Good Meeting Tuesday Night

Matters of Importance Discussed
By Chamber of Commerce Members

Considerable constructive work was done Tuesday night at the October meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, and plans laid that are hoped to place Fulton well to the front as a live city.

Joe Davis reported on the work done at the recent meeting of the committee appointed at the last meeting to induce Weakley County to vote road bonds, and while progress is slow, there seems to still be some hope that the way will be found to at least get the Mississippi Valley Highway built through that county.

President Kramer announced that the Board of Directors had perfected plans whereby a trained manager for the Chamber was to be procured and sufficient funds raised through a budget to properly finance the work for the coming year and a live campaign put on to procure more business for Fulton by bringing here some industrial plants that will give employment to many people and help to fill, not only the vacant houses, but compel the building of more. He announced the resignation of Mr. Stansbury and stated that there had been several applications for the position of manager but as yet no selection had been made.

Squire Hagler announced that the L. C. Railway had offered a number of cars of gravel, and that unless some objection was made, this gravel would be put on the State Line from Creedle's crossing to Boaz Chapel and a committee composed of J. A. Colley, R. H. Wade, Cirk Muzzall and Geo. Smith to obtain volunteers to haul the material onto the road.

A number of fine talks were made about the pressing need of procuring more industrial enterprises to furnish employment for the inhabitants of Fulton and vicinity, and the Board of Directors was authorized to proceed with the plans it had outlined to procure as soon as possible, a thoroughly competent manager and arrange for financing the contemplated campaign.

Numerous members announced their willingness to contribute generously to any plan that would seem to guarantee the desired results, and the board will undoubtedly immediately push the matter to a close and get the proper man onto the job as soon as possible.

In the discussion as to what is the matter with Fulton, there were about as many brick-bats as bouquets thrown, and some of the former were bull's eyes, but the members took them "standing up" and no one seemed to feel sore at the speakers.

Some of the biggest brick-bats were thrown at the Fulton business men who do not attend the meetings or are not even members, but who spend a large part of their time criticizing the action of the Chamber and its active members but never, in any way, help to make matters better. It was explained that by business men was not meant the merchants, but large property owners and moneyed men who never contributed a cent to any cause for the betterment of Fulton, but who, by every idea of public spirit, should be willing to do their fair share of the work and financing.

If the spirit engendered at the meeting only lasts, Fulton will soon have a live Chamber of Commerce.

Closing Out Sale.

Don't fail to read the page in this issue announcing the W. P. Felts Hardware Co. closing out sale. A wonderful bargain event.

Library Drive Opens October 21

Woman's Club Will Ask for Only $500 This Year

The Woman's Club library which has operated for several years in Fulton with its reading citizenship as beneficiaries in general and school students in particular, is much in need of funds to continue the good work. Therefore the club has set Thursday, October 21, as the opening of a drive to procure $500, and citizens who are interested in seeing the library kept up to a high standard will be asked to contribute as liberally as they can. There is no demand that stipulated amounts be given, but it is a well known fact that all should subscribe something.

Many new volumes have been added to the Woman's Club library the past year. There are 1,600 books in the cases now and the library is open to the public on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 2 to 5 p. m. each week with a librarian in charge. We are informed that 700 or 800 books are read monthly by patrons of this library. Many high school students will bear attest to the tremendous value of the Woman's Club Library whose reference books are a fine adjunct to them in their pursuit of an education.

Fulton should manifest a keen pride in the Woman's Club Library. It is performing a wonderful service for those students who enter its portals in search of the great truths of history, science and literature.

Let us do our part in keeping this library right up to the standard. Very few of us can leave anything of intrinsic value when we pass out of this life, but all of us can help make the world just a little bit better and bring the next generation more closely in touch with the eternal varieties by contributing our part towards maintaining just such institutions as the Woman's Club Library.

CITY SCHOOL TAX REDUCED

Without Lowering the High Standard of Educational Institutions

One of the most important duties of the electors of Fulton at the coming election will be to select three members for the City School Board, and every voter should give this subject careful consideration, as this board is the body which handles the finances of the City School, and the best men possible should be elected to these offices.

While considering this fact it should not be forgotten that the present board found means to reduce the tax from $1.50 to $1.30, a reduction of twenty cents, and seemingly with no detriment to the interest of the scholars, but a most decided and welcome reduction to the taxpayer.

It should also be remembered that this reduction was made at a time when other taxes were steadily being raised in nearly every other branch of the city, county and state.

This office carries no remuneration of any sort and is one of the most thankless offices, but as a rule, it has been possible to induce men of public spirit and interest in education to accept, and as there are several names now registered for the places, the public should have no real difficulty in making a selection, but care must be taken to see that the very best man for the place is selected and then every voter should work and vote for that

Indian Summer

It is easy enough to raise taxes, but tell us, if you please, when you ever had your taxes lowered before. The present administration did it.

The citizens of Fulton today can point with pride to its city schools, efficiency is reflected on every side, and from every angle that you may view it, the wheels of progress is manifested.

A fair crowd was out at the City Hall Wednesday night to hear Mrs. William Mason, of Murray, Republican candidate for Congress. Mrs. Mason is a woman of pleasing personality and a fluent speaker. She graciously presented her claims with the same vigor as an old time politician, excepting the usual abuse which features so many political addresses.

BELOVED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Thursday morning, October 7, the death angel entered the Roberts' home on Pearl street and carried away the spirit of Mrs. Laura Elizabeth Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts was a native of Calloway county; born March 25, 1861, near Murray, Ky. Some 30 years ago, she and her husband, Michael Roberts, came to Fulton county and located in the Mt. Carmel neighborhood near Fulton.

Mr. Roberts passed away some 27 years ago. Early in life Mrs. Roberts professed faith and united with the Baptist church, living a consecrated Christian life until the end. She was loved by a wide circle of friends who will cherish her memory for years to come.

Funeral services were held at the home on Pearl street Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Ernest, pastor of Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, of which the deceased was a member. Interment followed at Palestine cemetery.

Surviving are five children, four sons: F. E., H. P., Homer and Geo. C. Roberts, of Fulton; one daughter, Mrs. H. C. Henry, of New Orleans. All were at the bedside of their mother when the end came.

