FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1935.

NUMBER TWENTY-TWO.

JUNIOR WEEK ATTRACTS 547 4-H CLUB MEMBERS

Seventy counties were represented in demonstrations, and a large number of boys and girls participated in the style revue and the health and judging contests.

In addition to classes in agriculture and home economics, the boys and girls attended morning assemblies and evening devotional services, where they heard prominent educators, ministers and statesmen, including Governor Ruby Laffoon. On two mornings, the group singing of the assembled club members was broadcast.

Fulton county's representatives to Junior Week were accompanied by County Agent J. B. Williams and Mrs. Abe Thompson, home demonstration agent. FULTON CAPTURES GOLF TOURNAMENT AT PADUCAH

The largest and most important tournament of the season at the Paducah Country Club took place there Sunday when players from the county clubs of Mayfield, Fulton and Cairo journeyed there for a quadrangular meet.

Fulton nosed out Paducah in the four-city meet, and Wilson Randle, former Duke University golf captain, was the champion of the Fulton Country Club, started when he shot 66, two over par. Fulton barely nosed out Paducah, 70 to 68, Cairo was third with 55 and Mayfield brought up the rear with a total of 44.

Randle, the Fulton start, shot 37-29, 76, only two above par. On Randle's outgoing nine he deviated from par only twice, making a birdie 4 on the second hole and bogey 6 on the fourth. He had three birdies in his brilliant but erratic second round.

Mrs. J. E. Fall and daughter, Susie, spent Saturday in Paducah. Mr. and Mrs. Vester Freeman visited in Wingo Sunday with relatives.

Mrs. R. H. Stovall of Humboldt, has been visiting in Fulton with her sister, Mrs. E. M. Mathis on Walnut street.

Mrs. Earl Taylor and children, Earl Jr. and W. H., visited last week in Memphis with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Horace Young left Saturday to spend this week in Dyersburg, Tenn., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Potts.

Mrs. Uai Killebrew has been ill at her home this week.

LEONARD HAGAN IS SUPERFLEX DEALER

The Dyersburg Machine Works, distributors for the "Superflex" Refrigerator, which claims the unique distinction of making ice from oil heat, announces a new booklet, published by Perfection Stove Company, on the subject of modern home making with proper refrigeration. The book was written by a woman born on the farm, and having a long experience in household economics and domestic science.

The new booklet prepared by Perfection Stove Company differs widely from the usual materials supplied by manufacturers, Leonard Hagan, representative says. It is not an advertising booklet in the usual sense, though of course its purpose is to acquaint women with the particular merits of the Superflex Refrigerator.

It discusses the problems of women in the kitchen frankly, and with understanding of what it is all about. It points out ways to save food, to make use of left-overs in special tasty dishes and to generally make work in the kitchen less of a burden.

With its extremely useful information and its unusually attractive illustrations in colors, I know this booklet will be of interest to any woman and I wish that I could give one to everyone in and near Fulton, Mr. Hagan states. This would be impossible of course, because of its cost and the limited number allowed by the publishers, but I do have a copy to give free to every woman who is really interested in modern refrigeration, and to whom I give a demonstration of a Superflex Oil Burning Refrigerator. With each of these booklets, entitled, "A Woman Looks at Superflex," we also present a recipe booklet full of hints for the special preparation of foods with the aid of a refrigerator.

STRAND HAS GOOD WEEK OF PICTURES

The next week will see a fine program of pictures at the new Strand Theatre here, according to Buster Shuck, manager. Friday of this week, "Carnival" is being shown, featuring Jimmy Durante, Lee Tracy and Sally Eilers in a riot of fun and entertainment.

Neil Hamilton and Milham Jordan team up to make "Two Heads on a Pillow," which shows at the Strand Sunday. It is an unusual picture with lots of sparkle and drama. Monday and Tuesday, "We Live Again," will provide one of the most colorful screen presentations shown here in some time. Anna Sten and Frederic March are the stars, supported by a fine cast that make this screen version of modern Russia highly realistic and gripping.

K. E. A. TO SEEK FURTHER SUPPORT FROM LEGISLATURE

Support of a legislative program seeking three principles for education in Kentucky will be requested of the General Assembly at its next regular session by the Kentucky Education association. King, executive secretary of the association said: "In order that the processes of education may go forward and that children of Kentucky may have their rightful heritage of an adequate and free education, the association will ask, maintenance or increase of the present per capita, contribution of provision of free textbooks and adequate support of the public higher institutions of learning."

