BACKUSBURG

"Level Head" Writes Entertainingly and Gives some Advice Worth Heeding.

We are having some fine weather and the farmers are making use of it, burning plant beds. Uncle Tea Edwards happened to a very painful accident the other day, got his ankle knocked out of place.

Little Robbie Watson has been very sick for the past week. A little child of Hub Riley has pneumonia.

Arthur Hollifield had a child bitten by a dog last week.

We haven't but one marriage to report: Harvie Brown to Miss Bessie Newson. But I think if Talmage Crawford keeps coming down this way there will be another.

Miss Effie Watson has gone to Kirksey to attend school.

Miss Dollie Smith has gone to Murray to attend school.

Charley Brown, of Brown's Grove, is teaching a writing school at Watson school house.

Brother John White will preach at Mt. Olive the coming year.

Another year with its record of joys and sorrows, happiness and misery, sunshine and shadows, good deeds and bad, is now buried in the cemetery of time. The record of 1908 is a sealed volume. The recording angel has laid it away against that day when all our actions will be reviewed by the Great Judge.

I hope "Rattling Joe" and "Red Head" will let them stay buried, and as long as they write such letters as they have been sending out they will never stay buried, for they will scratch them up. They have gone from night riding to turnip patches, from penitentiary to the asylum, old gray mules, flour, molasses, O, shame! They won't let the dead rest. They brought in the little baby coffins. Say, Joe, those living in glass houses should never throw a stone. Are you making the world better or worse? Never write things unless you are sure they are perfectly right. Instead of writing something that will make somebody feel bad or cause bad feeling among one another let all this alone. If your neighbor can't afford a brick house like yours don't burlesque him through the paper. He may be doing the best he can. Instead of this try to make somebody happy every day of your life. If you can't hand out money you can hand out kind words, instead of hard cruel ones. Instead of your trying to put down night riding you are causing more sin to be committed. So let us stop this for God's sake. Let us journey forth into the new year full of hope and faith. God has led us through the past centuries and has led us onward and upward. Let us place our hand in his and walk bravely by and trustingly on, doing our very best as citizens and brothers to make this world better. With no ill will to "Rattling Joe" or "Red Head" I close.

Resolutions.

On Jan. 8, 1909, the sweet spirit of Mrs. O. T. Hale was gently wafted to its heavenly home.

In the name of the Christian Sunday School, of Murray, Ky., the committee offers the following resolutions.

Resolved, That we express our great grief for the loss of one so loved, one whose presence was like a ray of sunshine, one who was ever ready to do the Master's work, and one who was a living example of truth and purity.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved husband and family our most profound sympathy in this their great affliction, and point them to the Father of Mercies who comforted us in all our tribulations.

Resolved, That we, her friends and neighbors, pause amid the turmoil and strife of this life, and consider, that our brethren and friends are silently, one by one, passing to the great beyond; and that we should imitate the example of our deceased sister, and so live that when our summons come, we may hear our Father proclaim, "well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the family, and to the city papers for publication, and that they be placed on the S. S. record.

MISS LULA HOLLAND.

A Horrible Hold-Up.

"About ten years ago my brother was 'held up' in his work, health and happiness by what was believed to be hopelessly consumption," writes W. R. Lipscomb, of Washington, N. C. "He took all kinds of remedies and treatment from several doctors, but found no help till he used Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles. He is a well man to-day."

It's quick to relieve and the surest cure for weak or sore lungs, hemorrhages, Coughs and Colds, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Asthma and all Bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. D. Thornton & Co.

Enslaved By New Modes.

Women seem to have sacrificed much of their individuality to the present fashions. Instead of adapting the new gowns to suit their own style, they have made themselves over—hair, figure, walk and all—to harmonize with the Directorate and Empire modes.

Up to a certain extent much consistency is to be highly commended, of course. But, carried too far, it becomes wearisome. The modern elegants is a most attractive type—graceful and picturesque. But it is to be hoped that the American woman will keep the whip hand on her wardrobe and remember that her own personality is more interesting than the personality of her clothes.

