SUMMER TERM OPENS AT MURRAY STATE JUNE 5

IN DECADE MURRAY GROWS FROM 89 TO 1250 ENROLLMENT

Approximately 5,500 Students Have Attended College for Training.

INSTITUTION OPENS IN HIGH SCHOOL IN 1923

Approximately 5,500 different students have attended Murray State College since its first semester in 1923, according to Mrs. Cleo Gillis Hester, registrar.

Murray State College first opened in the Murray High School building in 1923 with an enrollment of 89. Now, as the college is drawing near the close of its tenth year, it has an enrollment of over 1250, including the Training School.

Murray State was made a senior college in 1926. Its first graduating class had only 10 members. This year, according to Mrs. Hester, approximately 115 will receive their bachelor's degrees.

Murray has issued 477 bachelor degrees in the seven years that it has been a senior college. This year's graduation will increase the number to close to 500.

It has also granted $59 standard certificates, and expects to issue about 80 more in June of this year.

The extension department of Murray State College also serves a great number of persons. This department was organized in 1924. Since that time, until February 1, 1933, a total of 1095 students had completed one or more courses of correspondence work. At the present time there are approximately 565 active courses going, according to Miss Martha Kelly, secretary to the extension director.

The standards of teaching in West Kentucky have been raised materially by the students and graduates of Murray College. The some 7000 leaders trained entirely or in part by this college have already definitely proved their potential and active value to the entire state.

Dramatics Course Is Offered at Murray

An elective course of dramatics and play production is offered in which several students each year honor themselves by acting their way into the Sock and Buskin Club at Murray State College.

The Sock and Buskin Club, every year sponsors a play for school entertainment. It has been their aim to produce plays of the best in the dramatic field. "The Beggars Opera" was presented to the college last year by artists of professional ability. It is now the club's ambition to present a drama much the superior to the "Beggars Opera."

Prof. F. D. Mellen is sponsor of the Sock and Buskin Club. The present plan of the dramatics department is to reproduce one of the oldest of dramas, "Every Man." The cast will be composed of the members of the Sock and Buskin Club and will be staged early in May for the benefit of the "Shield" college annual.

Motto of M Club Is "Wir Dienen"

The motto of the Varsity "M" Club is "Wir Dienen," we serve. It was organized in the fall of 1930 by the lettermen of the college to create bigger, better, and cleaner athletics in Murray State College and to justify the name of "Thoroughbreds." Harold Byrd is at present president of the club. Coaches Carlisle Cutchin, Stewart, and Miller are in charge of the club's work.

Johnston Heads Chemistry Club

The purposes of the members of the Chemistry Club are to arouse a greater interest in scientific study and to furnish wholesome and elevating social recreation for its members. The president of the club is Karl Johnston and the sponsors are Profs. Walter Blackburn and Carman Graham.

DR. McVEY SPEAKS IN MURRAY CHAPEL

Subject is "What a College Student Should Have."

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, addressed the student body of Murray State College at the chapel period Friday morning, April 14, on the subject, "What a College Student Should Have at the End of His College Career."

Dr. Rainey T. Wells, former president of Murray State College and former member of the board of trustees of the state university, introduced the speaker. Dr. Wells paid tribute to the energy, foresight, and educational leadership of Dr. McVey.

According to Dr. McVey, a student should have at the end of his college career: "a spirit of tolerance, a spirit of courtesy, ability to use the English language accurately and effectively, knowledge of the history of his country, knowledge of at least one language besides the English language, knowledge of the scientific method, knowledge of how to use a library, a philosophy of life, and a formulation of his religious beliefs."

Dr. J. W. Carr, president of the college, presided and presented Dr. Wells, Mrs. W. H. Mason, and T. H. Stokes. Mrs. Mason and Mr. Stokes, members of the board of regents, spoke briefly, commending Dr. McVey for his address.

English Club Promotes Interest in Literature

The purpose of the members of the English Club are to improve both oral and written English, to promote an interest in the best literature, and to encourage its members in creative work. Miss Elizabeth Plumlee is president of the club, and Miss Margaret Tandy is sponsor.

The Rainey T. Wells Hall was first occupied in September 1925. It is a fire-proof brick and stone structure and is provided with every modern convenience; cost $274,095.88.

It contains ample parlors, lobbies and dining rooms.

Wells Hall is the center of the social life of the college and is under the supervision of the dean of women, assisted by the Women's Self-Government Association.