High School Notes

Setting all football dope to the side the Fulton high school team played a magnificent game Friday, holding the Farmington aggregation to a tie. The victory of the Farmington lads over Paducah the week before was considered strong evidence in support of the theory that Fulton should be an easy mark. This, together with the fact that one of the best players on the local eleven was out because of injuries received in practice, made things look bad for the Bull Dogs. However, from the blowing of the first whistle till the end of the game, Coach Hughes' blue and white line held like granite and was aided and supported by the splendid work of the backfield. The final score stood 7 to 7.

The student body was favored last Wednesday by a musical program rendered by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bard. Mrs. Williams sang two songs with her usual skill and interpretation. Mrs. Bard rendered excellent music on the piano.

The librarians, under the direction of Miss Royster, have been busy this week classifying and arranging the library books. We now have a presentable library which has been placed on the rostrum in the study hall. More books will be added shortly.

On Tuesday of this week, Rev. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered the first lecture of the series which he will give this year on the subject of famous men of the Old Testament. The subject of his first address was "Abraham," and the force and power of his interpretation of this great man of the old times had a profound influence on his listeners. Our own ideals should be refined and uplifted by a study of the great characters of history. "Lives of great men all remind us; we can make our own sublime."

Faculty members are busy this week filling out their reports to the accrediting committee of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools. Fulton High School now ranks as an AA school which is the highest ranking that any school can have in the high schools of the Southern Association. This means that students graduating from Fulton High School can enter any college or university in the southern states (and in the north as well, except certain schools which require certain entrance examinations of all.) Provided, of course, that the students take courses and subjects here that are specified for college entrance.

Chapel singing is moving along nicely under the direction of Miss Bell, the supervisor of music.

The gift to the school recently of the Encyclopedia Britannica now gives the school a rather complete line of reference works. We now have the following encyclopedias: Americana, International, Students' Reference Work, the World Book, and the Britannica.

The American History class has been doing some very interesting study and investigation recently relative to the rise and development of political parties in this country and have at last decided that the following represents the course of development:

Federalists, Anti-Federalists, National Republicans, Republicans, Whigs, Democrats, Republicans.

Lesson for October 17

MOSES HONORED IN HIS DEATH

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 34:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses Sees the Promised Land.

FUNCTIONAL TOPIC—The Death of Moses.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Lessons from the Life of Moses.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the World Owes Moses.

I. Moses Views the Promised Land From Mount Pisgah (vv. 1-4).

At the Lord's bidding Moses ascended the mountain from which he got his view of the promised land. He obeyed, though he knew that he was to die there (Deut. 32:50). He greatly desired to go into the land (Deut. 3:2) but graciously submitted to the will of the Lord. Though he was not permitted to enter the land, God gave him a view in its fullest dimensions of a land which was to be the inheritance of the people which he had delivered and led for forty years. The reward given by the Lord for refusing an entrance into the land was Moses' faithfulness to smeltify the Lord at Meribah (Deut. 32:51, cf. Num. 20: 1-13). This was too glaring a sin for the Lord to pass over, though Moses had served Him faithfully for many years.

II. The Death and Burial of Moses (vv. 5-9).

1. His death (v. 5).
Though he died in the vigor of his life, his work was done. He did not die before his time. God put him to rest for a purpose, and as soon as that work was done He called him home. Though Moses was a great man he was not exempt from death.

2. The burial of Moses (v. 6).

God buried him. Most likely this service was performed by the angels. Likely this is the time and circumstance when the devil contended with Michael, the archangel, over the body of Moses (Jude 9).

3. The time of mourning for Moses (v. 8).

They mourned for thirty days. It is not wrong to lay away earthly friends even with tears, but as Christians we should not mourn as those who have no hope. Indeed, it is much better to express our appreciation and love for our friends by showing the proper courtesy and respect while they are alive, than to mourn over them when they are dead.

III. The Successor of Moses (vv. 9-10).

Joshua, who had been the minister of Moses during all the years of the wilderness journey, now became the military leader of the Israelites. That Joshua was a fit man as a leader of the Israelites is seen.

1. By the fact that he was full of the spirit of wisdom.

While the Lord is not dependent upon human wisdom, He does select as His representatives men whom He has endowed with the proper wisdom.

2. He was divinely ordained for the work at the hand of Moses, "for Moses had laid his hands upon him."

This he had done at the command of God (Num. 27:18-21).

3. The people owned him as their leader. "The children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the Lord commanded Moses."

In order for successful leadership a ruler must have the individual affection and allegiance of the people.

IV. Encomium Upon Moses (vv. 10-12).

In this eulogy Moses is given a place at the head of the Old Testament prophets. With the exception of the Greater Prophet (Deut. 18:15-18), of whom Moses was a type, he stands as the greatest prophet of Israel.

1. He was great because of his intimacy with God (v. 10), "whom the Lord knew face to face."

2. He was great in that he gave to the world a code of laws unequalled in the world's history.

3. He was great as a general in that he liberated the Israelitish nation from the oppression of the greatest nation of the earth.

4. He was great because he led two or three million Israelites through the desert for forty years.

5. He was great because he gave to us in the book of Deuteronomy three orations which, according to the judgment of competent critics, stand at the head of the world's literature.

VETERANS TURN GUNS ON ERNST

"No Friend of Soldier," Says Veteran Who Handles Claims of Thousands of Disabled Ex-Service Men.

Louisville, Ky.—Additional work for the state Republican organization which seeks to accomplish the re-election of Richard P. Ernst as U. S. Senator has appeared on the surface of the campaign stream which, so far as the G. O. P. is concerned, has been anything but placid since the senatorial fight opened. This time the criticism comes from former service men.

The ink had hardly dried on the printed version of Senator Ernst's opening speech at Ashland, Ky., on September 25, when exception was taken to Senator Ernst's reference to government aid extended to ex-service men and the propriety of his addressing former soldiers as "my dear veterans." The spokesman for the soldiers was Col. James D. Sory, secretary of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, who denounced Ernst's votes in the Senate on veteran legislation and stated that veterans would not be deceived by the Senator's "political palaver" and that "they are measuring him now for the deep political gray into which he will be dropped on November 2."

Col. Sory, whose home is at Madisonville, Ky., has handled thousands of claims for compensation of Kentuckians who served in the World War and he is one of the best known veterans' organization executives in the state.