SECOND GOODWILL MEETING HELD AT CAYCE FRIDAY EVE

Friday night of last week, the second of a series of goodwill meetings being sponsored by the Fulton Chamber of Commerce, was held at the high school building in Cayce. Paul Hornbeak, chairman of the program committee, was in charge. Rev. Paul McClain gave the welcome address with R. T. Moore responding.

Brief talks were made by Mrs. Bard and Tom Atchery, followed by an instructive talk on poultry raising by Mr. St. Clair, Swift & Co. representative. Many pertinent facts were brought out about poultry raising and marketing. Mr. St. Clair predicted good markets for chickens and eggs this fall. He said that these products are certain to show increased demand, with beef and pork now showing decrease demands.

J. E. Hannephin spoke briefly, followed by E. C. Hardesty, manager of the Fulton Kentucky Utilities Company. Mr. Hardesty said that his company is making a survey of rural electrification and pointed out that Cayce was to receive first consideration, as it is planned to bring electric service there some time this summer.

J. O. Lewis, superintendent of the Fulton city schools, made an interesting talk on diversification and its advantages. Mr. Lewis, who comes from a county of one-pop distinction, tobacco, testified that diversification in farming as exemplified in this section, certainly has its advantages.

KASNOW CELEBRATES 16TH ANNIVERSARY

L. Kasnow is celebrating this month his 16th anniversary of doing business in Fulton. He came here from Nashville after the year, after looking around for a location. When asked if he was still pleased that he selected Fulton, he replied that he was more than ever glad that he chose Fulton for his home.

After opened a store here sixteen years ago in the same building now occupied by the L. Kasnow store, he enlarged his stock, employed additional clerks as his business improved. Later he called for his brother, Joe Kasnow, to join him here.

Back in March this year, Mr. Kasnow opened a new store, the Fulton Department Store, and now he operates two stores in Fulton.

Mr. Kasnow has made good in business, and has taken an active part in community life here. He has served as commander of the Legion Post, as Past Master of Sunlight Lodge, past High Priest of Royal Arch Masons, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Elks Club, Lions Clubs and other organizations. Anything of community nature that promotes civic welfare always interests him, and he has unbounded faith in the future of Fulton.

He is a booster and a firm believer in advertising; ever alert and progressive his natural wit and humor make him friends easily. Asked if he was married, he jovially replied: "No, I have always enjoyed that state of single blissfulness; and tell 'all' my children never to marry." What a remark for a bachelor.

HOMEMAKERS OF DISTRICT TO CAMP JULY 22ND

The annual camp for Homemakers of the Purchase will be held at Reidland, the week of July 22-26, and rural women of Graves, Hickman, Fulton, Ballard, McCracken and Calhoun counties will attend.

REV. J. V. FREEMAN BELOVED METHODIST MINISTER IS DEAD

Rev. James V. Freeman, retired Methodist minister of Fulton, who died at his home on Edging-st last Thursday, was buried at Fairview Sunday afternoon, following funeral services at the First Methodist church conducted by the Rev. E. N. Mathis and Rev. J. Mack Jenkins, presiding elder of the Union City district. His death followed a lingering affliction, as a result of a stroke of paralysis suffered three years ago.

Rev. Freeman had been active in the ministerial service for the past thirty-six years, having held pastorates at Fulton, Clinton, Union City, Dyersburg, Highland Heights, Memphis, Huntington and Henderson. He also served as presiding elder for a number of years in the Jackson, Lexington, Brownsville districts.

He was born at Gardner, Tenn., where he received his early education. He later attended Marvin College, Clinton, Ky., McFerrin, Martin Tenn., and Vanderbilt University, at Nashville, Tenn. In 1923 he first came to Fulton and served as pastor of the First Methodist church for four years. He built the present fine Methodist edifice, a memorial to his devoted efforts in behalf of the church. He was also active in plans which were carried out in the erection of the Dyersburg and the Mason Hall churches.

He served as a member of the Board of Finance of the Methodist conference, and was also a member of the board of education. In 1920 he was a delegate to the General Conference. Following his retirement he came to Fulton to make his home.

Rev. Freeman was always keenly interested in community affairs, and was welcomed by the various organizations when it came time to put on a program. His natural wit and humor, his fine sportsmanship and love of mankind made him a favorite wherever he went.

He is survived by his widow; one son, Herman of Fulton; two sisters, Mrs. S. R. Bratton and Mrs. Paulina House, both of Union City; one brother, O. W. Freeman of Martin. Percy Freeman of Fulton is a cousin.

