MURRAY STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

MURRAY, KENTUCKY, April 25, 1932

NUMBER EIGHT

American Ass'n. Again Ranks Murray at Top With No Deficiencies

President Receives
Notice From Official.

COLLEGE IS RATED HIGH

"The American Association of Teachers Colleges at its recent meeting in Washington voted to place the Murray State Teachers College on the accredited list, with no deficiency noted." This was the announcement received by Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president, from Charles W. Hunt, secretary-treasurer of the Association.

Again Murray State College has been accorded the highest ranking that can be given by this national accrediting body. Mr. Hunt is connected with the School of Education, Western Reserve University Cleveland, Ohio. The president of the association is H. H. Brown of Illinois Normal University, Normal, Ill. Joseph Rosier, Fairmont, West Virginia, is chairman of the committee on accrediting. Of the committee on standards, E. S. Evenden, Teachers College of Columbia University, N. Y., is chairman.

Last year Murray was one of the 40 colleges in a membership of more than 300 granted the class A standing with no deficiency noted. Murray is now a member of the following associations and organizations with highest standing: Kentucky Association of Colleges, American Association of Teachers Colleges, Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Approved Library School, Southern Inter-collegiate Athletic Association.

President Wells has announced that the summer school will open Monday, June 6, for the full 12 weeks. Regular college courses will be offered and the regular college faculty will be in charge of the classes. College will open for the fall semester in September with an expected large increase in enrollment.

Methodist Pastor Addresses Meeting At Murray State

"They have made me keeper of the vineyard, yet my own vineyard I have not kept." Was the theme presented by the Rev. J. O. Ensor in his address to the Methodist students of Murray State College. The group assembled in the chapel building Monday morning, April 11.

The minister pointed out that when any one attempts to run away from a designated duty, whether it be to parent, teacher, or life itself, he, like the mother of Solomon, will always find an added burden.

The fact that she was given a herd of goats to tend, aside from her duties in the vineyard, was definite proof of the added responsibility. Another example was the courtship between her and the shepherd boy, as proof that these added burdens come when one is about to accomplish his greatest act.

In conclusion Mr. Ensor invited all who were present to attend regular services held in the downtown church.

Singing was directed by Raymond Story of Hazel, Ky.

Prof. L. R. Putnam, voice instructor in the college, presented a solo. He played his own accompaniment.

The seniors are working hard in order to present a first class production. The play will be given at 8 o'clock Thursday night, in the Murray State College auditorium.

After the song, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and prayer, students representing the different counties were asked to stand. Nineteen counties were represented.

"I appreciate the fine response that you have made in coming here this morning," state Prof. C. P. Poole, head of the department of psychology and philosophy in the college, in a short talk to the students. He went on to say that he did not know before that the different ones present were related religiously.

W. J. Gibson of Graves County, graduate of Murray State College and former principal of the Training School, talked to the group a few minutes even though he is not a member of the Church of Christ.

Students of the college who were called on to say something were: Adron Doran of Sedalia, Ky., senior; W. D. Cox of Murray, junior; and Harry Ford of Paducah. These three were appointed as a committee to arrange a special meeting for the benefit of the college students who are members of the Church of Christ.

Two Articles Are Criticized by Group Of Murray Writers

Edwards of Mayfield, the Irvin Cobb Writers' of Murray State College met in the journalism room of the college Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, April 11.

After reading "Dream Village," Miss Falwell received favorable criticism as to the realistic description; however, discussion arose concerning the ending. A few of the members asked questions so that the ending could be made stronger, but others stated that the manuscript conformed to its ending through mood and facts. "Boot Briar," a mountain story, based on fact and age, was given very favorable criticism. In connection with construction, dialect, plot, and fact. Adverse judgment was passed in relation with minor details.

Those present were: Miss Corinne Lowry, Marion, Ky.; Hunter Hancock and T. D. Edwards, Mayfield; Miss Audie Falwell, Faxon, Ky.; Burns Powell, Murray; W. D. Cox, Murray.

DR. LITTLE SPEAKS AT MURRAY STATE ON HEALTH HABITS

Advice on Prevention of Tuberculosis.

PRESIDENT WELLS
PRESENTS SPEAKER

Dr. W. T. Little of Calvert City, a representative of the National Tuberculosis Society, addressed the students of Murray State College Thursday morning, April 21, in the college auditorium during the chapel hour.

