BUDGET COMMISSION MAKES FINANCIAL REPORT FOR FULTON COUNTY, KY.

In this issue of The Fulton County News, on an inside page, appears a financial statement made by the Fulton County Budget Commission, in which much pertinent information about the financial condition of the county is revealed. The financial condition at June 30, 1934 was considerably better than the financial condition at January 1, 1934, when the present administration took office, the report states.

A GOOD OMEN.

I think it is a good omen that the young men have begun to take an active interest in the public affairs of Union City (or any community for that matter)—that they are organized and ready to cooperate with the older ones in the promotion of helpful aids to industrial and civic extension.

I remember the many years when none but a few of the older citizens took an active part in this work, and for a lapse or lack of the proper spirit, I am reasonably sure numbers of very fine opportunities were lost or allowed to be wasted by indifference and default. I could enumerate, but that now is neither here nor there. We could have been a city of twenty thousand if the young men and the older ones all together had met and accepted the terms offered by the original Paducah & Memphis railroad (now the property of the I. C. R. R.) and continued with the same active interest thru the years that followed in seizing many other splendid opportunities in the building of a fine city.—(Taken from an article by E. H. Marshall, former editor and prominent citizen of Union City.)

HOME ECKERS' PROPHECY.

One day this week I was walking down the street; met a gypsy fortune teller. I asked her to look into her crystal and see if she could predict the fate of me and my classmates. This is what she told me:

Your Home Eckers club president, Mary Jolley, will determinedly push her way into the movies as a descendant of a Greek goddess.

The vice-president, Idelle Batts, has a passion for ball games and will spend her last days supporting faithfully her alma mater team.

Bonnie Ruth Ross, the secretary, was always intended to be a housewife. She will make a certain young gentleman in the present Sophomore class a happy home.

Elizabeth Ferguson, profiting by the lessons taught her by the present Home Economics teacher, will become a Home Economics instructor in a college.

As for your respected teacher, I wish her the best of luck in trying to teach some of the pupils not to be so slow. Iris Sanford, Club Reporter.

NEWS BRIEFS

Anyone who has been around with newspapermen knows that they are a sentimental bunch. They don't exactly break down and cry over pressed roses in the family Bible, but certain subjects will produce the happy-eyed effect in which facts are banished and luncheon prevails. One of the surest of all subjects, if broached at the right point in the evening, is the small town or country newspaper. Give them a country paper, says these hard-bitten metropolitan sentimentalists, and you can have your five-star finals, your access to the Mayor's office, and your $7 a week. Just a little newspaper plant in the country, with doves and geese and perhaps a cow, and heaven is here.—(Exchange)

A CALL TO ARMS!

One of the jumble of events since the Democratic State Central Committee ordered a convention, in the face of an overwhelming demand on the part of the great majority of the Democratic voters of the State for a primary, a clear cut course of action for the unorganized rank and file of the party now becomes apparent. It is a call to arms!

Those who are interested in good fought so valiantly for the primary, fought so valiantly for the primary, should at once organize mass meetings in every city, town and hamlet in every county in the state. These mass meetings should pass resolutions and appoint committees to circulate the resolutions as petitions, in order to obtain the names of every Democratic voter in Kentucky who wants a primary.

The resolution should be along these lines:

First: Calling on the members of the present legislature to enact the compulsory primary law at once, if the courts hold the special session called by Lieutenant Governor A. B. Chandler is legal.

Second: Calling on the members of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee to hold another meeting and rescind their action in voting to hold a convention, in the event the courts hold the special session is not legal.

Third: Calling on Postmaster General James A. Farley, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to demand the resignation of Attorney General Bailey P. Woottan, Chairman of the Kentucky Democratic State Central Committee, in the event he refuses to call another committee meeting.

Fourth: Calling on the Democratic voters in every county to attend the County Conventions and insist that delegates to the State Convention be instructed to go to Lexington, pass a motion to hold a primary to select the party nominees for state offices and then adjourn. This to be done in the event the courts hold the special session is not legal.

Fifth: Calling on every county chairman in the state to hold a meeting of the county committee and pass these same resolutions.

