Big Business Deal Closed

Historical Review Given

A. C. Groves and Wife Purchase Business Block on Church Street

One of the biggest business deals to take place in Fulton recently was perfected last week when A. C. Groves and wife purchased of Will Fry, of Harris, and Will Armstrong, of Memphis, the business block on Church street, extending from State Lane to Main street, better known as the Meadows building.

This is decidedly one of the best business properties in the city. It is a handsome three-story brick structure with stone trimmings, and especially built for hotel purposes with store rooms occupying the lower floor and about 100 rooms above, with modern conveniences. The imposing location in the business section of the city is ideal and some of the leading firms of Fulton occupy the store rooms. The above stories are used for a hotel.

A. C. Groves and wife are native Kentuckians of the Blue Grass region, who own a chain of hotels in Indiana and other sections of the country. They are thoroughly acquainted with the hotel business and will endeavor to bring their Fulton establishment up to the highest standard of perfection. They take charge of the property on November 1.

ROYAL WELCOME GIVEN FULTON TEAM AT STURGIS

Sturgis, Ky., may be only a small town, but it knows how to do things in a big way and demonstrated that fact last Thursday when the Fulton high boys went there to play the home team, by meeting the train with a brass band and nearly every one of the 2,500 inhabitants.

As soon as the Fulton boys were off the train a procession and the visiting team escorted to its hotel, the band, of course, leading, and a husky rooting section vying with the band in volume of sound, and while Sturgis is the smallest town in the Little Ten Conference, it is a long way from being at the small end of the horn.

Friday morning the school started a big pep meeting with all the school authorities present and two of the most prominent citizens who all had something to say, then in the afternoon there was a parade, headed by the band and every store in town but two closed at 2:30 so that everyone could see the game.

Now, the most remarkable part of the whole meeting at Sturgis is that the citizens of Sturgis have become so enthusiastic over the foot ball—and sport side of school activities that they have started a drive to build a $20,000.00 gymnasium.

Now just stop and get this: 2,500 people confidently expect to build a gym that is to cost 20,000 big iron dollars. Do you get it? That shows what team work and belief in one's home town can do, and if we were inclined to bet, we'd wager a cookie that they build it, and that right soon.

ANOTHER BUSINESS FIRM FOR FULTON

Fulton will soon have another business firm to open here. The manager was in the city during the week and after looking the town over and making some investigations, fully decided that this was an ideal location for his business. We will add too, that it is a gigantic concern capable of instilling "pep" into Fulton business circles. We were asked to withhold names until the formal announcement was ready for publication.

GARRETT ENLIGHTENS THE VOTERS OF FULTON

Hon. Finis Garrett, the idol of the Ninth District Democracy of Tennessee, was greeted by a large crowd at the City Hall, Tuesday night. This staunch Democratic leader had a real message to deliver to the voters of Fulton and vicinity in the interest of Alben W. Barkley, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate. It was a wonderful address and greatly enjoyed by the large crowd. He plainly told why Mr. Barkley should be elected and why every true Democrat should vote for him. He thrilled his hearers with flights of oratory in preaching the doctrine of democracy and laying bare the methods by which the Republicans favor "big business," oppressing the masses.

After being thoroughly enlightened on national affairs as reviewed by Congressman Garrett, we fail to understand why any one should vote other than the straight Democratic ticket in the November 2 election.

Answers Final Call

JOHN B. BROOKS, CONFEDERATE VETERAN.

Funeral services for John B. Brooks were held at the home on Walnut Street Monday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. V. Freeman, and Rev. C. H. Warren. Interment at Little Obion church near Wingo, Ky.

Mr. Brooks died Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. M. Hill, on Walnut street, where he had made his home for some years. He was a member of the Methodist church and was highly esteemed by a large acquaintance.

In his passing, another Confederate veteran has answered the call and the ranks has lost a good man who distinguished himself in the Thirty-First Tennessee Company under General Nathan B. Forrest and Albert Sidney Johnson. Soon after the close of the war he was united in marriage to Miss Frances Rhodes and for more than fifty years enjoyed the happiness of wedded bliss, until about four years ago when his loving companion passed away and left him in his declining years to await the final summons.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. W. M. Hill, of Fulton, and Ed Brooks of Paducah.

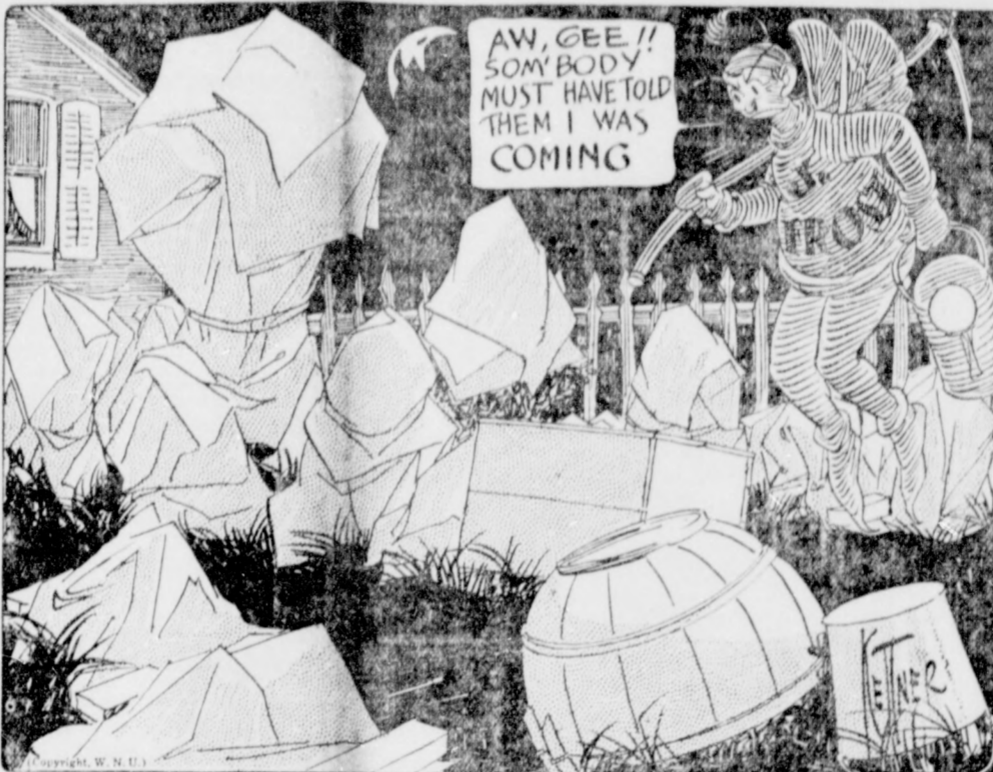

Around 1,200 Register

Awakened interest in the Senatorial campaign was indicated by the number of voters registered in Fulton, qualifying to vote in the November 2 election. There was every sign when the registration places closed Tuesday night that the total registration in the city would be above that for last year's registration.