The representative, who was introduced by President Wells as one of the outstanding physicians in West Kentucky, gave statements concerning the health of all the people. Next to character, health is the most important thing in the life of an individual.

While discussing the death rate for the past years, the speaker showed that deaths due to tuberculosis were decreasing. Of the five states showing the highest percentage, Kentucky was one.

"The Negro race has about four times as many deaths from tuberculosis as the whites," stated Dr. Little, as he explained that this was due to poor housing, clothing, food, and lack of sanitation.

Those who die of tuberculosis between the ages of 15 and 25 are largely women, the physician showed. He concluded his address by explaining how to prevent the disease. Among preventive measures that he mentioned were: sanitation, care in personal habits, sunlight, rest, and proper food.

According to Mr. Morrow, the highest and most satisfying faith that the human mind has attained, or can attain, is formulated in this one statement.

Mr. Morrow discussed the two aspects of love, divine love, and human love. He pointed out that divine love revealed itself through nature, the prophets, and intercourse with God himself, and that human love revealed itself through duty, benevolence, and humanity itself.

Advance to Semi- Finals Over 32 Teams.

Murray College debaters, represented by Clay Copeland, captain, and Marion Burks, successfully advanced to the semi-finals over 32 colleges and universities from 15 states in the Southern debating tournament at Asheville, N. C., April 12-16.

The Horton-coached men defeated the state University of North Carolina at Raleigh and the University of South Carolina at Columbia, defending the affirmative in the former case and the negative in the latter case on the subject: Resolved that Congress should enact legislation providing for the centralized control of industry, constitutionally waived.

The tournament was a contest of endurance and versatility. The Murray debaters engaged in three and four debates a day and defended the side as assigned by the officials. The Murray debaters were in the contest for 12 rounds, seven on the negative and five on the affirmative.

The Murraymen downed Mars Hill College of North Carolina, a school with a perfect debating record.

Murray, Kentucky's only representative in the tournament, defending the affirmative was eliminated from the contest by Lenoir Rhyne College of North Carolina. Previously in the tournament Murray debating the negative had defeated this school.

Copeland and Burks entered both sides of the tournament on Wednesday and had advanced the affirmative to the fifth and the negative to the fourth rounds by Thursday night. After the affirmative was eliminated, the negative was advanced to seventh round Friday evening.

The tournament officials assigned Murray to the affirmative when she was defeated. The negative team of Murray was not eliminated from the contest.

Murray was invited to the tournament next year.

It was through the aid of business and college men that the trip was made possible.

In addition to the business men who gave financial assistance, the following establishments gave gasoline: Lock Hargrove, E. J. Beale, Nat Gibbs, Jackson Purchase Oil Company, and W. H. Hutchins. The names of the business men who aided the team were published in a previous issue of the College News.

TWITCHELL NAMED MEMBER OF CLUB

Varsity M Organization Meets to Create Interest in College Athletics.

Paul Twitchell of Paducah, manager and trainer of the Thoroughbred teams at Murray State College, was voted unanimously by the members of the Varsity Club to become a member of the club on account of the spirit he has shown toward promoting the interests of the organization.

The Varsity M Club met in the liberal arts building, April 18, at 7 p.m. for the purpose of creating more interest in the club and to discuss the taking of pictures for the annual.

Robert Chambers, vice-president of the club, presided over the meeting. It was decided that the pictures be made Tuesday morning, April 19, on the steps of auditorium building with each member wearing his letter.

To create more interest and spirit among the students and club, the varsity men decided to give a chapel program, permitting a member of the club to represent each captain of each team and to give the history of each season. The club voted unanimously for Dr. Wells, president of the college, to be invited to the next Varsity Club meeting to see about getting a varsity room.

Henry Clays Hold General Discussion In Club Meeting

An open forum was conducted by the Henry Clay Debating Club of Murray State College which met in the chapel building Tuesday morning, April 11, with J. B. Stokes, Paducah, vice-president, presiding.

A general discussion on the outcome of the contest to elect the most popular and best-liked around men and women was held during the meeting. A motion was made authorizing a committee to make recommendations for future popularity contests at Murray College.

The motion for the resolution was made clearly that it did not propose to cast reflections upon those who were the present electees, for it was believed the outcome would have probably been the same under other circumstances. This action was merely a step to seek more democratic elections in the future.

Joseph Glover, Adron Dorian, Malcolm Rhoads, members of the club, were appointed as a committee to draw up the resolution.

