Fulton Fair Will Be The Best Ever---Five Big Days and Nights

August 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28, 1926

Why is a fair? We can't all answer that from a single viewpoint. It means something different to practically every one of us. There is no doubt, though, that the feeling of gaiety is universal—even to those who must work like Turks to make the occasion a success.

The man or woman with a grouch has no business at our fair this year. You must go prepared to enjoy the blare of band music and the million noises that aren't music. You must be keyed up to revel in the sight of thousands of chattering holiday makers, of bright decorations, of pretty girls, of sideshows and ballyhoos, of popcorn balls in red tissue and sweating glasses of orangeade, of sizzling sandwiches and ice cream cones, of livestock and household and implement displays, of pattering trotters and pacers, of buzzing grandstands, of golden sunshine and yellow dust-clouds. Yes, and tired feet and whimpering babies with heat-rash and smart alecks here and there—for we haven't reached the land of perfection yet.

Now let's peel the surface off the situation and see what's inside. This year's fair is going to be a pretty fine advertisement for our whole community—the surrounding farm lands and farmers, the town and its enterprising, public-spirited merchants. And really that is the rock-bottom purpose of holding a fair—advertising. It is a community aim and effort to show its people how much they amount to, and to show outsiders that this is a mighty good place to live in—prosperous, progressive country and neighborly people. A man looking for a place in which to settle down couldn't reasonably ask for anything more or better.

JUDGE FRANK P. HALL DIES SUDDENLY AT NASHVILLE

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, Eight Years

Remains Brought to Fulton for Interment in Fairview

The remains of Judge Frank P. Hall, an associate justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, who died suddenly of heart failure at Nashville, while en route home with his wife, Saturday evening, arrived in Fulton Sunday night for interment in Fairview cemetery Monday.

Judge Hall was well known in this city, having married, in 1898, Miss Lillian Felts, daughter of the late W. P. Felts. He spent much of his time here when not engaged in his official duties and was interested in building more than one business block in Fulton. He was a lovable man and enjoyed a wide acquaintance here and throughout the State of Tennessee.

Judge Hall was born Sept. 15, 1870, in Weakley County, and was brought up on a farm about eight miles from Dresden. He was the son of Dr. B. F. Hall, for 40 years a well-known Weakley county doctor. Dr. Hall died in 1898. He was in the state legislature as a representative, and in 1889 as a state senator.

Judge Hall studied law at Cumberland, graduating there in 1892. He took up the practice of law in Dresden. He was in the legislature in 1899.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Dresden and was a Methodist.

Funeral services were held Monday, conducted by the Rev. J. V. Freeman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, interment following at Fairview.

The floral offerings were extremely beautiful and the grave was covered with a mound of beautiful flowers. There were many out of town persons present, including all the members of the Tennessee supreme court, former Governor Tom Rye, of Paris; Congressman Finis J. Garrett, of Dresden; Jere Cooper, of Weakley and Mr. Chambers, representing the bar of Dyersburg; Will D. Swiggart, of Nashville; L. E. Holladay, of Dresden; Mrs. Mary C. Hall, step-mother, and Miss Musa Hall, sister of Judge Hall, of Martin; Rev. James H. Felts, brother-in-law, and son, Holland, of Greenwood, Miss., and many others.

Mr. Chris Moore Passes Away.

After a busy and useful life, Mr. Chris Moore died at his home near Crutchfield, Monday morning, July 12. At the time of his death, Mr. Moore was 78 years old. In early life he professed faith and united with the Methodist church at Rock Springs living a true Christian life until he was called to the great beyond. He will be missed in the community in which he had lived for many years, and where he was loved and highly esteemed by all who knew him.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella Veatch, Mrs. Nora Copelen, one brother, one sister and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the home, conducted by Rev. Cooley, pastor of the Crutchfield Methodist Church, interment following at Rock Springs cemetery.

ED WADE ROBBED SUNDAY NIGHT

A sneak thief entered the room of Ed Wade Sunday night at the Cohn apartments on Carr street and relieved him of $10.80. Ed says he would not have felt the loss so much had not $9.45 of the money belonged to the Episcopal Church of which he is treasurer. He replaced it with a smile and is not leaving loose change in his trousers when retiring now.

If the thief will return Ed's long pocket book, that he treasures more than cash, no questions will be asked.

YOU ARE INVITED

To Attend Ice Cream Supper
Friday Night at Riceville
Methodist Church

Evangelist (Wild Bill) Evans
Will Deliver Lecture on Hell Fire and Brimstone

The Methodists of Riceville are preparing a delightful treat for all who attend their Ice Cream Supper, Friday Night, July 16.

On this occasion Evangelist (Wild Bill) Evans will be present and deliver his famous lecture on "Hell Fire and Brimstone." He is now holding a great meeting at Chapel Hill church, but has agreed to be present on this occasion and deliver his famous lecture.

Fulton's celebrated brass band No. 45 will furnish music during the evening and a delightful time is promised all who come.

Nice cake and cream will be served, the proceeds of which will go to paying off the church debt.

Come and enjoy the evening with us.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

A most enjoyable occasion was the ice cream supper given by the Sarah Dean class of the First Christian Church, on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Stewart Brown, 3rd street and Park Avenue, last Friday evening.

Many colored electric lights interspersed with Japanese lanterns illuminated the scene, where delicious ice cream and cake were served on flower-decorated tables by the following members of the class:

Mrs. Roy Pickering, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Ben Evans, Mrs. Clarence Pickering, Mrs. Myrtle Ridgeway, Miss Sarah Linton and Mrs. Stewart Brown.

A delightful musical program was enjoyed during the entire evening. Those taking part were Mrs. Sebra Evans, Mrs. R. S. Williams, Miss Loretta Nix, Miss Mozelle Hill, Mr. Seldon King, Mr. Stewart Brown and little Miss Frances Patterson.

Home made candy was sold from a beautifully decorated booth, by Mrs. Herman Grymes who also acted as cashier. Over two hundred patrons were served during the evening, and a substantial amount was realized for the building fund of the class.

The following program was beautifully rendered:

Vocal Solos, sung by Mrs. R. S. Williams—Come Dance and Sing (Peycke); Dutch Idyll (Gottschalk).

Vocal Solos, sung by Miss Hill—Pining Just for You (Adams); I Never Knew.

Saxophone Solo, by Mr. King—Andantino in D Flat.

Piano Solo, by Miss Nix—Valse in E Flat (Durand).

Vocal Solos by Mr. Brown—Roll on, Thou Deep and Dark Blue Ocean (Petric); Truly I Do (Williams).

Dances by Miss Patterson—Charleston and Toe Dance.

Mrs. Sebra Evans, accompanist for the evening.

Correspondents Wanted

We want a good live correspondent in your community to write news items each week for this paper and send them to us Mondays and not later than Tuesday. Send us in a sample news letter and we will send you stamps and writing material, also this paper each week.

We also give correspondents a liberal commission for getting subscriptions for this paper. For each 10 yearly subscriptions at $1 the year we give $2.50. Surely you can send in ten from your community like many others have done. One girl brought in forty and we gave her $10.00.

CONTRACT FOR SEWERAGE SYSTEM AWARDED EMIL H. HARTIG, OF EVANS- VILLE, IND.

The Mayor and City Council met at the City Hall Monday night in a called session to open and consider bids submitted by various contractors for constructing a system of sanitary sewerage for the city of Fulton. Five bids were opened and read by City Clerk Thos. H. Chapman, as follows:

W. D. Barker Construction Co., Memphis, Tenn., for terra cotta construction, $68,906.50; for concrete, 66,077.80.

Emil H. Hartig, Evansville, Ind., terra cotta or concrete construction, $61,358.80.

Koller Plumbing Co., Ponca City, Okla., $69,225.85.

W. G. Traver Co., Decatur, Ill., $65,263.24, with notations of deductions and additions for various provisions and considerations.

Rowan & Rickard, Sikeston, Mo., $63,971.25. This firm accompanied their bid with a three thousand dollar cashier's check on an outside bank when the instructions called for $3,000.00 certified check on Fulton bank to accompany bids.

The meeting adjourned and the mayor and councilmen met Tuesday evening to go over the bids carefully and after due consideration, awarded the contract to Emil H. Hartig, of Evansville, Ind. His bid being the best and lowest with certified check on local bank as requested by the city administration in submitting plans and specifications for bids.

We understand that actual work will begin about the first of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Perine Grissom are rejoicing over the arrival of a son, weight 8½ lbs. His name is Charles Thomas. They are for the present with Mrs. Grissom's mother, Mrs. Johnnie Etheridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wall are the proud parents of an eleven and one half pound girl. Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Brundage are week ending at Mr. Babe Brundage's and attending the meeting at Sandy Branch Baptist Church.

Bro. Morgan visited in the community Saturday.

Mrs. Kimberlin is improving nicely.

The Literary Society met Saturday evening. Quite an interesting program was presented. The debate, "Resolved, that pride and ambition is a greater curse than ignorance and superstition," was warmly contested. The negative side won the decision. Miss Valda Strong and Miss Ellen Rawls entertained with wit and humor of a local character.

Meeting adjourned until Saturday evening, July 24th.

When a short program will be presented, new officers elected and the constitution and by-laws passed upon by the Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ridgeway, of St. Louis, are visiting their parents and other relatives for a few days.

Mr. Lum Cunningham was operated on for a blood tumor last week. Dr. Cohn performed the operation and patient is getting along nicely.

Meeting closed at Oak Grove Sunday night, with six additions. Elder Alonzo Williams held the meeting, preaching afternoon and evening throughout the week.

