Meeting Called A Message For For Aug. 12. Fulton Folk

AGRICULTURAL AGENT FOR FULTON COUNTY IS BADLY NEEDED

Fulton County has the opportunity of getting a county agricultural agent for 1927, according to an announcement made by E. J. Kilpatrick, Assistant State Agent, College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky., who spent Thursday morning in Fulton, talking with farmers and business men.

Seventy-one counties in Kentucky have agents at present, many of which have kept men continually on the job since 1912.

The College of Agriculture is offering to cooperate with a few additional counties in employing county agents, beginning on Jan. 1, 1927, one of which is Fulton.

A meeting of farmers and business men has been arranged for Thursday, Aug. 12, at Carr's Park Auditorium, 2 P. M., at which time the matter will be presented in detail.

Each county surrounding Fulton, both in Kentucky and Tennessee, has an agent.

McCracken county, which has had an agent for 12 years, held their annual fruit tour last week, with a crowd estimated at 500 to 700 people present. Fourteen counties were represented.

An agent in Fulton would visit individual farmers, conduct demonstrations, hold school house meetings, show lantern slides and charts, conduct exhibits at the county fair and many other activities of educational nature.

Fulton county is one of the ten best agricultural counties west of Louisville. It has a splendid opportunity to make progress in agricultural work.

SHOWER FOR MRS. GREGORY

It was to honor Mrs. Charles Gregory, a recent bride, that Mesdames Miller Harpole and Clyde Hill gave a miscellaneous shower Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Harpole on Norman street.

It was one of the smartest affairs of the season. The spacious porch represented a rustic garden with masses of old-fashioned flowers, the old well with vines trailing around, and the old oaken bucket. Wishes were written by the guests and placed in the well and were read later by the bride. Handmade baskets of summer flowers were placed about and hearts were festoned in every conceivable place.

Mrs. Hill, dressed in green sport costume, served delicious punch to the arriving guests. The honoree, lovely in a beige sport model, with rose felt hat, assisted Mrs. Harpole in receiving. Mrs. Harpole wore a semi sport dress of yellow.

Prizes in contest were won by Mesdames S. C. Smith, Felix Gossum and J. W. Stockdale. Little Miss Marilyn Jean Harpole, dressed in a ruffled pink frock, drew in a beautifully decorated wagon, bearing the basket filled with handsome gifts which she presented the bride. After opening the packages a beautiful ice course was served. Ice cream in heart shapes with cupid's individual cakes decorated with pink roses. Favors were pink satin rice-filled bags. The guests were limited to the members of the Lotus club, a few intimate friends and relatives.

Each of the honorees were handsomely gowned and cordially assisted the hostess in receiving the guests. Vases and baskets of garden flowers adorned the spacious dining room, giving a touch of grace and beauty to the occasion. The game was in play at seventeen tables, the high score prize went to Miss Dorothy Moore, of Hickman, Mrs. Harold Owen cut consolation. The honoree gifts were very attractive.

At the close of the afternoon a delicious frozen fruit salad, with ice tea, wafers and sandwiches were served. The dance Friday evening in honor of the attractive visitors in the dining room of the hotel with its beautiful decorations fully sustained the reputation made by Misses Broome and Ford of being charming hostesses. About forty couples were included in the evening hospitality.

GYPSY TEA

Honoring Miss Alma Brewster, of Tutwiler, Miss., Miss Norma Brann gave a delightful gypsy tea at the country club Wednesday evening, a delicious lunch was spread about six o'clock.

PROMINENT WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for the late Mrs. Thomas Bell Chambers at her home on Second street, the Rev. J. V. Freeman, assisted by Rev. B. A. Walker, conducting the services, with interment following in Fairview cemetery. The grave was covered with beautiful floral offerings, tokens of love and esteem.

The passing of Mrs. Chambers removes from our midst one of Fulton's best loved women, one who had taken a lively interest in club work, W. C. T. U. circles and church affairs. The community was shocked early last week when it was learned that she suffered a stroke of apoplexy, which was the cause of her death Friday afternoon, July 23.