Music Department Presents Students of Mr. Putnam in Chapel Program.

The music department of Murray State College presented the students of Prof. L. R. Putnam, voice instructor, at the chapel exercises Wednesday morning, April 12. Dr. Rainey T. Dr. Wells drove from Henderson, Ky., where he had been attending a meeting of the Woodmen of the World from Indiana and Kentucky. Dr. Wells expressed his appreciation for the excellent music and his pleasure at being back on the campus.

"In Kentucky and throughout the nation, public education faces a crisis and every indication points to an even more distressing situation during the coming year. To accomplish this noble purpose, the K. E. A. needs us and we need it. Let me urge you, therefore, to support this professional organization. It needs your support and deserves it."

The members of the faculty and student body who attend the convention will be given a chance to hear dignitaries of various professions speak on education. On the general program will be Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan; Mr. Roe Fulkerson of Washington, D. C.; S. Parkes Cadman of New York, and other leaders of education.

Physics Club Named for Radio Inventor

The club strives to create a greater interest in physics and allied sciences.

It was named in honor of Nathan B. Stubblefield the inventor of wireless telephony upon which principle the radio is based.

The important invention was made just across the street from the college campus about 1892. The president of the club is Powell Boyd and the sponsor of the club is Dr. Charles Hire.

STUDENTS EDIT COLLEGE NEWS

Publication Wins Second Place as Best All-Round Newspaper.

The College News, is the official publication of the college. It is a four-page, eight-column newspaper and is published bi-weekly. It is a member of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association and the West Kentucky Press Association. In 1932 it won second prize for "Best All-Round College Newspaper in Kentucky." Three courses, Newspaper Reporting, Newspaper Editing, and Writing of Editorials and Feature Articles, provide students for the staff. The department has exclusive correspondence with the Associated Press and the International News Service. The students write articles daily for numerous dailies and weeklies throughout central and southern United States.

The Shield is the college annual and has been published each year since 1925. It portrays college life interestingly and artistically. Many of the illustrations in this issue are taken from the Shield of 1932.

Entrance to Library

When the college opened in September 1923, the library consisted of Webster's International Dictionary and a copy of the Holy Bible. In the following November a few hundred dollars worth of reference books were purchased. It was not until April 1924, that an appropriation of $3000.00 was made for books and periodicals and a temporary librarian was employed. The stage of the auditorium of the Murray High School building was the first reading room and a small dressing room was the first stack room.

Exclusive of pamphlets and government documents, the library now contains approximately 20,000 volumes of well selected books properly catalogued. The library building is the finest one on the campus. There are two large reading rooms already in use and provision has been made for three additional reading rooms when needed. The total capacity of the stack room is approximately 180,000 volumes. About 150 periodicals are taken. The value of books and periodicals is approximately $45,000.00. The library is the intellectual center of the college. The inscriptions above the entrances are: "The Whole World Here Unlocks the Experience of the Past," and "The Hope of Democracy Depends Upon the Diffusion of Knowledge."

Supt. J. H. Richmond Issues Bulletin on Work of Kentucky Education Commission; College to Adjourn for K. E. A. April 19-22

James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction and president-elect of Murray State College, has issued an "Educational Bulletin" reporting the work of the Kentucky Educational Commission. The findings of this commission will be reported at the K. E. A. meeting in Louisville April 19-22. Murray College will adjourn with the last class Wednesday, April 19, to reconvene Monday morning, April 24.

Dr. John W. Carr, acting president of Murray State College, is a member of a special subcommittee on Extension work.

A resolution adopted by the Kentucky Educational Commission on the financial needs of Kentucky school districts recommends "That it is of paramount importance that relief be brought to many Kentucky Schools and that definite effort be made to supplement means of support now given Kentucky school districts which are unable to maintain the minimum requirements of a standard school after having exhausted their taxing powers."

"Education in Kentucky is at the cross-roads," Mr. Richmond declares as a foreword in the bulletin. "Twenty years ago, Kentucky stood forth among the states in educational ranking. Today she is still forthright. It is true that great progress has been made in public education in Kentucky, but it has been no greater than that made throughout the nation. In other words, we have simply 'held our own'."

"Today our education system faces a crisis. We must choose whether it is to make progress or whether it is to go backward. Educational leaders of the state have been alert to Kentucky's educational problems, and upon their recommendation, the 1932 General Assembly created the Kentucky Educational Commission to make a searching analysis of the problems facing public education within our commonwealth.