Wear the new gowns by all means—they are charming—but wear them as if they belonged to you and not you to them. That is where the woman who plans her own clothes is often more successful in suiting herself than the woman who goes to the best tailors and dressmakers. The woman who supervises her own wardrobe naturally gives vent to her own tastes and is guided by her own judgment.—The February Delineator.

Lexington, Ky.—In circuit court, Bill Britton, of Breathitt county, charged with the assassination of James Cockrell at Jackson, was dismissed, the prosecutor believing conviction impossible. This wipes out all indictments for murder in Breathitt county cases on the Fayette docket having been brought here on change of venue. Britton was sentenced here to life imprisonment for the Cockrell murder, but the appellate court gave him a new trial.

Louisville, Ky.—M. Sabel & Sons obtained from the circuit court a temporary order upon the Pennsylvania railroad, to force that company to accept for shipment a carload of hides, to be taken to a point in New York state. The plaintiffs allege in their complaint that the defendants had entered into an agreement with other railroads requiring shippers to load their own shipments, and also that the rates had been arbitrarily increased.

Paducah, Ky.—Alf H. Cardin, of New Albany, Ind., until recently a resident of Crittenden county, Kentucky, filed suit in the United States court here against William Neal and 100 other alleged night riders of Marshall, Crittenden, Caldwell, Trigg and Lyons counties, for $16,000 damages. Cardin claims the men burned his tobacco warehouse at View on the night of February 8, 1908, and compelled him to leave the state. Cardin ten years ago ran for governor on the populist ticket.

Ford, Ky.—Frank Lafferty, fireman on fast passenger train No. 34, running from Atlanta, Ga., to Cincinnati, was killed in No. 9 tunnel, one mile south of here. It is supposed that he was putting a fire in his engine when he lost his balance and fell out.

Louisville, Ky.—The executive committee of the Kentucky Bankers' association, at its meeting here turned loose an avalanche of disappointed men the Postal Savings bank declaring the proposed institution to be a menace to best interests of banking.

CATARRH IN HEAD.

Peruna Peruna.

MR. WM. A. PRESSER.

MR. WILLIAM A. PRESSER, 1722 Third Ave., Moline, Ill., writes:
"I have been suffering from catarrh in the head for the past two months and tried innumerable so-called remedies without avail. No one knows how I have suffered not only from the disease itself, but from mortification when in company of friends or strangers."
"I have used two bottles of your medicine for a short time only, and it effected a complete medical cure, and what is better yet, the disease has not returned."

Read this experience.
"Mr. A. Thompson, Box 65, R. R. 1, Martel, Ohio, writes: 'When I began your treatment my eyes were inflamed, nose was stopped up half of the time, and was sore and scabby. I could not rest at night on account of continual hawking and spitting.'"
"I had tried several remedies and was about to give up, but thought I would try Peruna."

"After I had taken about one-third of a bottle I noticed a difference. I am now completely cured, after suffering with catarrh for eighteen years."
"I think if those who are afflicted with catarrh would try Peruna they would never regret it."

Peruna is manufactured by the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio. Ask your Druggist for a Free Peruna Almanac for 1909.

He Wouldn't Sell.

The owner of a small country estate decided to sell his property, and consulted an estate agent in the nearest town about the matter. After visiting the place the agent wrote a description of it, and submitted it to his client for approval.

"Read that again," said the owner, closing his eyes and leaning back in his chair contentedly.
After the second reading he was silent a few moments, and then said, thoughtfully: "I don't think I'll sell. I've been looking for that kind of a place all my life, but until you read that description I didn't know I had it! No, I won't sell now!"—Exchange.

His Vocabulary.

He was an only child. They were very particular about his manner of speech, constantly correcting him so that he would use beautiful English. He, however, was allowed now and then to associate with other children. He played with a neighbor boy a long while one day and when he came home there was an ecstatic smile on his face.

"I like that boy, mother," he said. "I like him very much. He swears beautifully. He knows every word."

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW

Proved a Wise, Good Friend.

A young woman who in Ia. found a wise, good friend in her mother-in-law, jokes notwithstanding. She writes: "It is two years since we began using Postum in our house. I was greatly troubled with my stomach, complexion, was blotchy and yellow. After meals I often suffered sharp pains and would have to lie down. My mother often told me it was the coffee I drank at meals. But when I quit coffee I had a severe headache."