Mrs. Chambers was born in Weakley county, Tenn., Jan. 26, 1864, and was 62 years of age. On Dec. 24, 1889, she was united in marriage to James M. OLD RESIDENT VISITS FULTON

The Advertiser office had a very welcome caller last week in the person of Mr. J. W. Quiggins, of Little Rock, Ark. Mr. Quiggins was a resident of Fulton a number of years ago, and related to us several interesting things which happened while he was employed as ticket agent at the old C. & O. railroad office, then located where the I. C. division office now stands. He seemed pleased with meeting many of his old-time friends, and incidentally subscribed for The Advertiser in order to apprise himself of the news in Fulton and community. He is employed in Little Rock with the Western Union Telegraph Co.

THANKS FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS

Again we want to thank our country representatives for sending in nice lists of subscriptions during the past week. It is an evident fact that the people like to read The Advertiser.

PAINT

"It Penetrates"
IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years. If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel. Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre. Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

Flea Beetle Is Cause of Injury

Small Jumping Insect Feeds on Cabbage, Radishes and Other Crops.

Several species of small jumping insects called flea beetles are common on garden plants at this time of the year. The western cabbage flea-beetle is about one-sixteenth inch long, shining bluish color, and feeds on cabbage, radishes, turnips and closely related plants. The adult beetles hibernate over winter and appear early in the spring as soon as the weather warms up. They feed on the leaves of the plants, eating them full of holes. The eggs are deposited in the soil around the base of the plants and the larvae feed on the roots.

Potato Flea-Beetle.

The potato flea-beetle is quite similar to the above species, except that it is dull black in color and covered with short hairs. It usually appears somewhat later. This insect feeds on many plants, including potatoes, tomatoes, turnips, beans, sunflowers, etc. Besides eating the leaves of the plants the larvae feed on the roots and tubers of the potatoes causing injury known as "worm tracks" or "silvers."

A larger species, the banded flea-beetle, sometimes causes injury to a variety of crops. It is about one-eighth inch long, has a yellow thorax and two yellow stripes down the back.

Control Measures.

Control measures for these insects have not been very satisfactory. Arsenate of lead, 1 pound to 4 gallons of water, sprayed on the foliage of the infested plants will kill them if it is eaten. Bordeaux mixture acts as a repellent. Lime or wood ashes mixed with paris green or lead arsenate gives some protection. Probably the best spray is the bordeaux, 4-4-50, with two pounds of arsenate of lead. The usual result of spraying is that the beetles leave the sprayed plants and feed on most any foliage near by for a few days and then return to the unsprayed new growth.—J. L. Hoerner, Colorado Agricultural College.

Many Causes for Sow's Desire to Eat Her Pigs

A sow's desire to eat her pigs may result from a number of causes, although it is not natural for a sow to destroy her young. When the sow is constipated she becomes feverish, develops an abnormal craving or appetite, and may kill her pigs and eat them. To prevent this condition the sow should be properly fed during pregnancy. Linseed oilmeal in the ration will aid in keeping the bowels regulated. In extreme cases of constipation salts should be used. The after-birth should be removed promptly from the pen and buried or buried. If left in the pen the sow is likely to devour it, and as the scent of the newly born pigs is similar, some of them may also be eaten. A sow that has acquired the habit of eating her pigs should be watched carefully to see that her bowels are working properly. When she farrows rub each pig with a cloth saturated with kerosene, so that they will have the smell of the oil. Great care should be taken not to put too much kerosene on the pigs, as it will blister the skin. When the sow's nose detects the odor of kerosene she will decide not to eat the pigs.

Water for Fowls Quite as Important as Feed

Most efforts at increasing the egg production of hens deal with the problem primarily from the standpoint of feeding. If water is mentioned, it usually takes a rather insignificant place. The fact is, however, water is quite as important as feed in the manufacture of an egg.

About 65 per cent of the whole egg is water; 73.7 per cent of the edible portion, 86.2 per cent of the white, and 49.5 per cent of the yolk is composed of this element. These are averages of a large number of eggs analyzed.

Hens may be given ever so much feed. The rations may be perfectly balanced and may contain just the right proportion of fat, protein, lime and everything else required. But without sufficient water, the hens will be handicapped.

Best Food for Goslings

The proper food for goslings is bread crumbs moistened with water for the first two or three days. A green sod should be placed near the nest, or where the goslings can help themselves, from the time the young birds are 48 hours old. They may be put on free range on a good pasture after they are three days old if shelter from rain is provided. A wet mash composed of equal parts of bran, shorts, cornmeal and ground oats (hulls removed) should be fed four times daily.