"The Kentucky Educational Commission has been working diligently for several months. It is studying thoroughly every phase of public education. Its final report will point out the path that we must take."

Under the heading, "What are Kentucky's Educational Needs?" Mr. Richmond's bulletin lists the following: Too much of the cost is borne by local districts; equality of educational opportunity does not exist; too many school districts are in existence; the program is improperly controlled and supervised; Kentucky is behind in the training of teachers; the school buildings are inadequate and poorly equipped; certain provisions of the Constitution actually work as a detriment to educational efficiency.

The membership of the Kentucky Educational Commission as created by the 1932 General Assembly follows: Hon. James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction and chairman of the commission; Mrs. James G. Sheehan, president of the Kentucky Congress for Parents and Teachers, Danville; Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, Lexington; Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of Western Kentucky State Teachers College, Bowling Green; J. W. Bradner, superintendent of city schools, Middlesboro; H. W. Peters, superintendent of city schools, Hopkinsville; Hon. W. J. Webb, attorney, Mayfield; Yancey Altschuler, wholesale grocer, Louisville; Hon. Ben Williamson, former U. S. Senator, Ashland.

12-WEEKS SESSION IS SCHEDULED BY DR. JOHN W. CARR

College Officials Expect Large Enrollment of Students for Courses.

REGULAR FACULTY WILL INSTRUCT ALL CLASSES

Anticipating an unusually large enrollment, Murray State College is announcing the complete schedule of courses to be offered during the summer session, beginning June 5. According to Dr. J. W. Carr, president, approximately 200 classes will be available to the students for the summer term which will consist of the full 12-weeks session, ending August 25. The regular faculty will be in charge.

The 12-weeks session will be divided into two sections of six weeks each, although college officials strongly recommend that students enroll for the complete term. The first term will open on June 5 and will close on July 14. The first term will open on June 5 and will close on July 1. The second half will begin July 17, closing August 25.

The Training School will be in session, Dr. Carr has announced, and the regular faculty will be in charge of this department as well as of the college proper.

The college officials have estimated that a student may attend the full summer session of 12 weeks at a cost of less than $90 if he pays all fees and has no position to defray expenses. By rooming at home, or by working part time, this amount can be reduced to as low as $20 or less. The incidental fee is $8. All necessary books can be purchased for $10 or less. If second-hand books are procured from other students or from the college bookstore, this cost can likewise be reduced. If a student enters for half of a semester or for half of a summer term, he pays accordingly.

Regular class work for the summer will begin on June 6. The last day on which to enroll for maximum credit is June 7. Limited credit, however, may be obtained with registration as late as June 10. Students who enter for the last half of the summer term are expected to enroll on July 17. Classwork will begin for such students on July 18. The following day, July 19, is the last date to enroll for credit during the second half. July 22 is the last date to enroll for any credit.

The summer commencement of the school year will be held August 20-24. The spring commencement is scheduled for May 28 to June 1.

STUDENTS URGED TO JOIN SOCIETIES ON MURRAY CAMPUS

Wilsonian and Alienian Groups Are Organized First in 1923.

ORGANIZATIONS HOLD CONTESTS ANNUALLY

The Alienian Society and the Wilsonian Society are the two great literary societies of the college. Each was organized in the fall of 1923. All college students are supposed to belong to one or the other of these societies.

The members of each society participate in all the activities between the two societies as to which organization carries off the most honors. Contests in declamation, oratory, and debating are held during commencement week for the cups presented by Senator Ernst.

John Blackburn is acting president of the Wilsonian Society and Robert Shelton is president of the Alienian Society.

According to Dr. John W. Carr, president of the college, "each society is rendering fine service and it is an honor to belong to either."

Frank Ellis, Murray, Ky., has succeeded Wallace Rogers Jr., as editor of the College News.

Student Organizations at Murray College Have Achieved Phenomenal Success

The student organizations show the spirit and the genius of the student body. They are thoroughly democratic. Any student is eligible for membership in any organization according to his taste and his talents. They afford the means for the expression of personality and the development of special talents.

The success of these organizations has been phenomenal. This is true not only in a few fields but in practically all of them. Only a few examples can be given.

Who would have ever guessed that the College News, official publication of Murray State College and the youngest member of the Kentucky College Press Association would win second prize for best all-round college paper in Kentucky?

