Local News Held Powerful Tightman Eleven to 12-0 Score

Displaying the sturdy defense for which they have already become renowned in west Kentucky high school football, and showing powerful offensive that dismayed their foe, Coach T. A. Sanford's Murray Tiger held the strong Tighman team 12-0 Saturday at Paducah.

For the second consecutive Saturday the local pigskin artists were beduiled for a good losing by a heavier and more experienced opponent, but Sanford's men for the same number of times refused to take the dose that had been measured for them.

Tighman scored in second and fourth quarters and the latter was due to a bad "break" for the home boys. Lewis made fifteen yards at the opening of the stanza only to be called back for his team to be penalized 15 yards for holding. A pass was immediately intercepted by Parsons for Paducah, who made 24 yards, and the locals were so dismayed by the unfortunate turn that McDonald galloped for a touchdown on the next play.

Throughout the first quarter Murray out-played and out-gained Tighman and the Paducah boys were forced to call on their speedy captain "Ate" Neal to push over their first marker in the second quarter.

Emmett Bowman, who amazed the local fans in the Mayfield game, with his ability to get in every play regardless of the obstacles, again played a stellar role for Murray and was a deep thorn in Paducah's side all day. The entire Murray team put up a plucky and admirable fight in keeping the score down lower than the dope indicated.

Handicapped at the start of the season by the return of only five letter men, the Murray boys have been further weakened by the ineptitude of two star players, Captain Noble Dick and Pete Sled.

The negotiations for the transfer of the property were completed last Saturday, and the office was tentatively turned over to the hands of the new owners at the close of business Saturday night.

It is not necessary to here make reference to the purchase price of the property, but it was satisfactory to us and is now representative of a single penny.

About one year ago I was compelled to give up my duties as manager and editor of the Ledger owing to illness. I was then told it would be necessary for me to retire from public life possibly several years if I would completely recover health.

On the first day of December 1927, I entered a rest cure sanitarium in San Antonio, Tex., and there resolved to give one whole year to a diligent pursuit of retrieving health, and if at the end of that year I became convinced that I had made substantial progress I would continue the fight to a successful termination. I was not willing then to make complete surrender and declare my purpose to quit active business. Now I am convinced that I can recover health, and my sole and only reason for selling this newspaper property that has become a part and parcel of my life is in order that I might be able to devote my whole time to the next few years to the business of getting well.

I have been the sole manager of the destiny of this little paper for more than a quarter of a century.

Local Corporation Takes Over
The Murray Ledger and The Times-Herald This Week

COMBINED PLANT WILL BE IN LEDGER BUILDING

The Murray Ledger and The Times-Herald were this week purchased by a local corporation to be known as the Calloway Publishing Company and merged into one paper, which will be known as The Ledger & Times. Murray thus joins a large list of American cities which, in the past few years, have arrived at one newspaper through consolidation.

More than fifty Calloway county citizens own stock in the corporation which has an authorized capitalization of $40,000 and an issued stock of $25,000.

At a meeting of the stockholders Saturday morning at the Court House, the following directors were elected: T. H. Stokes, W. B. Swann, Dr. B. B. Keys, J. D. Sexton, R. H. Falwell, Harry I. Sled and Joe T. Lovett. At a subsequent meeting of the board T. H. Stokes was elected president; W. B. Swann, vice-president; R. H. Falwell, secretary and Joe T. Lovett, treasurer. Joe T. Lovett was chosen editor and publisher of the Ledger & Times.

Mr. Jennings, former owner and publisher of the Ledger, retires on account of ill health after more than thirty years of service to the people of Calloway county. During these years he has formed many strong and lasting friendships and hosts of friends and well-wishers of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings throughout this entire section regret the necessity of Mr. Jennings' retirement, caused by ill health, and wish him an immediate as well as complete recovery and then success and happiness in the future. They are expected to leave shortly for the west where the climate is more favorable for Mr. Jennings.