"While visiting my mother-in-law I remarked that she always made such good coffee, and asked her to tell me how. She laughed and told me it was easy to make good 'coffee' when you use Postum."
"I began to use Postum as soon as I got home, and now we have the same good 'coffee' (Postum) every day, and I have no more trouble. Indigestion is a thing of the past, and my complexion has cleared up beautifully."

"My grandmother suffered a great deal with her stomach. Her doctor told her to leave off coffee. She then took tea but that was just as bad."

"She finally was induced to try Postum which she has used for over a year. She traveled during the winter over the greater part of Iowa, visiting, something she had not been able to do for years. She says she owes her present good health to Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Vanille," in which "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? It is one of the many stories to prove that Peruna is genuine, true, and full of good interest.

A REIGN OF INFAMY.

Calloway county is now witnessing the greatest political upheaval ever known in its history. The recent decision of State Central Committeeman, W. A. Berry, in ruling that five precincts of Calloway were without committees because their certificates of election were not signed by a mass meeting secretary, has served to add fuel to the flame, and hundreds of democrats are open in their expressions of condemnation. The Ledger expected to be able to review conditions at length this week but will defer the matter for a short time. Without question some of the most disgraceful acts known to Kentucky politics have been committed in this county. The people, in answer to the party's call, assembled on Saturday, Nov. 21, and elected their precinct committeemen, and the fact that five of the number would not bow the neck and bend the knee that favor might follow fawning, they are hocus-pocus, presto change, declared not elected. In fewer words their places are stolen from them and by the very element that has raised the mighty cry of law and its enforcement. Then later to fill these vacancies a fly-by-night election is called in each of the five precincts by the usurpers and the results of this bob-cat affair in Almo and South Brinkley is a prostitution of justice, a violation of every principle of democracy and decency. Monarchy breeds anarchy, and the faction or party that attempts to rule with the iron rod will not find their a flowery bed of ease, and the people whose right of suffrage is denied them, who are robbed of justice and made serfs will rise in their indignation and blot out the oppressors.

Why were these committeemen removed? No man questions their election, which was almost unanimous in each precinct. Who does it benefit? Was it for the good of the people? Will the honest citizenship, the citizenship that believes in a square deal for every man, in doing right in all things, everywhere, endorse what has been done? Not so. The forces that are bringing about this reign of infamy will be made to halt by the honest citizens whom they now expect to hoodwink and cajole into becoming a party to the crime.

FEW KNOW THIS

Shake the Ingredients Well in Bottle and Take Teaspoonful Dose After Meals.

Few people here know that you can cure that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, everyday drugs found in any drug store. The prescription is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter, which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache.

Intolerance.

There ought not to be any political question that cannot be discussed with a tolerant respect for opposing opinions. No matter what the question may be, there can be honest difference of opinion concerning it. It is bad manners and poor policy to insist, or imply, that the men who differ with you are rascals or hypocrites or ignorant. All the good and honest men are not in one party or faction or on one side of a given question; nor are all the bad men. The devil belongs to all parties and factions, takes an active part on both sides in all acrimonious contentions, and laughs with "ghoulish glee" when hard names are called and motives are impugned.—Nashville Banner.

GERMS

In Her System.—Every Woman
Should Read This.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of the catarrhal germs in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

This is the only way to cure Catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh is caused by a germ. That germ is carried by the blood to the innermost part of the system until the mucous membrane is broken, irritation and inflammation produced, and a flow of mucous results, and you can probably realize how silly it is to attempt to cure such an ailment unless you take a medicine that follows the same course as the germ or parasite.

Revall Mucu-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made his specialty Catarrh, and with this medicine he averaged 98 per cent. of cures where it was employed. No other remedy is so properly designed for the ailments of women. It will purify and enrich the blood, stop mucous discharge, destroy all germ matter, remove all impurities from the system, soothe, heal and strengthen the mucous tissues, and bring about a good feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Revall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Revall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00.—Dale & Stubblefield.