Elder Will Morrison, of Reeter, Ark., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Beckham Vaughan, and assisting Bro. Morrison in a meeting at Pleasant View.

J. V. Freeman, Pastor
Sunday school 9:30 a. m., T. J. Kramer, Supt.

Epworth Leagues 7:15, Sr., 6:15, Jr.

Prayer meeting 8 p. m. each Wednesday. Good leaders and splendid talks.

Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. each Sunday by the pastor. Special music by the choir and the public is cordially invited to attend all services.

Sunday was a great day. Our pastor, Rev. Freeman, preached a splendid sermon at the morning hour. Mrs. W. L. Carter presided at the organ in absence of Mrs. Clarence Maddox, who is away studying preparatory to opening her class this fall. All enjoyed Mrs. Carter's music very much. At the evening hour the league had charge of the service.

The meeting was opened with song and conducted by the new president, Miss Gladys Bell. After the scripture lesson, Miss Dora Mae Duncan took charge of the program. A debate followed a musical program of a piano solo by M. Williams, and vocal solo by William Irvin Bell. The debate was, "Resolved that the young people of today are worse than they were 25 years ago." The affirmative were Randolph Kramer and Robert Duncan. Negative, Alexander Inman and Wade Joyner. The speakers of both sides had good argument and the judges, Mrs. W. R. Butt, Messrs. Cleveland and Daniels decided in favor of the negative. The meeting closed with prayer.

The Kate Lutten Circle met Monday at the home of Mrs. P. R. Binford on 4th street. The meeting opened with song, "Just As I Am." Mrs. J. J. Owen read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Jim Chambers, Sr., led in prayer. Mrs. Barrett conducted the business session.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. W. W. Morris, leader of the afternoon. The roll was called and members answered with missionary item. Mrs. Butt read an article on "China," and Mrs. Milner one on "The Youth of Today."

Mrs. Joyner dismissed the meeting with prayer and during the social hour the hostess assisted by her daughter, Louise, served iced punch and wafers to 14 members.

The Warner Blackards met Monday in regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Bennett with assistant hostesses, Mrs. W. H. McGee and Mrs. J. C. Scruggs. The meeting opened with a song and followed with prayer by Mrs. Freeman. The short business session was conducted by Mrs. Fall, vice-president, presided over the meeting.

The hostesses served brick cream and cake during the social hour. The meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mesdames Moore and Robertson at the home of Mrs. Moore.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wiggins are the proud parents of a pretty baby girl. Little Miss Mary Blanch is the latest arrival at the Wiggins' home on Norman St.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our kind friends and neighbors for assisting us during the illness and death of our beloved father, and also want to thank those who sent beautiful flowers. May the Lord bless each and every one, in our sincere wish. Mrs. Ella Veatch. Mrs. Nora Copelen.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Congress—
JUDGE W. V. GREGORY
(Of Graves County)

HE NEVER GETS ANYWHERE

The man who continually finds fault with nearly everything in Fulton conspicuously overlooks himself. Constructive criticism is valuable, but attacks which are made for the sole purpose of giving vent to a chronic dissatisfaction with the world in general are of benefit to nobody. Every town has its disgruntled knockers, but Providence in its divine wisdom has kept them in the minority.

How much better it would be both for Fulton and its critics if we could persuade such persons to cast aside their destructive sentiments and join the people who are working hard to make this a bigger and better community. Pessimism and unfair criticism are difficult loads to carry, especially when one is trying to make the grade. It costs nothing to drop them and it is worth anything to be rid of them.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

Unless it deals with motor cars or airplanes or with the more vigorous and spectacular games like baseball or tennis, it is not probable that the announcement of a championship tournament will get much attention. And when it is found that the tournament in question was to decide the national marble championship, we are inclined to pass it by without giving it any notice at all.

In a time when we insist for diversion on nothing short of seeing human life risked when mounting a rushing airplane from a speeding automobile is a common attraction; when a game of auto polo only occasionally thrills the spectator; when a ball player has to be a consistent home run hitter to win the plaudits of the crowd, we are not likely to become enthusiastic over shooting marbles.

And yet this ancient pastime has some merit. More keenly than ever should it challenge our attention today, because it harks back to a day when life was simpler. It carries us back to remote villages and countryside at a time when the world was barely making itself heard, even in the great cities. Quiet days, they were, when men got their exercises at their work and didn't find it necessary as men do now to work at their play.

The game of marbles satisfied to the fullest extent the plain desires of a simple life, without any frills or thrills. It did not take years of toil to perfect oneself in it. One improved with practice, of course and might become exceedingly skillful at it, but the nerve-racking apprenticeship for a perfection in a game like golf, for instance, was not needed to enjoy a game of marbles.

It recommends itself to the novice and to the master; to old and to young. It stimulates an easy-going interest; its leisurely pace permits of conversation running into amiable channels of any sort. It is associated not with thronging multitudes, jeering an opposing player or luckless umpire, but with individuals engaged in talk while the happy hours go by.

As such the game of marbles is a restatement of a view of life and a manner of living now rapidly going from us. It is fortunate that a national tournament was held at Atlantic City. It is in some way an assurance that the good old times may be brought back occasionally.

Astronomers tell us that it is always cool on the moon. Doesn't that beat the world?

If all the June brides would put their first biscuits together, we could have some new hard-surfaced roads.

There are many fast races

being run in this day and age, but none of them quite keeps up with the human race.

Happy Wedlock Sure Thing If Bride Is Cook

By KATHRYN ST. JOHN

Haphazard meals yearly ruin thousands of marriages. Most marital ships would maintain an even keel if brides knew cooking.

Many of the first year's troubles between newlyweds would be avoided if the wife were capable of preparing foods with an experienced hand. Wives are to blame for the failure of many business men in the final analysis. The business man's health depends a great deal on what he eats. And it's up to his wife to see that he gets the right kind of food. A healthfully balanced diet goes a long way toward making the tired business man less fatigued.

The expert home manager sees to it that her husband never comes home to a deliquescent lunch. There is a carefully planned meal waiting for him. The real housewife knows that an unbalanced diet means trouble and avoids it. Likewise, she appreciates the fact that variation in her menus is important. In this connection the following recipes have been selected as an aid to the home manager:

Frozen Salad.
1/2 cup mayonnaise 1/2 cup candied dressing cherries
1/2 cup diced pine-apple 1/2 cup diced apple bananas
4 tbsp. pineapple 2 tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup cream 1/2 cup evaporated milk

Mix the fruit and juices. Combine milk and cream, chill and whip; then fold in the fruit and mayonnaise. Pour into a mold and pack in equal parts of salt and ice. Serve on lettuce leaves. This serves eight.

Orange Bavarian.
1 tbsp. gelatin 2 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/4 cup cold water 1/2 cup whipping cream
1 cup orange juice 1-2 cup lemon juice
3 tbsp. lemon juice cream
1/4 tsp. salt 1/2 cup sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water, add fruit juices, sugar and salt. Heat in the top of a double boiler until gelatin dissolves. Strain and set in pan of cold water. When mixture begins to set, fold in the evaporated milk and cream which have been beaten stiff.

Banana Ice Cream.
6 very ripe bananas 2 cups evaporated milk
1/2 cup lemon juice 2 cups cream
2 1/2 cups sugar 1/4 tsp. salt
Scrape off adhering fibrous portion on surface of peeled bananas. Mash and rub through a sieve. Add the rest of the ingredients in the order given and stir until all are well blended. Let stand for 20 minutes so that all sugar may dissolve. Freeze in a 1 to 6 salt-ice mixture. This recipe makes 1/2 gallon cream.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

We were very glad to have with us at our mid-week prayer meeting a week ago last Wednesday night, Rev. Huey, of the Louisville Baptist Orphan's Home. Rev. Huey gave as a very interesting and instructive talk, giving the origin of the home and a brief resume
of the wonderful work it is doing for orphan children in the state of Kentucky.

The decorators are finishing the work on the interior of our main auditorium this week.
The pews are on hand and will be installed within the next week. With the work progressing as it now is we hope to be able to make some definite announcements in regard to our first service in the new auditorium by next week.

The V. I. S. Sunday School class, together with a limited number of invited guests, spent last Monday at the lakes.

The Golden Rule Girls, one of the new classes in the Intermediate Department of our Sunday School, of which Mrs.
Walter Valentine is teacher,
met at her home on Pearl street
last Friday and held their initial business meeting. The following class officers were president; Mozelle Hutchens,
vice president; Hazel Wise-
man, secretary; Katherine
elested; Elizabeth Williamson,
Cook, treasurer.

This class is composed of the thirteen years old girls and they have their committees appointed and other class activities planned which promise to make their class one of the banner classes in this department.
After the business hour dainty refreshments were served.

Church News

Dr. Boyd held services in the Library parlors at Clinton last Sunday at 3:30 p. m. The increased attendance evidences a growing interest in these services, which is very gratifying to the rector and the members of the congregation.

Owing to the intense heat of last week, Dr. Boyd was unable to complete his parochial visits
in Clinton on his visit of Tuesday and had to return on Friday to finish calling on those omitted on the first visit.

A card received from Mrs.
Mack Roach dated at New Orleans, tells of her having a good time there. She mentions visiting several old churches and other places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coulter, and their niece, Wanda, accompanied by Mrs. Boyd and Clara Elizabeth, motored to Hickman Sunday afternoon.

The classes of the church school are being supplied with the new lesson leaves and other material for the courses that will start in the fall.

Kallen Cole, who assisted in the recovery of the body of R.
B. Carter, from the swimming pool a week ago, was visited Sunday by the two brothers of the deceased on Sunday, when they expressed their appreciation of her skill and nerve in assisting in the rescue.

