Chicago - Wheat.

Thursday at the Chicago Board of Trade, wheat closed at 70 1/2 cents per bushel. In the afternoon, large sales of wheat were reported, with the price up to 77c. No special cause was assigned for the sudden advance beyond a steady demand and decreasing stocks.

Notice.

OFFICE BANK OF HOPKINSVILLE, KY. The annual meeting of stockholders of the Bank of Hopkinsville will be held on Monday, July 12th, 1886, at banking hours in Hopkinsville, for the election of five directors to serve for the ensuing year, as required by the charter of said bank. Time of voting from 9 o'clock a. m. until 3 o'clock p. m.

E. P. CAMPBELL, President.

High Freight and Low Wheat.

The rates on shipments of wheat from Hopkinsville to New York are 45 cents per cwt, or 27 cents per bushel. No wonder that wheat brings only 60 cents a bushel in this market. Farmers can see from these figures that they are equally interested with merchants in getting lower freights. If charges were what fair competition would make, then wheat would sell to-day in this market for 70 cents a bushel, which would increase the wealth of the farmer the sum of $65,000, or nearly the total amount voted by Hopkinsville for railroad aid.

Secret Marriage.

The Call Telephone says that Mr. J. W. Beasley of Montgomery, visited Miss Annie Smith at her parents home in Caldwell county last Sunday and accompanied her parents by kissing her when handing her to his buggy. When the old man told him that he must cease his visits the young man drew from his pocket a certificate of the clergyman who had tied the nuptial knot. Whereupon he informed Mrs. Beasley that he no longer interposed any objection to the contemplated divorce.

Dr. G. Goldstein.

The above well-known optician, son of Dr. A. Goldstein, of Louisville, well known at this place, will be here tomorrow, and will stop at the Phoenix Hotel, where his many friends and acquaintances will have an opportunity of consulting him. He guarantees to give relief when he cannot give it. Those suffering from headache and neuralgia of the eyes should call, as he is always ready to lend them his assistance. He also gives immediate relief to weeping eyes. He carries with him and adjusts to the eyes the finest assortment of glasses; and will insert perfect and fine crystals in old spectacle frames.

Dr. G. brings with him the very best references, and persons troubled with failing, abnormal or debilitated nerves should seek him out.

"HACKMETACK" a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by J. R. Armstrong.

The Judicial Race.

The race for Circuit Judge in this judicial district is beginning to attract attention, and it is well enough for the people to know how matters stand. The last real test vote that was had in the district was in 1882 in the race for Governor between Knott, Democrat, and Morrow, Republican. At that election the district voted by counties as follows:

County	Knott	Morrow
Christian	2,962	2,225
Hopkins	1,280	528
Adair	743	431
Lyon	449	522
Muhlenberg	1,439	1,265
Trigg	1,192	702
Total	7,973	5,233

Knott's majority, 2,740.

From the above it will be seen that there is a legitimate Democratic majority in the district of 1,888 votes. In the race between Pratt and Grace it is quite easy to see that the Republicans are pursuing a foolish hope. Judge Grace, by reason of his long experience on the bench, his extensive acquaintance, great personal popularity and splendid ability, will not only command the solid Democratic vote of the district but will attract to his support a strong following outside of his party. With a clear majority of 1,888 to start on, it is beyond the shadow of a doubt that he will be re-elected by a majority so increased as to be a matter of pride and pleasure to his friends as well as an eloquent compliment to himself.

M. LIPSTON.

The tobacco receipts this year of the Hopkinsville market will exceed 15,000 hogheads, all obtained on the solid merits of the market, without rebate or bonus. The warehousemen deal with all customers alike, show no favoritism, and have the confidence of the planters.

The Madisonville Times remarks that Cy. M. Day, Democratic candidate for Circuit Court Clerk, and formerly a citizen of Hopkins county, "is one of the best men living." This is the universal judgment of the thousands who have had business relations with him for many years.

Agreement from South Christian told us yesterday that the threshers are at present doing a lively business in this section. The yield promises to come up to a full average and the quality of the wheat is excellent. Buckner & W. P. Hambro, of Ringold, at 60 cents.

The Todd County Progress is responsible for the following: Phil E. Bacon, Jr., of Trenton, found a terrapin on his farm one day last week, which had inscriptions on its back: "J. Cole Dickinson, 1850," and "W. T. Dickinson, 1850." He turned it loose, and it will be a greater curiosity when it is captured again a few decades in the future.

An estimable tobacco dealer of this county has made a profit of $100 by buying a lot of tobacco here and selling in Clarksville. Not long ago he reported the experiment and sold nearly $500. His confidence in the superiority of that market is easily shaken, and he realizes that if he had held his first purchase here and sold it he would have made as large a profit.

Little Essie Holt, daughter of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Esquire H. L. Holt, died Wednesday afternoon of dysentery. Her life went out as the evening shadows fell upon the bereaved household, and her sweet and cheerful soul followed the King of Day into the realm of eternal light and joy. The remains were interred at the residence of Mr. Enoch Bensch. To the bereaved family and friends we offer our sincerest condolence.

