federal Aid Highway, and should, by all means, be surfaced in conformity with the other Federal Aid highways of the country, and the gentlemen who have gone to the State Capitol for the purpose, will either get what they went for or know very definitely why they did not get it, and on their return, will tell the voters of the western end of the state just why their plea was denied.

KEEP THE GOOD WORK GOING

Some very effective patch work has been done to the streets throughout the city recently and the street committee is to be congratulated on its staying qualities. Filling holes with loose gravel has never given satisfaction, but when mixed with heated asphalt oil, makes a good job.

Chestnut Glade

The Literary Society met Saturday evening. Quite an interesting program was presented. The debate, "Resolved that the Blue Law Should Be Repealed," was interestingly discussed. Jesse Moore and Helen Hall, affirmative; Guy Finch, Reima Reed, negative. The decision was given the negative side.

The following program was announced for two weeks later:

Music—Orchestra.
Scripture Reading and prayer—Mrs. Lucy Rawls.
Reading—Virgil Jones.
Trombone Solo—Leon Nix.
Debate—Resolved that Pride and Ambition is a Greater Curse to Humanity than Ignorance.

Elder John B. Hardiman preached at Oak Grove last Sunday. The subject, "Pure Religion and Undeveloped before God, the Father, is This." To visit the fatherless and widows in their afflictions and to keep yourselves unspotted from the world, was interestingly and ably discussed. The religion of Jesus Christ compared with that of other religious bodies, emphasis being placed upon a life of service every day. Protracted meeting begins next Sunday. Bro. Hardiman assisted by Rev. Alonzo Williams will hold the meeting. Brother Holly, of Fulton, will lead the singing. These people are too well known to require further comment. Come and enjoy the services with us.

An election of much local interest will be held at Chestnut Glade, Monday, July 12. W. H. Finch's term as school director expires at that time. The future of our school largely depends upon the directors we elect. Mr. E. A. Golden has been favorably mentioned for this position.

"Children's Day" was observed at New Hope Sunday afternoon, with quite an interesting and appropriate service. P. T. A. meets Friday, July 2. Be sure to be there.

FOOD LIKE YOU GET AT HOME

This is truly a home-like restaurant because it has endeavored to break down the prejudice based on the theory that restaurants could not serve food like you get at home. Many patrons will testify that there is no difference between our meals and the meals they get at home. That's the reason they come here so frequently to eat. Years of catering to the appetites of particular people make it possible for us to serve appetizing meals. The next time you want to eat away from home, bring your family here.

Senour's FLOOR PAINT

"It Penetrates"

IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

A color card is yours for the asking.

What is the Chamber of Commerce?

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of the city.

It reflects the ideals of the community.

It expresses the aspirations of the people.

It gives direction to the aims of the Citizenship.

It combines the efforts of those who think in terms of helpfulness.

It reduces unorganized elements to an organized unit.

It speaks in defense of the good name of the city.

It defends the city against the traducer.

It is the spotlight that reveals activities that are worthy.

It pleads in behalf of the voiceless.

It is the center of worth while enterprise.

It is the magnet that draws the outside world to your midst.

It is the clearing house of civic pride.

It is the power house of progress.

It is a composite picture of a city as its citizenship would have it.

MUCH CASH WILL BE CIRCULATED IN FULTON

The latter part of this month work should be well under way on Fulton's sewerage system. $70,000.00 in cash, now in the three local banks, will be checked out during the progress of work and much of it will find its way circulating through the regular business channels of the city. This, with the thousands of dollars paid out for grain by the Browder Milling Company; additional thousands paid for eggs and poultry by Brooks-Boone Co., and for butter fat by Armour & Co., with the thousands paid out by the American Cigar Company, augmented by the tens of thousands paid out by the Illinois Central Railroad company, and many smaller industries in the city, should make Fulton a live business center this fall.

Cash! Good old American dollars. Sounds good, doesn't it? Well, the old town will get her share of the coin of the realm this fall and everybody should wear a smile and be happy. It may be that the grouch will not get his share, because he does not deserve it, but let's not have any grouches.

ON BEING SATISFIED

Everyone has acquaintances who are never satisfied. In fact, you may belong to this class. Put them in an ideal community where everything that man's genius has devised, is provided, and still they would look upon it in a depreciating sort of way and criticize some fancied fault.