The Mohawk Club held a chicken dinner at the rectory
last Wednesday night.

These Sunday evening services will be suspended during the months of July and August but Dr. Boyd expects to give one or more special lectures
during the recess. These will be announced later.

Dr. Boyd has received word from the Missionary Society of the Diocese at Louisville, requesting him to make a report
on the outlying missions by July 20. This will entail a considerable amount of travel for the doctor, as there are about ten or more of these missions to be visited.

Dr. Williamson and Robert Pardue of Union City, were visitors at Trinity on Sunday.
Dr. Williamson is a chiropractor recently located in Union
City, and Mr. Pardue is an old resident there.

CALLED TO ITS HEAVENLY HOME

Died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Vancil, Fair Heights
July 10, Jackie O'Neil Bynum, eleven months old son of Mr.
and Mrs. P. H. Bynum, of St.
Louis. Jackie was taken ill the first of July and the sunshine
of love could not linger his life,
thus over a happy home the shadow of a little grave has fallen; and as another has said,
it is wonderful how long a shadow a little grave can throw.

This beautiful baby life was so precious, so fraught with blessing to his parents and grandparents that he seemed a flower of paradise permitted to bloom a brief season by their side, then recalled to its nature skies.

For some weeks Mrs. Bynum had been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vancil, and the sorrow brought to the entire household in the death of little Jackie, brought forth sympathy from all their friends and acquaintances.

The funeral was held Sunday evening at Walnut Grove, the Rev. Hinch conducting the services.

A host of friends join in extending sympathy for the be-raved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klutey and children, of Henderson, Ky., returned home Sunday after a week's visit as the house guests
of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cantrell, on Glenn avenue.

Mrs. Will Holman, wife of the South Fulton grocer, has returned from a visit of several days with relatives in Hickman.
She is convalescing from a severe spell of fever.

The ladies of South Fulton gave a gypsy tea in the basement of the South Fulton school
Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klutey, of Henderson, Ky. Quite a wholesome supper was served, followed by ice cream, cake and cold drinks, and was enjoyed by a representative gathering of the South Fulton people.

LEAVE ON MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Leighman
Browder, Miss Catherine Byrns
and Miss Corean Whitnell left Saturday morning on an extended motor trip through the Ozarks. They expect to spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. J.
C. Brittain in Little Rock. From
there they will go to Hot Springs, Bella Vista and other points of interest.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their loving kindness during the illness and death of our beloved Jackie. Words fail to express our sincerest appreciation. May God's richest blessings award
you.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Vancil,
Mrs. P. H. Bynum.

Crutchfield, Ky.

Mr. Chester Turner has a new Ford car.

Mrs. Luther Lewis and son,
Marvin, from near Wingo, visited her sister, Mrs. D. Hardison, Friday night and Saturday, also Mrs. Arleigh Johnson from Pierce.

Jim Hardison spent Friday night with the Culver boys and all went fishing Saturday.

Mozelle Brown was fishing Monday of last week and caught a muskrat. It bit him on his finger so that he was not able to work week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elliott visited Mr. and Mrs. Scott near Clinton, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. B. J. Elliott is better
now as the abscess on her leg is not painful and hopes it will soon be well.

The O. E. S. is supposed to meet next Friday. If the members will come early and get through, they can attend services at the Methodist church.
Services begin at two-thirty.

Mr. Willie McClanahan and family, Mrs. T. O. Copeland, and Mrs. Bryant Williams attended Union meeting at Sandy Branch, Saturday.

Mr. J. B. Walker and family visited his uncle in Martin, Sunday evening.

Mr. Joe Moore presented his grandson, Gerald Elliott, a fine Duroc Jersey sow. Gerald says
he wouldn't take eighty dollars
for her.

Mr. Less Strother's sister,
Mrs. Emerson, of Cottage Grove, Tenn., is here visiting
him for a few days.

Mr. Galloway and wife visited Mr. Strother and family, Sunday. Mr. Strother returned from Mississippi, last Friday,
where he has been working at the carpenter's trade.

Mr. Chris Moore died July 12. He was a good old man and will be missed by his family, his neighbors, and especially the cemetery at Rock Spring has lost its caretaker unless the holders of lots can employ some one else. God comfort the bereaved.

FINE ORCHARD

One of the successful farmers of this vicinity is Josiah Williams, familiarly known as "Joe Dock." He owns about 150 acres our near Mt. Moriah church, and has a flourishing orchard, consisting of about 5,000 apple, peach and plum trees.

A part of this orchard was planted about 20 years ago,
but the major portion is only a few years old. In fact, a large number of trees were set out
this last spring, the orchard covering about 40 acres, all together.

Of these there are about 1,000 trees bearing this season and the yield bids fair to be exceedingly large, although,
due to the late spring, the season is a little late. For instance the Mayflower peaches that usually ripen early in May, did not come in till June, but a trip through the orchard shows that many of the trees are almost breaking down with the fruit.

There is, of course, considerable work attached to making an orchard profitable, but, so
there is in any other business,
and if a farmer wants to succeed in the raising of fruit, he must cultivate and spray with just as much care and thoroughness as in raising tobacco or any other crop, and with the knowledge that he is going to make better profits than with most other crops.

The San Jose scale is the greatest enemy of the fruit trees in this section, but it can be successfully fought, as has been demonstrated by Mr. Williams.

The present drawback to marketing the fruit crop of this section is that there is not enough fruit being raised here
to make large shipments, ear-lots, but there is evidence that this handicap will be overcome
within the next year or two, as there have been several large orchards started within the last two or three years.

The fact that there are several carloads of apples shipped into Fulton every fall and winter shows conclusively that there is a fine market for all the fruit being raised here at present, and with a storage house, in the near future, where the surplus can be cared for till the late winter and spring
the raising of fruit should be a very profitable business for a number of enterprising farmers. Then as soon as the production reaches the point where carload lots can be shipped, there should be a better market, yet for all the apples and peaches, and other fruits of this class that can be raised here.

As an instance of what may be done, Williams has three trees of Arkansas Blacks that will yield at least thirty bushels of apples this season, and there are any number of trees in his orchard that will run into ten or more bushels per tree, to say nothing of the by-product
of cider and cider vinegar,
both of which are always in demand at good prices.

BEAUTIFUL COURTESY

Miss Ruth Atwood was the charming hostess, Saturday evening at her home on Church street to a lovely bridge-shower in special courtesy to Mrs.
Cresop Moss, a recent bride.
Only the members of the Entre-Nous club were included in the hospitality.

The colorful decorations and the gleam of the many lights
made the rooms thrown open for the occasion, beautiful.

Following four spirited games of bridge, Miss Mildred Huddleston won top score prize and later, Master Jack Monger, dressed in white, presented the honored guest with a huge rose filled with beautiful gifts which she accepted
with a profusion of thanks and smiles. In the late evening, delicious refreshments were served.

The hostess, attractively
gowned, was assisted in welcoming her guests by the lovely honoree, who wore a girlish
frock of yellow and lavender crepe.

HARD AT WORK

Even though the Chamber of Commerce has suspended its meetings for the summer, some of its committees are still on their jobs, and looking after the interests of Fulton and community.

The two committees appointed some time ago for the purpose of putting the State Line
highway east of town in shape
has been particularly active,
and the funds for maintaining the section from Boaz's Chapel
east, through the portion bordering on Fulton, Hickman and Obion counties, are now provided and contracts for dragging this section are pending.

Chairman Franklin, with his two committee members, Messrs. Winstead and Butt, with commendable activity, has provided funds sufficient for at least a year, while the committee composed of Messrs. Colley,
P. T. Jones and Enoch Browder has already had considerable burch and willow cut, and will soon have the contracts for the dragging signed.

This section of the road between Fulton and Dukedom has, for years, been the greatest obstacle to traffic into Fulton during the fall, winter and early spring, and the action of the Chamber of Commerce in taking the matter in hand and providing for its proper upkeep, is of great benefit to the entire community.

MR. AND MRS. CHISHOLM RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. Levi Chisholm have returned to Fulton
after visiting relatives in Tennessee. They also enjoyed a motor trip to Illinois, where Mr. Chisholm is interested in a large farm. He reports crops in that section fine and his tenants tell him that 10 to 12
barrels of corn will be made to the acre on his place, and that one to one and one-half tons of alfalfa cut to the acre.

Friends of Mrs. John M. Culver will be glad to learn that she is getting along nicely today. Mrs. Culver suffered a painful accident at the home of Mrs. Jake Huddleston on Eddings street last week when a rug slipped and caused her to fall to the floor, breaking her

POULTRY DEPARTMENT AT FAIR WILL BE ENLARGED

The officers of the County Fair were so well pleased with the efforts of the Fulton Poultry Association last year, that they have decided to double the size of the pavilion for this year, notwithstanding that they increased the size fifty per cent for the last year's show.

An addition will be built to the north side of the present building which will be as large as the old one, thus making twice the floor space available
for the display of the coming fair.

The officials of the Poultry Association are anxious that the entries be in on time this year and urge all who intend to show birds to send in their entry blanks by the night of August 20, so that ample time be had for the proper placing of the exhibits.

Each copy of the catalog of the Fair Association will have entry blanks enclosed so that there will be no delay in having the blanks reach the exhibitors in time. Should more blanks be needed, they will be provided on application to the secretary of the Fulton Poultry Association.

BELOVED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Deliah Smith passed away Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
Hamp Potts, near McConnell.