The committee, appointed by the G. A. R. Post, of this city, to raise a fund of $500 to place a monument over the grave of Gen. J. S. Jackson in the city cemetery, received a check for $100 Thursday from Mr. John C. Latham, of New York, to be used for that purpose. Mr. Latham's generosity has greatly endeared him to the people of this city, and this contribution from one who were the grey to the memory of the sleeping hero who wore the blue, is a beautiful exhibition of chivalry, nobility and patriotism.

As illustrative of the wholesome influence of competition in freight rates, the Clarksville Democrat of the 2nd inst. says: "Last Tuesday the L. & N. made a reduction in their rates on tobacco of seven cents per hundred from this point to New York." The cause of this sudden reduction is found in the fact that a new boat just placed in the Clarksville and Paducah trade had secured three hundred hogheads of tobacco which was shipped Tuesday, down the river by the Benton McMillan, at a much less rate than the L. & N. had been charging.

Tobacco Sales.

Sales by Hancock, Fraser & Regalade for two weeks ending June 30th, of 264 white, tobacco as follows:

408 lbs. leaf, $4 75 to 13 75.
166 lbs. leaf, $2 10 to 6 25.

The Glorious Fourth.

If any one should ask, in the serene calm of to-morrow morning, "What day is first in the United States?" the ready answer would be "The Fourth." The arithmetic would be a little asked but the sentiment would be correct. John Adams was so related with the Declaration that, after he signed his name to it, he wrote to his wife that henceforth the anniversary of Independence Day would be celebrated by ringing bells and firing cannon by day and with bonfires and illuminations at night. But of late years since the influx of millions of foreigners, who although good citizens, do not feel an interest in our most hallowed anniversary, the Fourth of July has been lost in its importance as a national holiday. This year, it will slip by so noiselessly, sandwiched between Saturday and Monday that its presence will be almost unnoticed. The public does not take to Fourth of July sermons, and a Sunday picnic is inspired by no merrier merriment more than by patriotism.

But in the boyhood of yonder venerable citizen—Heaven bless him! who remembers when Old Hickory and Hal Clay were the great partisan rivals, when Hopkinsville was a little village with a log court-house, when John A. Murrell was freebooter of the South, and Pennington was hung-in the towers the Fourth was a notable day, worthy to be ranked with Christmas; a holiday for white and black, bustling, explosive, bibulous, deafening with cannon, rustling with bunting, oratorical, musical with shrill fife and rattling drum, eloquent with speech-angel, and fitting the grandeur with the sentiment of barbecued pig, beef and mutton.

Nor was the muster of the promiscuously dressed and miscellaneous militia squadron, with its armory of rifles, powder-horns, and "corn-stalk" quakers, led on by some valiant captain, whose solitary plume of chicken feathers and red tassel to the crest of his helmet were his epaulettes, bullet-belt and flint lock horse-pistol, a small feature of an olden Fourth of July. The eyes of the colored battalions were perched at a safe distance on fallen trees, stumps and rail fences, glistened as the militia kept step to the music of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and the heart of the colored purveyor of refreshments swelled with exultation as he sold chunks of ginger-cake to the patriotic by-standers who went in regardless of expense.

Well, that sort of effervescence had its day. It is gone never to come back. Shall we regret it? It cultivated broken peace, bad grace, blood, and a rowdiness probably as much as it developed patriotism. If the old Fourth has disappeared in the process of national evolution its better part remains, and the American of 1886 doubtless loves his country, law and liberty no less than his ancestors did in 1776. The determination to support all good enterprises and promote the public welfare increases yearly. Education is more general, and morals much better. The people are nearer akin, and New York and California are closer together in business and social intercourse, more than New York and Kentucky were a hundred years ago. In all that makes up the sum of public happiness and prosperity the United States gives its citizens more cause to be proud of their country than any other government in the world.

Therefore we say, in grateful thought of to-morrow, God bless the Fourth!

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—a positive cure for Catarrh, Hemorrhoids and Canker Mouth. For sale by J. R. Armstrong.

TOBACCO.

Inspector's Monthly Report of the Hopkinsville Tobacco Market.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., July 1, 1886.

	This year, same time	Last year, same time
Receipts for past month	1,050	866
Sales for past month	200	199
Stock on hand	850	715
Receipts for past month	540	525
Stock on hand	297	285

The receipts next week will swell the total to over 12,000 hogheads. The Inspector's report continues to show a marked and steady increase of receipts during the coming year, notwithstanding the heavy losses paid to influential parties to send their tobacco to other markets. With its great advantages and improving facilities for shipment the Hopkinsville tobacco market will continue to gain favor with sellers who desire justice to all and bonuses to none. A trade which stands on its own merits is safest for both buyers and sellers.

A Denial.