Mr. Sanford, former editor and publisher of The Times-Herald, desires to devote all his time to his position as principal of the Murray high school and coach of the school's athletic teams. Mr. Sanford has published one of the state's best edited newspapers since the establishment of the Times-Herald and has won many friends and admirers throughout Kentucky for his excellent work.

R. R. McLean, of the Ledger, and L. W. Starke, of the Times-Herald, will be connected with the new paper.

The Ledger & Times will be published in the Ledger building, which has been leased for a term of years, and as soon as practical the machinery and equipment in the Times-Herald office will be moved with the Ledger plant. In the meantime the business office of the paper will be located in the Ledger building.

The consolidation gives the Ledger & Times one of the largest bona-fide weekly newspaper circulations in the entire south and its equipment will be sufficient to care for all kinds of commercial printing in addition to its newspaper and periodical publications.

The consolidation is effective immediately and only one paper will be issued this week and in the future.

It is raining today and it seems as though another season has past into the annals of Time. Winter, cold and drear, is no doubt being heralded in by these cool, rainy days. ously mourn their departure. Every season has its blessing. Although we cannot chase butterflies and gather mari-golds, yet just think what we can be doing. Can you imagine any thing more blisful than a good warm fire, an easy chair, and a great lap-full of cracked hickorynuts or a pile of rosy-cheeked apples along with a good book to read? As I write this the rain is falling on the roof in a slow drizzle and the shades of night are falling fast. The children are sitting by the windows and smile but laugh no more for they are thinking of the long wet walk home through the rain and the vision is not a pleasant one.

The last Friday night is a landmark in the 1928-29 season of Kirksey High School. Our basketball team played Almo on their floor. We went into this game expecting to win only through a twist of fate. Almo has been a keen rival ever in the days when such teams as Tilghman and La Center met defeat at our hands. With the team that Almo, now has on which plays men of many experience, it is indeed a ray of sunshine to have been beaten by them with the small score that proved the victory for them the other night. Coach Potts is highly delighted with the splendid standing that the team made. For many years the Blue and White of Kirksey has been feared by the foremost teams of West Kentucky and it is the determination of every K. H. S. student that the tradition of the school shall be upheld.

To-day (Monday) is an epoch in the lives of the Seniors. They have received their class rings. Through a work of fate they were prevented from obtaining possession of them immediately. No one in Kirksey could cash a check for fifty-six dollars as it was terribly necessary that they wait until someone could get to town. This dreadful circumstance caused a delay of some few hours.

Prof. Wrathe attended the school fair over at Farmington in the capacity of judge. He reported a splendid fair with a large attendance.

The Basketball schedule has been made out and posted. This year we have some pretty good teams on our string. The schedule is as follows:

Oct. 26, Hazel at Kirksey; Nov. 2, Lynn Grove at Kirksey; Nov. 9, Hazel (floor to be decided); Nov. 16, Reidland at Kirksey; Nov. 23, Benton at Benton; Dec. 7, Brewers at Brewers; Dec. 14, Concord at Concord; Dec. 21, Open date; Jan. 11, Open date; Jan. 18, Concord at Kirksey; Feb. 4, Sedalia at Kirksey; Feb. 10, Farmington at Farmington; Feb. 22, Open date; Mar. 1, Open date. No season tickets will be issued. Admission prices will be announced for each game.

Fifteen Oldham county farmers have decided to sell their grade and scrub bulls. With 175 bulls in the county, the county agent expects to have not more than a dozen scrubs by January 1.

It has a record of 58 years of honorable service to its credit and boasting I proclaim that for 25 of these years it was under my management and ownership. During these years it was a free press.

Clay Burchett, who was a student here last year and who is now working in Detroit is a visitor in the community this week. Clay married a girl of our school, Miss Alice Tucker and we have come to feel that he is very much one of us. He is planning on returning soon.

The boys team is training for another hard game of the season. Friday night we play Lynn Grove High school on our floor. We are anticipating a good game. Lynn Grove has long been a school of good standing in the basketball world and we feel no mean honor in playing them. We invite you to attend this game. No admission will be charged.