At the time of her death she was 84 years old. Mrs. Smith was a consecrated Christian,
and a member of the Church of Christ. She was well known and highly esteemed by a large acquaintance and will be missed in the community in which she had lived for many years.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at Walnut Grove, the Rev. C. B. Douthitt
conducting services. Winstead & Jones, of Fulton, had charge of funeral arrangements.

Fulton Good Wheat Market

Browder Milling Company
Paying Top Notch Prices
for Cereal.

Growers from a distance are marketing their wheat in Fulton because the top notch prices being paid by the Browder Milling Company attract attention far and near. The quality is the best grown in years, and while the acreage in this immediate vicinity is not large this year, some of our progressive farmers have harvested a good yield. Ernest Hancock, Leslie Nugent, Allie Browder, W. A. Terry and a number of others in this vicinity have already made deliveries and received good prices.

Fulton is indeed fortunate in having such an institution as the Browder Milling Company in its midst. Few seem to fully realize what it means to the town. They not only create a live market that attract thousands to our town, but manufacture products of a superior quality which advertises Fulton to the outside world in a way worth while.

Much credit is due the members of the firm for Fulton's progressive development.

MISS BRUCE IS NOW ASSISTANT EDITOR

Miss Lorraine Bruce, formerly of this city, and for some years society editor of the Paducah Sun, who passed through Fulton recently en route to Los Angeles, Calif., to visit her aunt, Miss Jet Browder, is reported to have accepted a position on a California daily newspaper, as assistant editor. Miss Bruce is a talented young lady and said to be one of the youngest and most brilliant writers Kentucky has produced. Her host of Fulton friends wish her a brilliant career in the Golden West.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

When a man coughs up a stiff prayer in church on Sunday and then skins you in a sharp deal on Monday, what do you think?

When a preacher tells you of the glories of religion and of the benefits of purity in your daily life, and then goes off and eats his Sunday dinner with the biggest old church hypocrite in town, what do you think?

When you hear a fellow bragging of the great deeds he has done and you know he is lying faster than an automobile can speed, what do you think?

When a man tells you a smutty story of some good woman and you know her character is as white as his soul is black, what do you think?

When you hear a young braggart making suggestive remarks about every young girl in town except his own sister, what do you think?

When you see one man trying to undermine the legitimate business of another by making veiled allusions to possible financial disaster, what do you think?

When a man owes you a dollar and crosses the street to avoid meeting you, what do you think?

When a girl leads a man on to declaring himself and then deliberately tosses him over without compunction, what do you think?

When a man trifles with the affections of a good woman and then is not honorable enough to live up to his word, what do you think?

When a duffer borrows a five spot from you and promises to return it tomorrow, and tomorrow never comes, what do you think?

And if you should happen to do any of these things, what do you think other people would think?

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS

"Aunt Emmy," asked Helen, "won't you explain what is meant by a household budget? You said something the other day about budgets, but I don't seem clear in my mind about it."

"A budget is simply a plan," said Aunt Emmy. "You plan what you are going to do with your income. You divide your income systematically so that you can meet your needs. You lay aside a part of your income for rent, other parts for food, clothing, heat, light, telephone, recreation, savings and so on."

"How are you going to know how much you should spend for each thing—on rent for instance, Aunt?" asked Helen.

"Experts have studied the question carefully and have worked out budgets to suit every income. Of course you can alter these typical budgets slightly to suit your particular needs. For example, the average budget that covers incomes of from $2,000 to $10,000 a year divides your income into six parts. Ten per cent for savings, twenty per cent for rent, twenty per cent for food, twenty per cent for what is called betterment and to include education, amusement, entertainment, books, music, sports; fifteen per cent for clothes and fifteen per cent for operating expenses."

"No matter how you change the other items you must not change the savings allowance—except to increase it. A great majority of men who reach sixty are dependent on relatives or charity. If they had saved only ten cents out of every dollar, they would not have been in that plight. There is nothing like money in the savings bank to help you through the emergencies that come in everybody's life. If everybody kept one year's income in the savings bank, much misery would be averted. If you always have enough money to see you through one year, you are pretty safe. Beyond that, it is wise to let your money accumulate until you have enough to buy some good securities. Your banker will advise you about the securities that suit your needs."

"But, Aunt Emmy, suppose you wanted to alter your budget?" inquired Helen. "How would you know how to do it? A young married couple might start on a certain budget at first, when they had children to feed and educate they might want to change it."

"Well, my dear, if they were in doubt about their financial affairs, they could always consult their banker. That is why it is so good to establish friendly relations with a banker when you start out in life. Any banker will be glad to advise young people about making their money go farther."

—A. B. Ayres.

WHAT THE FEDERAL RESERVE HAS DONE FOR BUSINESS

What the Federal Reserve System has done for business is summed up in these points: It has (1) given business greater confidence in the ability of the banks to care for credit needs; (2) introduced an elastic currency and eliminated money panics; (3) eliminated extreme seasonal fluctuations in rates of interest; (4) brought business safely through the war and post war crises; (5) saved millions of dollars to business through its efficient system for check collection; (6) made the gold reserve more effective as a basis for credit extension in times of extraordinary demand; (7) aided in the financing of foreign and domestic trade by developing a discount market for acceptances; (8) provided a means for handling huge financial operations of the government without interference with business; (9) aided in the re-establishment of the gold standard abroad; (10) given us an experienced banking organization which will assist us in meeting the future exigencies of business at home and abroad with courage and confidence.

BANKERS EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION TRUSTEES

John H. Paetlicher, former president of the American Bankers Association, has been named chairman of the board of trustees of the American Bankers Educational Foundation, for which $500,000 has been pledged by the bankers to provide for scholarships and research in economics in colleges throughout the country. The other trustees are Leonard P. Ayers, Vice-President Cleveland Trust Company; Stephen I. Miller, Educational Director American Institute of Banking; Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman Irving Bank Columbia Trust Company, New York; George E. Roberts, Vice-President National City Bank, New York; Francis H. Sisson, Vice-President Guaranty Trust Company, New York; Evans Woolen, President Fletcher Savings & Trust Company, Indianapolis; W. Espey Albright, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association, Secretary.

The banks of Washington, D. C., have been giving the pupils of the public schools simple and practical information in regard to banking practices as a matter of education. Talks were made during the year to grade and high school students by representatives of the banks.

"I Arrived Safely After A Comfortable Journey"

EVEN though she may be an experienced traveler, there is bound to be a certain amount of concern until news is received that her journey has been accomplished.

And she is thoughtful enough to report her safe arrival at once to those who have been awaiting word from her.

Long distance telephone service is available in almost every part of the United States and in many places in Canada and Cuba. It enables the traveler to report, in his or her individual voice and without loss of time, safe arrival at the destination.

THE BASIC TROUBLE WITH AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

Many Mythical Causes Given But the Chief Financial Problem Rises From Inflation of Capital Account Based on War Prices—Remedy Pointed Out—"Trick Legislation" Will Not Help.

By MELVIN A. TRAYLOR
First Vice President American Bankers Association.

M. A. Traylor

IN recent years agriculture and the welfare of the farmer have been our most fruitful topics of conversation. Political fortunes have revolved around the unhappy situation of the farmer and the business barometer has gone up and down with varying proposals for his relief. Only a few years ago there was widespread feeling voiced by the leading agriculturists that the time was fast approaching when America would not be able to feed its rapidly increasing population unless there was improvement in soil culture, fertilization, reforestation and larger production. What is the situation now? The worry seems no longer to be for food for the hungry millions but for more millions to consume our tons of food.

Evangelists of despair have talked so much about over-production and surplus of agricultural products since 1920 that we are warranted in calling attention to a fact or two which may be enlightening to those who have felt that there has been a crushing surplus of the staples of the farm. From 1911 to 1915 average production of cotton was 14,175,000 bales at an average price of 12.41 cents per pound, while from 1921 to 1925 production averaged 11,362,000 bales at an average price of 21.85 cents per pound. In the 1911-1915 period wheat production averaged 896,358,000 bushels at an average price of 89 cents, while in 1921-1925 the average production was 894,384,000 bushels at a $1.11½ average. In the former period corn averaged 2,754,000,000 bushels at 60.3 cents while in the latter the average was 2,873,000,000 at 69.6 cents. Cattle on farms for 1911-1915 were 37,178,000 at an average estimated price of $26.52 while in the latter period the annual average was 41,616,000 at $26.08. Hogs on farms in the first period were 63,151,000 at an average price of $9.58 per head, and in the latter 60,418,000 at $11.34.

The Surplus Production Myth
From these figures, which eliminate the period that embraced the war and the early post-war inflation, it will be observed that, with the exception of cotton and cattle, production has been almost uniform in the two periods. In no case has production anywhere approached an increase commensurate with the increase in population. So-called surplus production is largely a myth and the cause of the farmer's complaint must be looked for in some other direction. It must be admitted that all has not been and is not well with this industry. After all, what is the matter with agriculture? There are a few facts which seem obvious as a part at least of the underlying causes of the situation and which suggest something of the remedy that sooner or later must be applied.

Present difficulties had their inception largely in inflation of prices for agricultural products from 1915 to 1920 with consequent large expansion of profits. This led inevitably with the farmer as with the manufacturer to expansion of plant and equipment—the acquirement by the individual of larger acreage and modern, if not always efficient, machinery. These statements do not apply to every one because there are always some who play safely and conservatively, proved by the fact that there are millions of farmers who have gone through the recent crisis without any difficulty and are today prosperous and contented. In fact the complaints today are coming from less than 25 per cent of the farmers of the country and from the hordes of politicians who are seeking to make capital out of the situation.

