Hats Off to South Fulton

$40,000 Bond Issue Voted Friday for Sewerage System—Won by 17 Votes

The election held in South Fulton October 1, was a decided victory for the $40,000 bond issue for the sewerage system, when it carried by 17 votes. Not an overwhelming majority or a landslide, but sufficient to say that our sister city across the line had been converted into the faith that a sewerage system is the proper thing for health and comfort—valued above dollars and cents. It shows a progressive spirit in keeping with the Kentucky side, and after the sewerage system is completed the community as a whole, seeing the benefits derived, will wonder why anyone could ever oppose it.

Few people desire to live in a city of this size without a sewerage system and it is principally those who are ignorant of its benefits that oppose it. There are always some, however, to oppose any public improvement, it matters not what it may be.

If you don't believe us, just wait until new streets and gutters are to be built after installing the sewerage system. There will be a howl, the like of which was never dreamed of in an enlightened community. It is coming and you just as well begin now to take your medicine in broken doses.

Graham Furniture Co. Displaying Handsome Line of Furniture

A visit to the Graham Furniture Company on Walnut street is a real treat for lovers of beautiful furnishings for the home. For some weeks the firm has been busy remodeling their store building and getting their large stock in place and adjusted to new environments. The large building now presents a most pleasing showing with its 20,250 square feet of floor space occupied with everything attractively arranged. Work of beautifying the premises continues and when completed, Fulton can boast of one of the most handsome furniture establishments in Western Kentucky.

In viewing the displays we noticed furniture of every type and variety, new rugs and linoleums, new fabrics and curtains—charming displays.

No wonder the enthusiasm of every artistic home-maker runs high as she examines them. You find cheery little rugs, welcome as sunshine when the house is being re-furnished for winter.

In the basement linoleums are attractively displayed. This once humble floor covering climbs the social ladder from kitchen to living room. The patterns are responsible. Now that they're copied from Oriental rugs in deep, rich colors, there's nothing more effective for floor coverings. And they have the advantage of being quickly and easily cleaned.

"Fine Furniture—an investment in happiness," says Mr. Graham. "A pleasant, well-furnished home creates an atmosphere which suggests pride of possession. It is the sort of home which gathers happy memories. Here are some suggestions for furniture which is as beautiful as it is well made, and which bespeaks the latest furnishing vogue."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely thank our many friends and neighbors for their kind assistance and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved daughter, May God's richest blessings reward you are our prayers.

Shocking Tragedy Ends In Suicide.

Nathan Unsell Who Killed Miss Kimble, Found Hanging to a Rafter

The finding of Nathan Unsell's body suspended from a rafter by a rope in a granary on the Holder farm last week, eight miles from Clinton, Ky., in Hickman county, was the closing chapter in a tragedy that shocked the entire county. Unsell, 32 years old, had been employed as a farm hand on the O. D. Holder farm for a number of years and when he was discharged, ran amuck with a shotgun, killing Miss Murrell Kimble, 22, and seriously wounding Mrs. Holder.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Unsell came to his death by suicide. His brother, W. E. Unsell, attended the inquiry. The body was taken to Bardwell for burial.

Since the slaying of Miss Kimble, Unsell had been the object of a search that extended over all western Kentucky and western Tennessee and into eastern Missouri. The search was centered in the river bottoms of Hickman county, however, where at times a posse of from 100 to 200 residents of the county assisted Sheriff T. E. Kimbro and his deputies in the hunt.

Unsell had been variously reported as seen half a dozen times since killing Miss Kimble and seriously wounding Mrs. Holder, wife of his employer, with a shotgun before being attacked by Mrs. Holder's son.

The elder Holder returned from Cairo where he had visited his wife, who is in a hospital. Upon reaching home he went to his granary, which is a part of his barn and only a short distance from his home. There he found Unsell's body. It was suspended from a rafter by a rope. Unsell had removed his shoes before climbing onto some bags of wheat, where he jumped after fastening the rope about his neck. The body was badly decomposed.

The barn was searched on the day Miss Kimble was slain, but no search was made of the granary.

Low In Price—High In Quality

Are the New 1927 Model Fords Now on Display at Snow-White Motor Co.

The new 1927 models of Ford cars now on display at the Snow-White Motor Company's sales room on Fourth street deserve the greatest respect. It is a handsome car, all-steel body, well upholstered in high grade material, and for quality, economy, reliability, durability, simplicity and value, in a class to itself. They are lowest in price, but high in quality.

