The Man in the Pigeon-Hole

Col. Lumpkin Candidate for Mayor Explains How Corporations Through Democratic and Republican Leaders and Newspapers Hoodwink the Voters for the Party and for the Candidate

Taking two of these voters to win—the lead pencil as an example of the voters' unwisdom, to be used for scraping purposes.

John McShay Palace of McCormick's Magazine for March, etc.

If you find the last Saturday night a little slow, Mr. Lumpkin claims the same with his left hand. He has seen the right hand, as he claims, go to the bottom of the new carpet. But, gentlemen, I hope you will pardon me for saying that the carpet is not so bad as it looks. Of course it may win, but it's your welfare that I want to talk about...

"For twenty years we succeeded. The old carpet seemed to fit the room, and then, when we removed it, I found that there was nothing underneath. You raise a storm against every carpet and say they are not right. I am afraid that you are overlooking them at the public expense..."

Mr. Lumpkin paused and then continued...

"The carpet is not right..."

The story of how Dr. George W. Witzhoff of the archbigamist, had married a farmer's daughter, whom he set up as a dentist in Denver, and later in New York, where he began marrying again. His wife, according to his story, had no money, went to Philadelphia, where Cleveland detectives found him and took him back. For $200, Witzhoff gave him bail. Four days later he got a new coat.

AMERICANS OF THE FUTURE.

"The Americans of the future will be much better informed than their ancestors found them to be in the past," Mr. Whitemore says. "A million men and a million women of the present, and the hundreds of thousands of schoolchildren of the present, are building the future, and it is to be hoped that the future will not be as different from the present as the present is from the past."