Elmo Sledd's many friends in Murray will be pleased to learn of his continued success in the banking business at Ft. Worth, Tex. At a recent meeting of the directors of the Ft. Worth National Bank Mr. Sledd was elected cashier of the institution. This bank is one of the largest financial institutions in the west and the promotion of our former townsman to the responsible position of cashier is a fitting recognition of his splendid ability. Mr. Sledd is a brother of Mrs. Rella Hale and a son of J. Z. Sledd, deceased, and one of the number of young men reared in our little city who has gone out into the world and achieved success.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Murray
People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Murray residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. 'Tis emphatic and convincing. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. H. B. Miller, Murray, Ky., says: "I had such severe pains in my back that I could not stoop and whenever I lifted, sharp twinges would dart through my loins. My back ached at night and in the morning when I awoke, I was very lame. During the day I became tired easily and occasionally I suffered from nervous spells, headaches and attacks of dizziness. There was a sediment in the kidney secretions and the passages were so frequent as to greatly annoy me. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store and they gave me relief in a short time. I continued using them and was cured. I am glad to say the cure has been permanent. I think very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills."

And yes, it's a boy at Emmett Bazzell's.

Dr. J. H. Razzell, wife and daughter, of Gibson, Tenn., came in last Tuesday, the 5th, and spent a few days with their parents, Rev. D. N. Razzell and wife.

Miss Ethel Smith spent last week in Paducah with Mrs. Cole. Erman Wright is at Centreville, Tenn., in school.

The "Big 4" certainly did hold an interesting election here on last Wednesday, the 6th, to elect a committeeman for the democrats of this precinct. We presume that only "4" knew anything of it, as the notice of election was in a very secluded spot, not at all in a public view to the casual observer, only to the eyes of the "notorious four." Such may seem good to some, but not to the masses. But such is life in Calloway county.

Lame Shoulder. This is a common form of muscular rheumatism. No internal treatment is needed. Apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely twice a day and a quick cure is certain. This liniment has proven especially valuable for muscular and chronic rheumatism, and is also most excellent for sprains and bruises. Price, 25 cents, large size 50 cents. For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM

Every case of Rheumatism has its origin and its development in the blood. It is not a disease which is contracted like a cold, but it is in the blood and system before a pain is felt, and the changes in the weather or any physical irregularities, such as a spell of indigestion, bowel disturbance, etc., are merely the exciting causes producing the pains and aches, which are the natural symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid and other corrosive, irritating poisons in the blood, which are carried through the circulation to every part of the system. Every muscle, nerve, membrane, tissue and joint becomes saturated with these acid, irritating impurities, or coated with fine, insoluble caustic matter, and the sharp, piercing pains or the dull, constant aches are felt with every physical movement. When the blood is filled with uric acid poison, permanent relief cannot be expected from liniments, plasters, or other external treatment. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to conquer Rheumatism and bring about a complete cure, the uric acid and other inflammatory matter must be expelled, and this cannot be done with external treatment. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect and entirely vegetable blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids, and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues and producing pain, enriches the weak, sour blood, and removes every atom of impurity from the circulation. So instead of being a weak, sour stream, distributing uric acid to the different parts of the system, the blood is strong and healthy and therefore able to supply every muscle, nerve, bone and tissue with nourishment and strength. Then the inflammation and swelling subside, the pains and aches cease, and not only is Rheumatism permanently cured, but under the fine tonic effects of S. S. S. the entire general health is benefited and built up. In all forms of Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, S. S. S. will be found a safe and reliable treatment. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice you desire will be furnished free.

Are You Sick?

Much sickness is due to a weak nervous system. Yours may be. If it is, you cannot get well until you restore nerve strength. Your nervous system is nature's power house; the organs of your body get their power from it. If the power is not there, the action of the organs is weak, and disease (sickness) follows. Dr. Miles' Nervine cures the sick because it soothes the irritated and tired nerves and gives the system a chance to recuperate. Try it, and see if you do not quickly feel its beneficial effect.

No Phosphates No Alum

The Funny Bone

By FRANK T. McINTYRE, Comedian.