Many friends of the beloved man extend sympathy to the bereaved family, as does The News.

COUNTY INDEBTEDNESS ONE OF HEAVIEST IN STATE, SEWELL REPORTS

In a report to Gov. Ruby Laffoon this week, Nat B. Sewell, State Inspector and Examiner said, "Nothing but the most rigid economy in every department of the county's affairs will place Fulton County on a sound financial basis." The county has a total indebtedness of $540,830.07, and "is one of the heaviest in the state," he says; "and more than one half of all the property taxes collected by the county is required to meet interest payments alone on the county's indebtedness."

Present county officials were praised by Sewell for their efforts to reduce the county's indebtedness but declared the Fiscal Court made a serious mistake in failing to levy for the present period of six months beginning January 1, 1935 and ending June 30, 1935. "With the exception of this unwise omission," Sewell stated, "the county officials are co-operating effectively in work are co-operating effectively in working out a more economical system of county government."

Sewell criticised the records of the County Treasurer, whose report he said, is very poor, and his method of furnishing essential financial data altogether unsatisfactory.

SIX O'CLOCK DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Riddle were host and hostess to a delightfully planned six o'clock dinner Thursday night at their home on Walnut-st. Among those present were Mr. John Fleming, District Plant Chief of the Southern Bell Telephone Company at Owensboro, Ky., Luther Toll of Owensboro; and Joseph Stone, plant chief of the telephone company of Paducah.

SENSIBLE and LOGICAL

No city can be greater than its citizens.

Some politicians seem to think they know it all, but do they?

The most expensive thing a section can support is poor roads.

Some cities sleep and dream—dream of the days gone by when they were busy places. They never dream of the future, of the ambition to again be bigger and busier cities.

If some great power could raise the ghosts of the merchants of long ago and take them through our modern stores and newspaper plants how astonished they would be.

Home-town boosting is infectious; it spreads fast. It often keeps a community out of a rut. Boosting gathers momentum as it goes along. It gives pleasure, satisfaction and experience. It broadens the vision, destroys selfishness and makes everyone see the brighter, happier side of community work.

IN TRIBUTE

The church has lost a good servant, and the community a fine man, in the death of Rev. J. V. Freeman.

He labored long and faithfully for both, but now his life's work is done, and he has gone to the promised land, which he loved so well that he gave his services to his Maker.

I had known Rev. Freeman for years. My parents before me knew him. He was a man devoted to his chosen duty; he loved God and his fellowman.

Adieu, good friend. Your works live yet, though you have departed this earth.

DON'T PASS THE BUCK

When you are asked to do something for your community, don't start looking for excuses. "Let George Do It" never gets the job done.

Just put your shoulder to the wheel; start it rolling and keep it rolling. If it continues to turn, it is much easier to keep it going, for it gathers momentum to speed along its way to greater power.

You, as an individual, must do your part to keep "the community wheel" turning.

GREATER PROSPERITY

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., head of General Motors, in a recent article, says that amazing changes and extraordinary wealth and prosperity lie ahead. It will come, he says, when people start to adopt the changes which science has wrought in the last five years. Economic conditions have diverted their attention. They have ignored what is going on in the way of scientific progress. Changes in houses—the houses in which we live—which are as great and as revolutionary as the change from the backboard to the automobile are at hand.

These changes are: Air conditioning in homes, shops, factories and office buildings. Temperatures and humidity can and are being controlled by new devices. Disease breeding dirt and dust can and are being removed from the air one breathes. Many of the causes of discomfort and ill health can be controlled.

Houses of fabricated materials which will be built in factories and shipped to the user in sections represent another revolutionary change. Not only can substantial and vastly improved houses be obtained this way, but the time element required in present day building be largely eliminated. Also, it is claimed, the cost of homes can and will be materially reduced.

The type, speed and comfort of railroad trains is another revolutionary change which Mr. Sloan believes is coming rapidly. Already new type trains are being used in an experimental way. The changing of this equipment in itself will provide a vast army of workmen employment.

Science has not stood still in the past five years. Changes for better things have been planned. The open in economics has merely postponed some of these changes which would have been well on their way to adoption, Mr. Sloan believes. One has only to know that the population of the United States is about 130,000,000 people and that there are about 20,000,000 homes together with the fact that American people adopt changes for the better more rapidly and readily than any other in the world, to realize the significance of these statements.

Private industry and private initiative which have so courageously carried this country to leadership in the world, will again lead it out of the economic doldrums if given a chance.