Who would have anticipated that the varsity debaters would have gone to the semi-finals at the Southern Debating Tournament the first time they ever entered a tournament?

Who would have guessed that the football team would have won 45 games and lost only 16 in the last eight years, and that during that period that twice they would have been champions of the Mississippi Valley Conference? What "dopester" would have been so reckless as to have prophesied that the Thoroughbreds would win five games and lose only three the first year that Murray was a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association?

Who would have thought that the Co-ed basketball team would have won the championship of the Mississippi Valley Conference the first year that they belonged to that conference?

Who would have prophesied that the Co-eds would have won seven games out of eight played last season and have made 450 points to their opponents 160? Or that they would have been invited to the All-American Tournament at Shreveport, La., last spring?

In 1925 who would have predicted that the Varsity basketball team by the end of the season 1932 would have won 76 games and lost only 35, and that the score would stand 4427 points for Murray to 3239 for the opponents?

Who would have hazarded even to guess that the Thoroughbreds would defeat every S. I. A. A. team which they met during the season of 1932 which was their first year in that association, and then that they would fight their way to the semi-finals in an overtime game at the S. I. A. A. Tournament at Jackson, Miss., and in their defeat be acclaimed by their rivals one of the greatest basketball teams that ever trod the hardwood in the Southland?

Such achievements as these do not simply happen. They result from proper training and the highest morale among the students themselves.

12 Pleasant Weeks

How are you going to spend the summer? If you are undecided, allow the College News to suggest that you spend 12 weeks of the summer on the beautiful Murray State College grounds. Murray is offering 200 classes under its regular faculty, anticipating a large enrollment for the summer term.

Murray gives 12 or 14 hours of college work at the minimum expense. Some students who live nearby or secure part time employment attend for as little as $25 or $30.

The great variety of courses given, the carefully selected and competent faculty, the well-equipped classrooms, buildings, and especially the wonderful library, the democratic spirit, the beautiful buildings and well-kept campus, and the cultural program combine to make Murray an ideal place to secure college training.

Numerous well kept tennis courts and a swimming pool in town furnish physical recreation to students so inclined. There is also, of course, a theatre in town. The town of Murray is a very busy little city of some 4000 inhabitants.

Students, just out of high school, are cordially invited and welcomed.

Men and women that plan to teach in July are provided for. The registration fee for six weeks is only $4. Students may enter for the last six weeks.

Shady trees, cooling fans, and comfortable dormitories combine to make a summer term at Murray pleasant as well as profitable.

We Really Live by Truth

Truth itself is much more beautiful than imagination, for it is a thing not greater than the steps taken to discover the thing? Truth is infinite. We cannot grasp it, nor can we perceive it, yet truth constitutes the whole of the man's efforts. Imagination is used only that we may discover Truth.

In this age of debunkers and disillusioners, (self-styled) one may become very confused, because the debunkers only create a more bunk and the disillusioners make more illusions.

Truth is the ultimate goal. Truth is all-wise, all-knowing, and all-perceiving. The Truth and Truth only constitutes the beauty and value of any object or non-object. Truth cannot contradict itself. Truth is eternal as God. God is Truth. Truth in one field of knowledge is truth in any field of knowledge.

Nothing ever becomes less beautiful by discovering the truth concerning it. It becomes more beautiful.

If any object, person or thing loses any of its beauty the reason is that we have illusions about that object, person or thing. Mystery does not tend to make things more beautiful, but causes them to lose beauty.

Happiness is based and can only be based upon Truth. No one can be happy because of an illusion.

"Our mind to us a kingdom is." We create false hope, false love, false hate, false fear, and other false emotions in our brains with illusions as a basis. But real hope, real love, real hate, real fear, and other real emotions have and can only have Truth as a basis.

Then life is not an illusion, but a reality based upon Truth. The unhappy man, the unsuccessful man, the wretched man is the illusioned man.—Contributed.

Visits on Campus

A. E. Eden, Springfield, Ill., secretary of the Illinois State senate, was a visitor on the Murray State College campus April 1. Mr. Eden is the father of Prof. Royal K. Eden, director of the Murray State College band.

MURRAY DEBATERS LISTED AS AMONG 25 BEST IN U. S.

Varsity Orators Have Lost Only 10 Contests in 50 Engagements.