The merits of the new improved Ford car has startled the auto world and the demand for new models has eclipsed even the fondest expectations of Mr. Ford himself.

The all-steel body which has the advantage of great strength, lightness and durability, as well as various other improvements, balloon in place of high pressure tires, lower, long bodies, closed cars in colors, starters and other standard equipment, all create a desire of admiration for the new models. With all these improvements the price has been steadily reduced. Today you can get a handsome touring car for only $380 F. O. B. Detroit, with a saving of nearly $200 against any other 4-cylinder.

Send the Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

High School Notes

The football game played Friday between Fulton and Hopkinsville resulted in a score of 14-0 in favor of the visitors. A large crowd was present and enjoyed the game immensely. The Fulton boys played a plucky game throughout and gave evidence of future success on the gridiron. The next game will be played between Fulton and Farmington High schools on Friday, October 8, at Fulton.

The chapel program Monday was sponsored by the piano club. It consisted of a duet by Rev. Warren and son, James, and a song by a quartet from the Junior choir, composed of Virginia Joyner, James Warren, Mildred Allen and Agatha Gayle. The accompanist was Mary Hughes Chambers. It was much enjoyed.

The student body enjoyed Mr. Alexander's presentation of a charming modern drama Tuesday. He presented the play in which Madge Kennedy the well known actress figured in New York last summer.

The splendid piano which now adorns the rostrum in the chapel is very much appreciated by the student body. It is a gift to the school from the parent-teacher's association and it is with great pleasure that we now assure the public that we have an instrument that we can well be proud of. The old piano will be used in the music room which is now being fitted up for orchestral and choral work.

The school body participated in a monster rally Thursday night. The Hopkinsville football team was met at the train by the Fulton student group and were received with loud cheers and raucous songs. The school yells given and a general good time was experienced. "Lots of pep here," was the comment of the Hopkinsville aggregation.

The school cafeterias are now rendering splendid service. The high school and Carr institute lunch rooms are serving fine meals each day at a minimum cost. What a splendid thing it would be if more parents would call at school for a visit and then remain for lunch. Every department of the school welcomes visits by the parents at any and all times.

Every effort is now being made to bring about the best class room instruction and the consequent best acquisition of learning possible. This is the main purpose of the school. Football, orchestra and other extra curriculum activities are well enough in their places, but are only means by which the main plan of the school can be better realized. Our objective is to carry every boy and girl in the school as far educationally as that boy and girl can go in the local schools. Is a boy or girl progressing as you feel that they should? If not, call on the principal of the school and ascertain the difficulty. It is highly probable that we together can solve the problem. Is there apparently some defect in the handling of the school that you think should be remedied? If so, call at the central office and talk matters over. The Fulton school is its own severest critic. It is always open for suggestions. If you have a complaint, call on us and we will either convince you that we are right or we will correct the wrong.

Welcome Announcement

The announcement that Mrs. J. C. Brann and Mrs. P. R. Binford, with Rev. C. H. Warren, would head the School Board ticket to be voted in the November election, was cause for much favorable comment throughout the city. It is the first time that a woman's name is to appear on the School Board ticket. It will no doubt add more significance to the election and should be an inspiration for women voters to exercise their right of suffrage at the polls. A better selection could not have been made. It will be pleasing to have a mixed board.

FINE SORGHUM

J. P. Jeffress, Route 1, of Fulton, prominent farmer and well known as the "Sorghum King" of the county, presented the editor with a gallon bucket of new crop sweetness Saturday. Laying all jokes aside, it is the best sorghum we have ever eaten and after the fifth biscuit saturated in Jersey butter, we told our wife so. She could not understand why biscuits were disappearing so rapidly until we explained matters and she, too, joined in the hide and seek game.

Mr. Jeffress tells us that he has about 1,000 gallons made of the new crop.

PROMINENT FULTON FAMILY LOCATES IN LOUISVILLE

I. W. Dobbins, who has represented the Belknap Hardware Company, of Louisville, as traveling salesman in this territory for a number of years, has been promoted to general sales manager of his firm with headquarters in the home office.

Mrs. Dobbins and children, Jane and John D., left for Louisville, last Friday to join Mr. Dobbins and make their future home. Inis, Jr., their oldest son, was already in school at Louisville.

