COUNT LA GONZALEZ;—

"The Two Wedding Rings."

--COMPLETE STORY--

"LIEF you, Harry!—not without judgment or sense."

"Love and marriage, my good friend!

ought to consult me too, as I am

her doctor."

"The least of the desired requisites—

a tall and noble-looking man."

"If I had been consulted, I would not have advised you to consult

her."

"Tell me, Madam, is he a good man?"

"I cannot say, but I believe he is,

true to his word."

"But to tell you seriously, love me as well or better than be more agreeable to you. Tell you do."

"Tell you 6O indeed" said Sadie,

roguish little head scornfully.

Sadie; remember only this, that you would bet you your wedding ring

after all, find it in your heart to