In registering this time the women almost tied the men, showing conclusively that the women were interested in political affairs.

The total voters registered in Fulton will number around 1,200. At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the totals at the four precincts were as follows: City Hall—women, 99; men 96; Felts Hardware Store—Women, 137; men, 141; Ford Garage—Women, 155; men, 177; Farmers Bank—Women, 167; men, 177.

An Expected Visitor

High School Notes

On Wednesday of last week the student council presented an excellent playlet entitled, "A trip through Mammoth Cave." The student body from their seats in the audience were the cave visitors, while other students on the stage represented stalactites, stalagmites, and other cave wonders. Other things shown were the bottomless pit, corkscrew passage and echo river.

It was a splendid presentation and was much enjoyed.

On October 27th the council will present "A Day in Old Athens," in which Demosthenes, Herodotus, and Alexander will figure.

Last Thursday the football team, under the direction of Coach Hughes, left Fulton for Sturgis to meet the strong team at that place. Before they departed, however, they enjoyed one of the most peppy pep programs ever given a Fulton team on the eve of a game. They were received at Sturgis with much enthusiasm, a large part of the student body with the town band meeting them at the train. They report that just before the game on Friday most of the business houses closed and a monster parade was given. A huge crowd attended the big game and saw Fulton go down in defeat before the heavy Sturgis eleven, who won with a score of 16-0. The bull dogs put up a fine fight and showed a grim determination to win up to the last.

A letter from our former classmate, Innes Dobbins, informs us that he is enjoying his work at Louisville University.

A letter just received from the Boston Sculpture Company states that the statue of Robert E. Lee, which has been ordered by the school, has been shipped. The statue is seven feet, two inches in height. It will be placed in the lower corridor, facing the entrance and will be a real addition to the beautiful things of the school. The influence of the beautiful in art and music is so profound upon child life that a great effort should be made to bring the pupils into daily contact with pictures, from master painters, and to let them hear the fine music from the gifted artists in this most cultural of the arts.

Professor Cheek addressed the students of the Junior High school Monday morning. His talk was much appreciated. A lumber rack is being installed in the manual training room by Mr. Stitt and the manual training class.

The faculty club met at the Usona hotel Friday evening for their monthly dinner and meeting. A splendid program was rendered.

CLUB LUNCHEON AT THE USONA

The luncheon given Friday in the club dining room of the Usona hotel by the members of the community Service Department of the Woman's club with a few honor guests was an achievement of such moment that the committee in charge is pardonably proud of the success of the affair.

The Hallowe'en idea was elaborately carried out in the decorations and place cards.

Covers were laid for twenty three guests. A delicious four-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. F. D. Worth, in her gracious manner, presided. After the luncheon short talks, featuring the contemplated club home, were made by Mrs. J. E. Fall, president of the Woman's Club; Mr. A. M. Nugent, Mrs. J. C. Brann, Mrs. Ramsey Snow, followed by a round table discussion.

Miss Otter, guest of the club, who is in the city in the interest of the Kentucky Orphans' Home, made a short talk regarding her work.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Mrs. R. S. Williams was hostess to the music department of the Woman's club at her home on Eddings street Wednesday afternoon. The living rooms were aglow with roses and dahlias.

Miss Waggener presided over the business session, roll call was answered with current events. Mrs. J. M. Culver was leader of an extremely interesting study, "Folk Song," and it was presented in a charming manner by Mesdames Culver, Bard, Gingles, Taylor.

A salad course was served following the program.

CIRCLE NO. 5 MEETS

The circle number five of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist church met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. V. Brady on College street.

Pink and white roses in vases lent their charm to the rooms.

The chairman, Mrs. Carl Hastings, called the meeting to order after the devotional. Roll call and fifteen responded, several were reported as sick; three visitors were present. After the business session the meeting was turned over to the leader, Mrs. W. C. Valentine. Her subject, "The Life of Moses," was handled in an instructive and interesting way. Mrs. Curtis Ledford and Mrs. Newt Bondurant gave sub-topics.

At the close of the program, Mrs. R. S. Williams sang, "Calvary," Mrs. Ledford accompanied. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Clifton, of Louisville, served coffee and sandwiches with candy.

DINNER PARTY

The club dining room of the Usona Hotel formed a setting Friday evening for the Teachers of the City Schools first dinner, of a series of monthly dinners.

Hallowe'en decorations and lovely baskets filled with deep yellow marigolds and zinnias softened by the mellow glow of shaded lights made a charming effect.

Thirty guests were seated at the table from which a delicious three course dinner was served.

Much amusement was furnished by the exchange of puns. In the contest naming the states, Miss Spradlin received the ladies' prize, a deck of Old Maid cards; Mr. Cheney, bachelor buttons for the men's prize.

Miss Hornbeak, in her usual way, brought smiles and good cheer with her prophecy of the faculty in 1936.

A very enjoyable musical program was given by Misses Bell, Elliott and Spradlin. Supt. Myers brought the program to a close with a brief address, after which the party dispersed singing, "Auld Lang Syne."

FORMER FULTON I. C. SUPERINTENDENT IS BANQUETED

Supt. H. W. Williams attended the banquet given by the Illinois Central officers last week in Chicago in honor of J. J. Pelley, recently elected president of the Central of Georgia to succeed L. A. Downs, new president of the Illinois Central.

It is said the banquet was one of the best and most enjoyable ever given on an occasion of this kind.

MISS TAYLOR ACCEPTS POSITION IN NEWBORN HIGH SCHOOL

where she accepted a position as head of the Dramatic Art Department of the Newbern High School. Miss Taylor is a general favorite in Fulton social circles. She has often delighted audiences with her readings and entertainments.

$40,000 Bond Issue Sold

The $40,000 bond issue voted in South Fulton for sewer system purposes, were sold this week and work will begin just as soon as the contract can be let and machinery brought to Fulton. The South Fulton officials will work zealously to complete their system along about the same time the Kentucky side completes their job.

Just at this time the Kentucky side is having a little delay, figuring the best way to cross Harris Fork creek. Otherwise the work has progressed nicely and the west side is practically completed.

Good Woman Dead.

Mrs. E. W. Henderson died Saturday night at her home in Memphis. The remains arrived in Fulton Monday and were taken to the home of her niece, Mrs. Mintie McWhorter, on Vine street. The funeral was held at the home at two o'clock conducted by Rev. J. W. Curley, interment following at Fairview.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Elias W. Henderson and two children, Mr. Jesse Henderson and Mrs. Leota Mercer, all of Memphis.