Col. Sory's Statement.

Col. Sory's statement, as it appeared in the public press, follows:

In his opening address at Ashland on Wednesday Senator Ernst in referring to former service men addressed them as "my dear veterans" and apparently, in stating benefits extended them by the Government sought to leave the impression that he, personally, had voted in their behalf. The contrary fact is true.

"On two occasions he betrayed his disregard of veterans interests when he voted against the Bursum Bill in crossing the pensions of widows of the War Between the States and the Spanish-American War. The Bursum Bill was defeated by one vote and that vote was furnished by Edward P. Ernst of Kentucky.

"The Bonus (adjusted compensation) Bill became a law in spite of Senator Ernst's vote.

"On both of these measures he voted against veterans—first on the original passage of the bills and later when they were placed on their passage to override the President's veto.

"He would have us believe that he supported and voted for the amendment to the World War Veterans Act which was passed in the closing hours of the last session of Congress. This measure was of vital importance to all disabled veterans and its passage was unanimously urged by all veteran organizations. In order that veterans, disabled by arrested tuberculosis, would not continue to be forced back to the farm, the mines or other hard manual labor which their physical condition would not permit without their disability being aggravated. This change was necessary because the law did not provide relief for this character of case.

Opposed in Committee.

"This bill also provided that veterans suffering with service connected disabilities might restate their lapses of Government Insurance without being required to pay all back premiums, if financially unable to do so.

"When this measure was introduced in the Senate it was referred to a subcommittee of five Senators of the Finance Committee. Senator Ernst, a member of the Finance Committee, was also a member of the subcommittee. Two of the members of this subcommittee are definitely known to have been friendly to the proposed amendments and the necessary appropriation. Senator Ernst's support and vote would have made a favorable committee report possible, but Senator Ernst's committee disapproved the appropriation necessary to provide relief for veterans suffering with tuberculosis incurred during the World War, and also eliminated the provision authorizing disabled veterans to restate their insurance.

"When the report of this committee was considered by the Senate it was overwhelmingly repudiated. The bill as reported amended from the floor by the necessary appropriation being authorized and the provision for the reinstatement of insurance being included in the law. Senator Ernst was not only opposed to the measure in the committee but is officially recorded against it when the vote was finally taken on the passage of the bill, although it was vitally important to the disabled veterans of Kentucky and their dependents. Yet, in referring to this law in his Ashland address, Senator Ernst stated that the benefits authorized by it were 'done gladly for you because you deserve it.'

Veterans Not Deceived.

"Veterans of our wars will not be deceived by such political palaver as fell from the lips of Kentucky's senior Senator at Ashland. Ex-service men have Mr. Ernst's number. They are measuring him now for the deep political grave into which he will be dropped on November 2."

The Democratic State Campaign Committee is now preparing an exhaustive analysis of Senator Ernst's votes on veteran legislation and will recite his vote against the Bursum Bill when that measure came up for passage over the President's veto. The bill lost by a vote of 41-59. The pamphlet will give "That vote was furnished by Senator Ernst." It will state further:

"Thousands of telegrams and letters from veterans' organizations and interested citizens poured in on the Senators during consideration of the bill. Just before the vote was taken this telegram from Johnson City, Tenn., was read to the Senate by Senator Bursum:

"For weeks we, the tuberculous and disabled patients of the Spanish-American War, comprising the membership of the Lieut. H. L. McCorkle Camp No. 2, United Spanish War Veterans, have been expectantly waiting what relief is embodied in Senate Bill 5. Our destitute families are in need; we are unable to provide. Our fondest hopes are shattered by a presidential veto. In the name of humanity and justice, we earnestly and humbly beg that you relentlessly exert every earthly means within your power to secure the necessary number of our friends in the Senate in a final effort to enact this bill into law at the earliest possible period. We are suffering and dying for the want of relief which you can give us.

Lieut. H. L. McCorkle Camp No. 2, United Spanish War Veterans, D. H. McDaniel, Adjutant, J. S. Gray, Commander.

"Senator Ernst's vote was 'No'—the one vote needed to make the measure a law of the land."

This Bursum Bill (Senate 5) also provided for granting, adjusting and increasing pensions of other veterans, widows and dependents, including veterans who served in the Civil War, War with Mexico, Indian wars and the War of 1812.

This is one of the beauty spots of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The view shows the tower of one of the main exhibit buildings rearing its head up from among the gorgeous landscape which artists have built around the giant structures which house exhibits from forty-three nations of the world. The Exposition continues until December 1.

BANKERS HELP

The banks of Linn County Oregon, are showing more enthusiasm than ever this year in behalf of a county corn exhibit similar to that held last year at the Linn County Fair. Last year's exhibit was the result of a contest for a prize offered by a number of local banks. This was so successful that this year ten out of the eleven banks in the county will subscribe to the effort.

The Agricultural Committee of the Alabama Bankers Association has recommended that a scholarship fund be established for the education of worthy young men and women along agricultural and home economics lines. It is estimated that if each bank in the state were to contribute 25 cents per thousand capital, five to six thousand dollars per annum would be realized.

The Agricultural Committee of the Oklahoma Bankers Association, in its report, recommends that the bankers see that a competent agent is appointed in each county and that he has a degree from some agricultural college. They believe that the agricultural possibilities of the state should be better advertised and that each county bankers association should do some work along that line.

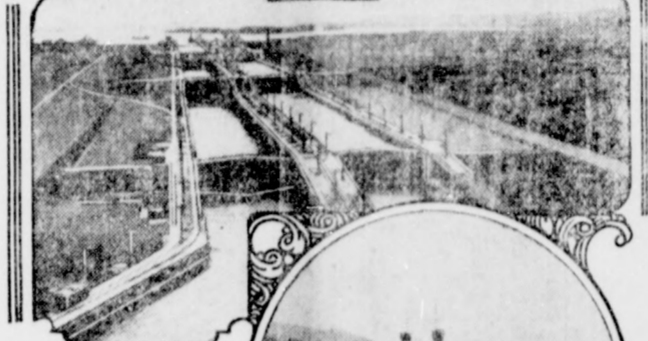

Searcy County Bankers Association, Arkansas, entertained as its guests recently some seventy-five farmers and business men. The result of the organization of the North Central Arkansas Agricultural Association. Its purpose will be to co-ordinate the efforts of the farmers and business men in promoting a better agriculture. Searcy County bankers are doing 100 settlings of purebred eggs of distribution to the boys' and girls' clubs in the county.