HAVE MET LEADING TEAMS OF ENGLAND

Along with other activities that have gained much prominence, the Murray State College debating team ranks close to the top. For the past three years the Murray debating squad has been recognized by the National Student Federation of New York as one of the 25 best debating teams in the United States.

During the last 5 years of organized debating in the college, under the coaching of Prof. L. J. Horton, the teams have met about 50 opponents and have lost only 10 meets. They did not meet junior colleges and the like, but fought against some of the largest four year colleges and universities in the country. They have met the University of Kentucky, University of North Carolina, University of South Carolina, University of Indiana, University of Tennessee and many others.

As proof of their splendid teams, the National Student Federation of New York has recognized Murray State College as one of the leading 25 debate teams in the United States with which it has scheduled debates for foreign teams.

In 1932, the team entered the Southern Debating Tournament held at Asheville, North Carolina. They went to the semi-finals, defeating such teams as the state Universities of North and South Carolina.

Murray students back their debate teams, as well as their athletic teams. When the Murray team met and defeated the Cambridge team at Murray in 1930, 2000 people turned out for the match. This was the largest crowd that heard the Cambridge team while they were in their tour of the United States. A crowd of 1,500 heard the Oxford University debate in 1931, which was won by Murray by a large majority.

In 1932 Murray met the Dublin University debaters in a non-decision debate, and again 1,500 people heard the debate.

If the statement, "a college can be judged by its attendance at debates" is sound reasoning, Murray State College is an intellectual center.

Kemper Has Charge of College Museum

C. W. Kemper of Mayfield, Ky., who is now enrolled in Murray State College, is the head of the Murray College museum and has contributed 25 specimens to that department.

Mr. Kemper defines taxidermy as the art of preserving the skin, together with the fur, feathers, or scales of animals. Formerly the setting of an animal was called "stuffing," but the more modern setting up is done with great pains so as to make the animal look real and life like.

The much higher standard of exhibits are in museums and owned by sportsmen as trophies of hunts, according to Mr. Kemper.

Mr. Kemper says, "A museum is now not regarded as a collection of curiosities, but as research and popular education. Its duties are two-fold: to the student and to the public."

The college museum now contains 28 mounts, including the three heads presented to the college by Mr. Browder of Fulton, Ky. There are also many rocks which are of interest and

It is the policy of the board of regents of the Murray State Teachers College to maintain a standard four-year teachers college in every respect, faculty, curricula, buildings, equipment, and spirit of the institution.

It is the policy of the board to provide accommodations as good as the best at a cost to the student as low as the lowest to be found at any similar institution.

It is also the policy of the board to keep the institution democratic in spirit so that the sons and daughters of the poor may have all the privileges accorded to the children of the rich. To aid in carrying out this policy, a student loan fund has been provided and employment is given to as many students as possible.

Students Organize Vesper Society for Spiritual Culture

Realizing the need of developing the spiritual faculties as well as the mental capacities in order to have a well-rounded education, the college officials organized the Christian Association, a non-denominational organization, in 1927 to promote a harmonious development of the soul and mind.

Religious meetings are held each Sunday evening. The program is usually given by the students themselves, but occasionally a faculty member is invited. At Christmas and Easter, special programs are given. James Wilford is president of the Association. Prof. L. R. Putnam and Dr. G. C. Foret are sponsors.

The Les Savants is the honorary division of Les Camarades Francais. Miss Mary Hughes Chambers is president and Miss Bishop is sponsor. The colors for the organization are red, white, and blue. The emblem is Fleur-de-lis.

Henry Evans Writes Short Story

Henry Evans of Mayfield, Ky., a graduate of Murray State College, has written a short story entitled "The Misfits."

"It is a psychological story," stated Mr. Evans. The story will be sent to the Saturday Evening Post for approval.

Mr. Evans received his degree at Murray State College in the spring of 1932. Since that time Mr. Evans has written a short story and is attempting to write a novel.

It began operation September 24, 1923, in the Murray High School building under the presidency of Dr. John Wesley Carr. The original faculty consisted of five members. Before the close of the first year, there were sixteen members.

The new institution was of Junior College rank. There were eighty nine college students enrolled at the beginning and about an equal number of high school students. The Training School was not organized until the summer of 1924. The entire enrollment for the first year was as follows:

College students	365
High School students	311
Training School students	111

Total for the first year 787 different students.

The first graduating class (1924) from the Junior College consisted of fifteen members.