A laugh is a brother to a tear. It is a matter of common knowledge among criminologists that the more hardened the criminal the less susceptible he is to humor—in fact, the greater the criminal instinct the less the development of the sense of humor. It is also a matter of universal knowledge that a misanthrope is devoid of humor, and by the same process of reasoning it follows that the philanthropist is keenly alive to the mirth-provoking qualities of a good story or a clever witticism. It does not follow that the higher developed educational homo is a better audience than he who has had no such opportunities for mental aggrandizement.

Humor is not peculiar to any country or nationality—each nation has its own peculiar ideas as to what constitutes humor. The psychology of a laugh can be defined as the outburst of a healthy mental condition possessed by one who is quick to see the point of a joke or the risibilities of a situation. With the actor more than with any other individual, clear enunciation and exactness of delivery is necessary to provoke laughter. His one great aid, however, is the situations provided by the author, which aid materially in his aim to keep his audience in good humor.

I have found in my experience as an actor that climatic conditions have also much to do with the receptive character of the audience so far as provoking laughs. The northerner is quicker to acknowledge the point of a joke than his brother of the south, and, notwithstanding much that has been said to the contrary, New York women are not far behind the men in their ability to discern the humorous character of a situation or a line. At the matinees, where children are more in evidence than at evening performances, juveniles enjoy a laugh as well as their elders, and generally show their appreciation of the efforts of the actor to amuse in a more pronounced fashion.

Open the Libraries on Sunday

By ARTHUR M. WATSON,
Sec'y Carpenters Dist. Council, Boston.

We may answer the question, "Why should public libraries be open Sunday mornings?" by asking another: "Why should they not be open Sunday mornings if a sufficient number of their patrons desire it?"

We will assume that public libraries are what the name implies, and that the Boston library was really "erected by the munificence of citizens and dedicated to the advancement of learning." Such an important part of the equipment of Boston should be available to those of its citizens whose occupations keep them busily engaged during the week days, and if they are to share in the culture, knowledge and entertainment which are gained by access to the shelves of this public institution, it must be opened at a reasonably early hour on Sunday mornings.

The causes which have led up to the closing of this institution on Sunday mornings will bear analysis. From an executive who in another state will advocate a superannuation pension for city employees, while at home these same employees are being discharged by the wholesale, if with striking distance of superannuation, such petty economies might well be expected.

If the influence of any or all of the various religious denominations has been used to bring this about, in order indirectly to increase the attendance at church services, it should be sharply resented. The people will choose for themselves where they will spend their time, and church attendance should be voluntary, not forced.

If employees in the library department wish (and very properly) a legitimate and reasonable amount of time for their own purposes, they should not discourage the appointment of sufficient substitutes or assistants to permit of the public being served as is its right. Organized labor will sympathize with and back up these employees in any demand for proper hours and remuneration, but will not regard their positions as sacred, or their duties of such importance as to preclude the possibility of their places being filled by trained substitutes on Sunday mornings.

The public library is a great educational and leaving influence in the community, and no curtailment of its service should be permitted, which would work an injustice upon that part of the community whose intellectual and ethical necessities are largely bounded by the opportunities for study, research and entertainment there provided.

Suffrage for All But Idiots

By Congressman Geo. A. Pease,
Maryland.

I believe in universal suffrage, limited only by idiosyncrasy and conviction of crime. As founded, this was a government of all the people, by all the people, and for all the people, and not a government of all the people by a part of the people and for a part of the people.

Universal suffrage is the ideal method of control in popular government and the effort and tendency should be continually to remove rather than to add restrictions to the freedom of its exercise and to comprehend within its benefits, rather than to exclude therefrom, all possible classes of our inhabitants. In the highest exemplification of popular government there is no place for any portion of the governed who do not participate in government.

With the merest probationary residence we continually bestow upon those of foreign birth the boon of American citizenship, while we exclude therefrom that very large portion of our female population consisting of the mothers, the sisters, and the daughters of the Republic, most of them of high intelligence and patriotism. We thus lose from the electorate a haven the addition of which thereto would go as far to save us from the dangers which may confront us through the great mass of ignorance and viciousness in the electorate at as present constituted.

Jokes Can Win Laughs in Every Nation

MORAL SENSE IS FORGOTTEN

Hard to Understand Why Distinction Between Right and Wrong is Not Present in Dreams.