H. S. Mowrer, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the New Jersey Bankers Association, together with H. J. Baker, direct of extension work in the College of Agriculture, made a complete tour of the state this spring, calling on the county agents and agricultural committees of the various county organizations to get a definite line-up of the work done and the plans for the coming year. Ways and means for financing the program of the state committee were considered at these conferences.

IR PANAMA CANAL LEADING BRITISH DITCH AT SUEZ IN TRAFFIC TONNAGE

U.S. TRANSPORT "NORTHERN PACIFIC" PASSING THROUGH THE PANAMA CANAL

GATUN LOCKS

Increase of Freight via Panama Route, Largely Due to Oil Shipments, Indicates Rise of United States to Leadership of World's Commerce.

U.S.S. PENNSYLVANIA AT CHAGRES RIVER CROSSING

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER

One of the striking evidences of America's rapid rise toward commercial and industrial leadership of the world, is the Panama Canal, which most certainly will handle more freight in 1926 than will Suez. For several years, the two canals have been in a neck-and-neck competition whose implications are the more interesting because the Panama ditch is owned by the American Government, and that at Suez by the British Government.

Of course both Canals are open to the ships of all nations; and the competition between them is not between the United States and Britain, but in a larger and even more significant view it is competition between old world and new world.

When the Panama Canal was opened in 1915, Suez was already transiting about 25,000,000 tons of freight annually. Almost nobody believed Panama could ever attract anything approaching such a volume. But during the war fear of German submarines in the Mediterranean caused many vessels to take the Panama route between the far east and European or American ports. This gave Panama its introduction and it has not only held but greatly increased its business since the war. In 1923 Panama transited 50,377 vessels against 46,217 for Suez; Panama handled 25,160,000 cargo tons against 22,770,000 for Suez. This was the first year of Panama's lead.

A Close Race

The following year Suez barely exceeded Panama's tonnage; and in 1925 comfortably held its lead. But reports for 1926 to date indicate that Suez is losing, owing to Britain's industrial depression, while Panama is doing better and is pretty certain to rears its lead.

The present Suez Canal has been in operation nearly sixty years, Panama only eleven. Although few people except antiquarians know it, the old canal at Suez was built more than 3,000 years ago. It was in operation as early as B. C. 1350; how long before, is mere conjecture. Before the Christian era began the ditch had been built, destroyed, rebuilt, silted up and built up again, time after time. When Alexander the Great conquered Egypt the Canal was one of the oldest of engineering works.

Between 1904 and 1915 the present Panama Canal was constructed. It cost about $400,000,000, Suez about one-fourth that sum. But Suez is a simple, sea-level ditch across a sandy plain; while Panama is a lock canal, the greater part of its length lying 55 feet above sea level, so that most of the distance from ocean to ocean is through an artificial freshwater lake.

Early Profits Unexpected

When Roosevelt started building at Panama, neither he nor any other prophet of optimism would have dared suggest that within its first decade the Canal would earn a profit. Its chief justification concerned the national defense, and the establishment of competition with the trans-continental railroads.

Although both Canals are open to shipping of all nations, British vessels constitute the majority of those using Suez (55.8 per cent), while American vessels are 54.5 per cent of those using Panama.

For 1924, ships of 21 nations used the Suez route, while 24 nations were represented in the maritime caravan at Panama.

The World War was not the only unexpected factor in bringing Panama so quickly to equality with Suez, nor the most important. The enormous increase in Panama traffic in 1923 was represented almost entirely by petroleum and its products, moving from California to the east coast and Europe. In the year ended June 30, 1924, tolls aggregating $24,250,000 were collected, of which $10,710,000 was from tankers carrying petroleum. As even more striking statement of the matter is that for the same year exactly 56 per cent of all tonnage through the Canal was between the two ocean fronts of the United States; that is, 13,500,000 tons; and of this, considerably over 9,000,000 tons, or more than two-thirds was petroleum. It was of course chiefly from California, en route to eastern refineries. In the succeeding year this petroleum movement fell off heavily; but for 1925 it is again increasing and the increase is likely to continue for many years. But for the petroleum traffic, the Canal would have shown a deficit in every year of its operation.

The enormous petroleum business has been in other ways advantageous to Panama. A constantly increasing proportion of maritime shipping nowadays uses oil fuel. Oil-burning ships seek routes on which they can most cheaply buy oil; and because California oil can be put so cheaply into the bunkers of vessels passing through the Panama ditch, there is a substantial inducement to prefer this route. This will increasingly favor Panama and militate against Suez, as the number of oil burners increases. Moreover, Panama's advantage will still further increase as the enormous oil resources of Venezuela, Colombia, and other South American countries are developed.

Great Service of Panama

If cheap petroleum has thus served Panama so well, Panama in turn has equally served the American motorist, who consumes most of the world's petroleum products. For Panama has brought the Pacific Coast petroleum to the eastern market at costs which, but for the Canal, would be vastly greater. Thus the Canal has given the United States the cheapest petroleum products in the world, and helped build the automobile industry and our modern highway system.

This mutually helpful relationship between the Canal and the petroleum users is the more impressive when one realizes that it was not even remotely anticipated at the time President Roosevelt started building the Canal. So late, indeed, as 1910, when Admiral Evans wrote his articles about the Canal and decided that it could not be profitable for several decades at least, he based all his calculations on the probable cost of coal for bunkering ships. He did not dream that merchant marines were on the verge of the revolutionary change from coal to oil. So he figured that, as there is practically no bunker coal in the countries bordering on the Pacific, that ocean could not compete by way of Panama for a greatly increased share of shipping. The oil development overturned the prophecies of Admiral Evans, and of all others who had foreseen that fuel problems would make Panama unprofitable.

Judge Dorsey Says
 Gregory Is Nominee

Ferguson's Charge of Fraud in August Primary Not Sustained

After hearing the evidence in the Ferguson-Gregory contest cases, and listening attentively to the array of arguments by lawyers on both sides, Special Judge John L. Dorsey, Sr., rendered his decision at Mayfield, Saturday morning, immediately after the convening of court.