One of the arguments in favor of the present system of election was that it helped to finance the "Shield." Several members disapproved of the placing of ballot boxes down town, saying that the students alone would be the ones to elect whomever they wanted.

Explains Volcanoes in Chemistry Meet

"Volcanoes" was the subject of the discussion made by Charles Todd, Madisonville, Ky., at the Chemistry Club of Murray State College, at its regular meeting Tuesday, April 12. Mr. Todd demonstrated his talk with an imitation volcano.

PRESIDENT WELLS DELIVERS ADDRESS IN MURRAY CHAPEL

Quotes Scriptures: "What
Wilt Thou Have Me
Do?"

STRESSES VALUE OF
COLLEGE EDUCATION

After reading the scripture lesson relating the attitude of Saul when he asked, "What wilt thou have me do?" Dr. Rainey T. Wells, president of Murray State College, gave a short talk in chapel Monday, April 18.

"Never before have I been so impressed with the necessity of young people taking opportunities to educate themselves," declared President Wells. He explained that a time like the present has never before been experienced.

"The world will stand gasping for young men and women able to discharge duties," the Murray leader added.

The thing for college men and women to do, according to the speaker, is to encourage all high school graduates to secure a college education. Now is the opportune time for men and women, when there is nothing on the outside to carry them away, to prepare themselves for usefulness.

Napoleon, though egotistic and perhaps untruthful at times when a child, developed a successful character. Before he was 20 years old, many opportunities had presented themselves but he accepted them and succeeded because he was prepared.

"I have never known a prepared person who did not succeed when opportunity came," asserted the school administrator.

He urged the students not to let anything detract them from preparation in life, since opportunities will be numerous after this economic crisis, whether it be one, two, or three years.

"When man can take emergency and carry on, I am satisfied."

At the opening of chapel, the president complimented the work of the students in keeping the campus and buildings in perfect condition. He also praised the achievement of the varsity debating team at Asheville, N. C., and urged students to take an active interest in public discussion.

Led by Prof. Price Doyle, the audience sang "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Latin Group Changes Name to Classical Club at Murray State

The club formerly known as the "Latin Club" of Murray State will now be recognized as the Classical Club, according to a decision reached by the members at their regular monthly meeting April 19. The name was changed because many of the members of the club were students of mythology and other classics.

The program consisted of a study of the Roman women, reported by Misses Irma Jean Quirey, Mary Lee Wall, and Helen Brandon. The minutes of the previous meetings were read by Miss Julia Jammack in the absence of Miss Blondell Boucher, secretary.

The following were appointed by the president to serve on the social committee: Ruby Smith, Kelly Witherspoon, Bill Thompson, Gladys Townsend, and Roy Turner. The club was adjourned to meet again May 10.

Wells Hall Party Given on April 15

"A Little Old-Fashioned Party" was given Friday evening, April 15, in the parlor of Wells Hall at Murray State College. Miss Ollie Depew, English instructor, and Miss Susan Peffer, dean of women, called together the few members of the faculty who did not go to the K. E. A. meeting at Louisville.

Prof. G. T. Hicks, head of the education department, led the games. The dignity of the faculty was lost in merriment, and it seemed that they were "old-fashioned girls and boys again." Garden flowers decorated the tables. The refreshments consisted of red and white striped stick candy.

Student Editorials

"That man is great whatever be his station, who truly serves his home, his work, his nation."

The greatness of the men who work can be measured by those lines of Guest.

These young men who are found at all times of the day working and beautifying the campus are meeting the requirements of success. The college student that works, without any doubt, is placing his or her service right at home. This college is the home of the students.

Dr. Wells has complimented the working men and women, praising them for their loyalty and diligent work. This proves that the workers have not forgotten the energy-digester—work.

This college represents the nation in an educational and instructive way. The students are preparing themselves that they may be more qualified to serve the nation by studying for a college education. These students' homes, work, and nation are being served in the best and highest manner. Let's call them great!

We Congratulate You

In the last issue of the College News there was carried a short editorial upon the America's most popular pastime, baseball. The College News does not know whether or not this article had anything to do with the crowd of 1,500 people that sat and stood in the cold to watch the Catchmen put up a gallant ninth inning fight against a much stronger opponent in her first game.

The College News wishes to congratulate you, student body, for the hearty support that you gave. And it feels that the tremendous yelling that went up from every throat of the 1,500 was a great factor in urging the Thoroughbreds on.