In their leaving the city, Fulton social circles feels a distinct loss. Mrs. Dobbins was a prominent club woman, while Mr. Dobbins was a member of the city school board and active in church work. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

FULTON-UNION CITY ROAD

Road work on the Jefferson Davis highway between Fulton and Union City is progressing nicely. The bridge work is practically completed and the grading from the Union City end has reached the forty-foot bridge beyond John Owen's place, which is about four or five miles south of Fulton. With favorable weather conditions, the grading should be completed within ninety days and the road open for traffic between Fulton and Union City. The new highway is practically straight and shortens the mileage of travel between the two cities about four or five miles.

We hear much favorable comment on the bridge work, of which Wm. Hill & Sons, of Fulton, were contractors.

We understand that as soon as the road is completed a bus line will be established. Within the next twelve months we may expect to have a hard surface road direct to Memphis. Work is being rapidly pushed all along the line and many miles have been completed and opened for traffic.

Woman's Club

Open Session Largely Attended Friday, October 1.

After summer vacation, the Woman's Club held their initial meeting of the 1926-27 club year Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Main street, with Mrs. J. E. Fall, president, in the chair.

After the reading and adoption of minutes of the previous meeting by Mrs. Jake Huddleston, secretary, reports were heard from the treasurer and various departments of the club.

The year books, containing programs of various departments, were distributed among the members and elicited much praise and favorable comment for the committee in charge of arrangements. It was a pleasing innovation for the members to find all of the programs of the various departments assembled in the book.

The date for the Library drive has been announced for October 21. The goal this year will only be $500.00.

The following members were elected to go as delegates to the district convention in Princeton, October 26, Mesdames Claude Freeman, Jake Huddleston, Don Taylor, Carl Hastings, Ramsey Snow. The alternates were Mesdames Gus Bard, L. O. Bradford, R. M. Alford, Chas. Payne, R. M. Redfern.

Following the business session Mrs. Fall presented the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. J. E. Warren, district governor, of Mayfield. Mrs. Warren has a pleasing personality, is a charming speaker and held her audience spell bound while she talked on "What the Woman's Club means to me."

The musical numbers of the program were given by Mrs. R. S. Williams, who sang, "Song of the Open," by La Forge, and "My Lover is a Fisherman," by Strickland. Mrs. Gus Bard, accompanist.

The hostess duties of the afternoon were cared for by Mesdames R. M. Alford and Miss Taylor. Pages were Misses Hattie Mai Godfrey, and Dorothy Granberry.

Baskets of Zinnias and Scarlet Sage were attractively used in decorating.

Delicious iced frappe was served by Mesdames J. W. Shepperd and Claude Freeman.

Practically the entire membership was present to greet Mrs. Warren, the guest of honor, and attend the opening session of the new club year.

Music Department

Miss Blanch Waggener was hostess to the Music department of the Woman's Club at her apartments on Third street Wednesday afternoon. Miss Waggener, the new chairman, presiding.

In the election of officers, Miss Ruth Fields, was unanimously elected vice-chairman; Miss Zuline Alexander, sec'y and treas.; Mrs. Guy Gingles, historian.

After the business session the members answered roll call with musical current events.

Miss Maude Morris was leader for an interesting miscellaneous program.

Miss Nell Spradlin sang "Thank God for a Garden," Del Riego. Miss Huddleston (a) Gavotte in E, Saint Saens. (b) "Mountain King," Grieg.

Lesson for October 10

THE REPORT OF THE SPIES

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 13:17-14:46.
 GOLDEN TEXT—We are well able to overcome it.
 PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Brave Spies.
 JUNIOR TOPIC—Two Against Ten.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Brave and the Cowardly Scouts.
 YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Courage of Faith.

I. The Spies Sent Out (13:17-20).
 Less than two years have passed since the Israelites were delivered from Egyptian bondage. They are now at Kadesh-Barnea within sight of the promised land. Moses urged them to go in and take immediate possession (Deut. 1:21).

The record in Deuteronomy 1:19-25 shows that God did not take the initiative in sending out the spies, but that the people because of lack of faith made the request. There was a threefold purpose in sending out the spies.