Judge Dorsey threw out ten votes cast for Judge Gregory, and 89 cast for Senator Ferguson, a net gain of 79 votes for Judge Gregory, thus making the revised total of the votes cast in the August primary, 9,828 for Gregory and 9,563 for Ferguson, a plurality of 265 votes for Judge Gregory.

The 89 Ferguson votes taken out were scattered over six counties as follows: Caldwell, 25; Calloway 4; Fulton, (Madrid Bend precinct) 14; Marshall, 3; Trigg (all Roaring Springs precinct) 19; Ballard 24.

Judge Dorsey held that Senator Ferguson did not sustain his charges of fraud in the eight Mayfield precincts except in Precinct 2, Ward 1, known as the "hon ton" precinct.

In delivering his decision, Judge Dorsey said that William Voris Gregory received 263 more legal votes in the August, 1926, primary election than was received by the contestant, Garth K. Ferguson and that William Voris Gregory is the nominee of the Democratic party for the First Congressional District of Kentucky to be voted for at the General Election to be held on November 2, 1926. Immediately after Judge Dorsey's decision was rendered, Senator Ferguson appealed the case which was submitted in briefs to the Court of Appeals. A decision is expected within the next ten days.

KENTUCKY CROPS LOST AS BOTTOMS FLOODED

Much Cotton Ruined and Part of Corn Destroyed

Hickman, Ky., Oct. 11.—All upper bottoms above Hickman unprotected by levees are flooded to a depth of several feet and practically every crop in that section is lost. For several days past, farmers have been working hard and fast trying to save their crops or as much of them as possible, much of the time driving and wading in the water gathering the corn. Most of the cotton grown there is unpicked and a total loss and all corn caught by the water is a loss. This is the highest flood ever known in fall. All the fine lowlands west of Hickman are protected by levees but all unprotected sections are well flooded. The worst conditions are in the upper bottoms.

COUNTY AGENT NEEDED

Farmers and business men of Hickman and vicinity have expressed keen interest in a county agent for Fulton county in 1927, according to E. J. Kilpatrick, District Agent in Western Kentucky, who passed through Fulton en route to Bardwell, Thursday.

The plan of organization, financing and employing the agent was explained to eighteen land owners. Seventeen of the eighteen endorsed the plan, while fifteen of the seventeen offered to take a three year membership in the organization in event an extension organization is formed. A committee from Hickman will be appointed at an early date to meet with the Fulton committee, of which A. M. Nugent is chairman, to perfect plans for conducting a membership drive.

Community Building

Beauty Always Within Reach of Small Town

Several Kansas towns are feeling the urge of spring in a new-born desire to be beautiful. In fairness to Kansas it should be said that several Kansas towns are already pleasant to look upon and visit. But there is more to the urge than that, and something the Emporia Gazette said recently on the subject ought to set other towns in other states to thinking about themselves.

"We can be nice, decent, agricultural towns, with each town having some small industry, some specialty in schools or local development like oil or coal and the products of the soil. But big plants—no! We are doomed by our geography to be small towns. Then why not be beautiful towns? Why not get the best out of our towns, and our lives? Why not apple blossoms in Arkansas City, roses in Eldorado, canons in Fredonia, rebudins in Emporia? Surely if Japan can grow famous over the world for beauty of its cherry blossoms, we can make something out of the beauty that lies in our hands."

There is more to being a popular and thriving town than having the largest population or the biggest manufacturing plants or the most money. And the sooner a lot of small towns all over the country realize this, the sooner they will begin to create charm and distinction for themselves.

Even the towns that are already beautiful have something to do in maintaining their high standard. And the others should start right in making the most out of the beauty that lies in their hands.—Kokomo (Ind.) Dispatch.

Distinction Given to Grounds by Shrubbery

Shrubbery about a dwelling is of equal, if not greater, importance than trees. For, while trees give shade and add to the general attractiveness of a place, shrubbery "ties the house to the ground," as it has been expressed; outlines boundaries and provides that seclusion now considered both desirable and necessary.

In small cities and suburban towns, where the custom often prevails of having the front yards in a block like one big lawn, it might break the general scheme to put in a front hedge, but shrubbery should be so massed in foundation planting as to single out that house as beautiful beyond all the others left unplanted, regardless of size or cost. And, where the back yards also have been thrown into one, or separated by almost invisible wire fences, that shrubbery following the house foundation could be carried around to the rear and extended onto the lawn far enough to make a secluded outdoor room.

Smaller shrubs, with a few of the smaller trees, might be used in executing this idea without interfering with the whole block scheme, but beautifying the whole as seen from a distance.

Plant for Permanence

Above all things I would urge that permanent planting, like trees and shrubs and vines, be used. They are the backbone of any gardening, anywhere, and old-fashioned plants are always happy looking.

Even people who rent a house should feel enough interest in making the city itself beautiful to plant one tree or shrub or vine each season. It costs so little and they could get such fun out of only one year of watching it grow and if they waited longer than a year they would find that nothing gives you such a feeling of home as watching something you have planted grow each year into greater beauty.—Chicago Post.

City's Growth

George B. Ford, speaking to 2,000 delegates at the national chamber of commerce meeting in Washington, asked why cities grow and then sought to answer his own question. He mentioned four causes of growth—natural advantage of position, nearness to materials, nearness to market and presence of skill derived from experience. All these are causes for industrial development, he explained, and "produce population growth only because industrial development leads to population growth. . . . Cities grow because of industrial activity."

Flowers in City Yards

A novel suggestion of great importance concerns the abandonment of grass in close-in city yards and the use of paved areas, surrounded by beds in which plants are grown. The fact that plants and flowers can be grown successfully under conditions where lawns would not be generally known. In city yards it is relatively easy to supply water and renew plant foods, and species of plants may be selected which best endure city conditions.

Style Used in Building

English architecture is particularly adaptable to a site set close to the street, the editor of the Home Designer and Good Beautiful points out; for the eye recedes away from the eye, thereby enhancing the appearance of the building by apparently reducing the height.

Gills—Not at all. I went to bed in a piece of that kind of junk the other night at a friend's house and when I woke up, two women were serving breakfast on the footboard, a fellow was signing checks on the headboard and another fellow was underneath the bed making coffee.—Kansas City Times.