Robert Whitehead of this city, and Mrs. W. E. Sheppard, of Winter Park, Fla., are grandchildren of the deceased.

Notice.

The Stewards of the Fulton Circuit are called to meet at Rice City the first day of November, on Monday, at 2 p. m. This will be our last meeting before Conference.

Bishop DuBois, will dedicate our church at Rice City Thursday, November 4th, at 7 p. m. He will also dedicate the Methodist Church at Palestine Friday, November 5th, at 11 a. m.

All of the former pastors of the Fulton Circuit are invited to be with us, and rejoice in the prosperity of this good church.

A. N. WALKER, Pastor.

Beloved Woman Dead

The remains of Mrs. Ora Herring, who died Tuesday morning in Riverside hospital at Paducah, was brought to Fulton and buried in Fairview cemetery, following funeral services held at the Fulton Undertaking Company's home on Carr street at 10:30 Wednesday morning.

Services conducted by Rev. J. V. Freeman. Prof. J. C. Cheek made a talk in which he paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of the deceased.

Mrs. Herring formerly resided in Fulton, and for years was an efficient teacher in the city schools. But for the past few years had been teaching at Cayce. She was a lovable, Christian woman and her passing is generally regretted by a large circle of friends. Mrs. Herring was a sister of Mrs. Fannie Price of this city.

She is survived by her husband, R. A. Herring; one daughter, Miss Evelyn Herring, of Paducah; one son, Lafayette Herring, of San Angelo, Texas, and three sisters.

FULTON BOYS ENLIST IN UNITED STATES ARMY

Richard C. Omar, age 19, and James P. Bondurant, two of Fulton's foremost young men, enlisted in the Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army at the local Recruiting Office, under Sgt. Dearing, Monday, and were sent to Fort Harrison, Indiana, for final examination and enlistment. They will then go to New York and sail via Government liner, Chateau Thierry to Galveston, Texas, stopping off enroute at the principal city seaports.

Sgt. Dearing stated this morning that recruiting has been resumed after a month's rest, the recruiting service has open for enlistments at the present time, Infantry, Field Artillery, Engineers, Medical and Dental Corps, in the 8th Corps Area (Texas). Bandmen are wanted for a few choice bands of the army also.

Richard C. Omar is the son of Mr. R. C. Omar, of 506 Eddings street, who is connected with the I. C. Railway. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bondurant, of the Highlands. Both young men are popular with the younger set of Fulton, and will no doubt make their mark in the branch of their choosing. The army today is a school for the upbuilding of young Americans and their slogan stands forth in glaring truth, "The Army Builds Men." Men enlisting, have the opportunity to learn the trade they desire. Education is unlimited in the army. Congress has just enacted a law where men who

Lesson for October 24

JOSHUA, ISRAEL'S NEW LEADER

LESSON TEXT—Num. 27:18-20; Joshua 1:1-9. GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord, thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest. PRIMARY TOPIC—Joshua the New Leader. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Task of Joshua. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Secret of a Strong and Useful Life. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparation for True Service.

The book of Joshua, from which our lesson is taken, is a history of the conquest of the promised land and its division among the tribes of Israel. It takes its name from its principal character, Joshua.

I. Joshua, the New Leader of Israel (Num. 27:18-20).

The people were not to be left in doubt as to a leader when Moses was gone. The leader was to be appointed and given recognition before all the congregation.

During the wilderness journey Joshua was Moses' minister and the captain of his army. When Moses denied the privilege of going over the Jordan, Joshua was appointed to the leadership of Israel. Moses, the representative of the law, brought Israel to the borders of Canaan. Joshua was the man chosen to lead the people into the place of rest. The name "Joshua" has the same derivation as the name "Jesus."

II. Joshua Commanded to Take Charge (Josh. 1:2).

Moses was dead, but God's work must go on, therefore God issued the command for the new leader to assume his duty.

III. God Renews His Promise to Israel Concerning the Land (Josh. 1:3, 4).

This promise had been given to Abraham and renewed to Isaac, Jacob and Moses. It is now renewed to Israel as they were about to enter upon its possession. The borders of the land were "from the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river, the River Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun." The nearest this territory was ever possessed was during the reign of David and Solomon, though not then fully realized. This land still belongs to the Jews, and in God's own time they shall possess it. Their possession of this land was due entirely to themselves. God promised them that wherever their feet stood upon the land it was theirs.

IV. God's Presence Promised (Josh. 1:5).

Joshua was entering upon a perilous and difficult enterprise, but the Lord said as He was with Moses, so He would be with him. The difficulties before him were:

1. The Jordan river (v. 2). This river was now at its flood (Josh. 3:15), making it impossible for armies to cross.

2. The people were living in walled cities (Num. 13:28). Notwithstanding this, God was ready to insure success.

(1) "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee" (v. 5).

(2) "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee."

(3) "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee." Joshua had been with Moses throughout their forty years' experience from the Egyptian deliverance to the time of his death. Because he believed that God was with his master, he was willing and ready to cross the Jordan at its floodtide and courageously meet the enemies on the other side.

V. Conditions of Blessing in the Land (Josh. 1:6-9).

1. "Be strong and of good courage" (v. 6).

His mission was to go in and divide the land among the tribes for an inheritance. It required strength and courage to do this.

2. "Unwavering obedience to the Word of God" (v. 7).

In a land of idolatry it required much courage to be true to God. Prosperity and success were conditioned upon unwavering obedience to God's commands. In all his work he must conform his life to the law of God. To pass from the path outlined therein would bring disaster and ruin. In order to accomplish this the law of the Lord must be in his mouth continually. He was to meditate therein day and night.

Joshua rendered prompt obedience, he did not stop to cavil, but at once gave order for the march. God made the plan and gave the directions.

Culture

We hear so much nowadays about "culture." Culture is all right when you have something to cultivate. First make sure that you have the divine nature, then cultivate it!—D. L. Moody.

Day, like a weary pilgrim, had reached the western gate of heaven, and Evening stooped down to unloose the latchets of his sandal shoon.—Longfellow.

have fitted themselves, can get college training just for the asking. Men who are willing to fit themselves can also compete for entrance to West Point, the commissioned officers' school. It will pay any young man to investigate the opportunities that the army is presenting them. They can do this by either calling on or writing to Sgt. George M. Dearing, Local Recruiting Officer, Fulton, Ky. He will be glad to answer any question that you ask. Office in postoffice building.

THE VOICE OF THE LIBERTY BELL

This is one of the two new official posters of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 to celebrate 150 years of American independence. The Exposition will continue to December 1. Dan Smith, the artist, has symbolized the epoch in history which the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, July 4, 1776, marked and has depicted the growth of the United States from the original thirteen states represented by the thirteen stars which emerge from the mouth of the Liberty Bell.