There are still baseball games, track meets, and tennis matches that must be supported. Be out again in overwhelming numbers and help to push over to victory.

That is the spirit that has dominated the student body all year and now it seems that the spirit is putting on a gala grand finale.

Again STUDENT BODY the College News congratulates YOU.

Simplicity

At first thought you might think that simplicity is just another one of those theoretical, vague subjects such as patriotism, virtue, and honesty.

If you will glance about you, you will see many things both simple and complex. Let us look at these young ladies strolling down the path. Although there are five or six of them in the group there is one who stands out and I dare say if you were asked to describe them you would forget all but her. Why? She is wearing a plain white frock with a blue belt. Very simple and very attractive.

Let us go through a few of our local homes from the most ornate to the most conservative. We remember those few in good taste. Why? Because simplicity is the essence of knowledge, wisdom, and culture.

If you doubt this, just take for example two speakers. One a finished orator, who rallied to his cause every word or phrase, that is full of sound and fury. He speaks for an hour. The other presents his case in a few direct, and well-chosen words spoken with the true simplicity of sincerity. Whose speech do you remember? The answer to that is the answer to your doubts.

"With Love"

Mother's Day—that day which nations have set aside on which to pay homage to the "guiding star" of mankind—our mother, is here again.

Although in our hearts most of us have "Mother's Day" 365 days a year, on this one day we may join in a world-wide circle of appreciation.

Students who are away from home will let their thoughts go back to mothers who sent them joyfully but tearfully on their way to school. There will not be a one of us who will not remember. But will we all let her know by some token or other that we have remembered?

Anything that we may give our mothers is poor in comparison to what they have given us, but in their eyes the least that we give is great. Just a card or a letter in which we close "with love" will make every mother proud and happy on May 8, Mother's Day.

Caps and Gowns

With the approaching June, hundreds of graduates will stroll over the campuses of American universities. They will realize the temporary pause before they move onward.

In their black robes they countenance the glow of determined success.

These robes are emblematic of long, hard hours which brought aching neck, shoulders, and eyes. These robes are the consequence of self-denial for an exultant accomplishment. There has never been a yielding to the desire to drop books and quit. That very word, "quit", bears the stench of a dead rat in an old house.

There was nerve to see it through.

When the caps and gowns spend their dignity on our campus, will there be a queer tugging 'way down close to you?

Caps and gowns are the emblems of a fine task fastidiously done.

Catholic Students Meet With Father Luckett, Mayfield

Father Luckett of Mayfield met with the students of Catholic faith attending Murray State College in the office of President Rainey T. Wells Monday morning, April 11.

The regular chapel period was set aside for a general church meeting wherein students of the various denominations met in separate assembly rooms for church announcements.

Those who met with Father Luckett were: Dean Dowdy, Wilhelmina Doepfner, John Cotzowoda, Pat Turner, John Edward Gorman, and Harry Smith.

Father Luckett urged those present to attend services at Mayfield whenever possible and gave advice and instruction to the students of Catholic faith.

President Wells has announced that special rates are extended to students who wish to attend Catholic services at Paris or Mayfield by bus.

My Garden

A lovesome spot?
God only wot
How lovesome is my garden plot!
Enchantment rests upon it all the flowing tide
Of seasons. Violets and lovely thoughts, in May
Or month of Indian summer, blossom winsome, gay,
Alike in loveliness
Within my garden glorified.

And there am I a Merlin, there a peer
Of Kings and magi—
Dirt-stained gardener, I.
My hoe I wield as only kings
Their scepters might. My trowel is
A magic wand; and wonders more
Than Merlin wrought in fairy lore,
And miracles surpassing his,
I find in every iris April brings,
In peony or holly-herry all the year.

Within my lovesome garden space
I bury all my heartaches, every one.
Whatever hurt the noontide bears
In marts of men,
Alone at evening cool
With only snowdrops for my company—
Or daffodils—
I tuck the sorrows in
With trowel—magic tool!
Among a bed of wee gladioli.
And beauty fills
My heart and garden. Lo, the feverish cares,
Within a month of rain and sun,
Spring up and blossom—gay gladioli
That flaunt their gonzalons with all the rainbow's grace!

A garden is a friendly spot.
God only wot
How many friends my garden plot has cultivated.
Has cultivated. High and low,
Or Croesus, Lazarus, young and old,
Or saint or sinner, every race and creed,
Within my garden's alchemy,
Along the side-street's privacy,
Are merged in one great sympathy
By tiny poppy seed.