They would never lose opportunity to say that if they could go some place else, they would do so, but merely remain because they are earning a living there, or other conditions prevent their leaving.

No further description is necessary. The type is familiar to all because everyone has some friends who are never satisfied with anything that happens.

Contrast this class of people with that represented by the man or woman who, if placed in any old commonplace town, would learn to like it, would soon find its good qualities and would hold the community high in their affections.

Their loyalty would be a thing apart. They would feel such deep attachment to the community where these ties existed, that they would not change their environment for anything that might be offered them.

There are many such people in Fulton. To them the community may be rightfully indebted for the progress that it has made. The people who live here because they have to are not an asset, but those who live here because they like to, are invaluable.

WOMEN'S SKIRTS

Booth Tarkington, Indiana author, said in an interview in a New York newspaper that the skirt is merely a relic with no reason for existence, and that he expected to see the day when all women will habitually wear garments approximately the same as those worn by men.

If it were possible to get a composite view from women of the country, it would very likely show Mr. Tarkington a poor guesser. The average man would prophesy, if asked for his view on the subject, that skirts will always be an essential link in the habiliments of womanhood.

It must be admitted that women have given cause for the belief expressed by the noted author, but there is a limit. You see women in knickers on the golf links and occasionally while on a long motor trip, but a natural aversion for appearing too masculine will keep the vast majority of femininity in skirts.

Even in heathen lands where civilization's hand has wrought no changes in the social structure, women affect skirts, although they be skimpy and often are cut on the bias.

The skirt, the skirt, long live the skirt, the badge of womanhood. It may suffer some serious setbacks, such as the present tendency to be worn short, but it will always be a part of the feminine garb.

ROAD TO PROSPERITY

A town's success depends mainly upon the number of successful people in it, and since material success is usually measured in terms of dollars and cents, this feature of local enterprise cannot be overlooked.

Probably many are tired of hearing it preached that saving is the surest road to financial independence, but from a community standpoint, the wisdom of this advice cannot be urged too strongly. Unless the idea of properly investing time and money is accepted, progress will be curtailed.

A bank account, systematically maintained, will prove to be a bridge over obstacles which now block the way to home ownership or the realization of some other aim in life. We can live in comfort, spend wisely and save at the same time on a modest income. The important thing in saving is the regularity with which we lay aside a certain amount at stated intervals.

Men and women who follow this practice are a decided asset to Fulton. They are the real boosters of the town and more should be encouraged to follow their example.

IT'S SUMMERTIME

It was a hectic winter with its cold waves and discouraging spring with its frequent flare-ups of low temperatures, but this is the good, old summertime, and why worry now?

Life at best is short and time is fleeting, and why should we be always in a hurry, especially during the warm months of the year when getting agitated over nothing only makes one hotter.

We should be rather well accustomed to summer by this time and ready to take a lesson from the weather and slip out of long accustomed mental traces and go into the open country where nature has clothed everything so beautifully.

It's a habit common to winter to look upon life darkly. Skies are dull and vegetation puts on its dark gray dress, suggesting evil forebodings.

But now everything has changed. Summer is knocking at the door and bidding us cast aside dull care for a time; is inviting us to forget our petty difficulties, put in the background our unsolved problems and make the most of summer's pleasant weather.

He is a wiseman who will listen. There is something about this season of the year that demands relaxation. It is natural that the railroads and steamboat lines run excursions from June to September, it is not by accident that the lake, seaside and mountain resorts are open, that the schools are closed and the playgrounds are running full blast.

When the sun is high, the inclination to mental effort is at low ebb. Even farmers who rejoice in the heat of summer, pause for a rest between seasons of harvest and fall plowing.

The urge to slow up and take life a little less seriously can't be put down, for it's summer again. The thermometer, if not the almanac, proves it.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

When a man coughs up a stiff prayer in church on Sunday and then skins you in a sharp deal on Monday, what do you think?

When a preacher tells you of the glories of religion and of the benefits of purity in your daily life, and then goes off and eats his Sunday dinner with the biggest old church hypocrite in town, what do you think?

When you hear a fellow bragging of the great deeds he has done and you know he is lying faster than an automobile can speed, what do you think?

When a man tells you a smutty story of some good woman and you know her character is as white as his soul is black, what do you think?

When you hear a young braggart making suggestive remarks about every young girl in town except his own sister, what do you think?