MRS. HOOVER TURNS BRICKLAYER

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce in President Coolidge's cabinet, is shown laying the cornerstone for the model home being erected by Better Homes in America organization at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, in Philadelphia, June 1 to December 1 to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. Opposite Mrs. Hoover stands Mrs. Vance McCormick of Harrisburg. The Girl Scouts grouped around the women will operate the house.

THE STORMING OF THE GATES

This picture is typical of many such scenes enacted daily at the main gates of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is being celebrated. The "shot" was made from outside the gates and shows the long sweep of historic Broad street, the main artery of the exposition. To the left can be seen one of the capitols of the exposition, the Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufactures which covers nearly eight acres of grounds and which houses some of the finest exhibits ever seen. The Exposition will continue until December 1.

WAITING FOR THEM

The other day a man was seen standing outside a pawnshop for a considerable time. At length a friend ventured to ask him the reason for stopping there so long.

"Why," said the man of long standing, "they tell me when your clothes have been in a twelve-month they run out, so I'm waiting to catch mine."

Stern Measures

Masculine—What did your mother do to you when you didn't get in till 2:30 a. m.?

Feminine—She took stern measures. Masculine—What do you mean by that?

Feminine—Well—er—she used a ruler.—Oregon Orange Owl.

VERY CARELESS

"I see it says here some of them London banks have been doin' business for twenty years and more and never closed their doors." "Dear me, how careless! I wonder anybody trusts 'em with their money."

Money Talks

They say that money talks. Perhaps, of course, they may be right. But it's hard to catch what money says. As money's always tight.

Worth the Price

"Life is too darn expensive," growled the man who had just been banded his bill. "Still," retorted the doctor, "judging from the hurry calls we doctors get most people must think it is worth the price."

Resourcefulness

"Do you ever regret anything you have said?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "When anything I said proved unpopular I have always managed to make a big hit retracting it."—Washington Star.

A Case of Nerve

"Don't worry," said the dentist. "I always give my patients—ah—something to—ah—quiet their nerves." "Then what was that fellow in there yelling for?" demanded the skeptical sufferer. "More!"—American Legion Weekly.

DISAPPOINTED

Big—Ah, shucks! I thought it was a barber pole, and I need a shave something awful.

Human Interest

A simple, decent life implies a humble lot. And never serves to advertise a movie plot.

Discipline Gone Astray

"He used to write in his copy book, 'Honesty is the Best Policy.'" "Did it improve his morals?" "No. But it improved his penmanship so that he became a successful counterfeiter."—Washington Star.

Those Dear Girls

"Tell me just what sort of a man your fiance, is, Clara." "Oh, he's everything that's nice." "I'm so glad. You know I've always said that people should marry their opposites."

Free as Air

Old Lady—Have you any incumbrances? New Maid—Not on your life! No petticoats, no corsets, no long skirts, no hairpins.

Avoided the Possibility

"Why are you so positive that your wife divorced you without cause?" "I know she couldn't have had any reason, because I left her before we ever had the least bit of trouble."

That's It

"That's quill, the poet who got $100 for a spring poem." "A poem? I don't believe it." "It's a poem to advertise a new kind of motor-car spring."

No Kick, but a Kick

Doctor—Yours is a peculiar case. I'm not sure what I'd better prescribe. Patient (hopefully)—Oh, I'm not a bit particular any more, Doc.

DREAMS COME TRUE

FULTON, KY., Oct. 11, 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Economizer:

My Dear Friends—I would have written you, but I have been very busy.

You know to DREAM Dreams and Hope to see them COME TRUE—to LAY PLANS and Hope to see them MATURE is the incentive to live and be happy.

In past years as I have worked for the other fellow I have been happy, because I was dreaming and hoping, as I learned the details of buying and selling—to some day own a business of my own. And by FAITH, HARD WORK and ECONOMY it has come to pass.

I rented this location the first of February, and re-started The Fulton Bargain House—and I was oh, so happy, just to be in—and doing just a small business. My idea is to hold down on EXPENSE and sell GOOD MERCHANDISE for LESS MONEY—and to my delight I found there are lots of folks looking for a place of that kind, and so my business has grown BEYOND my DREAMS and my orders are sought by the largest and best wholesale houses and factories.

So, Mrs. Economizer, if you want a Decatur Maid dress—for instance—and you want to walk on fine carpets and want the dress out of a thousand dollar glass case, and you are willing to pay $2.50 or $3.00 for that dress—you are NOT looking for my place. But if you can walk on a plain wood floor, and want that same dress off of a plain iron rod at $1.75 or $2.00—then, bless your heart, you are looking for Lora.

Mr. Economizer, if you need Overalls, for example, and carpets suit your feet and fine counters look best to your eyes and you are willing to pay $2.25 and $2.50 for the garment—then, The Fulton Bargain House will not appeal to you. But if a heavier, better made garment, taken from a home-made shelf, handed to you at $1.75, looks good—then 121 State Street is the place you've been looking for so LONG. This rule works on all lines—Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, Men's Work Clothes and Dress Shirts—Ties and Underwear.

I hope you will come in to see me soon—make yourselves at home whether you trade or not—for I'm always glad to see you—but remember—

Lora Will Sell You for LESS.

Community Building

Care and Cultivation of Grounds Important

Where it is not possible to build the new house on a lot having good trees, the first step toward an attractive home is tree planting. Even with trees already established, plants of smaller growth are required in addition if a home atmosphere is to radiate from the house. A proper combination of these gives the most pleasing result.

Locating the walk and the drive, if there is to be one, is a necessary preliminary to planting the grounds. The less conspicuous they are the better for the general effect. If the house is close to the street a straight walk is the least obtrusive and cuts up the lawn less than a curving one; but if the house is farther from the street than the width of its own front, an unbroken lawn may be provided by curving the walk from one corner or the other. When a drive is needed it may often be used as a substitute for a walk. Walks and drives should be kept as few in number and as limited in area as conditions will permit.

Proper location of shade trees is probably the most vital of all the planting details. Where the house is placed close to the street the street trees are usually the only ornamental trees that can be used, but where there is room some are needed near each corner of the house as a frame, but none in front to obstruct the view. On a large lot additional trees provide welcome shade, but must not obstruct the picture of the front.

Tenants Seek Beauty in Business Building

So far as its ability to make its sale is concerned, a commercial building of architectural beauty will outlive its neighbor of ordinary lines and proportions.

There are several reasons for this, any one of which ought to convince the owner of a commercial building, be it a single store or an office skyscraper, that it pays actual dollars to create the beautiful rather than the ordinary or ugly.

The building that has been erected for commercial purposes should contain elements in its makeup that will insure for its owner a continuation of its profitability as time goes on. At first, a building's newness and location usually warrant the investment being made without fear of its becoming a white elephant instead of a bag of gold to the original investor. But when a new building goes up alongside, or across the street or the busiest portion of the thoroughfare moves away, then there is a great liability of a decline in the ordinary building's value as a profitable investment.