But if, as many writers have suggested, it is the soul itself that guides the imagery of dreams, how are we to explain the fact that in this chaos of ideas and feelings there is so little distinction between right and wrong that, when dreaming, we commit acts for which we should weep tears of blood were they as real as they seem to be. As Prof. Hoffman has said: "The familiar check of waking hours, 'I must not do it because it would be unjust or unkind,' never once seems to arrest us in the satisfaction of any whim which may blow about our wayward fancies." From all of which we must conclude that the dream realm is a world that is entirely oblivious to any moral sense, and that, though it may be true that a troubled conscience may produce or affect our dreams, the dreams themselves are never burdened with a conscience. John R. Meader, in Bohemian.

OBJECT TO AGE LIMIT.

Boston's teachers are making a loud outcry against a new rule of the school authorities fixing 70 years as the age limit for active service. "If this rule goes into effect," says one of the spokesmen for the pedagogues, "one-fifth of the heads of Boston schools will be forced out. How would any large institution or store dare discharge that number of its heads, simply because they are 70 years of age? According to the school board, President Eliot of Harvard must have been for the last five years a detriment to that institution."

AUTHOR DIED 38 YEARS AGO.

It has been called to the attention of those interested that the poem, "Little Drops of Water," was written by Frances Sargent Osgood, who died in Hingham, Mass., in 1850. She was a contributor to the Ladies' Companion of those days and wrote several books of poems. Recently the authorship of the poem was attributed to the late Mrs. Julia Carney of Galesburg, Ill., who probably never considered the poem her own except in the sense of having copied it for use in her Sunday school class.

The Compact

Harriet Blake came down the sloping fir-fringed road from the village at a leisurely pace. Usually she walked with a long, determined stride, but the drowsy, mellowing influences of the autumn afternoon were upon her and filled her with placid content.

Without being actively conscious of it, she was satisfied with the existing circumstances of her life. It was half over now. The half that was yet to be lived stretched before her tranquil and uneventful, like the afternoon, filled with pleasant duties and interesting days. Harriet liked the prospect.

When she came to her own lane she paused and gazed affectionately at her home—hers and Lucy's. She could see old Rover asleep on the front porch, and Lucy's white cat stretched out on the parlor window sill.

There was no other sign of life about the place. Harriet drew a long breath of satisfaction, as she rested her arms on the top of the whitewashed gatepost and enjoyed the beauty of the beds of scarlet and purple asters.

Ten years before this, when Henry Walton jilted Lucy Foster, Lucy and Harriet, then alone in the world, except for each other, and in their late twenties, solemnly promised that they would never marry and would always live together.

It was Lucy who first proposed their mutual promises, and Harriet had grasped at it eagerly. Previous to this the thought that Lucy would marry always opened up to her the dizzy possibilities of change, but now her mind was at ease. In her eyes a promise was a sacred thing.

Reluctantly, Harriet went slowly toward the house. "What a beautiful day," she said, aloud. "I've been gone longer than I intended. I wonder if Lucy's been lonesome?"

When she entered the house, Lucy opened the parlor door. A warm, rich color suffused her cheeks, and she wore a bunch of lavender asters in her belt. She looked almost girlish and Harriet gazed at her in admiration.

"I wish you'd come in here for a few moments, Harriet," said Lucy, nervously.

Harriet followed silently into the room.

"Harriet," she began faintly, "Henry Walton was here this afternoon, and—"

"Henry Walton, back," interrupted Harriet, in an emotionless voice. She removed her hat mechanically, carefully replacing the pins. She felt as if she had a severe shock, and her heart sank at the prospect of being left without a soul to love and care for.

"I should think he'd be ashamed to come here. What did he want?" she asked, with studied carelessness.

"He asked me to marry him. I told him to come to-morrow night for his answer," replied Lucy, miserably.

She looked at Harriet beseechingly. Harriet did not speak. She stood tall and unrelenting by the table. The rigidity of her face and figure smote Lucy like a blow. She threw out her hands imploringly, and spoke with a sudden passion utterly foreign to her.

"Harriet, I want to marry him. I never thought he'd come back when I promised. You'll let me off my promise, won't you?"