When you see one man trying to undermine the legitimate business of another by making veiled allusions to possible financial disaster, what do you think?

When a man owes you a dollar and crosses the street to avoid meeting you, what do you think?

When a girl leads a man on to declaring himself and then deliberately tosses him over without compunction, what do you think?

When a man trifles with the affections of a good woman and then is not honorable enough to live up to his word, what do you think?

When a duffer borrows a five spot from you and promises to return it tomorrow, and tomorrow never comes, what do you think?

And if you should happen to do any of these things, what do you think other people would think?

AIR DRIED CLOTHES

Do you realize what it means to receive a bundle of thoroughly washed and air dried clothes from a modern power laundry?

It means that at last the only remaining barrier between the housewife and the laundryman has been broken down. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immemorial, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned clothes line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

The greatest development in years and years, comes to this steadily growing industry in the perfection of a natural drying process. This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in our laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes; it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundering process. It puts the work of the power laundry on par with that of the housewife's own private laundry.

Be sure to see this wonder machine in our laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

BEAUTIFUL COURTESY TO VISITORS

Among the beautiful social affairs of last week was the tea given by Mrs. A. G. Baldrige and Mrs. R. A. Brady, at the home of Mrs. Baldrige to especially show courtesy to Mrs. K. H. Mathews, of Blytheville, Ark., and Miss Daisy Campbell, of Clinton, their charming home-guests.

These two hostesses always give a touch of distinction to their parties and Thursday afternoon, with their usual graciousness, made the two hundred friends who called, have a cordial good time.

The reception rooms were lovely with softly shaded lights and quantities of flowers which gave a rich color note of pink and white.

In the long double living room the hostesses stood with their honor guests, and also in reception line were Miss Ruby Langford, of Paris, Tenn., Mrs. Harry Whitis, of Greenfield, and Mrs. J. V. Freeman. They were each charmingly costumed in modish frocks which added to the brilliancy of the affair. The tea table was beautiful with its handsome Madeira cover, and exquisite central adornment of pink radiance roses in silver basket, surrounded by bud vases containing radiance buds.

Two darling little girls, Jane Grymes and Martha Brady, prettily costumed, served tea dainties, while Misses Virginia Swiggart, Dorothy Granberry, and Hazel Ridgeway served lovely refreshments with corsages of sweet peas as favors. Out on the attractively decorated sun porch with white hydrangeas and graceful larkspur predominating, Misses Ruth Bugg and Mildred Graham served iced punch.

Other ladies doing the hospitality honors besides those mentioned, were Mesdames W. R. Butt, Hilliary Alexander, Vodie Hardin, T. D. Clark, A. H. Carter, Boyd Bennett, Guy Gingles, Mrs. Ira Seay, Jess Nichols, Herman Grymes.

A screened orchestra furnished music throughout the afternoon.

GARDEN PARTY

The Sara Dean class of the First Christian church gave a most delightful garden party on the beautiful lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pickering, Monday afternoon from four till six o'clock. Tables were arranged with attractive covers and pretty bowls of nasturtiums where delicious tea sandwiches and mints were served.

Little Miss Frances Patterson of St. Louis, who is the guest of Mrs. John Culver for the summer, gave some beautiful dances. Frances is a charming little girl and her numbers are quite an addition to any program. Sue Bell Morris gave several readings which were well done.

Mesdames Huddleston and Eakin presided over the register and quite a nice sum was realized.

The following ladies assisted in making the guests have a welcome: Mesdames Ben Evans, Hardeman Howard, Winfree Shepherd, Herman Grymes, Fred Brady, Smoot Morris, Clarence Pickering, J. M. Culver, Morris Chowning, Paul Pickering.

BRIDGE AFTERNOON

Mrs. Herbert Carr and Mrs. Mary Carr Johnson gave a beautiful party Tuesday afternoon at the home of the latter in special compliment to Mrs. S. W. Booth, of Charlotte, N. C.

Graceful gladioli and other summer flowers were artistically arranged throughout the lower floor where the fourteen tables were in play.

Mrs. Booth, charming in red crepe, assisted the hostesses in receiving and her gift from them was a bottle of toilet water. Mrs. B. D. Maupin received high score prize, a pretty picture. Mrs. Mack Roach made low score and was given a deck of cards.

Mrs. L. O. Carter made the fortunate cut and received a Venetian perfume bottle. At the close of the game, a lovely ice course with mints, was served.