The Lindberg Literary Society was the proud winner of the beautiful pennant presented by Prof. Hurt as a reward for obtaining the most blue ribbons in ribbon contest staged during the school fair. This pennant was indeed worth working for and every member of all three societies showed valiant interest and displayed wonderful sportmanship.

The Graf Zeppelin

Now that the Graf Zeppelin has arrived another major step has been made in man's fight to span the Atlantic ocean. Despite rough weather and injuries to the Zeppelin, it "came through" nobly. Again the world is advanced a thousand years within less than the space of a week.

This is the ninth successful skirmish in man's battle with the Atlantic. On October 12, 1922, Columbus made the first voyage from Europe to America.

In 1858 the first submarine cable between the new and old worlds was laid by the Atlantic Telegraph Co., headed by Cyrus Curtis.

In 1901 the first wireless message was sent across the Atlantic. The first transatlantic telephone message service was completed January 7, 1927, between London and New York.

The first picture was wirelessly from New York to London in 1924. Three United States Navy boats flew from Newfoundland to Lisbon via the Azores, starting May 8, 1919.

The first airship crossing the Atlantic was the British dirigible R-34, in 1919, from East Fortune, Scotland, to Mineola, New York.

The first steamship to make the trip was the Britannia, built by Samuel Cunard, which sailed in 14 days from Bristol to New York in 1840.

Now comes the Graf Zeppelin, the first passenger dirigible to cross the Atlantic.

Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en is the name given to the evening before the Festival of All Saints, the Vigil of All Hallow's in Old England it was the custom to crack nuts, duck for apples and indulge in other harmless amusements on that eve. Older yet is the custom of building fires, dating back to ceremonies of the Druids. On Hallowe'en, tradition has it, the witches upset everything, and for years and years American children have been upsetting everything on Hallowe'en and blaming it on the witches. But alas, their zeal is dying out. Hallowe'en is no longer the "grand night" it was. A few chalk marks made here and there, a few children in costumes, a few stockings filled with fluff that are banged over other children by their possessors, are all that is left of Hallowe'en. This and some dignified parties where favors are distributed.

In the old days buggies were placed on the roofs, gates were broken ajar, everything was made topey-turpy. And Hallowe'en was spread over an entire week of mischief.

We can't believe this healthy spirit of mischief is dead.

It must be, alas, that our children have forgotten the traditions of Hallowe'en.

This new condition makes us all safer—but we just can't help missing something.

Insects have been on the earth for 50,000,000 years while the human race is only 5,000,000 years old.

THE HUMAN SPHINX

By Ellis Parker Butler

FIFTH CHAPTER WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Joe T. Lovett, a detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, are visiting John Drane, eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane Place. Suddenly the household is hocked to find that John Drane has been murdered. The dead man is first seen by Josie, the maid, then by Amy Drane and Simon Judd. The latter faints.

Police officers call and investigations begin. Dr. Blessington is called and after seeing the murdered John Drane, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle" is not a man but a woman. Dr. Blessington discounts the theory of suicide, saying that Drane was definitely murdered. Dr. Blessington comments on the fact that all the servants in the house-hold of Drane are sick, an dthat Drane has never discharged a servant for ill health. Dick Brennan, the detective, arrives to investigate the case.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Yes, Dr. Blessington made the examinations, victim dead several hours, cause of death stab wound to heart. Suicide theory untenable. Dick, because the old lady couldn't have used so much strength. And there ain't no knife around, either. Dick. She's been murdered, all right. Well, the queer part is she's this old John Drane that's been living here, see? He was a she all the time, wouldn't that jar you?"

"Yes, hanging around. I'll just take a look or two."

He went to the bed and looked down at the victim of the murder and, turning, surveyed the room. He walked across the floor and opened the door of the closet. Here hung many suits of men's garments, on proper hangers each on its own hook, while a dozen pairs of shoes stood in a neat row on the floor. He stood on a chair and examined the shelf, taking down several hats, looking into each and noting the maker's marks in them. He moved the hanging clothes and tapped on the inner wall of the closet.