"No," answered Harriet. Lucy's hands fell limply to her side, and the light went out of her eyes.

"You won't?" she said, hopelessly.

Harriet went out. At the door she turned. "A few years ago I said 'No' for your sake. To my mind, a promise is a promise."

"He shan't get her," whispered Harriet, fiercely, to herself. "She promised." Somehow she found comfort in repeating the words, "She promised."

After Henry Walton had gone the next evening, Lucy went up to Harriet's room. As she stood in the narrow doorway, the lamp light fell on her wan face with gruesome effect.

"I've sent him away. I've kept my promise, Harriet," she said, lifelessly.

There was silence for a moment. Harriet did not know what to say. Suddenly Lucy burst out bitterly:

"I wish I were dead!" and went quickly to her room. Harriet gave a moan of pain. This was her reward for all the love and care she had lavished on Lucy.

"Well, I'm not going to fret," she said. "She promised, and she was the first to suggest the promise."

In the month that followed tragedy held grim sway in the little house in the lane. Lucy did her work listlessly, and these two women who were wont to talk animatedly to each other were now miserably silent.

Harriet would have felt relieved if Lucy had upbraided her, but after her outburst on the night she sent Walton away, Lucy had never uttered a word of complaint.

One evening Harriet made a neighborly call in the village. Henry Walton was there and gallantly insisted on seeing her home. She understood from his unaltered manner that Lucy had not told him why she had refused him, and she felt a sudden admiration for Lucy's silence.

When they reached the house, through the lighted window they saw Lucy sitting alone, with her arms folded on the table and her head bowed on them. Her white cat sat motionless beside her.

Harriet gave a gasp of surprise. "Come in," she said, harshly. "Lucy's lonesome."

"She told me not to come again," replied Walton, dejectedly. "She doesn't care for me now."

"Oh, doesn't she?" Harriet spoke bitterly. "She thinks more of you than she does of me for all I've— but, never mind. It's all my fault. She'll explain. Tell her I said she could. Go in to her, she wants you."

She took the still reluctant Walton by the arm, and opening the front door led him into the parlor. Lucy arose in amazement. Over Walton's head she could see Harriet's face, tragic and determined.

"Mr. Walton wishes to speak to you, Lucy," she said, "and I give you back your promise."

She shut the door quickly upon the sudden illumination of Lucy's face and went upstairs with the tears rolling down her cheeks.

"It's my turn now to wish I were dead," she said, forlornly.

SAW HIS NAME ON TOMBSTONE.

A favorite pastime of Francis E. Ash of Westfield, Mass., was to point out his name among "the honored dead" on the soldiers' monument in Springfield. Ash was wounded nine times and left for dead at Gettysburg. After a military funeral had been held in his native town, his name had been chiseled on the soldiers' monument. Ash returned home to die from natural causes more than 50 years later.

TERNS

BEAUTIFUL BIRD SACRIFICED BY WOMAN'S VANITY.

Once Was Plentiful Along the Coast from Maine to Florida. But Now It is Terminated.

Bird lovers have missed the little sea bird called the roseate, the smallest of all the terns, much bigger than a robin, and white in color, with a capped head and wide spreading wings.

This little bird, not many years breeding in countless thousands along the coast from Maine to Florida, has almost entirely exterminated for millinery purposes.

There is little hope of restoring the species to the desolated grounds of the south, but a few terns left, estimated at about scattered along the coast north of Virginia. Of these few living along the southern islands of Massachusetts, showing increasing numbers through the efforts of the Audubons and the protective work of their wardens.

Among the many species of birds sought by plume hunters, least tern was especially desired because of its small, neat, completeness. A single bird needed but a bit of wire and make it all up jauntily on a look alive.

Thus the little roseate tern, which even more rapidly than the gulls, till it called in the wholesale when the Audubons secured forced protection laws.

So rare has the roseate come, that many bird lovers with the various other kinds and with all the gull and hardly know it by sight.

Mr. Edward Howe, former biologist of the Massachusetts board of agriculture, and charge of Audubon interest in New England states for the association of Audubon societies recently returned from a tour of inspection along the back shore of Cod and Buzzards bay, and over islands of Vineyard along the more remote beaches of Martha's Vineyard.