DREAMS COME TRUE

FULTON, KY., Oct. 11, 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Economizer:

My Dear Friends—I would have written you, but I have been very busy.

You know to DREAM Dreams and Hope to see them COME TRUE—to LAY PLANS and Hope to see them MATURE is the incentive to live and be happy.

In past years as I have worked for the other fellow I have been happy, because I was dreaming and hoping, as I learned the details of buying and selling—to some day own a business of my own. And by FAITH, HARD WORK and ECONOMY it has come to pass.

I rented this location the first of February, and re-started The Fulton Bargain House—and I was oh, so happy, just to be in—and doing just a small business. My idea is to hold down on EXPENSE and sell GOOD MERCHANDISE for LESS MONEY—and to my delight I found there are lots of folks looking for a place of that kind, and so my business has grown BEYOND my DREAMS and my orders are sought by the largest and best wholesale houses and factories.

So, Mrs. Economizer, if you want a Decatur Maid dress—for instance—and you want to walk on fine carpets and want the dress out of a thousand dollar glass case, and you are willing to pay $2.50 or $3.00 for that dress—you are NOT looking for my place. But if you can walk on a plain wood floor, and want that same dress off of a plain iron rod at $1.75 or $2.00—then, bless your heart, you are looking for Lora.

Mr. Economizer, if you need Overalls, for example, and carpets suit your feet and fine counters look best to your eyes and you are willing to pay $2.25 and $2.50 for the garment—then, The Fulton Bargain House will not appeal to you. But if a heavier, better made garment, taken from a home-made shelf, handed to you at $1.75, looks good—then 121 State Street is the place you've been looking for so LONG. This rule works on all lines—Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, Men's Work Clothes and Dress Shirts—Ties and Underwear.

I hope you will come in to see me soon—make yourselves at home whether you trade or not—for I'm always glad to see you—but remember—

Lora Will Sell You for LESS,

FULTON BARGAIN HOUSE.

P. S.—I will write you again next week if I have time.—L. H.

VOTING A DUTY

An inquiry was recently conducted by an organization interested in the subject, into the causes for the decline in voting. One of the principal reasons disclosed was a widespread belief that the powers of corruption in politics are so invincible that it is wasted effort to attempt to defeat them.

In addition to those who admit that this was the reason for their failure to vote, there are many more who were guided by the same thought, but who do not care to admit it. This same view is held by many men who feel that politics is too corrupt. They do not recognize their obligation to help clean up.

If such an opinion had prevailed in the American Colonies in 1775, this country would still be a British possession. If our soldiers in France had taken this "What's the Use?" attitude, Germany would have won the war, and would be dominating the world today. A great many persons think that patriotism is only a war term. When the armistice was signed, they thankfully doffed their patriotic habit and carefully laid it away in moth balls. The very thought of an invasion of our rights, or an attack upon our institutions, on the part of a foreign power, will immediately arouse that love of country that exists in the heart of every true American.

Not all invasions of our rights, or attacks upon our institutions, come from foreign powers. History proves that more nations have been wrecked from within than from without.

The downfall of Rome was the direct result of official inefficiency and corruption. A government necessarily functions through the medium of individuals as officers and agents, and their corruption constitutes a direct and menacing attack upon the governmental structure. Such an attack demands patriotic resistance, as surely as does the attack of a foreign foe.

The only available way to make such a patriotic resistance is by an intelligent use of the ballot. We have heard much of the "right to vote," but it should be the "duty to vote." It is treasonable to admit that corruption in office exists and then not make an effort to eliminate it. And it is cowardly if prior efforts have not succeeded to say "What's the use" and quit trying.

FARM FIRE PREVENTION

The fire loss for last year is estimated at $570,000,000 and of this immense sum, $150,000,000 represents losses from fires on farms. It appears that the losses from farm fires are increasing each year and little attention has been given to the problem.

In this day of competition, the American farmer finds it necessary to employ business principles and guard against losses. He does all that he can to protect his crops and his livestock from disease. It is just as important to protect them from fire. It is even more important to protect dwellings. Of the people who lost their lives in fires last year, it is estimated that one-fourth of the 3,500 were residents of farming communities.

It is suggested that every farmer make a special effort to eliminate the fire hazards from his premises. A time should be set aside in which to make a careful survey of all the buildings and an inspection of all equipment. Any fire hazard found should be eliminated at once.

Defective chimneys, stoves, flues and furnaces, together with hot ashes and sparks from chimneys, were responsible for approximately one-third of the farm fire losses. It will be time well spent to see that the heating equipment is in good repair, the ashes properly cared for and the roofs protected from sparks.

The use of open lights, the ignition of rubbish and litter, smoking and the careless use of matches are some of the other causes of fires which the farmer can prevent.

The farmer must rely largely upon his own efforts to protect his property from fire, and the greatest results can be obtained by directing these efforts toward fire prevention through the elimination of fire hazards. Fire protection, where it is possible to obtain it, is very desirable and in many cases farmers have organized to purchase community fire fighting equipment.

AUTO ACCIDENT AT HICKMAN

Two Dead and Five Injured as Train Strikes Car

Seven members of one family were injured, two fatally, and two others seriously, in a grade crossing accident near Hickman Sunday, when a car in which they were driving was struck by an N. C. & St. L. engine.

The engine struck the rear right fender and wheel, tearing the wheel off, knocking the car about thirty feet into a ditch, landing upside down and turning over once or twice.

S. D. Webb, 50 years old, farmer of near Brownsville, died in the office of a physician two hours after the tragic accident. His skull was fractured and both legs broken.

Estelle Burton, 14, niece of Mr. Webb, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Burton, of Brownsville, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries; she died in a physician's office later. Rachel Webb, 23, daughter of Mr. Webb, injured internally; condition critical.

The other victims were Nelvia Webb, 16, and Barney Webb, 25, son of the victim and driver of the car, and Nelvia White, 15, and R. G. Cotton, two cousins of the Webbs.

The engineer, Frank Winford, of Nashville, threw the locomotive into reverse as soon as he saw the auto but could not stop before he struck them. Webb said the train was not coming fast and was not going over 20 miles an hour if that much.