1. To see whether the land was as God had told them (v. 18).

2. To see whether the people who dwelt there were strong or weak, few or many (v. 18).

3. And to see whether the cities were made up of strongholds or of tents (v. 19).

II. The Commission Executed (13:21-25).

They entered the land from the south and traversed it to its northern limits. On their return from the north they gathered some specimens of the fruit of the land.

III. The Spies Rendered a Report (13:26-33).

1. The majority report (vv. 26-29).
 (1) The land floweth with milk and honey (v. 27).

As a proof of it they displayed the fruit.

(2) The people who live there are strong (v. 28).

(3) The people lived in walled cities (v. 28).

(4) The land is inhabited by giants (v. 28, cf. 33).

In comparison with the inhabitants of the land they saw themselves as grasshoppers. Furthermore, they saw the people so distributed—the Amalekites in the south country, the Hittites, Jebusites and Amorites in the mountains, and the Canaanites along the seacoast—that it was impossible to conquer them.

2. The minority report (vv. 34-35).

In part this report agreed with the first. It did not ignore the difficulties, nor dispute the facts, but it did deny the conclusion of the majority. They did not minimize the task before them, but asserted with God's help that they were well able to get possession of the land, and urged immediate action.

IV. The Rebellion of the People (14:1-45).

This rebellion began by crying (vv. 1-3). They lifted up their voices and cried, and the people wept that night. They even wished that they had died in the wilderness or in Egypt. God took them back to wander in the wilderness for thirty-eight years.

2. Proposition to return to Egypt (vv. 4-10).

Their crying was followed by a proposal to organize for the return to Egypt. They purposed to select a captain as their leader. Joshua and Caleb protested against this, which so exasperated the people that they were about to stone them. At this point God interposed in their behalf.

3. God's wrath upon the people (vv. 11-12).

Because of their unbelief He proposed to smite them with pestilence and to disinherit them, supplanting them with a nation mightier than they.

4. Moses' intercession in behalf of the people (vv. 13-19).

Moses plead with God against this judgment because the Egyptians would hear of it and blaspheme and this they would pass on to the other nations, saying that God was not able to bring them into the land.

5. The Lord's response to Moses' plea (v. 20-39).

He assured Moses that He had granted pardon according to his intercession, but told him that although He would bring them into the land according to His promise, yet with the exception of Joshua and Caleb the men of that generation should be barred.

6. The presumption of the people (vv. 40-45).

Having in unbelief refused to go up at the command of Moses, now in presumption they go. Moses advised them against such presumption, saying, "The Lord will not be with you."

LOYALTY

Loyalty has been the theme of poets and fictionists for years. It is a priceless human trait, sometimes demonstrated more forcibly by dumb animals. Few people appreciate the value of loyalty in living a well rounded life. Loyalty to home, job and country are essential if a man is a good citizen. Without this attribute, he has few friends and is a traitor to himself.

It goes without saying that community loyalty is of equal importance with loyalty to country, though it does not call for the same type of sacrifice that is sometime demanded of those who are loyal to their native or adopted land.

But loyalty to community does call for some sacrifice. It demands that we remain true to the place where we live even in the face of adverse criticism.

Loyalty for home means support of home projects and all institutions which belong to our community. It means standing by them even though it costs something. Any community that is worth living in deserves the loyalty of every citizen.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The club woman's greatest source of inspiration is her knowledge of its helpfulness to the community, state and nation, and her enthusiasm increases as she becomes more and more familiar with its activities and its endeavors.

The Woman's Club of Fulton, was organized in 1921; federated 1923. During these years its members have held aloft as a beacon light to guide them, the following collect:

"Keep us, O God, from pettiness; let us be large in thought, in word, in deed.

"Let us be done with fault-finding, and leave off self-seeking.

"May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face without self pity and without prejudice.

"May we be never hasty in judgment and always generous.

"Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid.

"Let us take time for all things; make us grow calm, serene, gentle.

"Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things of life we are as one.

"And may we strive to touch and to know the great common heart of us all, and, O God, let us not forget to be kind." — Mary Stewart.

No wonder woman's club work has continued to grow with its benignant influence felt in every nook and corner of Fulton.

The community owes much to the progressive spirit and civic pride exhibited by the organization composed of nearly two hundred of our loyal women.

The object of the Woman's Club shall be to stimulate intellectual development, to encourage and cooperate in any movement to better human conditions. For this accomplishment of these objects, the work is divided into the following departments: Health, community service, music, literature, art, home economics, and such other departments as the interests of the club shall require.