PRETTY BRIDGE PARTY

Mesdames Don Hill, Harold Owen, Jim Chambers, Jr., Hardeman Howard, Miss Mary Norman were hostesses to one of the largest parties of the season at the Usona Hotel, Wednesday afternoon.

A profusion of summer flowers graced the main dining rooms where the tables were placed for bridge.

Each hostess was attractively gowned and cordially greeted the guests.

After the four interesting games of bridge, little Miss Frances Patterson gave several dances which were well received. Exquisite favors for high and low score were given and at the close of the afternoon, lovely refreshments were served.

Misses Elizabeth Carter and Ruth Bugg served delicious punch from a prettily decorated table and miniature flags were given as favors.

THE RAILWAY ORGANIZATION

Although railway transportation is commonly thought of in terms of machinery, the human organization behind it is far more important than the mechanical instruments required in the production of service. The three human factors fundamental to railway service are patron, owner and employee. The first named demands service, and the second and third produce it. Each puts something essential into railroading, and each gets—or should get—something of equal value out of it.

The patron puts in his money by the payment of rates, and he deserves to receive in return the satisfactory transportation he must have in order to carry on existence under our modern civilization. The owner supplies the investment required to build and equip the railroad, and he deserves to receive in return dividends comparable to those which investments in other fields would yield him. The employee puts in the labor necessary to make the machinery provided by the owner produce transportation, and he deserves to receive in return fair wages and reasonable conditions under which to work.

The close interdependence of these factors is evident from the fact that the rates paid by the patron reward both the owner and the employee, the plant provided by the owner gives both service to the patron and the opportunity for employment to the employee, and the labor of the employee gives a going value to the plant of the owner and likewise renders service to the patron. All three factors are indispensable not only to the continuation of the service but likewise to the success of one another.

The link joining these three interests and actually operating the railroad—originally representative of the owners, but increasingly responsible to the patrons and the employees—is the railway management. With the government as final authority, it is the duty of the management to provide efficient service under proper working conditions, pay all operating expenses, taxes, rentals, and interest on bonded indebtedness and still have something left for dividends and for investment in the property in order to expand for future needs.

Such conflict as has arisen among the three human factors interested in railway service has concerned itself mainly with the monetary items of rates, wages and dividends. There has been much less discussion of the things the money has paid for—the amount and quality of transportation, the adequacy and efficiency of equipment and the skill and willingness of labor—which is a good sign that the foundation of railway service is secure. In connection with the monetary items, it should be well to remember that the test at any time of what is high or low or what is reasonable or unreasonable in rates, wages and dividends is not necessarily a comparison among these items themselves or a comparison of each with what has been paid before; the real test is the relationship these items bear to the current costs of other services and of commodities, to dividends in other lines of investment and to wages in other lines of work. A money payment is high or low only by such a test of contemporary comparison.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

Community Building

City Healthful Comes Before City Beautiful

"Public health is basic municipal work, and should be accorded a more important place among municipal activities," said William P. Capes, secretary of the New York state conference of mayors and other municipal officials, in a talk broadcast from station WGY, Schenectady, recently, the New York Times states.

"Unless a municipality is healthful," said Mr. Capes, "it is no fit place in which to live, to work and to play. Before we can have the city beautiful, the city contented, the city efficient, we must have the city healthful. That is why the New York state conference of mayors and other municipal officials always has been keenly interested in health work; that is why this organization of 60 cities and 30 first-class villages has for the last 15 years been promoting efficient health regulations and organization and keeping local health officials informed about public health activities and proper public business management."

The first gathering of city officials, which resulted in the organization of the mayors' conference, was called in 1910 for the sole purpose of considering public health questions. This epoch-making event was the beginning of the movement which later resulted in a reorganization of the state health department, and following it 92 per cent of the annual messages of the mayors dealt principally with local health problems.

"A few years later the conference urged the scoring of city health work. A member of the state department of health, trained in both public health and municipal work, went annually from city to city and by a scientific method of scoring, learned the efficiency and value of each local health activity. This not only showed each city administration where its public health work was effective or weak but also created a rivalry among the municipalities and succeeding local health administrations which produced better health protection."

The work of the mayors' conference leaves no doubt about its attitude on public health. It is basic municipal work.