Mayfield Provides Musical Talent

By Joy Ruth Adams, Mayfield

Dean Dowdy plays the trombone in the college orchestra and band. He also sings tenor in one of the male quartets and is the college chorus tenor soloist.

Miss Jeanette Byron sings soprano in the women's quartet. She is a voice pupil of Mrs. Harold Byrd. Miss Byron is also an advanced pupil in piano. Mrs. Mary Evelyn Aaron is her instructor.

Miss Sheila Mizell plays first clarinet in the college band. She took this instrument up only last year, and has progressed rapidly in order to hold a first position. Miss Donna Craven plays the violin in the orchestra, which is under the direction of Mr. Buell Agey. Miss Emma Lou Brown is an advanced student in piano, under Mrs. Aaron.

Mayfield members of the college choruses are: Dean Dowdy and Misses Jeanette Byron, Sara Price, and Joy Ruth Adams.

Seeing Behind the Screen

By "Cornbread"

Seldom do we realize just how things go on behind the screen and personal facts concerning the actors and actresses. In digging through a lot of data the following facts were discovered.

That George Bancroft's first job was as cashboy in the Wamaker store in Philadelphia, at $2 per week.

That Miriam Hopkins wears a 20-piece costume weighing more than 35 pounds in "The World and the Flesh."

That George Bancroft, Willard Robertson, and William S. Hart were co-featured on the stage in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." That Dorothy Mackaill was born in Hull, England on March 4. She is of Scotch-English descent. She was 14 when she ran away from school, and a week later was in the chorus of the London Hippodrome. After doing extra work for the British films she decided to go to America. Shortly after arrival she crashed into the revival of "Floradora." Later she appeared in Ziegfeld Roof Shows. Today she is considered one of filmdom's most popular actresses. She will appear at the Capitol in one of her latest pictures "Love Affairs", May 2 and 3.

That Ben Lyon is a Hamburger de luxe with a lot of romantic and fistic adventures in "The Big Timer" which will be at the Capitol May 4 and 5. Along with this dashing romance of bash, there will be Constance Cummings and Thelma Todd.

Next issue more astounding facts will be brought out.

Fulton City Has Seniors at Murray

By Adeline Honra
Four students of the city of Fulton, Ky., will be graduated from Murray State College this year. Fulton has been well represented at the college every year for the past four years. The Fulton students have accomplished much and are well known among the other students.

Jean Moon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burch P. Moon, has attended Murray State College for the past four years and will graduate in June. He belongs to many of the college clubs, the English Club, Sock and Buskin Club, Nathan B. Stubblefield Club, and the Allenian Society. Mr. Moon is receiving his degree in art, in which he is talented.

Albert Thacker, son of Mrs. Nora Thacker, has also attended Murray State College for the past four years. He is a member of the English Club, Christian Association, and Wilsonian Society. Mr. Thacker is a high school graduate of the Training School at Murray. He receives his degree in August.

Miss Anna Watt Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith, has attended Murray College for her college education. She is a member of the Sock and Buskin Club and the Allenian Society. Miss Smith will receive her degree in August.

Miss Elizabeth Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Carter, will also receive her degree in August. Miss Carter has attended Murray State College for the past four years. She is a member of the Allenian Society, Sock and Buskin Club, and the Student Council.

This is the first time that more than two Fulton city students have graduated from Murray State College. The enrollment is increasing each year and it is hoped that there will be more students in the future to graduate, and to be as popular as these four students have been from Murray State College.

Pastor of Christian Church Leads in Devotional Service

Forty-three students and faculty members of Murray State College assembled in the large reading room of the library for the devotional services conducted by the Rev. E. B. Motley of the First Christian Church of Murray Monday morning, April 11.

The meeting was opened with the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King", sung by the group. The Reverend Motley then offered prayer.

In the absence of George Hart, Sunday School superintendent of the First Christian Church, Mrs. Hart extended an invitation to the students to attend the Sunday School. Coach Cutchin, teacher of the young women's and men's class, also urged that the students attend Sunday School.

Mr. Motley announced that April 17 was scheduled as Visitors Day, and requested each student to bring a visitor to the service. He stressed the importance of keeping contact with the church throughout college, and gave temporary membership cards to the students so that those who so desired might become members of the Murray church while in school.

He explained that this temporary membership in no way affected the students' relation to their home churches.