SPENDING MONEY WISELY

Every family of your acquaintance spends about seventy per cent of its income just for living, according to economic experts.

Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertising columns of her newspaper. There she finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants. She compares values. She weighs quality and price. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost anything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse, instruct and generally bring up her family.

Do you read the advertisements? You will find them willing and able to serve you in the regular business of purchase.

Advertisements Are Guardians of Your Pocketbook. Read Them Carefully.

WE HAVE WITH US

The sun has started its journey back towards the south pole and fall has been officially ushered in. The day of change seemed little different from the day after except the sun goes to bed a little earlier and gets up a little later than it did the day before.

If we have not already discovered it, we know that fall is here. We see it in the leaves, the grass and the withered garden, and we feel it out of doors. In the morning the air is crisp and has a tang that makes the blood course more vigorously through our veins.

Some call fall the melancholy days. To others it is welcomed as a relief from the heat and attending discomforts. At best it is a change and most every human being enjoys variety these days.

To the youthful both in years and spirit, fall means football and the invigorating sports of winter. The man whose thoughts center about his home, rejoices in fall because it means release from cutting the grass and tending the garden, pleasant as these tasks may seem when spring comes. But his joy is short, for when autumn hits its stride, he discovers that he has dropped the hoe, and rake and lawnmower to take up the coal shovel, the poker and the ash can.

Every season has its compensations and the autumn season may be made as enjoyable as any throughout the year. It gives longer evenings at home, more time for reflection, more time for reading and better opportunities to get acquainted with the family.

Enjoyment of the season is largely a matter of mental attitude. If we think of the pleasant things that fall ushers in—the comfort of well heated rooms and invigorating effect of cooler weather—and put in the background the unpleasant things, we will welcome the change of seasons with great anticipation.

Every season has advantages—its enjoyable attributes, and as for the disagreeable weather we should think with the poet—It hasn't no use to grumble and complain:

When God sorts out the weather and sends rain, W'y rain's my choice.

FARM BULLETIN VALUABLE PUBLICATION FOR FARMERS

The Kentucky State Department of Agriculture's State Marketing Bulletin is undoubtedly one of the best farm publications reaching the farmers of the state, as it contains advice on almost every problem that the farmer is likely to meet.

The number for October first, contains several articles on chicken raising and fall orchard planting, besides several pages of advertisements of stock, of all sorts for sale and trade. This department of the Bulletin offers an opportunity for farmers to advertise their wares free of cost, and is the means of making many sales, which otherwise might not be made.

The Bulletin appears twice monthly and the advertisements are published free so that any one may take advantage of the advertising facilities at any time, and in most cases find either a purchaser or a seller of the things desired.

The office of publication is located at 1100 Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky, and the office for submitting advertisements is the State Department of Agriculture, Marketing Bureau, Frankfort, Kentucky.

IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

STOP SMALL LEAKS IN PIPES AND TANKS

A—How the Toggle Bolt is Used; B—Outside of the Toggle Bolt; C—A Toggle Bolt for Repairing a Boiler.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A small leak in a water pipe can be stopped in emergency as follows, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, in Farmers' Bulletin 1499, "Simple Plumbing Repairs in the Home." Place a flat rubber or leather gasket over the leak and hammer a stiff piece of metal, such as a picture hook, to fit over the gasket; secure both to the pipe with a vise or clamp obtainable at hardware or five and ten-cent stores. A small leak under low pressure is sometimes stopped by embedding the pipe in richly mixed portland cement mortar. It is necessary to shut off the water from the pipe and build a boxing around it to hold the soft mortar closely against the pipe. Broken sewer pipe can be repaired in like manner. A wrapping of wire netting embedded in the mortar increases its tensile strength. A small hole in cast-iron pipe may be tapped with a screw plug.

Leaky Screw Joint.

Where a leaky screw joint cannot be tightened with a pipe wrench, the leak is sometimes stopped by a blunt chisel or caulking tool and hammer. Sometimes a crack or hole is cleaned out and then plugged and caulked with lead, tinfoil, or a commercial iron cement to the consistency of putty. Sometimes a pipe band with two bolts, or a split sleeve is employed to hold a thin coating of iron cement or a gasket over a leak. If the leak is at a screw joint, the band is usually coated inside with one-eighth inch of iron cement and then slipped over the pipe. Keeping the bolt farthest from the coupling or fitting a little tighter than the other, both bolts are tightened. During the tightening the band should be driven with a hammer snugly against the coupling or fitting.