There are interesting days ahead. Our children and their children will accept as commonplace what we are now shaking our doubtful heads over.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

Community spirit is a mighty fine thing. But some people do not seem to realize just what it means.

Community spirit has a very broad meaning. If you are a public-spirited citizen, you will talk, work and give to your community, because it is in your blood to encourage its development.

Mae West at Orpheum Sun.

GOIN' TO TOWN

Mae West with Ivan Lebedeff and Paul Cavanagh in her latest starring picture, "Goin' to Town," the Paramount picture which opens Sunday for two days at the Orpheum. A large cast of well-known names supports Mae West in this, the fourth of her screen dramas.

Every citizen in any community should do everything in his power to encourage its growth and progress, because of his love for his community and his friends who live in it. Every individual has a definite part to play in the progress or stagnation of his community. One set or group cannot make a community; it takes all the people in it. The churches, the schools, the city government, civic clubs, woman's clubs, business firms from blacksmith to candlestick maker, so to speak, and every citizen who lives, earns and spends here.

Every word spoken in boosting or knocking a community comes right back to our door; every dollar spent away from Fulton goes to build the place where it is spent and to retard the growth of our home community. Dollars spent at home work over and over for us, and we should think of this when we are tempted to send them out of town.

Let's be serious about our own community—THINK, TALK AND ACT for its improvement, for when we improve it, we improve ourselves. GET THE COMMUNITY SPIRIT.

THE MERCHANT'S SIDE

This buying at home idea has two sides.

Merchants who neglect to advertise, who fail to shout their wares, cannot complain when buyers, wanting something, order it from a catalog where they see it. Instead of tramping over the town to find out if Mr. So and So has it.

We know of business men in Fulton county who think it is a crime to send money away from town for merchandise, or to patronize the products of out-of-town concerns, when local plants and merchants have similar things to sell. These same men, however, neglect to do what is first done by the mail order people—advertise.

The Fulton County News has talked keeping money at home for many moons. Most merchants and business men have agreed with us. Some of them, when approached for advertising, grin and suggest that the public knows all about them. Others, keenly appreciating the advantage of keeping their name in print, give us advertisements large and small, as the circumstances happen to be.

No cross word puzzle will have to perplex his brain to discover who is going to get most of the business of the people of this community.

LEGION AND AUX Elected Officers

In regular monthly meeting last Thursday night, the American Legion post here elected new officers as follows:

Jess Jordan, commander; Dr. Horace Laten, first vice commander; Ollie Kaler, second vice commander; Cyril Weatherspoon, adjutant; Smith Atkins, finance officer; Robert J. Lamb, chaplain; H. F. Rucker, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. J. S. Robinson, historian.

The afternoon of the same day, the Ladies of Auxiliary of the American Legion picked new officers as follows:

Mrs. H. B. Houston, president; Mrs.

Earl Taylor, vice president; Mrs. K. R. Lowe, second vice president; Mrs. Jess Jordan, secretary; Mrs. A. B. Roberts, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Bob Harris, historian and Mrs. Lawrence Shelton, chaplain. The meeting was held at Mrs. Shelton's home on Eddings-st.

Mrs. Bob Harris, with Mrs. Sam Winton as alternate, was appointed as delegate to the state convention to be held in Lexington, July 21-24.

DEAF? DON'T LOSE HOPE!

Dr. Edward Kolar, M.D., said: "Ours is the only clinic I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy. No matter how severe your deafness or how long it has been, a few drops of Ours is guaranteed to help you. R. P. Maxwell, Deputy Sheriff, says: 'Have just finished my first bottle, glad to state I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time I heard the church bell ring in two years.' Stop worrying, use Ours! 500,000 people have enjoyed prompt relief. At all leading druggists. Prepared by AURINE REMEDY COMPANY, 8638 W. Cermak Rd., Chicago, Ill."

BRUCE BARTON

THE BETHANY SISTERS

They lived a little way out of Jerusalem in a sheltered suburban home which Jesus loved to visit for refreshment and rest. One of them, Martha, was the practical housekeeper; the other, Mary, had the soul of a dreamer and the eyes of faith.

Martha was not lacking in faith. Hers was one of the most beautiful of all confessions. Jesus asked her if she believed in a doctrine, and she said, "Yes, Lord; that is to say, I believe in you." (John 11:27.) As for the theology of it, she was bewildered. Her brother was dead; she did not see any way out of that sorrow, but she believed in Jesus, and he accepted that faith at its full value. Millions of people who are perplexed by the creeds ought to read the story of Martha and be comforted.