The records in the Murray College extension office show some increase in the demand for correspondence courses. At present 494 students are enrolled for correspondence study. These 494 students are carrying a total of 650 different courses.

MURRAY WILL WIN

Most any old racehorse can run a little when the road is smooth, when the crowd is cheering, when the weather is fair and the load is light.

But when the track is rough and miry, when the crowd is apathetic, when the rain is pelting down, and when the load is doubled, IT TAKES A THOROUGH-BRED TO WIN !!!

Meeting Postponed During K. E. A.

The English Club of Murray State College did not meet at its usual time of meeting Thursday, April 14, on account of the dismissal for K. E. A. The meeting has been postponed until the next regular time of meeting, according to Miss Mary Jeanette Reeder of Benton, Ky., president of the club.

Murray Declines to Play in Tourney Where Non-Champs May Compete; Western Gets Bid From Chairman

Cutchinmen Defeat Western for SIAA Title

Coach Adolph Rupp, chairman of the U. S. Third District Olympic tryout committee, selected Western State Teachers College of Bowling Green, Ky., to represent the Third District in the basketball Olympic tryouts. The selection came after Coach Carlisle Cutchin, speaking for the administration and student body of Murray State College, had declined on the "Thoroughbreds" behalf the invitation of Rupp to the effect that Murray enter a tournament with teams in the South, which Cutchin described as not being "champions of their respective conferences."

Murray won the championship of the SIAA in a general tournament at Jackson, Miss., March 6, 7, 8 and 10, beating Western in the final game of that tournament, 29-26.

Western plays Arkansas State, champion of the Fourth District, for the right to compete in the Olympic tryout finals in Madison Square Garden in April.

"Murray would have been glad," stated Coach Cutchin, "to have entered a tournament with the champions of the representative conferences in the Third District. Under the circumstances, we can only follow the examples of such teams as Tennessee, Southeastern Conference champion, and North Carolina, Southern Conference champion, in declining to enter the tournament."

The entire student body of Murray State College backed up Coach Cutchin's statement with thunderous and prolonged applause.

Softball To Be Next Sport Here

With more interest being devoted to the development of a winning football team than to any other phase of athletics, Roy Stewart, intramural director, stated today that there would be no more intramural games until the completion of spring football, which is now going on at Murray State College. Softball will be the next intramural sport with tennis following.

With so much attention going to spring football, handball, heretofore part of the intramural program, will be postponed until next year. The intramural basketball championship was won by the American League quintet of Harry Basan, Henderson, while the volleyball championship was annexed by the sextet captained by Jack Story, Almo. Softball, which has increased in popularity throughout the country over the past year or so, will replace baseball on the intramural program. Robert Noel, Somerset, is the defending singles champion in tennis.

STUDENTS ENROLL FOR 9-WEEK TERM

150 Expected to Enter for Second Half of Semester.

Students have begun registering today, March 23, for the last nine weeks of the spring semester.

"Approximately 150 are expected to register for the remaining nine weeks," reports Mrs. Cleo Gillis Hester, registrar of Murray State College, as compared with 110 registering at the same time last year. This will swell the enrollment of the college proper from 790 to 940 as compared with 975 enrolled at the beginning of the last nine weeks a year ago. The majority of the persons registering today and Monday, March 30, will be teachers whose schools have finished for this year.

In order to make room for some of the co-ed new-comers at Wells Hall, Dean of Women Mable Gude, and Mrs. Mary Gardner, matron, are having the residents give up their separate or single rooms and either move in with a friend or make room for one of the new incomers.

Dean of Men Otis Edmonds reports there are several vacancies in the men's dormitory, and that it is expected that several new faces will be seen there during the last nine weeks of the semester.

Students who have been here before and are returning for the first time will see several changes in the Murray State College they knew last year: A new student organization, a new president, an orchestra playing for lunch and dinner in the dining room of Wells Hall, and work already started on a new paved street in front of the men's dormitory and on the new health building. This will also mark the last regular session that students can register so cheaply at Murray State as matriculation fees rise to $25 a semester, starting with the fall semester of 1936.

J. Daron Grissom Is Promoted by General Motors

J. Daron Grissom, a 1934 Murray State graduate, has been in charge of the credit section of the General Motors branch office in Charleston, W. Va., since January 1.

He has charge of a credit section in which there are 2000 retail accounts and wholesale outstandings with 11 General Motors dealers. In all, this totals close to $500,000. In the collection of which Grissom is responsible for. He also buys new contracts daily.

