Soil Conservation Notes By Herbert Anderson

TREE PLANTING DEMONSTRATIONS are to be held at three different places in the county next week.

The first one at ten o'clock next Tuesday will be on Elton Oakley's Mother's land about one mile west of Aurora on the Mayfield Highway.

The second one will be at one-thirty next Tuesday on Buel Edward's farm at Fairdealing.

Loblolly pine will be planted at these two places with a mechanical tree planter furnished by the Illinois Central Railroad. The Martin Tractor and Implement Company of Benton is donating the use of a tractor to make these plantings.

The third one will be the planting of Christmas trees at Sharpe on the farm of one of Cecil Spiceland's Vocational Agriculture Students. This will be the first planting of its kind in the county.

Others cooperating in these projects are the County Forester and the Soil Conservation Service.

Edmond Sledd, west of Benton, and north of the Symsonia road, says, "Several years ago we planted an old worn out field to sericea. We didn't cut any hay or pasture any; it just grew up and fell down each year. After the sericea had grown like this for four or five years we plowed; planted corn; and harvested a high yield per acre."

Lyle B. Leonard, Field Agent in Soil Conservation, University of Kentucky, met with the Marshall County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors last Monday afternoon. Supervisors present were Renloe Rudolph, Chairman; Homer Chester, Vice Chairman; Eura Mathis, Secretary Treasurer; and Sam Gold.

Conservation education was the subject of the meeting. Leonard told the supervisors that each one of them had important work to do in directing the program of conservation for the county.

Visitors present were Norman Terry I of the S. C. S.; Homer Miller and Bob Rider of the Extension Service; and John Shemwell, F. M. A. Chief Clerk.

O. L. Chumblor, south of Palma, received his complete soil and water conservation farm plan week before last. His goal is to put each acre of cleared land to work for him producing some grass or legume which will provide feed for his dairy herd.

Observations

(Old Kodger's Column)

has "stepped out" and had its "face lifted." Whether the new beauty will be only skin-deep, only time will tell. Anyway, we welcome the new-comers to our city—we hope you like it.

THIS APPEARS ALSO TO BE another type of invitation to other people to come and live with us. There will be plenty of room for all, new opportunities for those who may want to build new homes. It is our sincere hope that all of the vacant space that has been annexed may soon become settled with hundreds of new homes.

WE NEVER HAVE LIKED

those figures on the highway signs just outside the city—Now we hope somebody gets busy and makes a change here too. The quicker it is done the better and the sooner we all know what the population is, our pride and feelings may be changed. Apparently we sat by and didn't show much gain during the past 10 years, at least not nearly so much as the 10 years before the last census.

ANNEXATION IS ONE WAY

of showing an increase in population, but we must not stop at that. There is other work to be done—sales, and missionary efforts must now be thought of if we expect to continue to grow. There's a lot of territory to be filled if we expect to grow as we should before the next census period rolls around. City officials have opened the gate. It is up to everyone to help hold it open.

PEOPLE ARE NOT COMING

here because it is just another good town and county. They will want something to do—work and go in business. They must be given what they want and if not found here, there are many hundreds of other good towns and counties to choose from. If we don't follow-up with what has been done, all that can be said is that we have created a sort of "inflated" population that could injure as much as help. Wise people these days make inquiry about taxation and other expenses.

NO ONE I KNOW OF LIKES

to go to anybody's town and help pay off big debts created by somebody else—especially is this true with industrialists. So, as we invite others to come and be with us, it is imperative that we have something to offer in addition to wide open space. Our cheap power is one inducement, but there are other services to be thought of if we plan to "sell" our town to others.