Sixth: Calling on the voters of both parties in the state to elect to the next legislature men who are pledged to vote for the compulsory law at the regular session in January, 1936.

We believe these six points cover the present situation and provide for almost every contingency. We believe that more than 90 percent of the Democratic voters of Kentucky will cheerfully sign a petition with these six points. We further believe that working along the lines set down here the real members of the Democratic party in Kentucky, the rank and file who have been ignored by the so-called party leaders, will have a good chance to win a primary election and re-gain control of their party from those who have betrayed them.

When the petitions are completed the originals should be carefully guarded by a committee in each county. Seven copies should be made. Copies should be sent to Mr. Woottan and Mr. Chandler at Frankfort, to the two members of the State Committee in your District, to your county chairman and to your newspapers. We would suggest that Mr. Chandler tabulate the petitions as they come to him and announce the totals of the signatures from time to time.

A number of mass meetings have already been held, but the resolutions they have passed have not covered the ground thoroughly. All the resolutions should be similar and they should provide for every possible means of obtaining the end in view. The action outlined above would not be in the interest of any single candidate, but merely for the good of the Democratic party and the people of Kentucky. We sincerely hope that the rank and file of the party will heed the call to the arms and act at once.

CIVIC CLUB HELD ANNUAL BANQUET AT USONA HOTEL

The meeting and annual banquet of the Young Men's Business Association at the Usona Hotel Thursday night of last week, was attended by over 100 business men and public-spirited citizens. E. N. DeMyer, president for the past year, acted as toastmaster. Joe Davis, former official of the Chamber of Commerce, very ably introduced the principal speaker, Judge L. L. Hindman, who delivered a splendid talk on community building.

Judge Hindman's talk was highly pertinent and pointed for the occasion. Pointing out that our objective as citizens of a community is to promote its growth and the happiness of its people, he said the way to do this is to meet the problems squarely as confronted by them. New faith, new hope, tenacity of purpose and community-wide cooperation will help us to reach that goal. He termed service as mankind's greatest attribute—real community service that promotes commercial, social and spiritual development.

The program committee did itself proud when it presented Miss Spears dancing class, the Fulton quartet, Mrs. Montel Manley and Miss Butts, and Little Irene Ragsdale in several entertaining numbers. It was as fine a program as has been presented here in some time.

MATTHEWS OF FULTON

Word was received here early last week by J. Paul Buhart in a telegram from Jim Mullen of Chicago, Promoter, that Bobby Matthews would fight Heffner in one of the ten 6-round fights on the Stadium card Friday night. Efforts have been made for several weeks to obtain a fight in Chicago.

Bobby Matthews left for Chicago Sunday night, where he will meet Heffner, a promising young middleweight from Denver, Colorado, tonight (Friday) at the Chicago stadium. Matthews was accompanied by Ralph Bishop of Paducah and Jimmie Covington of Fulton, the boy who has trained Matthews for all his fights. If Matthews makes good in this fight, he will have a chance to meet Teddy Yarhoz, the middleweight champion.

PIMPLES OR ACNE.
This condition is more frequent between the ages from 13 to 25. It is not only unsightly and embarrassing to the person so afflicted, but if the condition is not properly and adequately treated scars are formed which will mar the life time of the patient. While this condition is not dangerous as to life, there is hardly any disease which causes the sufferer as much mental anguish as acne.

Practically all cases of acne are curable if properly treated. The length of treatment varies from six weeks to six months. All cases should be by all means be treated by a physician specially versed in this work. The best treatment consists of both local and general treatment. X-ray treatment probably does more real good than any single treatment of acne, by those who know thoroughly what they are doing. Otherwise lasting harmful effects may ensue.

Cases of acne should be treated early and not allowed to exist until scars are formed, as the scars will persist through life. In practically all cases there is an underlying systemic poisoning. Each case should have a thorough physical examination. While the acne is being treated the systemic pathology should be cleared up, otherwise a return of the acne is liable.

In treating and curing acne much depends upon the patient. In these conditions the patient can do much to help in the curing process by living properly, that is eating the proper food, taking the necessary exercise and rest, and observing all of laws governing good health.

