INAUGURATION.
 Festivities Attending the Induction Into Office of the Chief Executive.

The GREAT EVENT FROM THE OPEN WONDERS OF WASHINGTON.
 A Glimpse of Some of the Interesting Scenes.

The many important events which occurred in the capital city of the United States, during the last week of February and the first week of March, are known to every one. The inauguration of the President, the address delivered at the reception, and the parade that took place on the 4th of March, all added to the excitement and interest of the moment.

The early days of the federal government were marked by the proceedings of the first inauguration, and the same was repeated in subsequent years, with slight variations.

President Lincoln, who took his place in the government in 1861, was the last to attend the inauguration, and his inauguration took place in 1865.

The parade on the 4th of March is one of the most interesting features of the inauguration.

The Military Feature.

The military feature of the inauguration is always a source of great interest, and the Army and Navy participate in the festivities.

The Navy, with its magnificent fleet, is always an impressive sight, and the Army, with its regular troops, also take part.

The White House.

The White House is always the center of interest during the inauguration.

The inauguration of President Lincoln, in 1865, was one of the most solemn occasions in the history of the United States.

The White House, with its grand and majestic appearance, always attracts the attention of the spectators.