Bronze Turkey Popular

The Bronze turkey is most widely known. It is larger and heavier than the others, often weighing as much as 36 pounds, while the largest of the other varieties seldom exceeds 30 pounds. In color it is a copperish bronze, with black and brown stripes and white-tipped tail feathers. There are many crosses of this variety with the wild turkey which can be distinguished from the pure breed by the color tips of the tail feathers, which are yellowish brown instead of white.

Millions Required for Public Service

TO EXPAND the telephone system to meet the greater needs of the South, requires a continuous flow of new money to build additional plant; and greater revenue to pay the cost of rendering the more extensive service.

This year the growth of the business in Kentucky, alone, will require additions and replacements costing approximately $2,600,000. This money must be secured from investors, and the company's earning capacity must be sufficient to make the investment attractive.

This rapid expansion is causing the investment per telephone to increase steadily and the revenue per telephone station must be maintained at a proper level, to insure the flow of new capital.

Economical management and efficient workers have kept the operating expenses at a minimum, and today your dollar buys more and better telephone service than ever before.

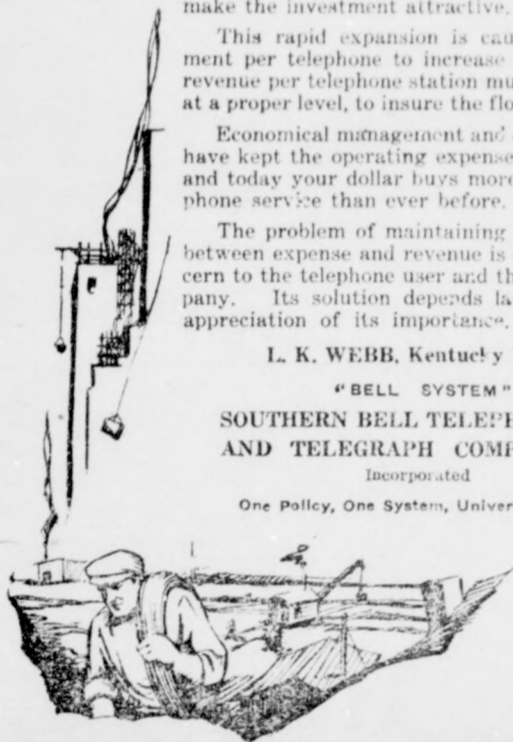

The problem of maintaining a proper margin between expense and revenue is one of equal concern to the telephone user and the telephone company. Its solution depends largely upon your appreciation of its importance.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Diversified farming is becoming more general every year throughout the tobacco and cotton belt of the south. In this immediate vicinity the farmers have been slaves to growing tobacco, but in recent years a change has taken place and this year the tobacco acreage will be cut shorter than ever before and other crops will be planted. It is the only salvation for our farmers.

Here in Fulton and adjoining counties we are blessed with soil that will grow most anything. Vegetables, berries and all kinds of fruits grow to perfection and ready for market just after the southern crops are exhausted and before the northern crops come in.

Others have tried it who are not so fortunately located as we are and made a success. Neighboring counties all about us have demonstrated this to us, but they have an agricultural agent, a leader to direct them and point out the error of their way and put them on the right road, and that is just exactly what we need here—a good man to direct us. We are all dependent on the crops grown here, and when the tiller of the soil prospers, the entire country is prosperous.

The development of diversified farming is the road to independence. Through the cultivation of fruit, berries, garden truck, tomatoes for canning, cucumbers for pickling; the development of dairying, the growing of hogs, this section will achieve an agricultural prosperity of which we little dreamed of a few years ago.

If McCracken county can ship out $400,000 worth of strawberries in a season, we should ship out half million dollars in berries. And from the same county they will ship out more than $400,000 in apples, peaches and pears this year, and we dare say that the expense and trouble of growing and marketing these crops is nothing to compare with a tobacco crop.

Who started the McCracken county farmers on the road to prosperity and lifted the yoke of bondage from them—the county agricultural agent, and that is just what Fulton county needs.

The production of quick money crops doesn't materially interfere with a reasonable acreage planted in corn, cotton, wheat, tobacco and other staples. It merely brings in cash at a period when money is needed badly.

COLLEGE TRAINING

High school graduates have been out of school long enough to realize that there are problems outside of school books—much bigger problems when they reach the point where they must decide what path to follow in life.

The summer after high school is completed is a critical one—the period when they must determine whether they will continue their education by attending some liberal arts or technical school.