The modern buying public will patronize that shop which does not grate on its esthetic nature. Consciously or unconsciously, the present-day shopper will discriminate between the beautiful and the ugly. Wise is the investor who realizes this tendency before he commits the mistake of erecting an unattractive building.

Consideration in Building

There are a lot of things that cannot be and should not be regulated by law, but should be governed more successfully than they are by good taste and proper consideration for others of good taste. This applies in a particularly conspicuous way to architecture. To break into a street of generally good building standards with a freakish, garish or otherwise incongruous structure is not only a manifestation of bad taste, but a selfish disregard for the rights and interests of those who exercise good taste and good business judgment. The same is true of the architect or builder who puts a freak dwelling in a beautiful and harmonious neighborhood of homes. Such an architect or builder discredits himself and offends and injures persons of better taste.—Kansas City Star.

Take Inventory of Trees

Some Eastern cities take an inventory of their trees yearly. Hartford, Conn., values the trees on Washington street, the main street of the city, at $138.41 each. Newton, Mass., values each of its street trees at $120.50; Newark, N. J., at $30.72 replacement value; Springfield, Mass., at $100; Ann Arbor, Mich., at $100. The minimum value of a street tree is fixed by the forestry department of the University of Michigan at $15, plus an increment for each year of its life.

Home Owner Is King

The man who builds in the small-home class today is a monarch of rank beyond the aspirations of the feudal baron, with his ancestral castle and his army of retainers. The home builder of today has catering to his needs a host of eager slaves inconceivable and impossible in feudal days—the myriad manufacturers of building products.

IN A BAD FIX

We have read much about the cotton situation since the distressing drop in prices. It is not the first time the grower has felt the sting of sudden drops after toiling all the year in eager anticipation of growing a good crop with hopes of meeting his obligations and having a few dollars left. Now that he has a big crop, his fondest hopes are blasted, his profits are swept away and he is advised to cut future acreage. He is in the middle of a bad fix, and with him is the man who supplied his need during the year, and with him is the manufacturer who sold the retailer merchandise with the understanding he meet his obligations at a given time. Therefore, when the tiller of the soil fails in his efforts you may rest assured that the entire nation will feel it, except the octopus who has no feeling, except the feeling of oppressing the people whenever an opportunity presents itself.

HICKMAN COURIER CHANGES HANDS

Augustus Robbins, Jr., of Augusta, Ky., but recently of New Haven, Conn., has purchased the Hickman Courier from Speer and Sexton and his name now appears at the masthead as editor and publisher, with Will L. Busby, assistant editor. We welcome Mr. Robbins to the journalistic field of Fulton county and wish him every success. The Courier is one of the oldest newspapers in Fulton county.

During the past sixty-seven years of its existence it has had its ups and downs, but missed few issues in all these years. During the past twenty years the property has changed hands several times for the best; sometimes not so good. The people of Hickman deserve a good newspaper because they are strong believers in printer's ink, and have patronized The Courier liberally when they thought they were getting value received.

Messrs. Speer & Sexton took charge of The Courier in a run-down condition and made of it one of the best weekly publications in Western Kentucky. They were both newspaper men who knew the business from A to Z. They were men of pleasing personality and it was generally regretted when they left Fulton county and retired from newspaper work at Hickman.

All that we can ask of the new editor and proprietors of The Hickman Courier is to try his level best to walk as near as possible in the footsteps of Speer and Sexton and his success is assured.

A nice gift. Send The Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

WHY W. O. BRADLEY PUNISHED ERNST

Mrs. South Tells How Her Father, Unanimous Choice in C. O. P., Was Knifed in Senatorial Contest.

Louisville, Ky.—The inside story of how William O. Bradley, Kentucky's first Republican governor and later the U. S. Senator from this state, punished Richard P. Ernst, G. O. P. nominee for U. S. Senator, for political reasons has come to light. The circumstances are related in a letter written by Mrs. Christine Bradley South to Col. Charles M. F. Stringer of Covington, Ky., during a previous campaign.

According to Mrs. South, Ernst for some unexplained reason, opposed her distinguished father in his contest for U. S. Senator in the legislative campaign of 1908 although Bradley was the unanimous choice of his party for the place. Later, she declares, when Ernst sought the nomination for himself it was represented in the campaign that the friends of Senator Bradley, then deceased, were supporting Ernst for the office. Exactly the reverse was true, she said. Nevertheless, the letter states, an effort was made in Ernst's campaign to capitalize her father's name and purported friendship for the furtherance of the Covington man's political ambitions. These accusations, Mrs. South points out, were always advanced during her father's lifetime because of Ernst's perjury.

This recent chapter of Republican political history is told in the columns of The Lexington Herald. Intervening years, of course, have brought political changes but in the opinion of competent observers these changes have succeeded in healing the party wounds mentioned by Mrs. South in her letter. This document "from the heart", it is asserted, indicates the fundamental differences between the political philosophy of the late Senator Bradley and that of Ernst. Bradley's thought was to make the party a "popular expression of the people's will" rather than an institution designed for the express benefit of a small group of federal job holders as exemplified by the Ernst regime.

Mrs. South, through her own brilliant capabilities, continues as a dominant leader in party affairs. Her husband, Dr. John Glover South, is now Minister to Panama. Fundamentally, however, Mrs. South is said to be just as much opposed today to the "Ernst type of politics" as was her father who, during his lifetime, succeeded in keeping Ernst, because of his irregularity, in the background of party affairs.

Mrs. South's letter will be read with wide interest because it throws new light on the position Mr. Ernst occupies in his party, particularly with relation to the legion of supporters of the late Senator Bradley. "Ernst," says Mrs. South, "have I heard my father express himself on the subject. (Ernst's aspirations) and particularly a short time before his death."

The complete text of Mrs. South's letter, written from Frankfort, Ky., to Col. Stringer, follows:

"Col. Charles M. F. Stringer,
Covington, Ky.
"Dear Sir:

"It is with extreme diffidence that I write you this letter, because as a woman having no voice in political matters, my action may be misunderstood or misjudged. It is only because I feel so strongly that an injustice is being done to the memory of my father, the late William O. Bradley, and because I have regarded you as having been a devoted friend of his, that I venture to write you at all.

"The political purposes my father's name is being improperly used. An attempt is being made to create a false impression among the Republicans of Kentucky. Because of these facts I have concluded to forego my feeling of diffidence and write you. I refer to campaign literature being sent over the state in the interest of the candidacy of Richard P. Ernst for U. S. Senator, citing the position of my father's nephew and my cousin, Mr. Edwin P. Morrow, who is supporting Mr. Ernst, as being proof that practically all father's friends are supporting Mr. Ernst, and the attempt is also thereby made to give the impression that these friends are doing what my father would have them do were he alive today.