Results of Inflation and Expansion
With the average and with the majority of those who were swept off their feet by the wave of prosperity through which they were passing, let us analyze the results of this inflation and expansion. The farmer operating on land that he was carrying in his capital account at a value of, say, $100 per acre, and who perhaps had a loan of $50 an acre, suddenly found that, because of the increased profits from his operations, his land had a market value of $200 per acre and some new farm machinery, he could greatly increase his production. But if he did that he would need a larger barn and more warehouse facilities. The chances are that with an appraisal of $200 per acre on his land he increased his loan to $100 per acre, thereby doubling his capital account and his bonded debt—not out of earnings but because of his ability to effect a "clean write-up" of 100 per cent of his plant account.

If he did not effect the doubling of his capital account in this manner, and if his $100 acre farm was clear, he probably bought his neighbor's farm for $200 per acre and mortgaged both the new and the old for $100 per acre. In this latter case, he increased his capital account 150 per cent. It is easy to see what this did to his net percentage of income. If he had been able to make 6 per cent on his original investment, without any allowance for the increased cost of operations which of course did take place, he cut his net income, based upon his capitalization, about one-half when he had completed his expansion program. But worse than that happened. His calculations had been made upon a price for his product which reflected wartime demand and buying power of government money which were suddenly curtailed. With

DEATH OF FRANCIS MARGUERITE CALDWELL

She was the daughter of our postmaster, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Caldwell, of McConnell, Tenn. She died by a cross tie falling on her and throwing her against a big rock, crushing her head, age 5 years, 10 months and 24 days, died June 15th, 1926. She leaves a heart-broken father, mother and 3 sisters, Lucille, Anna Lou and baby Neva; four grandparents and one great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Caldwell, age 86 years; several uncles, aunts, cousins and a host of friends to mourn her sad and sudden departure.

To see little Marguerite was to love her. She had a sweet smile and kind, loving word to all she met. She scattered sunshine in the home and town and everywhere she went.

We all remember her for the sweet little deeds and kind words and pretty soft brown eyes that could look at you so sweet and innocent.

But to the heart-broken father, mother and little sisters especially we would say, weep not for little Marguerite for she is now sleeping with the rest of our loved ones who have gone on before to live in a far better home than ours here and there will be no ties or stones where our little girl is resting this day and forever more.

One bright June day our little darling went away to see her little play mates just across the railway. Just a few minutes to play is what she did say, looking up in her mother's face with her bright brown eyes and her sweet smiling face.

To this her mother consented just a few minutes to stay and then come back for your dinner today, but in those few minutes the old Indians came by the way and raised the curiosity of the children who were out to play. To the cross ties they ran to watch them go through town and when they jumped down all landed safely and sound but little Marguerite jumped off and a tie came rolling down and caught her little head between the tie and a big stone. Her little life was crushed out and oh! what a sight, as bloody as could be and life all knocked out. Just in those few minutes her precious life was taken away to dwell in a happy home where there are no ties or stones to crush the little head of our darling one.

Our hearts are bleeding of your absence today but you are now resting where there are no ties or stones in your way to crush out the life of our dear little babe. Your sweet face is missed, your voice is now still. You have left a vacancy that never can be filled, but the ties or stones are not in the way now of our precious one whose life, they took away. Your dear little head was crushed, your pretty brown eyes were closed. You shed your blood by the railway and by way, but you are now sleeping where there are no ties or stones in your way and all is sweet and beautiful and gay.

The road was not rocky where the angels bid you come. We know you are now sleeping in a far better home where all is bright and happy and God bid you come and gave you a place to dwell where there are no good byes nor sad farewells.

Sleep on, dear one, and take thy rest; we loved you dearly, but God loved you best. Written by one who loved her.

Cooking in Comfort
With Focused Heat.

Florence kitchens are cool and comfortable for the simple reason that the cooking heat goes into the cooking—not out into the kitchen. The burners of the Florence are scientifically designed to FOCUS the heat directly on the bottom of the pot.

The top of the short, wickless Florence burner is only 2 1/2 inches below the cooking. But that's not all. Florence burners force air inside the flame, giving a quick and most intense clean heat. Hottest heat close up under the cooking—This is focused heat.

For cold-pack canning, for sterilizing jars, for the gentle cooking that keeps fruit whole and tempting—you can adjust the Florence flame to any height you need, simply by turning a lever. And the heat stays constant.

Of course it's pleasanter to use this oil range that leaves the kitchen cool. It's cheaper and quicker, too.

A Big Advantage on Rough Ground

The high, easy lift of the John Deere Mower is a big advantage in rough ground. You can raise the bar high enough to clear obstructions in the field, and cut with the bar in that position.

John Deere Mower
The Mower with the High, Easy Lift

The powerful foot lift raises the outer shoe from 25 to 35 inches and the inner shoe from 8 to 11 inches. The hand lift raises the outer shoe 44 inches and the inner shoe high enough to clear any obstruction passed by the doubletrees.

The John Deere is simple and sturdy. Its parts are strong and long-lived and its construction is so simple that a boy can operate it safely and do good work.

If you intend to buy a mower be sure to see the John Deere. We will be pleased to show you its many fine points any time.

Clutch with 21 points insures instant starting.
Special drive gear construction reduces wear and increases power.
Special construction of gear assembly overcomes crankshaft end-thrust.
Improved construction of cutting parts insures better service and longer life.
Adjustments can be easily made in the field with ordinary tools.

Fulton A Real Trade Center for Western Kentucky-Tennessee

As a trade center Fulton is far ahead of some of the larger cities that make more pretentious efforts to attract the people. The spirit of co-operation existing among Fulton merchants today augurs well for the future of the city from a commercial standpoint. All of the leading firms are conducting July Clearance Sales to give patrons an opportunity to supply their summer needs at practically the beginning of the season at prices for quality merchandise never dreamed of at this time. They too, are anxious to make room for the coming season's stocks which will soon begin to arrive.

Judging from the crowds that filled the stores last Saturday the July sale announcements are having effect and hundreds were made happy, returning home with their purchases.

Many who brought in produce to market sold at good prices, and in turn attended the sales and reaped a harvest of genuine bargains.

On tomorrow we expect to see the banner crowd of the year taking advantage of the special values the merchants are offering in quality merchandise. Read the ads in this paper and note the astounding bargains offered.

Dream Turns To Reality

It is a fine thing to dream beautiful dreams, but it is a finer thing to make these dreams come true. Not many of all this world's dreamers can do that. Among those who have accomplished this feat are Fulton Baptists, and now the Baptist family of around seven hundred members are waiting in eager anticipation to hold their first service in the main auditorium of their handsome new church building at an early date.

The building is now completed throughout. The seats have arrived and are being placed. Experts are installing the pipe organ and when this work is finished, the pastor, Rev. C. H. Warren, will be given the grandest ovation on his initial sermon in the main auditorium ever witnessed by Fulton Baptists.

During Rev. Warren's seven years' pastorate here the church has doubled in membership and prospered spiritually and financially. We may say too, that it was through his persistent efforts that the Baptists of Fulton erected one of the handsomest houses of worship in this vicinity.

The entire membership is working in perfect harmony in the Master's vineyard, no wonder the Church is prospering.

ATHLETICS' STAR PITCHER GETS EARLY TRAINING IN THE ARMY

Sam Gray, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, and who was recently described by Umpire Moriarity as "the greatest pitcher on the circuit," is another outstanding exponent of the service motto, "The United States Army Builds Men."

For it was on an army base ball diamond that Gray did his first serious mound work.

Although a lad still in his teens, he heard the call to arms when his country entered the World war, and left his home in Vanalstine, Texas, to join the ranks of the nation's fighting forces. He went to France and "did his bit," remaining over there for six months. Following the signing of the armistice, however, he remained with the service until 1921.

During the years he was with the army, he was a prominent figure in all forms of athletics, particularly baseball. He was regularly a pitcher for his organization team. Upon these occasions, however, when no one else could be found who possessed the ability or willingness to take the precarious position behind the bat, Gray left the mound and took his turn presiding over the home plate, thus acquiring knowledge on a new angle of the game which he claims to have found invaluable in his work as a professional pitcher.

Athletics of all kinds are sponsored in the army and take up quite a bit of the physical training of a soldier; he is not only urged to take part in all athletics, but the equipment is furnished free of all cost by the army. It is not all work and no play in the army. They are mingled together so that it will make a soldier's duties seem light, and enjoyable. A man satisfied in the army makes a good soldier, and the government realizes this, and they set forth every effort to see that a man is given every opportunity to make his future a shining mark. There is a recruiting office in Fulton. Call on the officer in charge, and he will be glad to explain anything you want to know about the army. Office is in Post Office building upstairs. Sgt. Deering in charge.

W. L. JOYNER IS MANAGER OF STANDARD OIL STATION

Motorists who are particular regarding service never fail to patronize the Standard Oil Station located opposite the Orpheum Theater, of which W. L. Joyner is manager. Since Mr. Joyner has had charge of this filling station, business has considerably increased. At this station Standard oil products are sold exclusively—that means the best gas and oils. Tires and emergency accessories are also sold. But above all is the pleasing service rendered. Free air and water is a part of the service.

W. L. Joyner, the manager, has resided in Fulton practically all his life. For the past 7 years he has been engaged in the taxi business and thoroughly realizes that service counts with all motorists. He maintains an excellent fleet of cars in his taxi business, and here again, is where he renders service supreme. If you want to make a trip in town or to the country, just phone 616 or 41 and a taxi with a safe driver will answer your call.

Purity of Milk Protected Now By Scientists

By KATHRYN ST. JOHN

Careful housewives constantly make it a point to ascertain the quality of each item that goes on their tables. Preparing food for the family is an extremely important job, for the proper selection and preparation of foods make in a large measure for the health and happiness of the family.