Grissom was one of the outstanding students of the class of 1934. He was president of the senior class of that year, and had served as president of his sophomore and freshman classes. A varsity football letterman, he was also active in dramatics and music, being a member of the men's vocal quartet, the A Capella Choir, vice-president of the Sock and Buskin Dramatic Club, and carrying leading roles in "Chimes of Normandy," "Everyman," "Kempy".

He served as president and secretary of the Allenian Literary Society and was a member of the Physics and Varsity Clubs. He majored in physical education. Immediately after his graduation he was given a place in the credit department of General Motors that led to his rapid rise to his present position.

According to a letter received from Grissom recently, he plans to attend commencement exercises at Murray State at the end of May, "to see the 'Finished Products' turned out".

Carroll Elected Captain of Next Year's Basketball Team

Succeeds Phillips of Tolu as Leader of Quint

Willard "Mutt" Carroll, 5'11" junior guard, was elected captain of the SIAA championship Murray State College basketball team at a meeting of the Thoroughbred squad, Coach Cutchin, and the college sports editor, in the dressing room of the auditorium building March 16. Carroll succeeds Captain James Hammond Phillips, Tolu senior, who has held the reins for the past two years and will be lost to the squad by graduation.

"Mutt," who makes his home in West Paducah, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Carroll. He was born January 25, 1915, and starred for the Heath High School Pirates before coming to Murray in the fall of 1933. Since entering Murray he has starred for two years on the varsity, besides being a member of the Murray State freshman team during the season of 1933-34. A speedy guard, Carroll is known throughout SIAA circles as a dangerous opponent.

After the election of Captain Carroll, Captain James Phillips, Wilford Baker, Birmingham; and Clarence Butler, Clear Springs, the three seniors who will be lost to next year's quintet, gave their farewell speeches and wished the 1937 edition of Thoroughbreds the best of luck. Captain Phillips stated "I have more than enjoyed working with you fellows as I have never had a better crew to play with. To the team of '37 and to Captain Carroll I offer my very best wishes for a successful year. My only regret is that I cannot be there."

Athletic Events Play Big Part in Senior Day at Murray College

Athletic events played a big part in the program put on by Murray State College as a part of the entertainment for Senior Day before a crowd of high school students from this district, estimated at 1500. Tumbling, basketball, and football were included in the athletic exhibitions put on by the college.

All the back-flips, front-flips, gaynors, half gaynors, hand walks, tumbling, chest lifts, kip-ups, and other forms of gymnastic exercises that go with a first rate gym exhibition, were put on by the college Gym Club.

Following the stunts, a basketball game was played with the SIAA championship basketball team defeating a picked team, 18-2, in some 20 minutes of basketball. Ethridge McKeel, Rector, Ark., led the scorers with 6 counters, while Wilford Baker, midguard from Birmingham, scored the only two points registered by the second stringers.

Both of the opening two exhibitions were part of the morning program and were exhibited on the auditorium stage. At 2 p. m. a football game, consisting of four 10 minute quarters were played at the college stadium with the Blues winning over the Whites, 15-0.

The win for the Blues marked the first time in four years of play that the "regulars" have won over the yanigans. Blue touchdowns came in the second and third quarters, the first after a sustained drive down the field from their own 40-yard line with John Jasper, fullback, and a freshman from Fulton, carrying the brunt of the attack and going over from the 3-yard line on the second play of the series.

The second Blue touchdown came on a 37 yard run by Charles

Students Plan To Secure Jackets for SIAA Champions

The SIAA basketball crown is not enough for the Murray State College Thoroughbreds to wear in significance of their victories in the tourney at Jackson, Miss.

The students of the institution were working March 23 on plans whereby championship "jackets" may be given the athletes in recognition of their net supremacy in southeastern America.

Meetings of the four classes were held immediately after chapel hour at Murray State. Robert Blaese, junior, Paducah, acted as spokesman for the "M" Club, athletic association, which is fostering plans to purchase jackets for the SIAA champions.

here to play with the team next season." The newly elected Captain Carroll replied: "I will do my very best to lead the team to a successful season next year and if I make half as good a job as did Captain Phillips, I am sure that the season will be a success."

Coach Carlisle Cutchin, who left Saturday, March 21, for Nashville where he will enter Peabody College to finish work on his master's degree in physical education, thanked the boys for such a successful season and wished them well in the coming year. "Keep active fellows and next year we will do it all over again," Mr. Cutchin expects to get his master's degree in June.