Principle of Zoning Cities Making Gains

More than 20,000,000 people were living in zoned municipalities at the close of the first six months of 1925, according to a report just issued by the division of building and housing of the United States Department of Commerce.

The report shows that in the last four years the principle of zoning cities so as to define districts for various uses, residential, commercial or industrial, has come so generally into adoption that the number of people living in zoned communities has in that period increased more than 130 per cent.

In the past four years the number of municipalities which have zoning ordinances has increased more than seven times. The number is now 336. Of the 33 largest cities in the country 27 now have zoning ordinances. Three cities of more than 100,000 population, Denver, Colo.; Hartford, Conn., and New Bedford, Mass., have adopted zoning ordinances within the last six months. Altogether, 46 cities adopted zoning ordinances during the period from January to July, 1925.

Five states, hitherto without enacting acts for zoning have enacted zoning legislation during the first half of 1925. They are Maine, New Hampshire, Utah, Idaho and Arizona.

Harmonizing Planting

No grounds are too small that planting will not greatly enhance the desirability of the home. Too much cannot be said on harmonizing the planting with the adjoining property. This is particularly true of the parkways where uniform trees through the entire block are necessary, and ordinances generally protect the larger suburbs, but are overlooked in the smaller ones, and in the city it is not enforced consistently. Nature will express herself around the home soon and out-door living rooms can now be realized with bloom and fragrance in just a few short weeks so that back yards and front yards should be no more and in their places a new attitude.

Playgrounds in 700 Cities

Since 1883 more than 700 American cities have established public playgrounds and recreation centers for children. The first was in Boston and was called a "sand garden." The idea was imported from Germany and is being copied the world over.

Worth of Paving

Nothing is better for a town than well-paved streets. No town has arrived until it is paved. With paving it may become a city. Without paving, it must remain a burg. The same applies to a county. A county with paved roads is a county well advanced in civilization.—Dallas News.

Garden a Beautifier

First thing that anybody can do to beautify a little town is to plant a flower garden—a big one.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

ISRAEL ENSLAVED IN EGYPT

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 1:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord will not cast off His people.—Ps. 94:14.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Wicked King Is Cruel to God's People.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Israelites Become Slaves.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Israel Oppressed by a Despotic King.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Modern Forms of Oppression.

I. The Increase of the Chosen Seed (vv. 1-7).

This miraculous increase seems only to have begun after the death of Joseph and the passing of his generation. After this Israel quickly grew into a nation. This amazing increase "is expressed as is usual in Hebrew by a climax of verbs; where fruitful is taken from the vegetable world in which the increase varies from the multiple to several hundred-fold; increased (spawned—swarmed) is borrowed from the tiny tribes in which the rate of increase rises to many myriads; multiply is a general word referring to number; and waxed exceedingly mightily is a similar phrase alluding to the strength which numbers confer, composed of verb and adverb repeated and therefore well adapted to complete the climax."—Murphy. This increase can only be accounted for by admitting the hand of the Almighty to be in it.

II. A New Dynasty Appears (vv. 8-10).

Joseph's elevation as prime minister in Egypt was during the reign of the Hyksos kings. Being of Semitic origin, they were not hostile to the Hebrews, but when "there arose up a new king which knew not Joseph" (v. 8) their troubles began. This affords a striking illustration of God's providence in history. His purposes include the means to carry them out. The amazing growth of the Israelites excited the envy and fear of the king (vv. 9-10). Fear was twofold—

1. In case of war they might join the enemy and fight against them.

2. Lest they should remove from the land, thus cutting off a vital source of revenue and also exposing to danger the eastern border of the land.

III. Measures to Check the Growth of Israel (vv. 11-22).

These measures with their outcome expose the folly of world wisdom (1 Cor. 3:19). If they could have eliminated God from the affairs of men their policy would have been a good one, but it proved to be altogether vain. The greatest mistake a man can ever make is to leave God out of his calculations. God had promised that His people should become mighty in power as well as great in numbers.