Milk is the most nearly perfect food, but it is a very delicate one as well. The keeping qualities of milk are slight. Danger from contamination is ever present. Evaporated milk, which is double rich because of the removal of 60 per cent of the water, is science's solution to these conditions.

Safeguarding evaporated milk is worked out as perfectly as man's ingenuity has been able to make the process. From cow to can, the milk which goes into the evaporated product is watched every step of the way.

Cows of the dairy herds are guarded with constant care and are subjected to regular inspections by veterinary surgeons. Herds are carefully groomed, and their yards and barns are kept scrupulously clean, as are all utensils. Milk condensers are located in the heart of the big dairy regions to facilitate speedy handling, for this is essential if the milk is to be canned at "its moment of maturity." Canvas-covered trucks haul the milk to market, thus protecting the product from contamination on the way. Arriving at the condenser, the milk goes through tests for acidity, sediment, flavor and butterfat content before it is accepted.

Experts watch the progress of the milk through every step of its way. It goes into the evaporating machine; to the homogenizer, which breaks up the fat globules so that the milk may be easily digested by the consumer; by way of the almost human filling machine into sterilized cans; then into the sterilizer, where the cans are surrounded by steam and boiling water, destroying any possible bacteria. Inspectors handle the product as the last step to see that the canning job has been perfectly done. Labeling and packing follow. The housewife obtains the milk as fresh and sweet as when it came from the cow.

Garth Starts Off Wrong

(Political Advertisement)
(Editorial in Mayfield Messenger, June 28, 1926.)

The Messenger has hoped that the candidates for congress in the First District would conduct their campaign in a manner befitting the dignity and importance of the high office which they seek, thus making it unnecessary for this paper to make any comment on the race. Thus far we have had nothing to say about the race, but our hopes for a clean, manly, dignified race were rudely shattered at Milburn Saturday, when in the first joint speaking of the campaign, Garth K. Ferguson, of Ballard county, demonstrated his unfitness for the office, by launching into a tirade of abuse against Judge W. Voris Gregory. We listened to the speech of each candidate, hoping that we would hear a fair and intelligent discussion of national issues, but Mr. Ferguson, who was the first speaker of the day, greatly disappointed us in pitching his campaign upon a plane lower than a candidate for constable in Graves county would dare to do. He evidently regards Judge Gregory as his only competitor, as he entirely ignored Senator Green, the other candidate, and directed his harangue against Judge Gregory.

Mr. Ferguson admitted that Judge Gregory is eligible for the office, but complained that the framers of the constitution had made a serious mistake which had never been corrected. He did not question Judge Gregory's outstanding ability, but he based his plea for support on the grounds that he, Ferguson, is a resident of the district and that Judge Gregory is not a citizen of the district. If Mr. Ferguson called attention to any other qualification he possesses, we did not hear it from his lips and have not heard of it elsewhere. So the false and misleading statement which Ferguson makes about Judge Gregory's citizenship is the issue upon which he seeks to persuade the intelligent voters of the First District to permit him to rattle around in the place so ably filled by Linn Boyd, John K. Hendrick, Charles K. Wheeler, Ollie James, Alben Barkley and others whose records of fine service have shed luster upon the glorious history of the old Gibralter District.

The people of the First District are entitled to know the facts with reference to the charges made by Ferguson against Judge Gregory, and having been convinced that Mr. Ferguson prefers to ride into office through the tricks of the demagogue, rather than upon merit and qualification, we feel that we should be untrue to our duty as a public servant if we did not call attention to the character of campaign which Ferguson is waging against a man, who for a quarter of a century has served many causes in this district with honor and distinction.

After having served the people of Graves county with such ability as to attract the attention of people in other sections of the state, United States Senators J. C. W. Beckham, and George B. Martin, with the endorsement of Governor Stanley, recommended Judge Gregory for appointment as United States District Attorney for the Western District of Kentucky, which comprises forty-four counties in the western part of the state, the First Congressional District being included. This recommendation was made without the request or knowledge of Judge Gregory. Later on, President Wilson made the appointment for a four-year term, and Judge Gregory was sworn into office September 1, 1919. The headquarters of this office is at Louisville, and Judge Gregory immediately took his family with him to Louisville in order that he might devote his whole time to the duties of his office and at the same time have his family with him. In this respect, he has followed the time honored custom of Barkley and hundreds of other public officials whose duties call them away from their places of legal residence. He bought a dwelling in which to live at Louisville in order to avoid the high rents prevailing in a city and to save the annoyance of frequent moving. In this office he rendered a notable service to the people and no one has ever had occasion to criticize his ability, efficiency and integrity while in the government service. He is not a man of means, but has always been intensely interested in education, so when his term of office expired, he remained in Louisville in order to give his daughter the advantage of a free education in the University of Louisville, she having completed the high school course and there being no school of higher education in Mayfield. To support himself while there he engaged in the practice of law, but before anyone knew that Congressman Barkley would run for the Senate, Judge Gregory relinquished his office space there, and announced his intention to resume his actual residence in Mayfield. His dwelling was placed upon the market for sale early last year, and for several months before he actually returned to Mayfield he accepted no legal employments which would delay his return to Mayfield. He has always claimed Mayfield as his legal residence and he and his wife have always voted in Mayfield. In 1924 when the permanent registration law for voters was passed, Judge Gregory and his wife declared Mayfield as their permanent home and registered here in the same precinct which had been their voting precinct for many years. Another evidence of his permanent citizenship in Graves county is that he has always paid his poll taxes here and not elsewhere. In every campaign which arose while he was in Louisville, he not only came back to Mayfield to vote, but also to speak for the Democratic party in Graves and other counties in this district. In fact, he charged in his Milburn speech that he had come back from Louisville and made more speeches for the Democratic party in the First District than Ferguson had ever made in his whole life. Although called upon by Judge Gregory to tell when and where he had ever made a speech for the party, for a school, for a church, or for any other matter of public interest before he became a candidate for office, Ferguson dodged the question and did not answer. If Ferguson has ever rendered any public service of any character when he was not a candidate for office, he has not called attention to it.

Judge Gregory has attended every state convention which the party has had in the last ten or fifteen years and has always sat as a delegate from Graves county at the Lexington convention when Ferguson was put on the State committee in 1924. Judge Gregory lives here in Mayfield. He is one of us. He is clean, competent and courageous, and we believe the sober, discreet and intelligent people of the First District will not be swayed by appeals of prejudice, but will reward Judge Gregory for his long, faithful and devoted service by giving him an overwhelming majority in his race for congress.

If Mr. Ferguson possesses merit and ability to fill the high office he seeks, let him present them for the consideration of the voters. If he has none, of course, he may be expected to follow the course of the political demagogues by talking about his opponents as he did at Milburn. If the Democrats of this district want a representative at Washington who is honest and honorable, industrious and efficient, clean and capable, and who is loyal and true to their highest ideals, no better man can be found than W. Voris Gregory. He has the experience, training and making of a statesman. If they desire a political demagogue, he is not the man for the place.

NO TRESPASSING

"No trespassing. Keep out." This is the sign that greets motorists often when they select a cool, secluded spot in the country to have lunch. As a rule it is resented but it should not be. Land owners who use this means to protect their property generally have good reasons because thoughtless people have abused the privilege the farmers once willingly extended.

The many have to suffer for the few who have imposed a heavy penalty on the great mass of law-abiding citizens. It is difficult to convince the average land owner that all who want to enjoy the country in the summer time are not destructionists.

Farmers have been put to expense cleaning up after campers and picknickers, and serious damage has been done by these offenders against common decency.

Some people have no scruples in taking possession of an inviting woods without showing the owner the courtesy of asking him for permission. They spread their lunch and enjoy it in the open woods, but defile the grounds by leaving remnants of food, papers and tin cans. Often they "register" by carving their names and initials in the bark of trees and start fires which kill the lower branches of trees. Sometimes they leave camp fires to spread and cause serious property loss.

Campers should refrain from cutting fences, be careful with fires, and remove all waste paper, remains of edibles and cans off the property. In other words, they should leave the place in as good shape, if not better, than it was when they entered it.

They should not forget that the woods is private property, the same as their home and grounds in the city. The least they can possibly do is to ask permission to enter. Courtesy goes a long way. If damage is accidentally done, they can at least be decent enough to pay for it. The right attitude on the part of picknickers and campers can make the woods open to all, while irresponsible ones may easily bar nature's playgrounds to everyone.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

The American craze for speed seems in a fair way of becoming a national disease.

Wholly apart from the economic loss resulting from the violent deaths of men, women and children by automobile accidents, it is impossible to ignore the sorrow, grief and hardship which these deaths impose upon the families of the victims.

Last year there were 22,500 fatalities in motor accidents in this country, which represented an increase of ten per cent over the previous year. Deaths of children over fifteen years of age numbered 6,300 in 1925 compared with 6,000 in 1924.

The increasing number of casualties deserves the immediate attention of everyone. Public officials bear the responsibility, but they can't solve the problem alone. They have to have the cooperation of all, motor car drivers and pedestrians alike.

You can tell a bungalow from a garage by remembering that the garages have the biggest doors.

Alienist: A man who can be on both sides of the same question and still not contradict himself.

A man is generally considered ignorant if he doesn't happen to know what you happen to know.

Some of these pictures that are transmitted by radio look like there had been a lot of interference.

The rumor that there will be another war is seven years old now—old enough to cut its wisdom teeth.

Monday once was wash day. Now it's the day we get the list of killed and injured in the Sunday accidents.