The train backed up and picked up the injured, sending another auto to Hickman for doctors and ambulances. The injured were carried to the station where they were immediately taken to Dr. C. W. Curllin's offices.

All the occupants, except Miss White, reside four miles out from Hickman and were going to town. The accident occurred at the Caldwell crossing which is on a gravel road, one mile from Hickman. Barney Webb, the driver, said the curtains were up and this helped to blind him. A corn field on the right hand kept him from seeing the oncoming train until it was within 25 feet of him.

JULIAN CHOATE DIES AT HICKMAN HOME

Sudden Illness Fatal to Well Known Planter

HICKMAN, Ky. — Julian Choate, 57, one of the best known men of this city and county, died suddenly at his home Saturday afternoon, death resulting from high blood pressure. Mr. Choate was injured last November when his car overturned and burned when en route to Paducah to attend court. He, however, went on to Paducah, but two days later became very ill and his recovery was doubtful for months.

He had apparently recovered and of late had felt fine, attended to his farming interests and other business. He laid down to take his afternoon rest and a few minutes later called his wife and told her he was dying. Death came in a few minutes afterwards.

Mr. Choate was a big planter, was active in all the affairs of the county and city and one of the most active members of the First Baptist church and known all over Western Kentucky. He was reared in Graves county, but had resided in this county the past 30 years or more.

The deceased is survived by several children.

Mrs. Hardeman Howard, of Fulton, is a daughter of the deceased and her host of friends extend sympathy in the loss of her father.

"VOTE FOR BARKLEY" IS PLEA OF ROBERTS

Campton Republican Quits Senatorial Race—Flays Ernst for Votes Against Veteran Relief Measures.

Louisville, Ky. — The storm of veteran resolutions that beat down upon the political head of Richard P. Ernst, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, last week continues unabated. Fresh impetus to the fury of the squall came a few days ago when Elmer C. Roberts, of Campton, a Republican but running as an independent in the Senatorial contest, withdrew and called upon American war veterans and other friends to support Judge Albert W. Barkley, the Democratic nominee for Senator.

Roberts, himself a disabled war veteran, upon withdrawing issued a scathing denunciation of Ernst and charged that Kentucky's senior Senator who now seeks reelection has denied war veterans the aid and consideration to which they are entitled. Because of Ernst's apparent attitude of unkindness, Mr. Roberts said, he entered the senatorial race in order that he might be in a position to discuss the Senator's record in the presence of Kentucky voters.

Ernst Votes Unfavorable. "I could not understand," Mr. Roberts' statement says, "why any veteran could support Senator Ernst because of his unfavorable attitude toward them throughout his service in the Senate. He has voted against every measure which would protect their interests."

Mr. Roberts' statement in full is as follows: "My candidacy for the United States senate was initiated because of my whole-hearted desire to be of service to the war veterans of my country. As you know, I served my country in the world conflict. I suffered permanent physical disability. I sacrificed my health. In my endeavor to secure proper consideration, I called upon Senator Ernst for his official assistance. He turned a deaf ear to my plea for help.

In announcing for the senate, I intended to be able to call the attention of the American voters to his utter lack of sympathy with them and their needs. I could not understand why any veteran could support Senator Ernst because of his unfavorable attitude toward them throughout his service in the senate. He had voted against every measure which would protect their interests.

Asks Support for Barkley. "However, since his opening day speech at Ashland last Wednesday, I have reflected upon my candidacy and have concluded that I can best serve the American veterans by withdrawing from this race and urging them to support Judge Barkley wholeheartedly. I am a Republican, but I do not believe that Senator Ernst represents the rank and file of the Republican party in Kentucky. He turns his eyes to the nomination and asks for help; but when we of the nomination turn our eyes toward him, he sees us not. He does not represent Kentucky.

"So, with the interests of the American veteran at heart, with the interest of my people uppermost in my mind, I have decided to withdraw from the senatorial race so that there can be no division of the veterans' vote between Judge Barkley and me. I want my friends to support Judge Barkley—a man of the people, and a friend of the soldier."

Legion Also Complains. Another evidence of the opposition of veterans to the Ernst candidacy is contained in a pamphlet that came out this week recalling that one of the subjects for a special resolution adopted by The American Legion of Kentucky at that organization's annual convention held in Lexington, Ky. in September of 1921. The resolution, it seems, would pay no heed to repeated requests by members of the Legion asking him to support bonus legislation. The resolution recited that the Legion "resented" the Senator's attitude and was adopted.

Foremost in urging its adoption was Col. Henry W. Stites of Louisville, prominent Republican attorney. Last week, it will be remembered, Col. James D. Sory, Jr., of Madisonville, Ky., secretary of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board took Senator Ernst to task for his adverse votes against the Bonus Bill, the bonus measure, and the proposal before Congress to pay $50 a month pension to tubercular soldiers who had contracted the disease while serving in the World War.

"It Penetrates"

IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompeo Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

The Philadelphia of Our Ancestors

Here is shown a section of "High Street," a reproduction of Philadelphia's famous Market street in the days of 1776. It is one of the outstanding features of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition now being held in Philadelphia to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Every building has been built to actual size and in actual architectural detail. The furnishings of each building are exact reproductions of those used in the Revolutionary days. Many of the pieces on display are the originals and today are worth thousands of dollars because of their historic value. The Exposition continues until December 1.

FAMOUS ARTIST INSTRUCTS

William de Leftwich Dodge, famous mural artist, in his studio at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition grounds in Philadelphia, where the 150th anniversary of signing the Declaration of Independence will be celebrated from June 1 to December, of this year, giving instructions to a group of young artists who are creating the "Rainbow City." Mr. Dodge is the color expert for the exposition, and every bit of color work done must be approved by him.

FARM POULTRY

BUILDINGS MUST BE COMFORTABLE

A poultry house which is dry, light, clean and free from drafts or sudden changes of temperature is essential for success with poultry. Hens must be comfortable if they are to be good producers.

It is not always the showy house that produces the best results. Conservatively built houses that provide comfortable quarters are often as good from a practical standpoint as more expensive houses. In fact, at the present time, the small house which can be moved from place to place is rapidly gaining in popularity, on account of the benefits derived from moving the chickens to fresh ground in order to avoid diseases by germs that may be lurking in soil long occupied by poultry.