His next act was to open the door leading into John Drane's private bath. Here the walls were tiled to the height of a man and a dthe porcelain tub was built in, as was the shower. The whole was immaculately white, as was the wall above the tile and the ceiling. On a glass shelf stood the few toilet articles any man might use—a safety razor in its gold-plated case, talcum, bay rum, and so on. There was no opening out of the room except the door into the bedroom and a narrow window the lower part of which was leaded glass.

"The door wasn't locked, huh?" Brennan asked.

"No. This maid Josie came up to call the old lady and when nobody answered she opened the door and fainted. Door couldn't have been locked. It don't look like Dick does it."

"Nothing stolen out of here that you've heard of?"

"Noth that I know of," the officer said. "We didn't ask. We waited for you."

"All right!" Brennan said, going to the door. "I'm through here, I guess. You better telephone the coroner, Henry, and Joe—you look around for a knife or something. You might keep your hands off anything smother in case of finger prints. Reach in under the mattress and around and anywhere you think a knife might be. Sometimes these killers shove things in under when they get a panic. I'm going down. What did you say the girl's name was that saw in here first?"

"Josie. But she ain't downstairs. She's in that room across the hall. She's got a weak heart and they took her in there to bring her to. There's an old dame with her—the housekeeper."

"I'll see them," Brennan said. His interview with Josie in Amy's room yielded him, however, nothing we do not already know.

"What did you say the girl's name was that saw in here first?" Brennan demanded of the maid Zella.

"I don't know anything," Zella said. "I was down in the kitchen along with George—he's the chauffeur—and Maney, the cook, an dwe heard Josie screaming and heard her fall. So we came up as quick as we could. She was fainted on the floor and Mr. Judd, too."

"Mr. Judd? Fainted?" Brennan asked. "What Josie?"

"He's a visitor, a friend of Mr. Drane's I guess. He come last night and stayed over. He saw the blood and fainted."

"He reached the room before you did?"

"Yes, but after Josie, didn't he, Josie? Josie was first, then Miss Amy came."

"And who is Miss Amy?"

"The grand-niece like of Mr. Drane," Zella explained. Him and her was the family—the rest of us was just the help."

"Then Josie was the first to open the door, and Miss Amy was the first to follow her, and then this Mr. Judd came. Who else after that?"

"Nurber—he's the colored house man. Mrs. Vincent—she's the housekeeper. Maggie Maney, the cook. George, the chauffeur. And I came. We just stood at the door, nobody went in."

"And about when was this?"

"Around nine o'clock, maybe five or ten minutes after. Mrs. Vincent sent Josie up because breakfast was ready and Mr. Drane hadn't come down yet."

"Everyone else had?"

"No, not Mr. Judd and not Mr. Dart—Josie said."

"Dart? What Dart?"

"The undertaker man," Zella explained. "He's an old friend of Mr. Drane's and sometimes he comes to play cards and stays the night. He always has the blue guest room. But last night he didn't stay."

"Not that I knew it," Josie interrupted, raising herself on her elbow. "I knocked on his door when I came up the first time. That was about half past eight. I thought—she hesitated. "I thought he answered that time."

"I see!" Brennan said. "You knocked to wake him up and you thought he answered. What did he say?"

"I thought he said 'All right! Yes!' or something like that. So then I went to Mr. Judd's room and knocked and he said 'All right; I'm up.'"

But, that first trip, Mr. Drane did not answer.

"No sir, but I didn't think anything of it. Mr. Drane don't often have to be called; he always woke up himself. I thought he was in the bathroom, likely, and would be down. I just knocked on his door and went on, sort of reminding him. The others I waited for an answer because they were guests, and guests ain't sure."

"And the second time you came up, you got no farther than Mr. Drane's door? You fainted there?"

"Yes, sir; that's it."

"Show me these two guest rooms and she went with him, first to the yellow room Judd had occupied and then to the blue room with its untouched bed. Brennan looked around the rooms without much care, but on his way to the stairs he called the officer named Joe and told him to look into the two rooms carefully. Zella went back to Josie and Brennan went down to the lower floor.