What the high school graduate does this summer influences his life more than he now realizes. In the vast majority of cases, the graduate will settle the question of his future without appreciating the important bearing it has on his life. He must decide now whether to seek further education, enter a trade or just drift along without acquiring additional training to make himself more capable, his life purposeless.

Giving a boy or girl four years more of education, after they have completed a high school course, means a sacrifice to many parents. It means the loss of their help and companionship, but in most cases, if that sacrifice is made now, future years will be richer for both parents and children.

Countless numbers of high school graduates are lost to higher education because not enough interest is shown in them by their parents or friends who should advise them.

The foundation of government is laid upon an enlightened intelligence and the real creative ability that develops the country is supplied by the people and not by the government.

Aside from the personal benefit obtained, every young man and woman should seek knowledge to be better equipped to function as citizens of the United States. Ignorance is a moral and economic waste and education is the only means of overcoming it.

BACKBONE OF THE COMMUNITY

He has a garden and an automobile and a radio, too, sends his children to Sunday school and supports the church. He takes a holiday now and then, as much as his limited means will permit, and it's a holiday for the whole family—not just himself.

He mows his front yard, carries out the ashes, fires the furnace in the winter, cleans up his back yard, plants a garden, pays his bills, rears his family, attends to his own business and lets others, too young to understand, or too old to do anything else, carry the troubles of the world on their shoulders.

He is too busy making a living to be indignant long at a time, too interested in his home to stay interested in politics and feels that regardless of what happens, all will turn out for the best.

He has no sustained interest in public affairs, but where a clear-cut issue of right and wrong, honesty and dishonesty is plain and can be distinguished from other issues, he always votes right!

He is the head of the family, the taxpayer, the bulwark of his home community, and of the nation.

He is the typical American, and so long as the bulk of the citizens are like this Average Citizen, there is no need to worry about the future of America.

If you want two good papers for a year, send R. S. Williams, Fulton, Ky., $1.25 for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal. This special offer is only good for a short time. Send in your subscription at once.

THE ALTAR OF SPEED

Every day affords a new lesson on the danger of speeding, because the newspapers tell the stories of suffering that carelessness, recklessness and unwarranted speed cause. Every day lives that might have been saved are snuffed out or made hopeless by injuries which produce cripples.

The terrible toll of speed never seems so real as when it exacts its pay among those you know—strikes down friends and acquaintances. Fatal accidents are so common that we are likely to read them in a detached way, but when they come close to home, they have an entirely different significance.

Only then is it possible to realize the meaning of an appeal for more care and less reckless abandon in the use of automobiles. Only then is it possible to understand what it means for death to invade a home and take a life that might as well have been saved.

Laws seem to have little effect in curbing needless speed. Perhaps lessons such as the people of every community have sooner or later may serve a good purpose.

Health and Home

CAMPING AND PROBLEM OF FOOD

There is no healthier sport than camping. During the warm and balmy spring and summer days, it is real recreation. To get out in the fresh air and sunshine, free from worry and care, enhances the health of anyone, be he office man, salesman or what not.

But due to the entirely inadequate means of food preservation and refrigeration found in the majority of camps, there is the ever-present danger of sickness from infected foods. The utmost care must be taken in order that this may be avoided. Butter and eggs should be bought only as used.

The milk is a problem in itself. Perhaps the solution lies in the use of a milk other than market milk, in order that purity and sterility may be assured. For such use, evaporated milk is ideal. Many people are wont to confuse evaporated and condensed milk but there is no similarity between the two. Condensed milk is a combination of sugar and milk, and can be used only when both of these substances are desired. Evaporated milk is merely pure, fresh milk with about sixty per cent of the water removed and the nutrient content left intact. It is absolutely sterile and pure, having been sterilized before leaving the factory. The water, removed by evaporation, may be replaced very easily and the milk returned to its original volume. Evaporated milk may be obtained in small cans, containing six ounces or in larger ones containing sixteen and can be taken to the camp in quantities sufficient for the needs of the entire period, thus assuring a constant supply of pure, fresh milk without the worry or the danger attached to the use of the market product.

Following are recipes for a few dishes that are best adapted for camp consumption because of ease of preparation, purity and food value.

Tomato Soup.
1 pint tomato pulp 1/2 cup water or canned to- Salt and pepper
mato soup to taste
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk 1/4 tsp. soda
Bring tomato pulp or soup to the boil, add the seasonings and soda. Heat the milk and water and combine slowly with the tomato mixture.