MAIL ORDER FRIEND ASKS MERCHANT TO EXCHANGE ITEM

You mail order catalog devotees, take a little word of advice: If that merchandise you ordered does not happen to be just what you thought it was going to be, judging from the elaborate description the mail order merchant gave, don't try to exchange it at any of the local stores, hoping the merchant here will not recognize it. Such things have been done.

A merchant of Fulton related a story of an experience like this which happened to him once. A customer came into his store with a certain article, stating that it was not exactly what they wanted and would like to exchange it for something else. The clerk who served the customer did not detect anything wrong and allowed the exchange. Some time later the proprietor saw the returned article and not having had anything of the particular line of goods in his store for some time, he was surprised to see it there. He examined the article and found the mail order mark on it.

If a fellow insists on buying from the mail order house and fails to get what he thinks he ought to, then he should take his medicine and not try and pass the stuff off on his local merchants who are here the year around and stand back of the goods they sell. By experience, however, is the only way some folks ever learn.

If you have had your little experience in ordering by mail, it isn't too late to line up with the home merchants now.

CHILDREN BORN ON RELIEF ROLLS ARE HIGH PERCENT

A survey recently completed by the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration shows that 29.4 per cent of all the babies born in the state of Kentucky in 1934 were born to families on relief rolls. According to figures of the State Board of Health 58,000 children were born in Kentucky in 1934. The survey made by the KERA shows that of this number 16,964 came into 105,924 relief families.

Another interesting fact the survey shows is that within the 105,924 families there are 36,608 children under the age of six years. Figured upon the basis of five persons to the family 18.4 per cent of all persons on relief in Kentucky are under the age of six years.

Out of the 19,964 births to relief families the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration paid for 5,458 deliveries or 27.3 per cent. Of the remaining 14,506 per cent 25 per cent of the deliveries were made by parturient midwives which leaves 22.8 per cent of the relief babies that came into the world with little or no expert assistance.

In many instances KERA social workers have found husband has delivered wife and mother has delivered daughter of her baby. It is not an uncommon sight, they say, to see a mother going about her house work the second day after the birth of her child.

"These children," George H. Goodman, state administrator for Kentucky said, "have a right to expect adequate provision for their welfare and future. The health and welfare of these children marks the future of Kentucky and brings us to ponder the enormity of the job we face."

Mr. Goodman pointed to the staunch battle waged by President Roosevelt through his administration on behalf of the forgotten child and his repeated demand for more adequate provision for essential items in the family budget and the attendant lifting of the living standard within the relief home.

FARMERS SUFFER FROM THIEVERY IN THIS SECTION

In lays of yore it was the proud boast of our forefathers that there was no lock on the corn crib, the hen house or the smokehouse. Now were the doors or windows of their home generally locked when they were away from home. But now it is a different story.

Thievery in the rural sections has become a common occurrence. Smokehouse robberies are quite frequent. Homes are being plundered while residents are away. Hams, shoulders, sausage, lard, maddings, jolla and produce are being stolen. Some farmers try to protect their property with locks, but these are often broken. Even hogs have been stolen from the fields.

It is doubtful that economic stress is responsible for this thievery, for it has the earmarks of a ring of plunderers, who rob the homes of honest citizens for gain, rather than to starve the pangs of hunger. It is a rather difficult job for officers to check up on meat thefts, as cured meat when stored is cut into pieces that can not be easily recognized by the owner if found.

It takes more than a plan to solve the social problems of the United States and the individual citizen of Fulton County can help the job along by taking care of himself or herself.

and alarms might help to keep our townships free of those who trespass under the cover of darkness. Let us hope a remedy may be found to curb such unlawful activities.

Most anybody is ready to economize in 1937.

FORD PRESENTS ANOTHER ADVANCE IN TRUCK ENGINEERING

Will bring truck owners
new savings, better performance

The important fact to remember about the new Ford V-8 Truck for 1935 is not merely that it gives you new money-saving features—but that these features have been added to a truck whose economy, performance, stamina have already been proved.

