New Residential Section Helping Fill New Annexed Territory

For improvements but layouts of new sub-divisions are being planned daily. Two new streets have been cut out and graded. One of these will be in the new Parkview Heights sub-division just beyond the city park. This is the newest restricted residential section and is located in a beautiful setting. It is now open for inspection. A completely new street has been cut through this area and tons of gravel have been placed, graded and packed. Lots in this area have been laid out and some are already sold, according to the promoters of the new sub-division.

Another new section is opening up and ninth street at Pine has been extended to take care of the new street facilities for these new lots. They will also be ready for public inspection soon.

According to City officials the area of Benton was almost doubled in their move to expand the city limits of Benton. Engineers are now making a survey for the water and sewage lines which will be extended to the new areas now incorporated into the City. Steve Watkins Consulting Engineers Co. is in charge of the work.

Officials of the city hope this new work will be completed by the first of the year.

FLOOR PLAN SPECIAL ORDER

More like wool than wool! Above left, miracle man-made fibers before processing, wonderfully tough, uniform in length — but silky. After special processing they act woolier than wool — fluffy, curly, springy.

Fade-o-meter tests tell a sun-proof story — Alexander Smith exposes carpet colors to "sun-bleach" of ultra-violet light. These tests prove miracle carpet fibers not only take color better — they hold it!

ANGLING ANGLES BY Old Hi

Want to hitch up with a streak of fighting fury? Want to find out what a spotted trout can do to you on a fly or spinning rod? Then cast a streamer or spinner into the deep riffles of a stream where big rainbows lurk.

When you connect with one of these charged demons on light tackle in the spring freshets, you're in for a rough battle that will tax your skill to the limit. You won't soon forget the tugging, thrashing, lunging of that wild rainbow.

It's no wonder these trout are so popular as game fish... and they're well tasting, too. One of the finest Old Hi has ever eaten came from a cold mountain stream in Colorado.

You'll find rainbows clear across the country—lefty fellows in the Mt. Shasta region of California; mammoth ones in Lake Pend Oreille, Idaho; whoppers in Michigan rivers; giants in Catherine Creek, New York; lunkers in Maine's wilderness streams and ponds; and some beauties in the mountain waters of North Carolina and Tennessee. And just about any place in between!

For these racing rascals you'll want selected tackle. A good fly rod outfit might consist of a 9-foot plastic impregnated Vernier tonkin cane rod, the new Sportcraft single action fly reel with capacity for 100 yards of size HEH tapered or E level nylon fly line, and 6 to 9 feet of nylon leader material.

For spin fishing, you might use a 7-foot tubular glass Berkshire spinning rod, fixed-spool reel, and 100 yards of Skirr nylon spinning line of 6 or 8 pound test. Small wobblers, spinners, and live minnows are excellent baits.

Keep a tight rein on rainbows, for they swerve, leap, and shoot forward with great speed. Also keep the fish moving, for if allowed to pause and rest you may lose the fight.

Let the chapters on steelheads and Eastern rainbows in Old Hi's booklet "Fishing For The Millions" give you the dope on tackle and tactics needed to quell these power-packed brones of the rivers and lakes; you can have a free copy by writing to me in care of this newspaper.

Have you seen Old Hi's new colored movie yet? It's called "Fishing With H-I Power Glass Rods," and you can see it free of charge by getting your friends together and having your nearest dealer make arrangements for a booking.

You'll enjoy the action shown in catching black bass and brown trout, and the interesting "shorts" of how solid and tubular glass bait and fly casting rods are made.

Soon, as the water warms, the fishing for striped bass will begin to improve. Then seaside anglers along the Pacific and Atlantic Coasts will be thronging the beaches with casting rigs, ready to share in this grand sport. Old Hi's illustrated booklets, "Pacific Coastal Fishing" and "Salt Water Sports Fishing" (on the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico seashores) will tell you the proper outfits to handle. Send for your free copies.

Profane Living
Lesson for May 4, 1952

NO ONE has ever claimed that profane language is good language, not even the people who use it. But there is something worse than profane language: a profane life.

We are told in the New Testament that Esau was a profane man, but in all that the Bible tells of him we never hear him uttering a single bad word. The Third Commandment is: Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain. (In some numbering it is the second commandment, but it's not the number that is most important, it is what is in it that counts.)

Most people think that all that means is that we should not take lightly the name of God. Indeed we should not; it is surely a sin to treat the Almighty God with less respect than you would treat your own parents. But irreverent language is only a symptom; the disease is the irreverent life.

God's Name Should Mean Something

LOOK at that Commandment a little more closely. What does "in vain" mean?

In the Old Testament the same word is often used to mean useless, uselessly, or to no purpose. (See, for example, Psalm 60:11; 69:47; 108:12; Jeremiah 4:30; 46:11.)

What the Third Commandment means, then, most of all, is this: Do not take the name of God and make a lie out of it. Do not take the name of God to no purpose.

If This Is Your Father's World—LET'S ASSUME you are a Christian. If so, you have already taken God's name, when you were baptized into "the Name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost." You have taken upon yourself the great Triune Name of the living God, you are one of his name-bearers, you have acknowledged your place in his family.

Now then, look on the world around you, the stars above you, the atoms below and in you, all that lives and moves and is . . . Do you sing, "This is my Father's world?"

MY Father's world—do you mean that? You ought to mean it. If you do, you will always treat that world with respect; you will not, for instance, waste its resources. If you own land you will treat that land as if it were your Father's— which it is. If you own animals you will remember that the same Lord who made you made them, and you will not be cruel.

You Have a Birthright

ESAU is called a profane man, and in the same sentence it is said that he despised his birthright. Profane living means not living up to the plans God has for you, it means living below your true self.

The man who lets the image of God in him get all smeared over with sin and self-indulgence, the man who professes the society of God's enemies to that of his friends, the man who in spite of his baptism lives as if he had never been baptized, the man who never reminds any one of God even though in some card-index he is listed as a "church member," the man who though he is God's name-bearer is a God-forgetter, living as if the devil were his father and not God,— this is the profane man.

If such a man uses profanity of speech, and he probably will, his language is only the bubbles on the top of a very sour life. You the Christian have a birthright as a child of God; do you live up to it?

Whose Plans?

IF you are a name-bearer of God, then if you live up to that name the least you can do is to take God into your plans, or rather to fit yourself into his plans.

If, for instance, you are going to be married, you will not leave God out. You will want to be married in a Christian way, and take the Christian vows. The word "God" used hurriedly in a merely legal ceremony is taken lightly and vainly enough.

But even more profane is the married life which began in a church at an altar, with the most solemn vows; but ends in loveless neglect or in cruel bitterness. Don't leave God out!