Stirred Eggs.
1/2 cup evaporated milk 1/4 tsp. paprika
2 eggs 2 eggs
1/2 cup water 2 tbsp. fat
1/2 tsp. pepper 1/2 cup cheese
Beat the eggs, add the milk, water and seasonings. Melt the fat in a frying pan. Add the egg mixture and stir until the mixture is creamy. When almost done, sprinkle with grated cheese. Serve on slices of bread, toast or crackers.

A FARM WAGON THAT IS GUARANTEED

The amount of satisfactory service that a wagon will give depends entirely upon the material and skill the manufacturer puts into it. We want to show you a wagon that is built of the best materials by men who know how—

THE JOHN DEERE WAGON
The Wagon That is Guaranteed

A special machine automatically measures the inside of the skin of the John Deere farm wagon and shapes the axle to fit accurately. The skin is set in red lead under high pressure. It has exactly the right pitch, and the axle has the right gather to make the John Deere wagon run lighter than other wagons. With the John Deere sand- and dust-proof skids there is no wearing of bearing surfaces—the oil stays in—the wagon is always smooth-running and light-pulling.

Only carefully-selected oak and hickory are used in the John Deere Wagon, and every piece of wood is air-seasoned under cover in our own yards for at least two years. The tires are set hot under hydraulic pressure and under a gauge that assures proper dish—the load is always carried on plumb spokes.

And don't forget this other big feature—the heavy malleable fifth-wheel with corrugated coupling—no bending or breaking of kingbolt—bolster does not get out of line and rock—no danger of tipping when handling large, top-heavy loads.

Come in and see this wagon—read the guarantee on the tool box. Let us explain the many fine points embodied in it.

AIR DRIED CLOTHES

Do you realize what it means to receive a bundle of thoroughly washed and air dried clothes from a modern power laundry?

It means that at last the only remaining barrier between the housewife and the laundryman has been broken down. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immemorial, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned clothes line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

The greatest development in years and years, comes to this steadily growing industry in the perfection of a natural drying process. This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in our laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes; it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundering process. It puts the work of the power laundry on par with that of the housewife's own private laundry.

Be sure to see this wonder machine in our laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

Eating Greater Cause of Death Than Drinking

Drink is the second greatest cause of disease and death. Food comes first, then drink. Excluding alcoholic beverages, there are dozens of drinks on the market today whose effect is detrimental, particularly to children. Milk is the best drink for children. Not only is it drink, but food as well—the most nearly perfect food known to man.

Milk is an all-the-year-round drink and for this reason the children often rebel against drinking it. This condition, however, may be overcome by the introduction of the mixed drink. Milk or diluted evaporated milk may be mixed with eggs or used in fruit juices or in some other way which will disguise the fact that the drink contains milk. In the hot summer months when the child naturally drinks more than in cooler weather, it is wise to vary the ways of serving milk, so as not to create a distaste for this important food.

In connection with mixed drinks, the following formulas for milk beverages may aid mothers in serving something new:

- Iced Cocoa
- 3 tbsp. cocoa 1 1/2 cups evap-
 - 2 tbsp. sugar orated milk
 - 1/2 cup hot water diluted with
 - Few grains salt 1 1/2 cups water
 - 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- Scald the diluted milk in a double boiler. Mix cocoa, sugar, salt and add the hot water. Cook over a low flame from 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add to the cocoa the scalded milk; return to the double boiler and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Add vanilla, chill before serving. Pour into tall glasses which contain a few small cubes of ice. Serve plain or top with whipped cream sprinkled with cinnamon. Serves four.
- Egg Nog
- 1 egg Diluted with
 - Few grains salt 2-3 cup ice water
 - 1 tbsp. sugar 2 tbsp. berry or
 - Few grains nutmeg cherry juice or
 - 2-3 cup cold 2 tbsp. non-alco-
 - evaporated milk holic sherry
- Separate white from yolk of egg. Add salt to white and beat until stiff. Beat yolk until thick and lemon colored and add the fruit juices, nutmeg and sugar. Combine diluted milk with yolk mixture. Pour into a tall glass and put the egg white on top. Sprinkle top with chopped nuts and serve at once. Serves one.
- Orange-Nog
- 1/2 cup orange juice 1-2 cup evaporated
 - Few grains salt milk diluted
 - 2-3 tsp. sugar with
- Add sugar and salt to orange juice and pour slowly into the diluted milk stirring to mix thoroughly. Chill before serving. One-half tsp. lemon imp proves this drink for many. Serves one.