In addition to these methods and devices, there are several kinds of good, inexpensive, ready-made pipe

Use of Pectin in Making Jellies Not Understood

The use of pectin in making jellies is not always understood. Pectin, sugar, and acid in the right proportions are necessary in making jelly. Adding pectin to the fruit juice may be helpful for several reasons. Delicious jelly can thus be made from the juice of peaches, cherries, straw berries, and other fruits that do not naturally contain enough pectin. Also the housekeeper can be more sure of success and of a jelly of just the right texture. Color and flavor, too, can sometimes be improved because the juice need not be boiled so long in order to reach the proper degree of concentration. The process is therefore, shortened and the housekeeper relieved from some of the hottest and most tedious part of jelly making by the right use of pectin extracts.

Pectin extracts should, however, be used only in relatively small quantities with rich full-flavored fruit juice to supply the lack of natural pectin. When pectin is added to watered juice to conceal their poor quality, the jelly has low food value and flavor.

Strawberry Sauce

A few strawberries can be made to go a long way by making a sauce as follows: Make a hard sauce from one-third cupful of butter, one cupful of powdered sugar, and the stiffly beaten white of an egg. Crush two-thirds of a cupful of fresh strawberries and heat gradually into the hard sauce. This may be slightly warmed over hot water. The acidity of the berries may cause the sauce to separate somewhat, but this does not affect the flavor.

Vitamines and Minerals

Oranges are a rich source of vitamins and minerals. Children need a constant and abundant supply of these things in their food to help them grow and develop normally. Oranges also have the advantage that they can be given between meals without spoiling the appetite for other foods at the regular meal times. In fact they seem to sharpen rather than dull the appetite.

Buy Milk in Bottles

The best way of buying milk is in bottles. In this form it can be kept clean, and cool more easily during delivery and is much more convenient to handle. Dipping milk from large cans and pouring it into customer's receptacles on the street exposes it to dust and is bad practice.

and joint repairers obtainable of manufacturers and dealers.

Leaky Spot in Tank.

A corroded and leaky spot in a steel tank or range boiler can be closed with an inexpensive repair bolt or plug obtainable from dealers. The picture shows a homemade repairer consisting of a three-sixteenths by three-inch toggle bolt costing ten cents and a flat rubber gasket, brass washer and nut. The link of the bolt, after being passed through the hole, takes an upright position, and screwing up the nut forces the gasket tightly against the outside of the boiler. A small hole must be reamed or enlarged with a round file to a diameter about five-eighths inch. The metal beneath the gasket should be firm and clean. A little candle wick packing may be wrapped around the bolt to prevent leakage along the bolt. Sometimes a hole is closed by driving in a tapered steel pin to turn the metal inward, forming a surface which can be tapped for an ordinary screw plug. A hole in the wall of a tank or pipe having considerable thickness can be easily and quickly closed by screwing in a tapered steel tap-plug which cuts and threads its way through the wall. These plugs in different sizes are obtainable of dealers, and a monkey wrench is the only tool required to insert them; it is unnecessary to shut off or drain the water from the tank or pipe.

A small leak at a seam or rivet can often be closed by merely rubbing a cold chisel along the beveled edge of the joint. Do not attempt to caulk a seam unless the plates have considerable thickness and the rivets are closely spaced and are close to the caulked edge, and then use extreme caution. Run a regular caulking tool or blunt chisel along the beveled edge; tapping the tool very lightly with a light hammer, force the edge of the upper plate against and into the lower plate.

FRESH ASPARAGUS BEST FOR CANNING

"Hot-Pack" Method Favored for Vegetables.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If you have an abundance of tender, fresh asparagus in the garden you will undoubtedly want to can some of it for later use. As the asparagus ought to be canned as quickly as possible after it has been cut, plan to do a little of this work frequently, rather than to attempt a large amount of canning at any one time. Use the pressure canner, and the "hot-pack" method, which is recommended for all vegetables and many fruits by the United States Department of Agriculture. The point about the "hot-pack" method is that the material to be canned is heated to the boiling point or cooked a short time before being put into the can or jars, so that in the shortest possible time the temperature of the whole jar is raised to the required point. This results in more certain sterilization and a better product because of the shorter cooking.