Student activities began with the establishment of the college. The Allentian and Wilsonian Societies were organized in the fall of 1923. The World's Affairs Club, the English Club and some others were organized the first year. The first football team was in the fall of 1923. The first play was given by the students in the spring of 1924.

The first building, now the administration building, was erected during the first year. Walks were constructed and the drive-ways were made and sanitary and storm sewers installed.

The first catalogue was published in the summer of 1924. This set forth not only the college and high school courses of study but the general organization of the institution.

The library had its beginning this year also. About $3000.00 were expended for books and magazines. A temporary librarian was appointed and the books were properly catalogued.

The General Assembly of 1924 not only made a direct appropriation of $250,000.00 for buildings and grounds, but provided a millage tax for the maintenance of the institution. It also enacted a law creating a Board of Regents for the management of the new college.

Such was the auspicious beginning of the Murray State Normal School. In 1926 the name was changed to the Murray State Normal and Teachers College, and the institution changed from a junior to a standard senior college. The Board of Regents was empowered to confer appropriate degrees. In 1930 the General Assembly changed the name to the Murray State Teachers College.

Murray College is the scene of the birthplace of the radio. A monument stands on the campus, signifying that fact.

The music department of Murray State College is one of the best organized and most highly developed departments of the college and holds a higher degree of perfection than many of the music departments of the South.

This department has been carried on by the careful leadership of six instructors: one of piano, one of band, two of voice, one of orchestra, and one of public school music. These instructors are as well qualified as can be found in the South. Prof. Price Doyle has contributed in a large measure to the development of the department.

In 1930 there were six majors and first minors in the music department. In 1933 there are 57 majors and first minors in the department. The college first band is limited to 60 pieces, with an equal number taking part in the second band. The college orchestra is composed of 40 musicians, capable of ranking it as one of the best organizations on the campus.

There are 57 private lessons taught in this department at present, including piano, voice, and instruments. Over 500 students on the campus are being served by the music department this semester.

"We are proud of our music department, and think it one of the best in the country. We invite you to visit our department and to join with us in pushing it still higher toward the top," stated a member of the department.

CLASSICAL CLUB DISCUSSES ROME

Miss Walters Addresses Group
at Murray College
April 4.

"Rome" was discussed at the Classical Club meeting Tuesday, April 4, in room 207 of the liberal arts building.

Miss Willie Walters of Springfield, Tenn., lectured on "The Roman Forum—Yesterday and Today." She told how the Romans called it "the greatest small place on earth." She mentioned the seven famous hills of Rome. The young men asked for and were refused the hands of the neighboring shepherds, and took them by force. The ensuing battle between their fathers and suitors was plainly related.

The members heard an account of the black stone, probably a meteorite, and its sacred convictions. The fame of Rome, with its great soldiers, statesmen, and orators, was discussed.

Miss Olive Lashbrook, Owensboro, Ky., presented a violin solo. E. D. Farris of Browns Grove, Ky., spoke on "The Forum of the Twentieth Century." He stressed its importance in its day as it was the center of civil activity and the center of religious rites.

He told how the rostrum of that time was decorated with ships' heads taken in war. The prison with its damp lonesome rooms, or the career, gave to us the word incarceration.

Mr. Farris told of the temple of Concord which was built in 267 B. C. and of other temples, and of the attempts being made to reserve these old ruins.

Farris stated that he once had the fortune to spend a week in Rome. Miss Beatrice Frye, sponsor of the Classical Club, explained how the Roman Senate functioned and how it influenced the Romans. She compared the Roman senate with the United States Senate.

Wells Hall News

Heard by individuals telephoning from the office, dashing madly down the corridors, and speaking vociferously from windows, from 4 in the afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening of March 28: "Yeh, we're givin' a manless dance tonight. I said manless. M-a-n-l-e-s-s. Manless, yeh. Joe English's orchestra is going to play. . . . You ought to see my gal, she's a pip. A w-o-o I said. . . . Say listen Lee (softly) can I borrow a suit of clothes from you, your watch, a shirt, a blue tie, a pair of blue socks, a handkerchief to match the tie and socks, and, oh yeh, a pair of black shoes? Gee, uh huh (tenderly), thanks." Later (tiredly) "What a night. Oh my feet!"