Lesson for August 1

DELIVERANCE AT THE RED SEA

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 14:1-51. GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my strength and song and he is become my salvation. PRIMARY TOPIC—God Takes Care of the Children of Israel. JUNIOR TOPIC—Israel saved at the Red Sea. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How a Nation of Slaves Was Set Free. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Divine and Human Leadership.

1. Israel in Straitened Circumstances (vv. 1-12).
1. Going out of the land of Egypt (13-18).

The tenth stroke from the strong hand of the Almighty made Pharaoh willing to let Israel go. The Israelites went out from Egypt on their way to the promised land with a high hand. Through the land of the Philistines the journey would have been comparatively short, but God commanded them to turn from that way lest going through the land of the Philistines they would see war and desire to turn back to Egypt. The way of the wilderness was a longer route, but it had many valuable lessons for them. By this way they escaped the experiences of war which would have come to them at the hand of the Philistines, but they learned the crookedness and perverseness of their own hearts (Deut. 8:12).

2. Hemmed in (vv. 1-3).

At the Lord's direction they turned from their first course and were made to face a great difficulty. The Red sea was before them and mountains on either side. However, they should have been encouraged because the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them the way and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light. He took not away the pillar of cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night (13:21, 22).

3. Pursued by Pharaoh (vv. 4-12).

The stricken Egyptians had now recovered from their sorrow, and perceiving the straitened circumstances of the Israelites they interpreted this to mean that Moses was unable to lead them out of their difficulty. Therefore they went in pursuit, hoping yet to prevent them from leaving the country.

4. The Miraculous Escape of the Israelites (vv. 13-22).

Though they were in a straitened condition they had no reason to fear, for the Lord had led them there. There seems to have been a twofold object in leading them into this particular place.

1. To strengthen the faith of the people. To be delivered from such circumstances would impress upon them anew the reality of the love and power of God. The people, as usual, displayed their unbelief and even censured Moses for leading them out of Egypt. Moses replied, "Fear ye not, stand still and see the salvation of the Lord." Standing still in such a trial is faith taking hold on God's promises. God said, "Wherefore criest thou unto Me? Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." The lifting up of the rod simply served as something tangible upon which their faith could act. They were to go forward a step at a time without raising any question as to the outcome, for from the source from which came the command, came the power to obey.
2. To lay a snare for the overthrow of the Egyptians.

Those who will not heed the warning judgments of God may be allowed to go to their destruction under the presumption that the Almighty is helping them.

3. The Overthrow of the Egyptians (vv. 23-27).

Having seen the Israelites go across the sea dry shod, Pharaoh and his people madly pursued them. They insanely thought that they in their unbelief could follow in the wake of God's children. The Lord looked forth from the cloud and wrought confusion among the Egyptians. He not only looked upon them but took off their chariot wheels, which caused them to realize that God was fighting against them. He then directed Moses to stretch forth his rod and bring destruction upon the Egyptians.

4. The Song of Triumph (15:1-21).

Standing on the other shore of the Red sea they could fittingly sing the song of triumph because of their miraculous deliverance and the overwhelming defeat of the Egyptians. They attributed it all to God. All self-consciousness and importance were left out. In a glad coming day, a similar but much larger company will sing the same song with an important addition, namely, the "Song of the Lamb." (Rev. 15:3).

Community Building

Paint Surest Weapon Against Rot and Rust

Home is man's dearest possession. He who owns even the humblest of dwellings owes it two precious gifts—protection and beauty.

As a man of business he will not willingly see his property deteriorate. As a reputable citizen and head of a family he will wish his home to present an attractive appearance and be an asset—not a disgrace—to the community in which he lives.

Every house is beset by two inveterate enemies, which never take a vacation. These are rot and rust. Fortunately, they leave their fingerprints as they go about their ugly task of destruction.

The fingerprints of rot are most easily found on such places as window-sills, sashes, doorsills and the like; in fact, on any woodwork that is exposed to the ravages of the weather.

Cellar walls and windows are another salient point of attack by rot, because of the dampness to which they are exposed; while the deadly fangs of rust gnaw at the iron window gratings and the furnace door.

Paint is the surest weapon against these twin foes. By forming a waterproof film over structural materials, it keeps out moisture, and thus prevents rot from sending its fungus spores into cracks and crevices and porous surfaces. In like manner it checks the chemical action of the air upon exposed metals, which results in rust.