1. Placed under cruel taskmasters (vv. 11-14).

The first measure he adopted was to put Israel into cruel bondage by afflicting them with heavy burdens. Cruel taskmasters were placed over them, who forced them to labor in building treasure cities and all manner of service in the field. They expected of them hard service, but this measure was ineffectual for "the more they afflicted them the more they multiplied and grew." This rapid growth resulted in more intense burdens being heaped upon them. The Egyptians meant this for evil to the Israelites, but God blessed it to their good. It was part of His plan for them (Gen. 15:13, 14). Indeed, the righteous may expect such treatment of the world (II Tim. 1:12; Heb. 12:6). Prosperity and adversity constitute God's teaching and discipline. While their burdens were heavy and their sufferings very intense, they had the consolation that it would not last forever. The presence of Joseph's dead body was a guaranty that they would one day be delivered. Though the Christian's burden may be heavy and his sufferings keen, he has the guaranty that they shall not last always.

2. The authorized murder of the male infants by the midwives (vv. 15-21).

This measure also miscarried as the midwives feared God and chose to obey Him. Because they refused to destroy God's people He gave them homes and children and the joys thereof.

3. The drowning of the male child in the river (v. 22).

The king, having heretofore been baffled, he now gave the heartless command to cast the male infants into the river. This mandate seems to have been given shortly before Moses was born. This plan likewise failed, and the very child who ultimately upset Pharaoh's throne, was sheltered and nurtured in his own palace.

The Values That Abide

We acquire, discard and cherish; and the things that we retain are those which can endure the light of the presence of God. And these are the things which are eternal.—Isaac Edwards, 1801.

FULTON'S FIRST POST-MASTER

The first time I ever met him was in the year '64. My husband, J. M. Caldwell, and Ed Nailing had been scouting for Gen. Bedford Forrest.

After Nailing had been killed in a skirmish, a new man took his place. Separating and going different ways on one of their trips, my husband going to Paducah in search of information, they failed to meet at the place designated.

Being near the home of my step-father, John Brittain, where I was at that time, he came there and asked me if I would go with him back to Humboldt, as he thought I'd be some protection to him. Always ready to share the dangers, as well as the joys of my husband, I gladly told him I was ready if I could get a horse to ride.

We borrowed one from Mrs. Sam Bennett, one of our faithful neighbors and set out on our journey. We rode through the woods, taking the most unfrequented paths so as to avoid the Union soldiers who were all over the country.

We crossed all the rivers on logs pinned together.

About sundown we came to the river bridge in sight of Trenton. The bridge over the river was built higher in the center. One could only see to the middle of it. Mr. Caldwell said, "If we can cross this bridge without being observed we can take to the woods again and get by. I don't suppose they have it guarded for they have full possession."

We rode upon the bridge and when we reached the elevation where we could see across, what was our consternation to see a large party of cavalry coming upon the bridge. We saw we were discovered. Nothing to do but face them. Two of the enemy rode rapidly forward and ordered Mr. Caldwell to surrender. He held up his hands but lowering them for an instant, he took off his belt and pistols and gave them to me and I hid them in my riding skirt. While the men were quizzing him, a Yankee came dashing up from the rear and said, "Ride on, boys, I know that man." They obeyed, the column marched on, leaving us with joyful hearts.

I asked, "Who is that man?" "One of the boys I used to play with in old Murfreesboro," returned my husband.

That was my first introduction to "Bill Fagen," and no need to say it was a pleasant one. At the close of the war this man moved to Fulton, Ky. He was appointed postmaster. But being a man of a high sense of honor, he refused the position until a vote should be taken to see if the citizens wanted him, not being willing, as a Yankee, to accept a position of trust in a southern community without their consent.

Every man in town voted for him and I told my husband if I had 50 votes I'd cast them all for him.

But in those dark days we women couldn't vote, but we can now, and if I live, I am going to vote for Gov. Peay in my 86th year.

A few of our oldest citizens will remember "Squire Bill Fagen," and what a good postmaster he made.

If some of the K. K. K. of that day were yet alive, they tell how, in the bigness of his heart, he hid them in his bed, thus helping them out of serious trouble. Helping all around him, thus showing that Yanks and Rebs are all brothers when the heart is right.

Prayer meeting, 8 p. m. each Wednesday evening.

Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., by the pastor. Special music by the choir, and the public is cordially invited.

Sunday was a gracious day. Our pastor, Brother Freeman, preached a forceful sermon in the morning. Mr. Atkins presented a building fund board, keeping the temperature of the building fund. Rev. Norman preached a helpful sermon in the evening and after the day, all were able to live better lives during this week.

The Warner Blackards met Monday at the home of Mrs. W. O. Shankle, with Mrs. Joe Beadles, assistant hostess. The president, Mrs. Scruggs, called the meeting to order and opened with song, followed with prayer by Mrs. T. D. Clark.