For 1935, Ford engineers give you an entirely new development—Forward Load Distribution. This makes possible more uniform tire and brake wear. It improves brake action. It provides a more stable ride—which means improved operation and wear throughout the truck. In addition, with more load space between the cab and rear axle, the 1935 Ford V-8 permits acute angle turns with full-width semi-trailers.

No matter how efficiently you are now doing your hauling, these and the other features of the 1935 Ford V-8 are important advantages to consider. They are matched by no other truck in America today, regardless of price.

Test the 1935 Ford V-8 truck on your own job. You'll find there's a big meaning in double-duty. Power and strength... speed, handling ease, beauty. And at a price that saves you money from the beginning.

PASSENGER INCREASE OF ONE-THIRD REPORTED

Travel on the Illinois Central System increased from 207,008 passengers in January, 1934, to 275,000 in January, 1935, a gain of 33 per cent. These figures are revealed by J. V. Lanigan, passenger traffic manager, in announcing that four times its first month of 1935 operation the Floridan had to leave Chicago in two sections.

These figures exclude the Illinois Central suburban travel at Chicago. This service shared the January to January improvement, increasing from 2,430,000 to 2,483,000 passengers.

"We attribute the growing popularity of train travel to the program of improvement we undertook last summer," said Mr. Lanigan. "Led by the Floridan and the new Panama Limited, most of our trains show healthy increases in number of passengers and in revenue."

OBION COUNTY AGENT EXPLAINS PROGRAM EXPENSE

By Franklin Yates, County Agent of Obion County, Tenn.

"There must be some mistake," Mrs. Orene Westbrook, secretary to the County Agent of Obion County, when a 1934 corn-hog contract signer complained that his association expense was too high.

On checking this complaint it was learned that the "producer" did not understand that another check for $2.00 per head is to be paid on the hog yet, less the pro rata hog expense. The 1934 payments are to consist of three checks instead of only two, as this person thought.

The clarifying of this misunderstanding will be pleasing to a number of Obion county corn-hog growers who have held back on signing 1935 applications because of this impression, thinks this grower who stated that his 1934 expense was too heavy.

The 1934 corn expense amounted to only about 1 1/2¢ per bushel, according to County Agent Franklin Yates. Indications are that the hog expense, to be deducted from the third check, will amount to not over 4 percent of the total hog payments, according to representatives of the 1934 association.

Farmers have until February 28 to sign and complete applications for 1935 contracts, word from the State office reveals. Members of the county allotment committee will visit the county this week to accept and complete these applications.

BRISBANE DEFINES "WHAT IS A NEWSPAPER?"

Arthur Brisbane, one of the country's greatest writers and columnists, recently had the following to say about newspapers:

"What is a newspaper? A newspaper is a mirror in which are reflected events and human beings. Don't break the mirror. If you don't like what you see in it, change the face as they do in the beauty parlor."

"Newspaper men make a great fuss about the little events in the lives of men. In newspaper work it is the little things that are the important things. You might have 1,000,000 atoms in the corner of your eye and not know they are there."

"You may compare the newspaper to the rainfall. Nature distributes water in drops. The rainfall comes down in quantities that the small flower can absorb. If it were dropped a cubic yard at a time, the flower would be washed away and there would be no irrigation. Newspapers distribute information similarly in drops, easily absorbed, to a man who will take Greek quotations in a series, when a heavy volume from the library dropped on his head would be too much."

"The first great piece of news sent out was the rainbow, put in the sky, promising that there would be no more floods. It was the world's greatest advertisement and it was very well done, because it was the biggest that could be printed and printed in every color of the rainbow."

"When the Ruler of the Universe has anything to say He piles up the black clouds, bigger and blacker than any type we can use, and if that isn't enough He shoots red lightning through it. Then He does what we can't do, unfortunately, but what we would like to do—He makes the front page thunder."

"A newspaperman's work is forgotten, but everything in time is forgotten. The earth on which he lives will grow cold and old and die; and this entire corner of the universe that we call the Milky Way will disappear and be only memory like some great actor of former times."

DIRECTORY SHOWS NEWSPAPER INCREASE

There were 129 more newspapers published in the United States and Canada in 1934 than in the preceding year, according to a compilation for the 1935 edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals. This increase is in marked contrast to 1933, which showed a loss of 212 compared with 1932.