Asparagus may be canned whole, or cut up in half-inch lengths. In the former case it is tied in uniform bundles, cut to fit into the container to be used, and placed in a saucepan with boiling water over the lower portion. The saucepan is covered tightly and boiled 4 or 5 minutes, then the asparagus is packed rapidly into the containers. In the latter case the cut asparagus is brought to boil in water to cover, and then packed in jars or tins. The containers are completely filled up with boiling water, and each jar is salted in the proportion of 1 teaspoonful of salt to each quart canned.

The jars or cans are put into the hot canner as soon as they are filled and processed for 40 minutes at 10 pounds pressure, or 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Glass jars should have the springs and rubbers adjusted halfway, or screw tops placed on loosely. Tin cans are completely sealed before being placed in the canner. After processing for the required length of time, remove the containers from the canner. Seal glass jars at once. Place them out of drafts. Cool tin cans by plunging them in cold water. Keep all canned products under observation at room temperatures for at least a week. Discard any showing signs of spoilage and watch others of the same lot until it is certain that they are keeping.

Recommend Alfalfa and Corn for Work Horses

During the last two years the Michigan Agricultural college has tested eight work teams on rations of corn and alfalfa on the one hand and corn, oats and timothy on the other. The horses weighed from 1,500 to 1,920 pounds and were three to fifteen years old. They did heavy farm work and teaming. The results show that horses may be fed corn and alfalfa even during hot summer months when they are cultivating corn and harvesting, and that they will do just as well and maintain health and vigor on corn and alfalfa as on a ration of corn, oats and timothy.

The alfalfa-fed horses on an average worked 236 days out of 300, and the timothy-fed horses worked 232 days. The alfalfa-fed horses made an average gain of 21 pounds each for the year, while those fed timothy lost an average of 17 pounds a head for the year. The average consumption for the alfalfa teams was 12.2 pounds of corn and 18 pounds of alfalfa hay daily, while the timothy horses ate 8 pounds of corn, 4.2 pounds of oats and 19.5 pounds of timothy hay daily. The feed cost was 31 cents a day for the alfalfa group and 37 cents a day for the timothy group, with timothy varying from $10 to $18 a ton and alfalfa from $10 to $23 a ton.

It is pointed out that the ration of 12.2 pounds of corn and 18 pounds of alfalfa hay for a 1,600-pound horse makes a feed higher in protein than necessary and lacking in dry matter. The substitution of oat straw in part for some of the alfalfa hay is advised.

The New ALLEN'S PARLOR FURNACE

ALLEN was first to successfully apply the scientific principle of heating by circulated warm air to "above-the-floor" furnaces. With this new type of heater, from 4 to 5 adjoining rooms are made comfortable by the natural circulation of the moist, warm air. The New ALLEN'S Parlor Furnace burns wood or coal. The fire-bowl is amply large enough for burning standard cut cordwood.

In the New ALLEN'S Parlor Furnace an exclusive design and construction has been developed. It is so beautiful that it harmonizes with the very latest furniture. The natural walnut effect is mechanically reproduced in porcelain, enamel finish.

LARGE CROP OF NUTS

Farmers report large crops of hickory nuts, pecans and walnuts this fall and there surely should be a good market for them in the cities, and it would seem to be the wise thing for the farmers to scan closely their farm papers for advertisements calling for deliveries to merchants who deal in these toothsome winter delicacies.

If one has ever lived in a city and priced these articles, he must have been impressed with the idea that they were very scarce, as the price is always almost breath-taking, particularly when one remembers his youth and the ease with which a winter's supply was procured.

Nuts are a by-product of the farm that should be utilized, and there is always a way to make a little time for the gathering of this crop, and a few cents spent on letters will undoubtedly provide a market that will be worth while, and once obtained, it will be an annual means of procuring some additional cash at a time when it is most acceptable.

Dr. Boyd began his campaign last Sunday. This plan of preaching and work will be continued this fall and during the winter, and Dr. Boyd may be assisted later by some of the church clergy later.

Clara Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, who has been suffering from neuralgia in the head for some time past, had a tooth extracted last Thursday which caused a hemorrhage that lasted all Thursday night, and was so severe that a doctor had to be called.