Then Jesus six days before the Passover came to Bethany, where Lazarus was which had been dead, whom he raised from the dead.

There they made him a supper; and Martha served; but Lazarus was one of them who sat at the table with him.

They took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the odor of the ointment.

But Mary's was the incentive force that knew how to do the unusual thing and do it beautifully.

Her love was prophetic. She had no inside knowledge of the plots to kill Jesus. She simply had apprehension of coming evil and she knew that the time to do the beautiful thing now, "against my burial."

Then said one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him.

Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

Then said Jesus, Let her alone; against the day of my burying hath she kept this.

For the poor always ye have with you; but me ye have not always.

Much of our extravagance at funerals is horrible, not because of the waste, for love demands an expression beyond the calculation of cold economy, but because it mocks the penuriousness of the years that have come before. Mary knew that the time to be extravagant is when love can express itself in an appeal to life and not in a costly and useless libation after death. So she made her gift three hundred pence, and Jesus said:

Verily I say unto you, Whosoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial to her.

He never said that of the deed of any man.

POULTRY PROSPECTS GOOD, SAYS EXPERT

The way things look now, egg prices should be good next fall and winter, says J. E. Humphrey of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. He, therefore, advises extra care of poultry, to insure growth and health, so that good egg production can be had when prices are high.

Move poultry to clean ground, away from the old flock, where they can be kept free from worms and diseases.

Keep an abundance of growing mash before the birds. A good growing mash, starting when the birds are 10 to 12 weeks old, is made of 200 pounds of mixed wheat feed or sorghum, 100 pounds of ground yellow corn, 100 pounds of meal scrap or high grade tankage and 5 pounds of salt. Grain should be kept in the hoppers with the mash.

Clean water and milk troughs daily and scald them once a week. Provide low roosts when the chicks are three weeks old. It is best not to remove the source of heat until the birds are roosting. Inch-mesh poultry wire nailed to the under side of the roosts will keep the birds off the droppings.

Supply an abundance of water and shade during the hot months.

Watch for lice and mites as the weather gets warm. Use sodium fluoride or 40 percent nicotine for lice, and drainings from the crankcase diluted with kerosene for mites.

All cockerels, except a few of the largest and most rapid feathering ones, and the cul pullets should be sold as broilers.

Write to the College of Agriculture or see a county agent for Leaflet No. 1, "Producing Profitable Poultry."

Among the County Agents

The McCracken county peach crop will be larger and of better quality than last year, due in part to careful spraying.

Due to wet weather in March and April many potatoes were not planted until May in Breathitt county.

The CCC is conducting a terracing demonstration on the farm of H. C. McConnell in Caldwell county.

ACUTE INDIGESTION

About half the deaths in our community this year have been ascribed to acute indigestion. This, I must confess, is strange to me, for, in all of my more than 40 years' experience, I have never lost a patient in that way.

I have treated acute indigestion at times, all of my life, from little Williams' case of green apples, to the old Sisk's delirium of the night before, severe cases they might have been—and I have never been beset by a firm stickler for correct diagnosis.

There is no question in my mind that, all deaths from supposed acute indigestion, had some well-grounded cause of heart or lung or stomach disease back of them, and that, these had not been recognized as they should have been.

Recently an acquaintance was stricken, and died in a few moments; the cause was given as "acute indigestion." I am sure that he had chronic heart disease! Another died suddenly, which shocked a great circle of friends; he possibly died of carbon monoxide poisoning, although his death was reported due to acute indigestion.

There are just two problems to acute indigestion: first, the acquiring of a poison, and second, the getting rid of it; but don't nurse a serious, chronic disease until acute indigestion comes along.

FARM AND HOME

Horses and mules, when working, should receive a pound of grain and a pound and a tenth of hay or good forage for each 100 pounds of live weight. Thus a 1,000-pound animal requires 10 pounds of grain and 11 pounds of hay daily.

If live get on coals, put a little melted lard on their heads at night, or coals over a week old may be dusted with two such pinches of sodium fluoride. Dust the hens in the morning, but never at night or on rainy or damp day.

Unless pruned regularly after they have bloomed, flowering shrubs tend to become unsightly. By removing the old wood gradually, the top will be renewed and the plant will look better and produce more and better flowers. Size and shape may be regulated by pruning.