"Whatever my cousin, Mr. Morrow's reasons may be for supporting Mr. Ernst, they are doubtless sufficient unto himself. But I do know that neither he nor any other person claiming to be my father's friend is supporting Mr. Ernst because of anything that my father may have said or done. "It was well known to all those who were intimate friends of father that he was strongly opposed to Mr. Ernst's candidacy on the ground that after father received the unanimous nomination of his party for United States Senator in the legislative caucus in 1908, Mr. Ernst, though claiming to be a Republican, opposed his election as Senator and sought to prevent it.

"My father loved the Republican party with all the strength of his ardent nature. He gave his life to his service; he rejoiced in its triumphs and shed tears of grief when it was defeated or divided. He did not treasure any resentment against Mr. Ernst for any personal dislike the latter may have had for him; any personal dislike he could easily forget as something likely to occur in the friction of partisan politics. But that Mr. Ernst could have permitted his personal feeling, or his jealousy, or whatever other motive may have inspired him to cause him to attempt, without proper cause, to bring about the defeat of the duly nominated candidate of the Republican party for such an important office as United States Senator was, in my father's judgment, a dereliction which not only destroyed Mr. Ernst's claim upon the party for support for the nomination, but which would inevitably injure him if nominated and render him a weak leader and ineffective candidate in the final election. Often have I heard father express himself on the subject, and particularly a short time before his death.

"I am sure that if father were living today he would be supporting the candidacy of Governor Willson, who for nearly forty years was his loyal and effective co-laborer in the building of the Republican party in Kentucky. "If this letter needs any additional justification, permit me to say that I was reared in my father's faith; I, too, am a Republican, devoted to the party's history and its principles, and deeply concerned for its success.

"Trusting that you may not misjudge nor misunderstand, but that you may understand and appreciate the spirit in which I have written, and with gratitude for your friendship for my father, "I beg to remain,
"Sincerely,
"CHRISTINE BRADLEY SOUTH."

"VOTE FOR BARKLEY" IS PLEA OF ROBERTS

Campton Republican Quits Senatorial Race—Flays Ernst for Votes Against Veteran Relief Measures.

Louisville, Ky.—The storm of voters' resentment that beat down upon the political head of Richard P. Ernst, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, last week continues unabated. Fresh impetus to the fury of the squall came a few days ago when Elmer C. Roberts, of Campton, a Republican but running as an Independent in the Senatorial contest, withdrew and called upon American war veterans and other friends to support Judge Alton W. Barkley, the Democratic nominee, for Senator.

Roberts, himself a disabled war veteran, upon withdrawing issued a scathing denunciation of Ernst and charged that Kentucky's senior Senator who now seeks re-election had denied war veterans the aid and consideration to which they are entitled. Because of Ernst's apparent attitude of unfraternity, Mr. Roberts said, he entered the senatorial race in order that he might be in a position to discuss the Senator's record in the presence of Kentucky voters.

Ernst Votes Unfavorable.
"I could not understand," Mr. Roberts' statement says, "why any veteran could support Senator Ernst because of his unfavorable attitude toward them throughout his service in the Senate. He has voted against every measure which would protect their interests."

Mr. Roberts' statement in full is as follows: "My candidacy for the United States senate was initiated because of my whole-hearted desire to be of service to the war veterans of my country. As you know, I served my country in the world conflict. I suffered permanent physical disability. I sacrificed my health. In my endeavor to secure proper consideration, I called upon Senator Ernst for his official assistance. He turned a deaf ear to my plea for help.

"In announcing for the senate, I had hoped to be able to call the attention of the American veterans to his utter lack of sympathy with them and their needs. I could not understand why any veteran could support Senator Ernst because of his unfavorable attitude toward them throughout his service in the senate. He had voted against every measure which would protect their interests.

Asks Support for Barkley.
"However, since his opening day speech at Ashland last Wednesday, I have reflected upon my candidacy and have concluded that I can best serve the American veterans by withdrawing from this race and urging them to support Judge Barkley wholeheartedly. I am a Republican, but I do not believe that Senator Ernst represents the rank and file of the Republican party in Kentucky. He turns his eyes to the mountains and asks for help; but when we of the mountains turn our eyes toward him, he sees us not. He does not represent Kentucky.

"So, with the interests of the American veteran at heart, with the interest of my people uppermost in my mind, I have decided to withdraw from the senatorial race so that there can be no division of the veterans' vote between Judge Barkley and me. I want my friends to support Judge Barkley—a man of the people, and a friend of the soldier."

Legion Also Complains.
Another evidence of the opposition of veterans to the Ernst candidacy is contained in a pamphlet that came out this week recasting that Senator Ernst's attitude toward veterans was the subject for a special resolution adopted by The American Legion of Kentucky at that organization's annual convention held in Lexington, Ky. in September of 1921. The resolution, it seems, would pay no heed to repeated requests by members of the Legion asking him to support bonus legislation. The resolution recited that the Legion "resented" the Senator's attitude and was adopted.

Foremost in urging its adoption was Col. Henry W. Stiles of Louisville, prominent Republican attorney.

Last week, it will be remembered, Col. James D. Sory, Jr., of Madisonville, Ky., secretary of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board took Senator Ernst to task for his adverse votes against the Bonus Bill, the bonus measure and the proposed before Congress to pay $50 a month pension to subnormal soldiers who had contracted the disease while serving in the World War.

POULTRY

RAISING CAPONS AND COCKERELS

With a view to obtaining definite figures showing the relative size and rate of growth of capons and cockerels, the author carried out experiments in 1919, at the Maryland agricultural experiment station. Forty-two White Plymouth Rock cockerels, all hatched on May 28 in the same incubator, were divided into two groups as nearly equal as possible, as regards health and vigor. On May 30 one of the groups were caponized. The two groups were kept entirely separate, and their gain in weight and the food they consumed were recorded.

Until October 1 both groups had access to poultry yards measuring 15 by 125 feet, and after that date they were confined to open-front houses 15 by 15 feet in size.

Until January 16 the following dry mash was fed to both groups ad libitum: Bran, 100 pounds, wheat middlings, 100 pounds, beef scrap, 30 pounds, bone meal, 5 pounds, salt, 1 pound. A mixture of white maize and wheat was also given as a scratch feed. From January 17, the following fattening ration was fed: Maize meal, 100 pounds, wheat middlings, 50 pounds, beef scrap, 20 pounds, lucerne meal, 20 pounds, salt, 1 pound, and in addition, wheat and yellow maize were given twice daily.

From May 28, 1919, to February 7, 1920, the average feed eaten (maize plus grain), by the capons and cockerels, respectively, was 63.28 pounds and 62 pounds, and the gains made were 6.95 pounds and 5.96 pounds.—H. H. Wallis, of Maryland State College of Agriculture.