Altogether there are now 14,091 newspapers in the United States and Canada, according to the directory. Of these 2,197 are dailies, representing an increase of thirty-eight, and 11,894 weeklies, showing an increase of eighty-nine. The remainder are of miscellaneous issue. The United States shows an increase of 123 newspapers and Canada an increase of six.

The greatest gain is in the Southern States, where there are thirty-nine more papers than there were a year ago, eighteen of which are in Texas. A gain of twenty-six is revealed for the Middle Atlantic States, with eighteen of them in New Jersey. The Middle Western States have an increase of fifteen, of which seven are in Wisconsin.

A total of 257 new newspapers was reported and there were 128 consolidations, leaving a net gain of 129.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S MAGNIFICENT FILMIZATION OF CHARLES DICKENS' CLASSIC, "DAVID COPPERFIELD" OPENS AT THE ORPHEUM FOR THREE DAYS STARTING SUNDAY.

"David Copperfield," the sensational hit picture which comes to the Orpheum theatre, starting Sunday, promises to be unusual in many respects. Advance information from Hollywood lists these facts:

It is the picture which introduces to the screen little Freddie Bartholomew, the ten year old boy who is hailed as the greatest screen "find" since Jackie Coogan rocketed to fame with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid." Freddie plays the juvenile "David."

It is an adaptation of a novel which has entertained millions, and was called by its author, Charles Dickens, "my favorite child."

Sixty-five stars and featured players are in the unprecedented cast. Among the stars are W. C. Fields, Lionel Barrymore, Madge Evans, Maureen O'Sullivan, Edna

If the Telephone were Not There!

MANY TIMES each day you reach for the telephone on your desk at the office or in its familiar spot at home. It is an old and trusted friend. You scarcely give a thought to what it means to a busy day.

Yet suppose the telephone were not there! Suppose—for a week—or a month—you could not call anybody by telephone and nobody could call you! The whole machinery of business and the home would be thrown out of gear. Orders would be lost—efficiency and profits reduced. You would be out of touch with your world.

America needs quick, reliable telephone service to get things done in the brisk, crisp American manner. And it enjoys the best service in the world. America leads in telephone service. In relation to population there are six times as many telephones in this country as in Europe and the telephone is used nine times as much.

Greater progress has been made in this country because of the Bell System's one policy, one system and universal service.

THE FATHER AND HIS SON.

Seldom is there more interest displayed in any civic movement than was noticeable at the annual banquet of the Young Men's Business Association last Thursday night. A fine body of civic workers were present, with good fellowship reigning high. It is this fine feeling of brotherhood that will hold a band of people together in accomplishing worthy community projects. It should make us realize as citizens of our community that we have a deep obligation and a grave task to perform, and that we should lend our encouragement, contribute our time and money to further community progress, which is really individual growth as well.

We are reminded of that famous Aesop's fable, about the tale of a father and his sons:

This father had a family of sons who were always quarreling among themselves. He tried to heal their disputes by exhortation, but his efforts were to no avail. So he adopted a more practical method by which he illustrated the evils of disunion.

He told them to bring him a bundle of sticks. When they had done so, he placed the faggot in the hands of each of them in succession. They each tried to break it in pieces. But they failed to break them with all their efforts.

Next he unfasted the faggot, taking each stick separately, and placed one stick in the hands of each. The sons broke the sticks easily.

The father then addressed his sons in these words: "My sons, if you are of one mind, and unite to assist one another, you will be uninjured by all the attempts of your enemies; but if you are divided among yourselves, you will be broken as easily as these sticks."

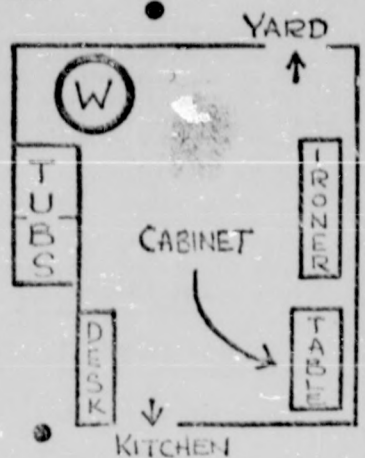

What truth there is in that old fable! And this truth applies to Fulton, and every other community. It will take the combined efforts of us all to accomplish the most good in our community. Each and every

"Little House" in Metropolis

In the very heart of New York City, at Park Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street, nestled in an skyscraper, stands "America's Little House" built to give America's little man the tub benefit of good architecture, construction and home planning.