To control plant lice, spray with two teaspoonful of nicotine sulfate to a gallon of water, or three-eighths of a pint to 50 gallons. Add soap at the rate of an inch cube to the gallon or 2 pounds to 50 gallons. Apply so the insects will be wet including under-sides of leaves.

Never add fresh or warm cream to previous milkings until the new cream is cool. Adding warm cream to cream which has been colled warms up the whole mass and may start undesirable bacteria to growing.

Most gardens need an application of well-rotted manure. Commercial fertilizers are desirable, especially if the ground contains plenty of humus. Care is needed, many even, in the application of either manure or commercial fertilizers.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS.

LESSON FOR JUNE 23 ACTS 1-6-8
GOLDEN TEXT: MARK 16:15.

Christian Missions are a going concern. There are about 25,000 missionaries on the foreign field and many of them occupy comfortable, substantial houses. The compounds of the principal foreign missionary societies occupy areas in each of the leading cities where the missionary enterprise has established itself. It is clear that the pioneer days of the movement are over.

One is impressed, in studying missions, with the wisdom, ability, and harmony of the present missionaries and the extent of the success already achieved.

With the conviction that the time had come for a careful appraisal of the whole movement, in all of its phases, a group of distinguished laymen went to the Orient a few years ago for a detailed, unbiased investigation. Their report, "Re-Thinking Missions: A Laymen's Inquiry After

One Hundred Years," created a sensation, and immediately became one of the best sellers in the religious book field.

These commissioners brought back from their trip a strong and unanimous conviction that foreign missions are of great importance if conducted on sound lines. They criticize the sectarianism and Westernism of Protestant missions, and assert that their primary aim should not be to build up the church as an institution, but to permeate both the individual and society with the spirit of Christ.

But note that this epoch-making report does not advocate any retreat. In fact these thoughtful laymen favor many lines of advance which will require, for their accomplishment, large additional funds. Indeed all of their suggestions are carried out Christendom will become bankrupt. The need is overwhelming. For the world is critically ill, and the Christian, missionary gospel of good-will is the road to health.

TODAYS BEAUTY HINT

"A woman's hair has more perhaps to do with her appearance than any other one factor. No matter how lovely her features, how clear her skin, if her hair is stringy or unkempt, she will look dowdy and unattractive. But many homely faces achieve real distinction under a becoming coiffure," is the opinion of Dolores del Rio, whose gorgeous ravens hair is one of the outstanding characteristics of the lovely Mexican star, whose latest picture, "In Caliente" opens at the Orpheum soon.

"The basis of all beauty of hair is health of the scalp. If you would give your hairdresser something to work with, if you would have the sort of soft, lustrous tresses that win envy and admiration, you must first give your hair and scalp the care and attention necessary to assure their health.

"My own hair is dark and dry," the lovely Warner Brothers' star went on. "That means that I must constantly guard it against the drying caused by the studio lights and the California sun. I must have my scalp massaged regularly and treated with oil. And the treatments I have evolved will prove advantageous to every woman who has laid like mine I believe.

"I find that a weekly shampoo is necessary to keep my hair in perfect condition. A thorough brushing every night takes care of removing much of the dust and grime of the day, but a thorough washing at least once a week is advisable.

"For my shampoo, I like a pure castile soap every other week, while on the alternate weeks, I use a soapless oil. This leaves the hair soft and silky, and very shiny. On the weeks when I have the castile soap shampoo, I first have warm olive oil massaged thoroughly into my scalp about an hour before the shampoo.

"Fortunately, my hair is naturally curly, which means that I do not have to dry it further by the application of hot irons. But even the woman who has a permanent or uncurl has nothing to fear if she places herself in the hands of a competent operator, and gives her hair the constant care that will keep it in a healthy condition.

do not envy them and wish you had one—just get a reliable pattern and material you like and make one for yourself.

The oil roll collar is easy to wear either with or without a tie or scarf and the pleated sleeves are smart. Patch pockets on waist and skirt are in two sizes, small for the waist and large for the skirt.

The small sketch shows the pockets without the turn-back flap and buttons. There is a center seam in the skirt back, ending in an inverted pleat for fullness, while the back buttons up the center front from hem to neckline.

trace, Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, with Dr. M. Jackson White pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

The ceremony was solemnized before an improvised altar of ferns and palms arranged in front of a fireplace in the living room. Baskets of pink gladioli and seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers were placed on each side of the altar.

Mrs. J. D. Carlton, vocalist, and Mrs. Fester Heathcock, pianist, gave a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white mousseline de soie with a short tuckled jacket. She also wore a wide brimmed hat of hatter and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.