Ed. Glass, Republican candidate for Jailor, has an affidavit signed by several of his friends, who are well known in the community, that he has not been in front of E. G. Long's grocery that I held out some money and shook it at a colored man saying that this is what buys your vote. Now this is what I said on that occasion, that Ferguson said the above in his speech at Lafayette. The facts are just as they are stated, which I can substantiate by Esq. Long, James Heron, George Petree, Bob Waters and Spencer Lewis. I most positively deny that I made the statement that is charged upon me.

Geo. W. Leno.

Scene at Children's Hospital.

"I happened to be in one of the wards," said a lady the other day, "at the hour when, at the beginning of the short winter twilight, the children had been prepared for sleep. It was a beautiful sight to see the little convalescents kneeling in the little cot and lifting up their Father, and now lay me down to sleep, and even more touching and beautiful to see those who were weak trying to lift their tiny weak hands in prayer. Suddenly one poor little child in a distant corner set up a piteous, wailing cry."

"I want to go home! I want to go home!"

"The words were taken up and repeated from many a cot. It brought the tears into my eyes, and I said to the nurse:

"This must be very hard for you to bear."

"Oh, she said, 'but we generally expect to hear that when night comes. Books and toys while away time for such as are able to sit up, and the other little things that we can do for them when the evening comes and the prayers, there seems to come a great longing for home and their mothers. There is little we can do to prevent it. It generally ends when one by one they drop off to sleep.'—Boston Record.

An Appeal for Aid.

To the Citizens of Hopkinsville and Vicinity:

Mr. John C. Latham, Jr., has recently forwarded to our city authorities his check for $1,000, directing that the money be expended in improving and beautifying the neglected portions of our City Cemetery. He requests that in the general compliance with his suggestions, particular regard shall be paid to those time leveled mounds, beneath which sleep men who were once worthy citizens of Hopkinsville and whose last resting place is to-day unkept and neglected.

He also urges that special attention be given to the graves of those brave soldiers who lived here in devotion to their country, and he asks further that no distinction be made between Federal and Confederate.

Our City Council, in recognition of this generous act, has made proper and formal acknowledgement to Mr. Latham by the passage of an appropriate resolution of thanks and by the way of more substantially endorsing the spirit which prompted the gift, has supplemented it with a subscription of $500 to the cemetery fund. That honorable body has appointed us a trust committee to receive and disburse the money in accordance with the aim and purpose for which it has been donated.

In the discharge of this trust we greatly desire to secure the best possible results, and to this end do most earnestly entreat all citizens to assist us.

If every owner of a plot in the Cemetery will at once have it put in as good condition as he can afford, the work of general improvement, and fitting the ground to receive and disburse the money in accordance with the aim and purpose for which it has been donated.

We urge upon our people prompt and hearty action in this matter. Our commission is to execute faithfully a sacred trust to the memory of the dead.

Our appeal for sympathy and co-operation to the loyal and patriotic hearts of the living.

CLARKSVILLE.

I. A. and T. Matters and Other Goings-on.

(Nashville American.)

CLARKSVILLE, TENN., July 1.—Hon. D. N. Kennedy received instructions yesterday by wire to pay the January coupons of the I. A. and T.R.R. in gold. The bank has gold on hand to meet the emergency and the coupons are expected to-day by express. It is not supposed that the holders of the coupons will want to know that the gold is here. The road cannot be expected to fail to pay interest. It is not, however, out of danger. Maj. Gordon has the capital promised to finish the line, maintaining his independence for connection with important Northern and Southern outlets, making a competing line with the Louisville and Nashville between the Northwest and seaboard, on condition that the Clarksville subscribers donate their bonds to the road organization. Without this the road cannot control the money and the road must be sold to the highest bidder, and only one bidder is known in the market. Thirty thousand dollars is as yet unassigned, which will defeat the proposition. If they still hold out.

A man on the steamer City of Nashville, just as she was pulling out from the wharf with the Nashville colored excursionists last night, fired two shots at Deputy Sheriff Jeff. Stafford, one passing through his hat and another grazing his back. Stafford was on hand for his law breakers. The boys on the bank threw showers of stones at the boat. Stafford ran into the crowd to arrest the offenders, when some one hallowed: "Lookout, I will shoot." The boys scrambled and as the boat turned around, starting off, the firing began.

Clarksville is lit up to-night for the first time with the electric light, and Franklin street is thronged with curious spectators. The lamps in use now are mostly in the business houses. The city has a contract with the gas company for lighting the streets and until that contract expires no electric lamps will be put on the streets permanently. Two were lit to-night on the street by way of experiment. They were hung across two of the most prominent crossings and made the street look as bright as day.

After a thorough test I most positively assert that Ayer's English Remedy is the best medicine for Asthma, Croup, Cough, Whooping Cough, and all Lung Troubles that can be found. Ask him about it, for he fully guarantees it. For sale by H. B. Garner.

Public Speaking.