Poultry investigators agree that lack of vitality which has resulted in loss of birds when shipped is the direct result of increased size of old flocks without a corresponding increase in housing facilities. This is another reason for added attention to poultry buildings.

From the standpoint of satisfactory returns poultry pays as well as any other class of live stock and no other live stock, unless it is the dairy stock, responds so readily to good housing conditions as does poultry. Good conditions are essential in order to make good houses give results.

Poultry houses should be located conveniently to the other farm buildings and so that the chickens will range toward the house. If possible the ground should slope toward the south and face in that direction in order to give the birds the maximum amount of sunshine on short winter days. The house should be protected with a windbreak. If no natural windbreak is available some trees or shrubs should be planted to afford shelter.

A good many of the experiment stations have excellent bulletins in poultry-house construction. This is a good time of the year to build a house and get the benefit of it this winter.

Improper Feeding Will Cause Bowel Disorders

This is a time of the year when a good many bowel disorders come from improper feeding or from foods that are not in first class condition. During warm weather it is very easy for some of the mixtures to spoil and if feeds of this type are fed to the chicks the results are usually diarrhea and sometimes death.

The commercial feeds of the big manufacturers are usually kept and sold under conditions which protect them from spoilage, but if large amounts are stored on the farm they should have a dry place.

Another danger at this season of the year is dead animals. Dead rats, mice, rabbits, and often chickens are allowed to lie where the chickens may pick at them. During hot weather such carcasses often develop ptomaine poisons with the result that a heavy loss of both chicks and mature fowls occur before the cause of the trouble is discovered.

Chicken Raisers Trying Canaries as Side Line

Chicken raisers and poultry fanciers in increasing numbers are interesting themselves in canary breeding. The man who raises chickens finds that he has enough spare time and experience on his hands to breed canaries, and the large profits in this business have attracted poultrymen to surprisingly large numbers.

One new reason for rising demand for canaries, according to the trade, is the fact that interior decoration methods now make such wide use of the bird cage in the average American home. That this is possible is due to the new type of cages, made of pyralin instead of brass, which come in a score of colors and soft, harmonious blends. Many are finished in the duco process. Tests are now being made to determine the amount of the favorable effect which such cages exercise on the canaries' singing.

Substitutes for Milk

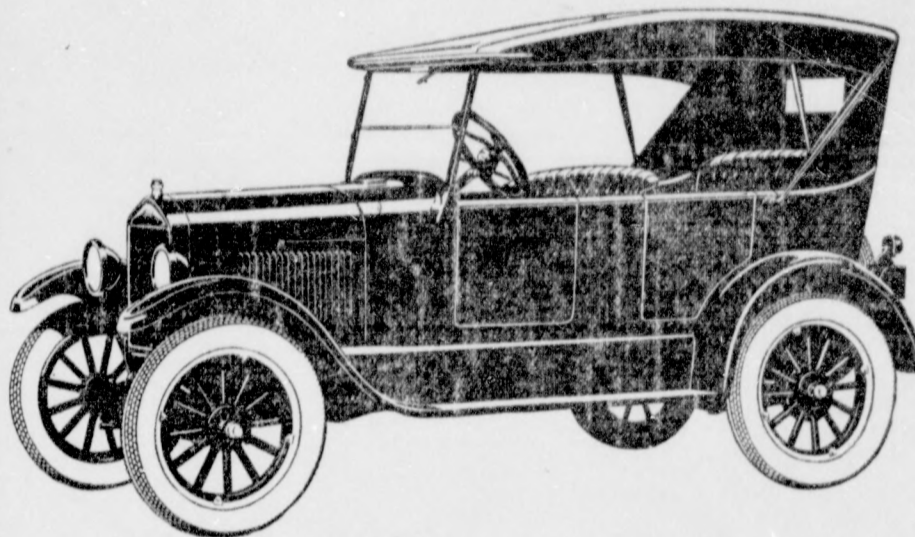

There are several of the so-called milk substitutes on the market which are sold under various trade names. Good ones can also be mixed at home. One of the best home-mixed calf meals is the one known as the Purdue mixture. It consists of equal parts of hominy feed, flaxseed meal, red dog flour, and dried blood. This meal is mixed in the proportion of one part of the meal to seven parts of warm water and fed to the chicken flock in the form of a slop.

Moist Mash for Change

Sometimes it is advisable to feed a moist mash to the hens. Take the same mash that is ordinarily fed to the hens dry, and moisten it with buttermilk or sour milk until it is crumbly, not wet and sloppy, and they will eat it as a change. Hens appreciate a change in diet sometimes just the same as human beings do. In feeding moist mash, however, extra care is necessary and only as much of it should be fed as the hens will clean up quickly.

Mrs. W. V. Mills, of Memphis, and Mrs. Mark Anthony, of Trenton, Tenn., sisters of Mr. Don Taylor, visited Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, the first of last week.

The attendance at the early morning communion services is gradually increasing since the hot weather has passed, and it is hoped that more and more, the members will avail themselves of this service.

Dr. Boyd received a telephone message from Clinton last Sunday advising him that the weather was so bad there that it was doubtful if there would be any one out to the service usually held at 3:30 on the second Sunday, so did not make his usual trip.

Dr. Boyd went to Paducah, Monday of last week and was the guest of the Rev. Custis Fletcher, and in his company, made several visits there.

On Wednesday of last week Dr. Boyd went to Hickman and conducted the funeral services of the late Mr. Waverly Watkins Tull, the Rector, Rev. Johnstone being absent from his post.

The rector announces that those who contemplate being confirmed at the next visit of the Bishop should begin instruction as the Bishop is expected here this fall.

The Woman's Guild held its monthly meeting Monday afternoon at the home of the President, Mrs. Don Taylor.

There was a good attendance and considerable business was dispatched as this was the first meeting since the beginning of the hot weather.

Neglees Favor
Lace-Trimmed Crepe

Much exciting news is to be found in the story of fall negligees. Fluffy types, made up in colorful and gorgeous fabrics and trimmed with ostrich and marabou bands and fringes, set the pace for less pretentious garments. Emphasis is placed on wrap-around styles, with side fastening and on exaggerated dolman and flowing sleeves. Black satin, with brilliant color contrasts in facings, lining or decorations is a favorite, but crepe de chine and other crepes provide the most practical models.