Young Poultry Especially Susceptible to Disease

Turkeys, like other fowls, are subject to roup, but when the greater part of a half-grown flock dies there is a strong suspicion of something else than roup to be entertained, says the Rural New Yorker. Young poulters are especially subject to blackhead and coecidiosis, two diseases which have made it almost impossible to raise any large number of turkeys on farms where good-sized flocks were formerly reared without trouble. These diseases show themselves by drooping, weakness in walking, gradual loss of flesh, more or less diarrhea, and finally death. They attack young poulters from a few weeks of age until maturity. Usually a few survive out of any flock, but mature birds may also show these troubles and die after having become full grown.

There are two preventives that have gained some reputation in the treatment of these diseases, but nothing can be said to be anything like a certain cure. Powdered catechu may be given in the drinking water of the flock, one teaspoonful being added to each three gallons of water, this being done for three days at a time, with an interval of a day or two between the three-day periods. This is for coecidiosis. For blackhead, powdered ipecac, one teaspoonful in the mash for each twenty birds, old and young, may be given at intervals, beginning early. The symptoms of these two diseases are much alike.

Poultry Facts

The importance of strong, vigorous chicks cannot be overestimated.

One of the costs of running a poultry business is the death rate among laying stock.

Nothing is more discouraging than to start with a bunch of small, weak, puny chickens.

The poultry house need not be expensive or elaborate but must be roomy, well ventilated and convenient.

There are general rules for feeding, but sudden changes in weather, extreme cold or heat, or wind will make some change in the needs of the chickens. The age and breed of the laying flock also has its influence on feeding.

Some people cull their flocks quite successfully by selling those that are the last to leave the roost in the morning.

Blackhead is the most fatal turkey disease. Parasites causing it are carried by chickens, therefore keep the young "turks" and the chicks apart.

Male chicks grow faster than the females, and as early as two weeks of age there is a significant difference in the rate of growth between the sexes.

In order to lay well, a hen must have comfortable quarters. Hens may live and lay some, even when kept in a poor house, but a flock kept in a good house and given good care, is much more likely to be profitable.

Fowls a year old, when properly prepared, make good roasters; taken from the general yard, they are tough and fit only for soup. Cockerels ten or twelve weeks old will, by special fattening and inactivity, become plump very quickly.

GOOD TOWN

We may not know it, but outsiders have their eyes centered on Fulton as one of the best business towns in this section of the country with a bright future before it. Practically every day you will see some stranger "looking us over." A visitor at our office this week said that we had every advantage over the city retailer for selling merchandise and that instead of money leaving Fulton it should be coming in.

We were told that Goldsmith, "the Marshal Field of Memphis," paid $500 each day rent for the building they occupy and that their advertising account ran into the thousands of dollars weekly—just two little items the country merchant gives little consideration. But let Goldsmith keep his advertisement out of the papers 30 days and he would be on the eve of bankruptcy.

Yes, the country merchant has the advantage of the city retailer if he takes advantage of his opportunities.

Crutchfield News

Mrs. Marvin James died Monday night of last week. She had been ill since last winter when she had the flu while living in Detroit, it settled on her lungs and developed a case of tuberculosis. She was a woman of a very sweet and lovable disposition. She leaves a husband, Marvin Jones; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Simmons, and Mrs. Rosa Jackson, and one half brother, Roy Evans; and one brother, Otis Arant; and one little son, besides a host of friends and neighbors to mourn for her. She was a member of New Hope Baptist Church and her pastor, Rev. W. H. Williams preached her funeral at New Hope and she was laid to rest in the cemetery at Rock Spring, beside her baby boy, who preceded her to the grave a few short months ago. Our sympathy is with the broken-hearted husband and bereaved relatives and friends.

Mr. Roy Evans, of Detroit, is here for a few days. He came to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Marvin Jones.

Mrs. Will Wade has been suffering very great pain in her head caused by an abscess, so the doctor thinks.

Rev. Butler, of Martin, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Finch Saturday night and filled his appointment here Sunday.

The 13th of this month the friends and relatives of Mr. Jno. S. Nugent met at his son's, Mr. Oscar Nugent, and gave him a surprise birthday dinner. He is 81 years old and is quite spry for his age. The guests were: Miss Mary Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lawrence, Mrs. Irvine Jeffers and son, Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Nichols, Mrs. J. C. Sugg, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Alexander, Mr. Fred Barber, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sane, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patrick and son, Mr. Will Epperson, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Newberry, Mrs. Fannie Nugent, Mr. Virgil Nugent, J. S. Nugent, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Nugent and two sons, Robert and Ronald. A very happy day for the honoree and all present. It was a kind of joint celebration of Mr. Nugent and Mr. Yancy Nichols, as his birthday was the 14th. Many hearty congratulations and good wishes for many more happy birthdays were tendered them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bushart are the proud parents of a little son. Mrs. Bushart was formerly Miss Gay Rye and is at present with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rye.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harris are also entertaining a new boy.

The announcement of a certain wedding in these items a few weeks ago, was a little mixed and in a way premature. Instead of Moselle Williams and Guy Ledbetter getting married, it proved to be Moselle's brother, Alva and Miss Kara Isbel who were married. Moselle and Guy going with them. Now the table was turned last Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Alva Williams accompanied Moselle and Guy to the home of Mr. Adrian McDade, where the marital knot was tied. The young people will be at home for the present with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ledbetter.

The movie at the auditorium of the school building was attended by a large and appreciative audience last Friday evening.

Mr. Jack Fay, proprietor, will probably put on others in the near future. Why not some real plays, "Covered Wagon," "When a Man's a Man," and others of like fame? We might also have some agricultural shows along with the comedies. The literary society met Saturday evening. Quite a splendid audience enjoyed the program. Debate, "Resolved that the State Should Furnish Books for the Elementary Grades," was interestingly discussed by the affirmative, Maynard Reed, Maycolm Johns; Negative, Beecher and Guy Finch. Decision 2 for affirmative, 1 for negative.

Readings and music completed the program which was followed by some kindly criticism by Prof. Lowe, critic. Adjourned to meet two weeks later. Program to be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herron have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Doug Gibs. They returned to their home in Albuquerque, N. M., last Saturday.

Picking cotton and digging potatoes are the order of the day about here. Potato digging will probably wind up next week. But there likely be cotton in the field Christmas day by the indications at present. So far, potatoes have brought the farmers more money than any crop grown this year.

The orchestra met for practice at the home of W. H. Finch Sunday afternoon. All except two of the members were there and they made some splendid music. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kimberlin, Clay McConnell and Miss Evelyn Ray contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon with both vocal and instrumental music.