Things are getting so that a dog can't bury a bone without a senate committee being appointed to investigate.

It's a wonder the barber shop mirrors haven't cracked under the strain of seeing so many strange faces in late years.

The trouble with guessing at the height of fall dresses is that you can never tell what the designers will be up to next.

June has passed and the young man who didn't realize that a diamond is the stepping stone to the altar, will have to wait another year.

DESTINATIONS

"The officer is all wrong. Your Honor. I wasn't doing anything like sixty miles an hour."

"Were you watching the speedometer?"

"No, sir. I didn't need to. I wasn't in any hurry—I was just out for a spin. I wasn't going anywhere."

"Well, you're going somewhere now. Ten days."—Huntingdon Motorist.

Maddening

Wetwash—What drove the light-house keeper's wife crazy? Lonell bees?

Boughdry—Not exactly. She was listening in at the radio while a big dry goods store ashore was describing a bargain sale for the next day.—Legion Weekly.

Gone

Brown—You seem angry about something.

Smith—Yes, this darned cigar went out.

Brown—Why, that's nothing. My daughter's young man called last night and a whole box of my cigars went out.

A Race Against Time

Mother—Why do you eat those ginger cookies so greedily? You have plenty of them.

Tommy—I know it. That's why I'm afraid my appetite will be gone before the cookies are.

Speed

Bill—Is Billings as fast as all that?

Hank—Should say so. He's so fast he can drink water out of a strainer.—Good Hardware.

Much Easier

The Husband—Good heavens, do you think I'm made of money?

The Wife—I wish you were, I could get you changed then!

Senour's FLOOR PAINT

"It Penetrates"

In the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

POULTRY

CHECK BLACKHEAD IN TURKEY FLOCK

Every year blackhead in turkey flocks becomes a little more common, and every year the losses from the dread disease are a little larger. And while no positive treatment has ever been discovered, a remedy is being used by hundreds of successful turkey growers that proves very satisfactory if used before the fowls are in the last stages of the disease, says a writer in Successful Farming.

A slight lumpiness is usually discernible in a turkey coming down with blackhead. The bird gradually grows weaker, refuses to eat, but drinks an unusual amount. Diarrhea is usually present, and when the disease is in an advanced stage, the droppings are usually a bright yellow. The wings and tail are not held up. The head is drawn close to the body.

Sometimes the flesh parts of the head turn a bluish-black. If you are not sure whether it is blackhead or some other ailment that is affecting the bird, it will be wise to make a post-mortem examination. If the liver is covered with black or gangrene spots it will not be necessary to look further for the trouble. You may be sure blackhead is the trouble, and begin treatment accordingly.

Powdered ipecac may be used either as a remedy for blackhead or as a preventive. We prefer to use it as a preventive, as any disease is better prevented than cured. When blackhead enters our flock it usually causes the greatest losses before the poulters are six weeks of age. For this reason we begin feeding the ipecac to the poulters as soon as we begin feeding mash. It is fed in a wet mash—one teaspoonful of powdered ipecac to enough mash for 20 turkeys—twice a week. The same amount is given to the young birds and the mature fowls. This treatment will prevent blackhead entering your flock, though the youngsters are allowed to range with the older birds, and on infected ground.

If blackhead has entered your flock before treatment is begun, the sick birds should be fed half a teaspoonful of powdered ipecac in wet mash (for each bird) for three successive days. If the disease is not in the advanced stage it will not be difficult to remedy, but if the fowls are nearly dead when the treatment is begun, you cannot expect a large percentage of cures.

Heretofore, the only cure for blackhead has been to move to new, uninfected land, and this is usually only effective for the first season.

Do You Remember?

The following questions which are put to the record flock keepers of Iowa by the Iowa State college are pertinent suggestions to all poultry keepers. "Do You Remember?" they say:

When milk ever spoiled the fertility or hatchability of an egg?

When a chick didn't make good growth when it has milk in its ration?

What a time you used to have getting a lot of early chicks hatched with hens?

When you had a mongrel flock and wished some one would come along and get you started with a good breed?

The time you had raising chicks on the old ground that had been used for 25 years without a change?

How your chicks acted when they were affected by worms and coccidiosis?

How you tried to fight internal parasites without new ground?

Poultry Facts

Milk in some form should be kept before chicks during the first month.

One of the things that our culling should do is to weed out the persistent sitters. The heavy layers do not waste time in broodiness.

Many chicks are not getting enough green feed. If they are not on range carry sod to them or fix up a feeder and give them cut alfalfa or clover hay. You'll be surprised how they will eat it.

Wheat treated with copper carbonate to prevent stinking smut is not harmful to chickens, at least if fed for only a short time. Neither is it harmful to hogs, when fed in small amounts.

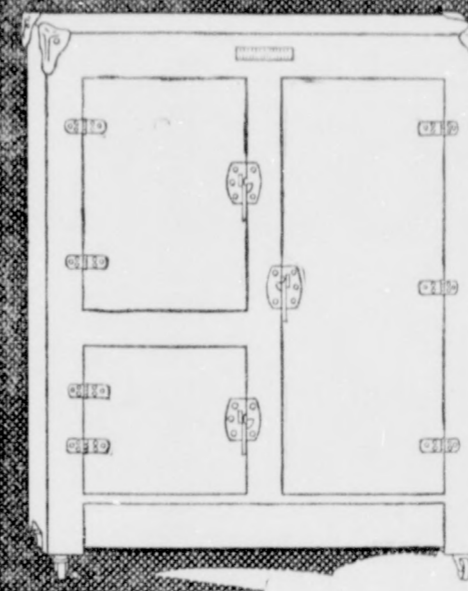

Sunlight and cod liver oil are said to prevent leg weakness. So will getting the chicks onto the ground, either outside the brooder house or on chunks of sod placed on the brooder floor.

Remember that heavy, sudden rains and floods do great damage to young poultry which are not given brooder housing under the right conditions. A house set low and open to rats and vermin is a menace to the profits of the flock.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. PITTSWATER, D.D., Dean of Theological Seminary, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(C. 1914, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 18

THE CALL OF MOSES

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:1, 4:12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Certainly I will be with thee.—Ex. 3:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses at the Burning Bush.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Moses, the Shepherd.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Facing a Great Opportunity.

I. The Lord Speaks to Moses From the Burning Bush (3:1-6).

It was while keeping the flock of his father-in-law in the desert that the Lord appeared to Moses in the vision of the burning bush. Moses stepped aside to behold this strange sight and was taught the essential lesson of the proper approach to God. The Lord did not leave him long in suspense. He told him that He was the God of his fathers, the covenant God. As soon as he knew that it was God that was speaking to him, he hid his face.

II. Moses' Commission as the Deliverer of His People (3:7-10).

Observe:
1. God's active interest in His people (v. 7).

In a preamble of this commission God declared:

(1) "I have seen the affliction of my people." So keenly conscious is God of all that goes on in the world that not one of His chosen ones can be touched without His notice.

(2) "I have heard their cries." We sometimes feel that God does not hear, but no cry ever goes up from the heart of His covenant child unheard.

(3) "I know their sorrows."

Many indeed are the sorrows of God's children. They are so diverse, but He knows all about them and will adapt Himself in grace to their need.

2. God's gracious obligation to His people (vv. 8, 9).

(1) To deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians.

(2) "To bring them up out of the land."

(3) "To bring them into a good land and large—unto a land flowing with milk and honey."

3. God's commission to Moses (v. 10).

"Come now, therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh that thou mayest bring forth my people, the children of Israel out of Egypt."

III. Moses' Objections Patiently Heard and Removed (3:11-4:10).

1. His personal unworthiness (v. 11).

He said, "Who am I that I should go unto Pharaoh?" He realized his insufficiency for this task. Moses did not refuse to go, but laid his difficulty before the Lord. God answered this difficulty by assuring him that He would be with him.

2. The difficulty of the people to understand Moses' relationship to God (vv. 13, 14).

Moses knew how unwilling they were to acknowledge him as their deliverer forty years before. Since God changes his name as he assumes a new relationship to his people, Moses inquired as to what that new relationship would be and his corresponding name. The Lord promptly met this difficulty by showing a name differing in many respects from all others previously given. This new name is "I am." This name is from the Hebrew "to be." It indicates:

1. God's self-existence.

It sets forth the idea that God is the self-existent one and the source of all existence. There is no existence apart from Him.

(2) His self-sufficiency.

He said, "I am that I am." God is the unique one. He is not dependent upon any other existence.

(3) His unchangeableness.

"I am that I am" may be expanded to mean, "I am what I always was. What I always was and am I always will be. The 'I AM' of this passage is the Jesus Christ of the New Testament. Therefore the apostle could say, 'Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever.'"

3. Unbelief on the part of the people (4:1).

This difficulty the Lord met by supplying him with credentials which could not be gainsaid. He was given the power to perform supernatural wonders (4:2).

4. Lack of eloquence (4:10).

He confessed that he was slow of speech and of a slow tongue. His ability to speak had not been improved by the Lord's message to him. The Lord's reply (v. 11) carried a real rebuke. He assured him that the God who had made man's mouth could give man the ability to use it. This difficulty the Lord in His infinite patience met by providing an assistant in the person of his brother Aaron.

The Truth

Next to the Crucifixion of the Lord Jesus Christ there is no truth that you and I need more to lay hold of than the truth of the living Christ—alive today, and personally present with all who trust in Him.—C. A. R. Janvier.

Need of Prayer

Deeper than the need of men, deeper than the need of money, aye, deeper down within this spiritless life of ours is the need of world-wide prevailing prayer.—Robert E. Speer.