THE START HAS BEEN MADE

—whether it is planned right or not very few of us know, but we can all take hold of the handle and heave. The opportunity is here. The future is with each and everyone of us. Will we muffle the ball?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Youth Today
Lesson for March 16, 1952

YOUTH today has a hard time of it. With bad examples in high places, prevalence of gambling, liquor on too many "smart" tables; with divorce almost as easy as marriage and both as easy as whims; educated in elementary schools where it is considered wrong for the teacher to "fall" or punish any one, in high schools that emphasize the body more than the mind, and in colleges where coaches make more than professors and where (as two leading universities recently learned) almost half the student body, it seems, admits to cheating; living in a country where success is measured in dollars and where the Christian church is still in a minority: what chance has a boy or girl to grow up straight and strong instead of weak and crooked?

It Has Been Worse
The best answer to this question is that youth has always had a hard time of it, yet always there have been some who have grown straight and strong.

If this 20th century is a bad one, what about the first? At that time there was certainly bad example in high places, considering that Nero was the emperor and that many persons actually worshipped that cruel scoundrel as a god.

Gambling was done by the "best" people all over the Empire; liquor was even more a part of "high" society than it is today; as for divorce and marriage, the Roman record was worse than ours; as for education, most young people didn't get it, and of those that did, they themselves fitted for only one occupation: politics. The Christian Church was in a far smaller minority than today.

The Right Friends
Yet it was in that bad century that some of the most famous Christian saints and heroes lived. Timothy, Paul's young understudy, was such a man. He had everything against him, but Paul thought well of him, and Paul's standards were extraordinarily high. His life (or what we know of it from the Scripture references to him) had many qualities worth studying.

Let us look at two of the causes for this young man's high character. One was the quality of his friends. He seems to have been the sort of boy who might have gone down fast if he had taken up with the wrong crowd; but a list of his friends as we know them is a list of strong, original, true-blue Christians. He literally knew the best people, not "best" by standards of Roman society but best in the scale of true manhood.

We have a hint, too, that his mother had something to do with this. She "steered" the boy to the right crowd, one suspects—and that was enough.

One of the best things parents can do for their children is to see to it that they run into the right kind of people. This does not necessarily mean the richest or the best educated, but the people with the best kind of character. Youth will grow to be like the older people it most admires; and admiration grows with acquaintance. Tell me who a boy's friends are and I can forecast his future.

Self Control
The other reason for Timothy's character came from inside: self-discipline, self-control.

Followers of these lessons may wonder why "temperance" has to be dragged in every once in so often. It's not dragged in; we just dare not dodge it. Temperance just means self-control, in general. In particular, one of the drugs by all odds the most popular drug—that tends to make the users lose self-control, is alcohol. As the proverb has it: First the man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, and then the drink takes the man.

Young people get more than enough urging to become alcoholics. One of the best things one can do for younger friends is to awaken them to the real facts and dangers of all alcoholic beverages.

There is a book, "Fruit of the Vine," by Grace H. Turnbull, (printed by the Lord Baltimore Press and published in 1950 at 223 Chancery Road, Baltimore 18, Md.) which is a mine of facts about liquor—the kind of information you will not get in the advertisements. Young people who learn these things the easy way (by reading such a book, for instance) may be saved the heart-break of learning them the hard way.

Installed large amounts of new pole lines, cable, switchboards and other facilities.

GOOD AND GROWING telephone service is essential to National Defense and to the growth and progress of this state. The needs are huge. The job is great and costly. But progress has been fast and sure. Some materials are scarce, but we'll get along with the job in 1952 with the same determination that has doubled the number of telephones in 8 years.

make headlines in the rural South!

In 1950 the South wired for electricity more than twice as many farms as all other states put together

There's electrifying news in the dynamic New South! In the decade between 1940 and 1950 the number of electrified farm homes in the South soared from 420,000 to 2,240,000—an increase of better than 400%. Today nearly half of all wired farms in the U. S. are in the 14 Southern states.

This amazing upswing in farm electrification not only means better living for the heart of rural America... but greater wealth, too. It means a tremendous new market for every type and kind of electrical appliance. It is one more indication of the sensational economic growth of the New South, the region with the brightest future in today's America.