Mrs. Finch invited them back next third Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Golden invited them to play at their home next Sunday afternoon. The invitation was enthusiastically accepted. Since Miss Hooper left, the orchestra has rather neglected practice. This is worth too much to the community to permit its neglect.

The case was to have been tried during the last term of circuit court here, but Judge Hester refused to hear it. A number from Fulton are in attendance.

SICKLY, FEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge.
It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price

SIGN OF REAL HONEY

At a certain American factory honey was being put into jars. On the bench was a heap of dead bees, and the curious visitor wondered what they could be for.
"Wal," said the manager, "I guess
we put one bee into each jar."
"But why?" persisted the visitor.
"Because, sir," came the reply, "we like our customers to know they're getting genuine honey, so we just send
'em along the bug that made it."

Apropos

"I'll explain deduction," said the ter."

"By the way, John," broke in his father, "you might go out and sift the evidence."

To Wash Berries

Not every one knows how to wash strawberries. Hull a few berries at a time, drop them in a bowl of clean, cold water, and take them out immediately. Put them to drain dry in a colander. The sand and the juice does not have a change to run. Continue hulling and washing a few berries at a time. If you turn a whole quart of berries into a bowl at once, some will be watery and tasteless before all are taken out. If you put them in a col-ander and run water on them the sand from those above gets on those beneath.

HOT PACK CANNING
REDUCES SPOILAGE

Method Found to Be Quick and Easy to Operate.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Hot pack canning is the feature of a bulletin by Dr. Louise Stanley just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture telling how to can fruits and vegetables in the home.
The hot pack is a quick and easy method which combines all the good points of the other popular methods and has some additional advantages of its own.

Briefly, the hot pack method is to wash and otherwise prepare the vegetable or fruit for canning, cook it for ten or fifteen minutes in water or slurp in a kettle, pack it boiling hot into the glass jars or tin cans, and process in the water bath or pressure canner according to the time and temperature recommended. This short precooking of the fruit or vegetable wilts and shrinks it so that it can be packed more easily. It drives out the air and makes exhausting unnecessary. Most important of all, the food packed boiling hot into the jars or cans and put at once into the hot canner reaches the temperature required for processing far sooner than if it were packed cold, and makes possible shorter processing periods. Moreover, heat penetrates more uniformly during canning and the food in the center of the jar is more likely to be properly processed.
This cuts down the chances of spoilage, for it is proper processing more than all else that determines whether canned foods keep or spoil.

The directions given throughout the bulletin are concise. Wherever possible the scientific reasons behind them are stated so that the homemaker will understand why she must follow directions if she wants to put up foods that will keep. Types of water-bath canners for use with fruits and tomatoes and pressure canners for use with all other vegetables are described and illustrated. A series of pictures and brief statements give the steps in canning in glass jars and tin cans. Directions and time-tables for handling the various fruits and vegetables from apples to strawberries and from asparagus to sweet potatoes are included. Requests should be made to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin 1471-F, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables at Home."

PRONUNCIATION AID

June Webster, descendant of the famous lexicographer, Noah Webster presents a copy of her ancestor's work to the Publicity Department of the Sequel-Centennial International Exposition Association to help them in pronouncing properly the name of the big events which opens June 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says. It is "Seskwuh-con-ten-nial" with the accent on the first syllable of the "Sequel" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."

ONE IN A THOUSAND

"Jennie said I was one man in a thousand."
"Ridiculous! She's never engaged to so many."

Dressy coats of pile fabrics look as sumptuous as fur wraps with their luxurious collars, cuffs and other trimmings of soft fur. They adhere to the wrapped silhouette and side fastening and reflect the new season's modes in modified dolman sleeves, deep armholes and suggestions of the bloused waistline.

The One Occasion

where one must be absolutely sure is when a funeral director is called. One cannot afford to take a chance on inferior service at such a time.

It is mainly to teach folks
where to get the kind of service they will wish that these talks are appearing in this paper.

Circle No. 5 held a very interesting meeting last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. V. Brady on College street, with Mrs. Brady as hostess. There is a great deal of interest being manifested in the Study Course this circle is sponsoring this fall. The devotional service for this meeting was exceedingly interesting, and during the social hour the hostess served sandwiches and coffee.

Those in attendance at the First Baptist Church on last Sunday night experienced a real treat when Mr. Coleman Craig, a native of Texas, gave an illustrated lecture on his recent travels in Palestine. The lecture and pictures were very instructive, as well as entertaining, and this was a privilege that does not come our way every day.

The B. Y. P. U. delegates from our local Union to the convention in Madisonville, have returned, reporting a very enthusiastic meeting. The 1927 session will be held in Mayfield, Ky.

Last Sunday was a beautiful day and a splendid crowd attended both the morning and evening services; also splendid attendance at the Sunday School, and two extra good sermons by the pastor. The prayer meeting was well attended this week.

The Yo-Po-Mi-So's met Monday at the home of Wilma House. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Granberry, and opened with scripture lesson, followed with short business session. The roll was called and answered with current events from mission field. Miss Ava Neele Green gave a splendid report of the Missionary conference held last week at Mt. Zion.

Elizabeth Butt gave an interesting talk on study of Sue Bennett Memorial School. Mrs. Payne gave some interesting facts about our "home work." Little Miss Susie Fall favored us with a reading. During the social hour the hostess, assisted by her mother, served delicious refreshments to 24 members. The Warner Blackards will meet Monday, place to be announced later.

Church News

Dr. Boyd will go to Columbus on Saturday unless the weather conditions prevent, where he will hold the usual Sunday services.

Seemingly it is not generally understood that the Sunday evening services have been resumed at Trinity church. There will be held an evening service every Sunday from now on till the coming of hot weather.

The Woman's Guild met last Monday at the home of the president, Mrs. Don Taylor, at which time the usual monthly business was attended to.

Mrs. Lydia Sanders continues to be quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Binford.

Mrs. Don Taylor, assisted by members of the Woman's Guild gave Trinity Church a thorough fall cleaning on Monday.

Choir practice will be held each Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. All members of the choir are requested to be present.

Dr. Boyd has received a number of copies of "The Church at Work" for distribution. This number contains a letter from Presiding Bishop Murray, outlining the program of the evangelistic campaign that has just started, and a number of other very interesting articles on church work.

Attendance at the Church School is steadily increasing and bids fair to continue now that the weather has become more agreeable.

The choir has resumed its activities and the music furnished on last Sunday morning was greatly appreciated by the congregation.

In case the weather does not permit of Dr. Boyd's going to Columbus to hold services next Sunday there will be morning service as usual. As there will be no opportunity to advertise this fact, members are warned to listen for the first bell at 11 o'clock, which will be rung if service is to be held.

Dr. Boyd and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoar at an evening dinner, at their home last Friday evening.