Many average homes actually cost proportionately more in a great estate. The Little House was built to build with economy. It is designed for a family of two adults, two children and an infant, and yet it requires no human servants for daily work. Every detail has been planned for the convenience of the housewife.

One of its novelties delights every housewife. This is a new-type room adjoining the kitchen. It is the "closetry" where clothes are made, repaired and laundered. There is a compact desk for the housewife, with space for cook-books, records, telephone, and small typewriter and radio.

There is a table on casters, for setting clothes to be washed and for cutting out garments, and equally useful in the kitchen. The washing machine and laundry tubs covers are the same height as the table, furnishing auxiliary kitchen service space when needed. The ironing machine stands under a window. The closetry plan is so simple and compact that it already is being installed in many homes. Only unused space 9x10 feet is required. The washer only, need be installed at first. Other equipment can follow, at the convenience of the housewife.

one of us have a definite obligation to do everything in our power for our community's growth and welfare. And when called upon to perform that duty, we should be ready and willing to step into harness and pull our part of the load.

OH, THE VANITY OF US ALL!

Some folks want to reduce, others want to put on a little flesh. There are lots of these folks in Fulton, and they are forever and eternally seeking plans to accomplish this end.

The newspapers and magazines are filled with all kinds of advertisements proclaiming the virtues of this or that method for bringing about the desired result, and for an investment of a few dollars, the manufacturers promise wonders at the end of the treatment.

Nearly everyone, however, reaches the end of the prescribed course in just about the same physical condition as they were at the beginning, and then again begins the search for something new to try.

Some will do a lot of walking, others will be found late hours at night and early in the morning doing their daily to-do. Some have installed phonographs in their rooms and have a complete set of records with the proper time background so they can accomplish the various gymnastic stunts under the proper atmosphere. They will jump, turn, twist, etc. on the floor and roll over and over, until they have about exhausted themselves, they either go to bed, or jump into a cool tub of water to start the day off properly.

Some of these folks get a lot of fun out of these exercises, but those who have a pretty heavy excess of weight find the undertaking pretty much like hard work.

Others will go to the table and when this or that dish is passed to them, they say, "No, thank you," all because the contents is more or less fattening. They will taste a little of one thing and then a little of another, leave the table just about as hungry as when they sat down, and all because it isn't just the thing nowadays to waddle around with too much fat on one's bones.

These folks just make themselves miserable all the time, all for the sake of style and appearance. They never enjoy a real hearty meal, and they never permit themselves to go to bed or begin a day's work without at first putting themselves thru a lot of contortions, which may or may not increase their efficiency.

INDIVIDUAL THE UNIT.

The responsibility of the individual was never greater than now, yet there has been a growing disposition to let governments, whether they be national, state or local, function in all matters, and blame this intangible thing called government if any thing goes awry.

There never has been a time in the affairs of the people of this country when a higher standard of individual character and conduct was more essential than now.

Determined influences are being exerted to undermine the regard of the individual for the very laws which the individuals collectively, through the representatives, have enacted as rules of their own conduct and relations to one another.

If a clear understanding of individual responsibility in matters affecting the common good could be gained there would never be even the remote possibility of failure in any worthy undertaking.

Neither would there be any failure in the community, the state or the home of the effort to establish and maintain harmonious conditions. This happy realization is not always reached, but because some individual, or group of individuals, are unwilling to contribute unselfishly to the total.

The failure of most community enterprises is in large measure due to unwillingness of some individuals to realize their responsibility to the community and to bear their share of it.

The communities that get ahead are those where the merchants, the professional men, the laboring men, and all other groups have a deep sense of their individual obligation in the community, which is their home and end, and to live up to it.