Clean Up Grounds to Add to Beauty

If there is a garage, it should be located where it will be of most convenience, and will not be unsightly. The same thing is true of a driveway, and of a service yard, for drying clothes. Space should be allowed for a lawn where children may play. If it is possible, space should be reserved for vegetable and flower gardens.

If the house is to be built, it is most important to start with a good layout in which these desirable points are met as far as possible. Standing trees should be allowed to remain and should be protected from injury during the construction of the house. As the excavation gets under way, the top soil should be collected and retained in one place, then spread over the surface of the lot evenly, after building is completed and the lot has been finally graded.

If a finished house is bought as a home for the family, it is well to bear in mind that a great change for the better usually can be brought about by clearing up the grounds around the house and at the borders, screening the back steps and improving their usual unsightliness with a trellis, planting vines to grow on the fences—if there are any—and planting flowers.

Every Community Can Become "God's Country"

There appeared the other day in a newspaper an article on "God's country." It brought to mind the thought that one hears a great deal these days about "God's country." It is sometimes considered clever for one to remark, when asked where he hails from, "I'm from God's country."

Does not the sunshine fall more beautifully on the spot where one was born than anywhere in the world? Whether it be on a side street in a village, or the more pretentious brown front of a city, if it has one true "home" it is "God's country."

After all, "God's country" is in the heart. The true "God's country" is made by believing that home is the best place on earth, by attending to all of life's duties, by being just and fair with one's fellow men, by living life at its fullest wherever one happens to be.—Washington Post.

Cleanliness and Beauty

In striving for bigness, it has been suggested that Indianapolis should not overlook the rather obvious truth that quality also counts for much in the estimate of cities—and also in their livableness. To be a little more definite, beauty is a very important element, and in beauty cleanliness is an important factor. For cleanliness means health and comfort, and is also a sure indication of enterprise and prosperity. Much progress has been made along this line in the last few years, and Indianapolis has much to be proud of, but we have hardly yet approached the ideal. The individual citizen can do much, and he has done a great deal, but the chief reliance must, in this case, be on the government, which alone can look after the streets and alleys, and the city property generally.—Indianapolis News.

Give Contractor Time

It requires a certain amount of time to honestly and conscientiously do any bit of work, and this applies to the building trade in particular. Time allotted to contractors for preparing bids is usually determined by architects.

If an insufficient amount of time is granted for contractors to bid on buildings, the architect is imposing a hardship on the contractor, and at the same time his client does not derive the benefit of keen competition.

FOLLOWS EMANCIPATOR

Milton R. Moskow, twelve-year-old San Francisco schoolboy who since the age of five has patterned his life after that of Abraham Lincoln, aspires to occupy the White House some day as his hero did. He has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Under the plan of the American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award, each state will select a boy and a girl and a woman teacher who best represent American ideals, and they will be given trips to Philadelphia and to Washington, where they will receive medals from President Coolidge.

Trade among Friends

NO matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

Church News

Dr. Boyd went to Columbus on Saturday and held services there on Sunday morning, returning to Fulton in the afternoon.

Mrs. Mack Roach has been obliged to give up her class in the church school.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanoy and child, of Memphis, Tenn., are visiting his sister, Mrs. W. J. Coulter, at the Hotel Van Noy.

Dr. Boyd was prostrated last Friday by the intense heat, and was hardly able to make the trip to Columbus on Saturday.

There was a fair attendance Sunday night, despite the extreme heat, and although Dr. Boyd was rather tired by his trip to Columbus, his address was received with interest.

Mrs. John Miles was indisposed Sunday and was unable to attend either Church school or the evening service.

Bob Binford and Harold Heywood left Saturday for the Boy Scout Camp, Camp Burwath, on Duck river, where they will remain until August 2.

Several of the congregation at Columbus are reported ill by Dr. Boyd, though, fortunately no one is seriously indisposed.

Mrs. Stansbury will have temporary charge of the Church School class formerly taught by Mrs. Roach.

Mr. Tom Trumbo, of Louisville, Ky., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chapman last Sunday and attended the evening service with them.

At the time of her death Mrs. Browder was 85 years of age, a devoted member of the Methodist church who believed in following in the footsteps of the Master as near as one could in this life. She reared her own monument while she lived in the hearts of all who knew her, and her passing is universally regretted.

The Fulton Undertaking Company had charge of funeral arrangements.