During the social hour the hostesses served a delicious salad course. A very short business session followed, after which Mrs. McDonald gave reports from the bulletin, assisted by Mesdames Roper and Brady. Mrs. Rex Finch, leader for the afternoon then took charge and gave the Bible lesson and comments. She was assisted by Mrs. Boyd Bennett, giving articles on Bennett Memorial. Mrs. McDonald and Miss Fry on discussion of the moving pictures of today. We were then favored with a piano solo by Elizabeth Shankle and vocal solo by Mrs. R. S. Williams. We were pleased to have Mrs. Williams as a visitor, also several other old members who have been living out of town.

We welcomed Mrs. Knarr as a new member, also Mrs. Herman Snow.

The meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Seay announced the birth of a little daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, at their home on Carr street.

Dr. Boyd held service at Columbus, Ky., last Sunday, at 11:00 a. m. After the service a baptismal service was held at which William Dow Simpson, an adult was baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Mach Roach accompanied Dr. Boyd to Jordan in their car on Saturday, and returned there Sunday afternoon to bring him back to Fulton in time for the regular evening service.

Columbus is experiencing something of a small boom, Dr. Boyd reporting that there is being constructed a large potato storage house, and a two-ton daily capacity ice house is also being built.

Mrs. Mack Roach, who was reported as having motored to Biloxi, Miss., last week, was prevented from starting by the illness of one of the party, little Mary Nugent. The party left this week, the small patient having recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stansbury and children, Howard and Mary, spent Sunday afternoon and evening in the country with friends.

Mrs. Don Taylor, who left recently to visit her brother, Capt. J. C. Crockett, in Boston, sent Dr. Boyd a miniature "Boston Baked Bean Pot" to which was attached the following touching "Pome":

"Oh, Boston! Home of culture, beneath whose gilded dome, Our Solons pass peculiar laws and the codfish has its home, We love thy quaint and twisted ways, the old historic scenes, Admire your parks and buildings, but—

We just adore your BEAN!"

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Khourie and children, accompanied by Mrs. Naify and Miss Sarah Naify, Mrs. Khourie's mother and sister, motored to Tiptonville, Sunday, to visit relatives in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coulter, and their nieces, Misses Alice and Wanda Coulter, motored to Tiptonville, Sunday. These two young ladies will visit here for the summer.

The Mohawks held a chicken fry at the rectory last Wednesday night.

Dr. Boyd is about on the verge of praying for rain, as the roof of the study is now supposed to be waterproof, and there has been no rain since the repairs to prove the truth of the claim of the contractors.

Cooking in Comfort With Focused Heat.

Florence kitchens are cool and comfortable for the simple reason that the cooking heat goes into the cooking—not out into the kitchen. The burners of the Florence are scientifically designed to FOCUS the heat directly on the bottom of the pot.

The top of the short, wickless Florence burner is only 2 1/2 inches below the cooking. But that's not all. Florence burners force air inside the flame, giving a quick and most intense clean heat. Hottest heat close up under the cooking—This is focused heat.

For cold-pack canning, for sterilizing jars, for the gentle cooking that keeps fruit whole and tempting—you can adjust the Florence flame to any height you need, simply by turning a lever. And the heat stays constant.

Of course it's pleasanter to use this oil range that leaves the kitchen cool. It's cheaper and quicker, too.

A Big Advantage on Rough Ground

The high, easy lift of the John Deere Mower is a big advantage in rough ground. You can raise the bar high enough to clear obstructions in the field, and cut with the bar in that position.

John Deere Mower

The Mower with the High, Easy Lift

The powerful foot lift raises the outer shoe from 25 to 35 inches and the inner shoe from 8 to 11 inches. The hand lift raises the outer shoe 44 inches and the inner shoe high enough to clear any obstruction passed by the doubletrees.

The John Deere is simple and sturdy. Its parts are strong and long-lived and its construction is so simple that a boy can operate it safely and do good work.

If you intend to buy a mower be sure to see the John Deere. We will be pleased to show you its many fine points any time.

Clutch with 21 points insures instant starting.

Special drive gear construction reduces wear and increases power.

Special construction of gear assembly overcomes crankshaft end-thrust.

Improved construction of cutting parts insures better service and longer life.