OPPORTUNITY FOR WOMEN

Modern social life is being gradually, but widely, altered through the entry of woman into business and commercial activity. Even in Fulton the old idea that a woman, once married, retired to her home for the purpose of keeping house and raising a family, is being shot to pieces.

Of course, like all other alterations of the established order this change has produced some absurdities, but, on the whole, we believe it is working for the best interests of everybody. Particularly, it is to the interest of women. Before the opening up of opportunities for making her living the average woman had to do one of three things in order to keep from starving: either marry, live on male charity, or else throw herself on the streets.

The fact that women can make their way in commercial activities and retain their self-respect, without being dependent upon the men of the world, gives to women in general an independence that is good for us all. It will also enable them to make the men toe the mark in domestic life, which after all is not a bad idea.

Fulton County Finances

MEMBERS OF FULTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY
BUDGET COMMISSION,
HICKMAN, KENTUCKY.

Gentlemen:

Since January 1, 1934, Fulton County, Kentucky has been operating under the budget system as required by law. The results after six months of the new method are very gratifying.

The financial condition at June 30, 1934, was considerably better than the financial condition at January 1, 1934, when the present administration took office.

It should be noted in this connection that the excess of liabilities over assets at June 30, 1934, was $101,980.62 less than at December 31, 1933.

The financial condition at June 30, 1934, and a comparison with the financial condition at December 31, 1933, together with the causes for the change in the financial condition are presented in the following tabulation.

Attention is drawn to the indebtedness of the county, which was $599,470.56 at December 31, 1933, and $591,965.82 at June 30, 1934, or a net reduction in the county's indebtedness during the first six months of the present administration of $7,504.74.

That millions of Americans are undernourished and undersupplied with other necessities, such as clothing, etc., is the statement of authorities in the Department of Agriculture, who point out that if "reasonable" living standards were established for all people in this country, including a well-balanced food ration and diet it would require the planting of an additional 180,000,000 acres of land to supply the demand for food products alone.

Obviously, there are many people in every American state, who could use more and better food. The question is, would they do it if they could afford it? And in many cases the answer, in part, at least, is in the negative. Every reader knows individuals, well able to afford proper food, who ignore the idea of a balanced ration. The problem requires education as well as finances.

However, there is much that can be done to increase the consumption of food products from our farms. The spread between what the grower receives and what the buyer pays is excessive beyond doubt. Better organization of distributing channels will be a great step forward and farmers can be on the lookout for progress along this line.

Years ago the writer of this column insisted that farmers should study the policies of big business and labor and learn to effectively organize and fight for their interests. At the same time we realized that without leadership and some form of compulsion there would always be a minority ready to wreck any program designed to aid agriculture.

For this reason we have been intensely interested in the efforts to control crop production which, regardless of the need of the world at large, was necessary to prevent the ruin of many farmers in this country. With many others we deprecate the condition of world affairs which made such a course inevitable but could not understand why anybody was willing for our agricultural families to continue their better-skilled production, with its disastrous economic effect.

Strange as it may sound, we were not particularly interested in the money end of the argument. We saw hundreds of boys and girls, raised on farms who were being denied the advantages of other children, born in cities. Their misfortune, many times, did not result from the laziness or ineptitude of their fathers but from circumstances, to a large extent, beyond control of individuals.

During the past ten or fifteen years the average farmer of the United States took a terrific beating, from an economic standpoint. Labor was organized and able to fight for its rights. Manufacturers syl. idr. ganan also da zeorwasob. worked to maintain tariff preferences and other business interests organized to take care of themselves. The farmer sat on the fence in the blizzard; he was left there by some who ought to have been fighting to rescue him. And the resulting depression, which blasted this nation, was due, we believe, in part to what happened to the farmers.

New Ford Truck Features Forward Load Balance

Ford dealers are offering a new truck that introduces new and exclusive truck developments. The new Ford truck has forward load distribution. This is achieved by mounting the front spring four inches ahead of the front axle and moving the engine forward nearly nine inches. This, together with the new V-type engine, permits more of the load to be placed ahead of the rear axle, more weight on the front end. Dealers claim more uniform tire and body wear, more stable ride, greater protection against loads and the ability to make single turns pulling full loads on trailers.