The chaperones who represented the dormitory's elite at the manless dance given by the women of Wells Hall, were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Beckett. Mrs. Beckett wore a powder-blue evening gown with pink accessories and Mr. Beckett attended, resplendent in a becoming black suit with red tie and suspenders.

Last week-end was an interesting one for the residents of Wells Hall. Many entrants in the scholastic meet were visitors with friends in the dormitory. Students came from all over the State to participate in the contests. Paducah, Fulton, Mayfield, Heath, Benton, and Kevel were represented among the number. Many rooms were utilized by the contestants in putting the finishing touches in the last rehearsal for speech, horn, and vocal selections. The dormitory was the scene of many touching reunions of friends, laughter, chatter, and popular renditions on the parlor piano.

A resume, taken of movie-star preferences among twenty-five girls, over the dormitory, resulted in the following information:

Actors: Clark Gable 2, Fredric March 12, Richard Dix 2, Joel McCrea 1, Warner Baxter 1, Lionel Barrymore 1, George Arlson 1, Buck Jones 1, Mickey Mouse 1.

Actresses: Norma Shearer 8, Edna Mae Oliver 1, Ann Harding 1, Marlene Dietrich 1, Alice White 1, Helen Hays 1, Janet Gaynor 3, Joan Crawford 1, Ruth Roland 1, Betty Boop 1, Greta Garbo 5.

A certain belle of the manless dance given Tuesday, March 28, would like to know who dedicated the popular number, "Good-bye," to her and why?

Miss Martha Polk, of the Paducah Junior College, was the guest of Miss Maribel Holland and Miss Clarice Brawner on Sunday, April 2.

Miss May Gardner of Paducah spent last week-end with Miss Jean Little.

Class Constructs Little Red Wagon

The 8:30 section in Education 104A, under the direction of Miss Nellie Mae Wyman, education instructor at Murray State College, is in the process of constructing a wagon as a language project for the third grade.

The entire project is under the supervision of Miss Mandolin Ryan, freshman.

The dimensions of the wagon are 2' x 3' with a depth of 1' 6". The capacity of the bed is 500 pounds. Two wheels and another coat of red paint must be added before the wagon is completed.

A picnic will be given to this section when the cart is finished. Lots will be cast in order to see who gets to pull the "little red wagon with the lunches."

The care taken by 1,000 students, and not by four or five, will make Murray State College beautiful.

Dr. Richmond Speaks on "School Crisis"

"One of the fundamental motives of the educational system is to train people for the right use of leisure time," stated the educator. "Society for its own protection must provide adequate school facilities to give the children something to do with their time." He showed that children from 10-15 years of age were no longer being employed and that something must be done with them.

Mr. Richmond said that every level of development in the public school has been imposed on the school by the people.

"We didn't arrest the children and send them to school and college."

In 1900 there were 200,000 in college in United States. In 1930 there were 1,200,000. These facts, he said, showed that the people want education, schools, and colleges.

He assured the student body that this college will be open next year and that it would be open "when your grandchildren are ready to attend it."

He appealed again to the students, teachers and board members present to "play politics"—not partisan politics, but the kind that will protect society. He declared that it takes $200 to support a student in college and it costs $300 to support a criminal in the state penitentiary.

Miss Wahna Dixon, Dawson Springs, Ky., has enrolled for the last half of the spring semester at Murray State College.

Wilford Speaks on "Scare-Crows" at Vesper Meeting

The Christian Association of Murray State College held its regular meeting Sunday night, March 26, in the chapel building. J. D. Wilford, Sedalia, Ky., and a student in Murray College spoke on the subject, "Scarecrows."

The text was taken from Psalm 56:3: "What time I am afraid I will trust in thee."

Mr. Wilford stated that fear is not only human but is found in lower animals and man plays upon that fear by erecting scarecrows.

There are "it can't-be-done" scarecrows. "They say" is a weak scarecrow, Mr. Wilford said.

Mr. Wilford closed his address by saying, "Good will is a wonderful armor plate; kindness is a great cruiser; and when the supreme fear of our mortality comes upon us, it is assuring to say, 'Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me.'"

The president, James Wilford, of Sedalia, Ky., was in charge of the meeting which opened with a song by the audience, "Day is Dying in the West," led by R. T. Parker, Jr.

Miss Margaret Chambers, accompanied by Miss Emma Lou Brown, sang a solo.