As a farewell gesture to Coach Cutchin, the squad decided to hold a banquet in the dining room of the Blue Bird Cafe, Thursday evening, March 19. The banquet was given as the gift of Mr. C. L. Brown, manager of the Blue Bird, for the winning of the SIAA championship by the Thoroughbreds.

Educational Problems Discussed at Meeting on Senior Day

COLLEGE COOPERATION PLEGGED BY PRESIDENT

More than 40 administrators, county and city superintendents, high school principals, and college faculty members met on the mezzanine floor of the library building of Murray State College Friday afternoon, March 27, to discuss with President James H. Richmond and Harry W. Peters, state superintendent of public instruction, problems of school administration in their respective localities.

Dr. Richmond pledged the complete support of Murray State College and its faculty toward the betterment of the school system in Western Kentucky, declaring that the proposition would be a mutual one. "We will help you and you will help us."

Round table discussions of individual problems over which Dr. Richmond presided preceded an address by Harry W. Peters in which he stressed the view that public schools in Kentucky, especially high schools, might be improved by a sane and dependable analysis of prevailing difficulties.

In assuring Mr. Peters that Murray State College was entirely in sympathy with his proposition, Dr. Richmond solicited the support of the various administrators present toward the building of Murray College from both the standpoint of enrollment and quality. "I shall work with you and for you. I pledge you now that the faculty here will be strengthened in every possible way. When changes are necessary in the faculty, I shall recommend to the board of regents the best and strongest men."

And he continued: "Only the best men from the standpoints of quality and service shall ever become members of this institution. No politician shall ever appoint or depose a faculty member here. I want to build this college. We can build a great school here. It's a great school now, but we can make it greater. This is my purpose here. If I didn't believe I could fulfill this pledge, I should never have come here. When I fail, I shall leave."

In regard to the Aurora Dam proposed in the Lower Tennessee Valley, the Murray president said: "We're going to get the Aurora Dam. We can't possibly visualize what it'll mean to us. Murray State College will receive more benefit from that dam than any other agency in Kentucky."

Dr. Richmond emphasized the view that no western Kentucky administrator should go farther than Murray for his teachers so long as qualified instructors were available at Murray. "It is regrettable," he declared, in reference to the increase in the enrollment fee from $15 to $25 per semester, but averred that "just as soon as the state can appropriate sufficient money for these schools, the fees will and should be reduced. I believe as I have believed ever since I became president that 1,000 students will enroll at Murray State next fall."

He made clear the fact that even though the privilege of granting masters' degrees had been taken from the state teachers colleges that credits already worked off by September 1936, would be recognized as valid, and would be accepted by the University of Kentucky as so much work on the completion of the degree.

After the meeting, the board of regents met in the president's office. Dr. Richmond left Murray for Washington, D. C., immediately after the regents adjourned.

He stated that 99 years ago next month the city fathers of Louisville appropriated $50,000 for the purpose of erecting and equipping a medical University.

This amount was sufficient for the purpose so that the University became a medical school, and has continued to function without interruption until today. From time to time, various departments have been added, the law school being the second department in 1846; followed by the school of dentistry, engineering, and the department of music. Today, the University of Louisville is an accredited school with class "A" rating in each department.

Leonard Discussed By English Group Tuesday, March 17

While the book, "Locomotive God" is a psychological study in the development of a genius, Leonard's poem, "Two Lives" is the best example of sonnet sequence in America, according to Dr. Drennon.

Baseball Future Is Dark at Murray, Coach Stewart Says

Baseball has a dark future in Murray, according to Coach Roy Stewart, head of the department of physical education.

"There will be no baseball, intramural or intercollegiate, in Murray this year," said Mr. Stewart. "I know of no high school team that has organized baseball and this makes us short of material. Few colleges have intercollegiate baseball—Bethel and Lambuth being the only ones in this region." "Intramural softball has been proved to be an excellent substitute."

Throughout the day—even during "class hours"—the whirl of little ball-bearing wheels resounded above professors' lectures, affording a means of relief from the collegians' second promise of an occasion for "spring fever" in as many months.

Once before this year skating made its seasonal debut on the Murray College campus. But that was in February, and since that time sleighing and ice-skating could have been in season in Murray's "worst" winter weather of heavy snows and solid ice.