Modern Home Aided Byrd Pole Dash; Sugar Cane Fought Cold of North

A MODERN home built in the Arctic defied the death-dealing cold of the Polar Regions and proved an invaluable aid to Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd in his successful flight to the North Pole, which he circled three times in a record breaking flight of 1,500 miles in 15 hours and 30 minutes at an average speed of 98.75 miles an hour.

It was at the Spitzbergen base, King's Bay, where this first modern house was constructed amid the snow and ice of the Arctic immediately upon the arrival of Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, as a permanent home and observation station for the explorers. The house, which rose up on the horizon of the frigid north in marked contrast to the igloo of the eskimo, was equipped with a complete radio outfit that those who remained at the base while Lieutenant Byrd made his thrilling dash to the Pole in his speeding Fokker might keep in touch with their chief and the outside world, which they kept informed as to the progress and success of the flight.

It was to this same home that he returned after his hazardous trip and from which some of the first messages were sent to the waiting public, telling them through the lanes of the air that Byrd had circled the pole three times and had returned to his Spitzbergen home in safety, adding one of the most memorable pages to the history of Arctic exploration.

Sugar Cane Fights Polar North.

When Lieutenant Byrd left the Brooklyn Navy Yard on the ship Chantier he declared he had the best and most scientifically equipped expedition that ever had started for the North Pole. Special plans were made for the erection of his Arctic home. Boards of celotex insulating lumber made from bagasse (sugar cane fiber after all sugar juices have been extracted) were carried along with the latest inventions to aid in polar exploration. This building material is very light and is filled with millions of air cells, which give it great insulation value and resistance to change in temperature, especially the severe cold. One odd circumstance in connection with the use of this material is that the sugar cane of the south was utilized to fight the cold of the north.

Celotex was selected instead of lumber because tests made by the United States Bureau of Standards and its universal use in building construction all over the world, had demonstrated that this insulating lumber would keep the quarters of the explorers warmer and protect their living conditions more securely than ordinary building material.

It was only after careful investigation by the scientific men in the expedition that celotex was selected. These authorities pointed out that the protection afforded by its insulation efficiency was three times as great as ordinary lumber and nearly twelve times as great as that of brick and other masonry material. The ship Chantier also was lined with celotex as an added precaution to keep the ship warm while the explorers used it in the preliminary stages of the expedition.

In practically every other way this expedition was more scientifically prepared than any of its predecessors. These included inventions of Commander Byrd himself. A simple sun compass conceived by Byrd and developed by Mr. Bumstead of the National Geographic Society, superseded the complicated German device, developed three years ago for Amundsen. The drift indicator also was Byrd's invention. The bubble sextant by which the navigator obtains his bearings while in flight was another one of his inventions. Still another scientific development was a quick method of telling when one is at the North Pole. This has been worked out by G. W. Littlehales, the navy's hydrographic engineer.

Device Locates the Pole.

Byrd and others contributed to a chart of the magnetic lines flowing toward the magnetic North Pole, which is in Bolshia Land, 1,200 miles south of the Pole. Between Bolshia Land and the Pole the compass points south instead of north and over much of the Arctic it is badly disturbed by the discrepancy of position between the geographical North Pole and the magnetic North Pole.

This chart of the magnetic lines, flowing to the magnetic North Pole, although it was far from complete, was such as to enable the navigator to tell in what direction the compass should point from any spot in the Arctic. With this knowledge, the erratic behavior of the compass becomes orderly and it is once again a useful instrument.

A third type of compass used was a device of infinite sensitiveness—a revolving electrical coil, which is adjusted to a given relation with the magnetism of the earth. This, the sun compass, and the magnetic compass were each used to correct the other.

Lieutenant Byrd in his flight used a quick method of telling when he was actually at the Pole. This was the invention worked out by Mr. Littlehales, the U. S. Navy hydrographic engineer. It shows the sun's position from the North Pole at every hour of the day and every day of the year. When the flyer is near the Pole he can, by ascertaining the exact position of the sun, prove that he is near the Pole.

Flier 3,000 Miles Over Arctic.

The expedition, backed by such men as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., had three main objects.

- 1—To prove that air navigation in the Arctic is feasible and that freight and messenger travel over the top of the world is certain to come.
- 2—To hunt for new land in the unexplored areas of the Arctic.
- 3—To conquer the North Pole from the air as a sporting adventure and as a demonstration of what a plane can do—not a geographical study as the Pole was bagged for all time by Admiral Peary.

Probably no one knows more about Arctic flying than Commander Byrd. From the Greenland base of the MacMillan expedition at Etah last year he flew 3,000 miles over the Arctic, studying the behavior of oil, motors, compasses, and other navigation instruments at great altitudes over the Polar sea.

With him this time Commander Byrd took a noted fuel expert, who is flying Commander G. D. Noble, as a requires great skill and pains to prevent the freezing of lubricating oil and stiffened action of the motors. If forced to work on the plane in the open at great altitudes with the thermometer at 50 to 70 below zero the points which favored the month of May were that the Arctic fog had not begun to rise and heavy snows still covered the land and afforded many good landing places.

A factor of safety pointed out by Commander Byrd in connection with the use of the Fokker machine is that it carries a reserve engine. It has three engines. With a light load one is expected to be sufficient to maintain the plane in flight. With a normal load, two engines will do the work. If two engines break down at one time, when the plane is not too heavily loaded, it may fly with the use of one engine. The Fokker machine has a wing spread of slightly more than 64 feet. It is said to be a marvel of airship construction.

The other airplane—the Curtiss Oriole—was to have been used chiefly in finding landing fields so that the fliers found their main landing place covered with a fog they might go elsewhere.

The Chantier was equipped with a powerful radio transmitter to send back the news of the expedition. The Fokker also is equipped with a receiving and transmitting set. Commander Byrd not only kept the world informed of the progress of the expedition, but received through the Chantier weather warnings to guide him in his flight.

How Expedition Was Equipped.

Forty-five hundred pounds of whole beef were included in the rations of the Byrd crew of forty-seven fliers, seamen and technicians. Also four hundred pounds of pemmican (meat fats and raisins), large quantities of bacon, dried milk, exhaust (two soap) and other supplies in proportion were carried along. Cod liver oil was included for its healthful properties. Herbert Griggs, who had charge of provisioning Peary's expedition in his famous dash to the Pole, worked out the rations for the Byrd explorers. Two pounds per man per day was the allowance to take care of all emergencies.

No amount of clothing is really sufficient when flying 1,000 or more feet in the air in the Polar regions, but every possible precaution was taken by Commander Byrd against exposure. The men were equipped with the warmest and lightest of reindeer suits and with f parkas, a garment that reaches to the knees and has a hood covering the head. Plenty of goggles were found to be an absolute necessity to protect them against the glare of the snow.

In spite of all the precautions the undertaking was full of unseen danger. None of this equipment would be of the slightest avail against some unexpected and unprecedented situation which might arise. There is always the danger of snowblindness, exhaustion, freezing, compass mishap to the engine. Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, however, were particularly fortunate in escaping, with practically no ill effects except the exhaustion due to such a perilous trip.

Pick Up Ice Pilot.

The ship Chantier's first stop was at Tromsø, Norway where an ice skipper was taken on to pilot the Chantier and its crew through the ice-filled waters around Spitzbergen to King's Bay, where preparations for the first flight to the Pole were made. The planes, the instruments and the various oil mixtures used in connection with the airship tests, were carefully examined and tested. Lieutenant Byrd's original plans called for six flights as follows:

- 1—A 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land to unload oil, provisions and equipment at a place then looks promising for a landing.
- 2—A 400-mile flight back to Spitzbergen.
- 3—A second 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land base with further food, fuel and equipment.
- 4—An 850-mile flight to and around the Pole and back to the Peary base.
- 5—An 800-mile round trip flight to the northwest over unexplored areas in search of new lands.
- 6—A 400-mile flight from the Peary Land base back to Spitzbergen.

It was his plan in his second flight to attempt to discover new land, but when he received the report of the flight of Amundsen in his dirigible, in which it was stated that the Norge had failed to find any trace of new land, Lieutenant Byrd decided to abandon further flight and the trip over land on sleds he had planned in his search for new land in unexplored areas. Now he had decided to try to accomplish by airship at the South Pole what he did at the North. As he left the Spitzbergen base he stated that he would have just as well an equipped expedition for his southern flight as he had in his recent adventure in the North.

What Every Woman Knows!

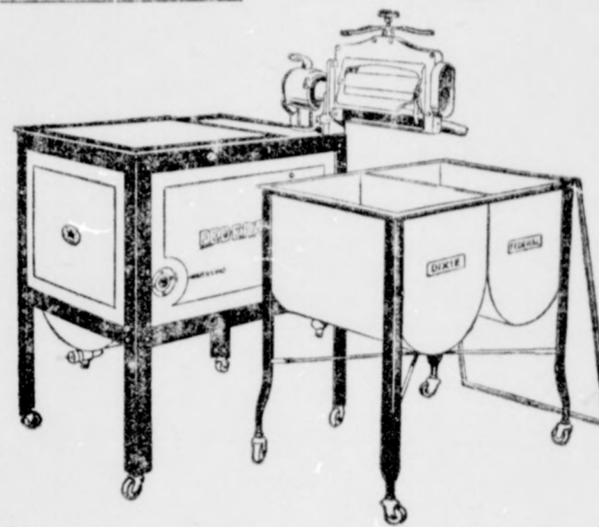

Every housewife knows that doing the family washing is the most dreaded drudgery woman has to do. It undermines her health and makes her old before her time. She hates it—especially since the family washing can be done quicker and better nowadays with the famous