Smith-Hughes Act Explained at Club

Miss Elizabeth Williamson, Fulton, Ky., president of the Household Arts Club, gave an important discussion on the development of vocational education and the Smith-Hughes act and its relation to the progressive development of home economics education at a meeting of the organization held Tuesday morning, April 4, in room 304 of the liberal arts building.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Margaret Crider, and plans for the pages in the annual were discussed. It was decided that the club should have two pages in the yearbook, with pictures of the club members and of the practice house.

According to Miss Williamson, the Smith-Hughes bill was introduced into Congress by President Wilson and was enacted in 1917. This bill made a $200,000 appropriation for the development of agriculture and home economics training.

"It is the duty of every girl who goes out to teach home economics in our high schools to organize a home economics club that will be affiliated, if possible, with the National Home Economics Society," she stated.

Linn-Bradley

Miss Frances Helen Linn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melus Linn of Murray, Ky., and Edward Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bradley of Murray, were quietly married at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, April 2, in Paducah at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Switzer.

MAN-LESS DANCE IS HELD AT HALL

Murray Co-Eds Have "Mock" Affair on Tuesday, March 28

Wells Hall flashed with bright colored dresses and dark suited dancers, and echoed with laughter to the music of Joe English and his Twelve Englishmen, Tuesday night, March 28. The whirl of dancing couples and the general hilarity of the group made it difficult for the audience of young men on the porch, who were denied entrance, to believe that a mock dance which consisted solely of co-eds could be so animated and successful.

The numbers of young men who were seen carrying suits over their arms to the women's dormitory during the day, furnished apparel for women who played the parts of gentlemen in this gala affair. These young ladies assumed their masculine roles admirably and according to the fashions of the day. Engagements were made as early as possible for the evening event. At 8:00 o'clock, buzzers were formally rung for the "dated" young ladies who kept their escorts pacing impatiently up and down in the lobby until they made their radiant entrances in formal evening gowns with lovely corsages of dandelions, orchids, and radishes pinned to their shoulders.

Many extraordinary and intricate steps were executed by the couples upon the dance floor. Several no-breaks occurred during the course of the dancing. Selections were also dedicated to individual girls by the orchestra at the request of their partners.

Miss Pfeffer and Miss Gardner chaperoned the entertainment.

Dr. Hicks Addresses Instructors at Paris

Dr. G. T. Hicks, head of the education department of Murray State College, spoke at the Henry County Teachers Association at Paris, Tenn., April 1. He chose for his subject, "Extra-Curricular Activities."

Among the numbers played by the band were: "Beer, More Beer," "Under the Double Eagle," "Hail, Hail, The Gang's all Here," "They're Off," "The Singers," "Good Night Ladies," and "Two Old Maids."

The members of the band are: Howard Brown and Warren Greiger, clarinets; John Thompson, trumpet; Howard Swyers, trombone; and Maurice Martin, bass horn.

Dr. Hicks limited his talk to four activities: the home room, the assembly, the school social, and the school publications.

After presenting the grounds upon which one may justify an extra-curricular program, he then took up the distinct value of the four activities.

With concrete material Dr. Hicks illustrated how some of the activities could be carried out.

A large group of teachers were present, including many former Murray State College students.

Mrs. Walter Lemons, mother of Mrs. Garnett T. King (formerly Alleen Lemons), instructor of mathematics at Murray State College 1931-32 died March 23 following a four month's illness.

ABIE'S ABSTRACTS

In this issue appears a story regarding the work soon to begin on the tennis courts.

With the several pretty days that have been wished upon us during the past several weeks, requests and wishes have been heard regarding the tennis courts. Students have gone home on week ends and brought back tennis rackets, balls and shoes. Several students have been practicing tennis on the balcony of the men's dormitory, but soon that will be history. Work is scheduled to begin on the courts soon.

Committee, THANKS!

Last week-end the college campus was filled with visitors from all parts of the first district and Western Kentucky. They all acted as real ladies and gentlemen, and we hope you will be back again, soon.

Overheard while sippin' a drink: "I know Bagwell, but I don't know mates. I read in the papers that Bagwell and mates lead Murray on to victory, but who is mates?"

I'm out for revenge. Here is one on a certain gentleman, who made all the auto trips with the collegians. While down at Jackson at the S. I. A. A. tournament, this certain fellow rushed up to the players bench and warned them that the Millsaps had a real net player named Majors. When asked why, the man stated that the crowd was giving all their cheers for Majors! Now, we're even!