With pack on his back and about in chance duties, seeking of this almost-lost little sea bird, the daintiest and loveliest we have.

Under the protection of warring terns, sometimes called "tattlers," or "modies," creased rapidly on the island, kesse, Muskeget and Wepec past few years, till some

TESTIMONIAL

Mr. Freeman Rodgers, who lives 5 miles N. E. of Murray is a farmer and stock raiser of considerable experience. Listen what he says about Rawleigh's stock food: "I have been a farmer all my life and have taken a great interest in stock raising in which I have been reasonably successful. I have always tried to get the most out of my stock at the least possible expense, to do this its necessary to use some kind of a conditioner or stock food. I have used a great many different brands of stock food, but after feeding 100 lbs. of Rawleigh's Medicated stock food I am free to confess it's the best I ever fed. I find it pays to feed it to growing colts, I find young mules will do as well on 3 or 4 ears of corn with stock food as they will do on 5 or 6 without stock food."

I Have The Fastest Pacing Stallion in Calloway County

and I only feed him 3 ears of corn at a feed with Rawleighs stock food and he keeps in good flesh and full of life. I feed Rawleighs stock food to my jack and I find he is more sure to fold. If all stock raisers would use Rawleighs stock food before breeding they would be more sure of a fold. It is just as needful to tone your mare's system before breeding as it is to prepare your land before planting a crop. I am never lousy in recommending any kind of preparation but after giving Rawleighs stock food a thorough trial I have written this testimonial and desire to have you publish it for the benefit of stock raisers. Hoping every man will look to his own interest in stock raising with full confidence that all who use Rawleighs stock food will and it as I have, an added profit rather than an added expense."

Respectfully yours,

FREEMAN F. RODGERS,

R. F. D. No. 3 Murray, Ky.

BAD STOMACH

And all Misery From Indigestion Vanishes Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Dyspepsin in the house as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night. This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take one triangle after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are also of Swamp-Root, sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Wadesboro.

Ye scribe had the good fortune to be one of about 60 or 70 to attend a very sumptuous dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson at their home in honor of Mrs. Jackson's 54th birthday, and to say it was a swell affair hardly does justice to the occasion. The table was some 16 or 18 feet long and covered from end to end with goodies, and I sure did justice to it as I never get these good things at home. After dinner we repaired to the parlor, where we had some very enjoyable music, rendered by Mr. Charley Bennett on the violin, seconded by Mr. Leslie Jackson on the guitar, and I tell you my old foot would keep time with the music sure. After the enjoyable dinner and music Mr. Jackson, who never half-way does anything, had Mr. McCristian, the artist from Hardin out there, and all were arranged for a picture. Mr. Mc. says it will show up all O. K.

No special news here. Some sickness.

No deaths to report.

I notice Judge Wells is the recipient of a fat job, given him by Governor Wilson, and am satisfied he will fill the place with credit to himself and to his country. Now who will the Governor appoint to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Wells's resignation? A good man I hope.

For fear of being too tedious will swing off.

Yours for a happy New Year. GUESS.

CATARH IN HEAD.

Peruna-Peruna.

MR. WM. A. PRESSER.

MR. WILLIAM A. PRESSER, 172 Third Ave., New York, N. Y., writes:

"I have been suffering from catarrh in the head for the past two months and tried innumerable so-called remedies without avail. No one knows how I have suffered, not only from the disease itself, but from mortification when in company of friends or strangers."

"I have used two bottles of your medicine for a short time only, and it effected a complete medical cure, and what is better yet, the disease has not returned."

"I can most emphatically recommend Peruna to all sufferers from this disease."

Read This Experience.

Mr. A. Thompson, Box 65, R. R. 1, Martel, Ohio, writes: "When I began your treatment my eyes were inflamed, nose was stopped up half of the time, and was sore and scabby. I could not rest at night on account of continual hacking and spitting."

"I had tried several remedies and was about to give up, but thought I would try Peruna."

"After I had taken about one-third of a bottle I noticed a difference. I am now completely cured, after suffering with catarrh for eighteen years."

"I think if those who are afflicted with catarrh would try Peruna they would never regret it."