As Brennan reached the lower hall the screen of the front door was pulled open and a young man, his face betraying his excitement, came in.

"Oh!" he exclaimed. "I know who you are, you're the detective. I saw you—it was when our house was robbed and I was before the grand jury to tell what was stolen."

"Yes. You're Robert Carter," Brennan said simply. "Seven three four Beech Avenue. You made a good witness. Your man went to the pen. You friend here?"

"Yes, Amy," young Carter said, reddening more. "We're — we would have been engaged. I just heard of this awful business and I same as soon as I could. Is she—"

"Eating breakfast, I shouldn't wonder," Brennan said. "Go right in, if it's the usual thing and you want to. I've been looking it over a bit."

"If there's anything I can do for her—"

"Not never," mind that new Brennan said. "I'll take it up with you if I need to. I want to talk to Miss Drane next and you can help me most by steadying her down if she's excited at all. Tell her I'm out here on the porch and will see her whenever she's ready. No hurry. Let her take her own time. Tell her it's nothing to be afraid of."

"That's fine of you," Carter said, putting out his hand impulsively. "Brennan is the name," the detective said, shaking Carter's hand. "You'll see a good one when you see this Brennan," Carter said. "None better."

"Sure!" cried Simon Judd widely. "Surest thing you know. Detectives are the thing I want to see. I'm going to be one myself."

"You'll see a good one when you see this Brennan," Carter said. "None better."

"That's the kind I want to see," said Simon Judd, and they went out to the veranda. Brennan arose as they appeared.

"Miss Drane," he said. "And this would be Mr. Judd? My name's Brennan as Carter has probably told you. I've been put on this case. I've got to ask some questions of you, Miss Drane, but if there are any you don't care to answer in a crowd we'll leave them until later. No, you men need not go; I'd rather have you here—the young

"It's so good to have you here," she said wiping her eyes again. "I don't mean to break down. I'm trying to be brave."

"That's the idea," Carter agreed. "And now, look here, honey—there's a detective fellow out there wants to talk to you. Just don't let it worry you, that's all. He won't be rough; he's a nice sort. And we needn't go out until you're ready; he says he's in no hurry."

"I'm ready now, Bob," she said. "You'll come, Mr. Judd."

I've had the officers make a search of three rooms up there," Brennan said. "Mr. Drane's room—we'll call him that, or call her that—ago the room Mr. Dart was to occupy, and your room, Mr. Judd."

"Suits me all right," Simon Judd said heartily. "Anything you do suits me; I'm going to be a detective myself, an dthe way you do it is what I want to see."

"We'll talk that over later, then," said Brennan after a glance at the huge Westerner. "I don't suppose, Miss Drane, we'll find anything in those rooms that will mean anything, although a man can never tell. I've talked to Josie and got all she could tell, and Zella has told me her story. You, they say, were the second person to reach Mr. Drane's door. Just tell me why you went there and what you saw."

Amy, folding and refolding her handkerchief, told what we already know.

JUST JOTS BY JOE

Bred in the same soil as that of Calloway county, this columnist feels a close relationship with the people of Calloway. The two counties were once one and consequently are sisters under the skin. Their people are very much alike. His father was born near Hico and a large number of my relatives live almost on the county line. Married a Murray girl and many times in Murray and Calloway county and knowing many people in a social way very pleasantly.

This columnist seeks your adoption. Your guidance over strange paths will be appreciated and forever remembered and your help reciprocated when opportunity presents. A new editor is always at great disadvantage in gathering news; it takes many years to know a community thoroughly.

ALMO HI NOTES

The Almo Basket Ball team played their first games of the season last Friday night with Kirksey. The scores of the first team were 20-7 in favor of Almo, second team 8-3 in Almo's favor. We certainly feel like this will be a successful year for our team.

Our school was visited Monday by the State Inspector, Mr. Barnes and County Superintendent, Mr. Broach. They thought the school was progressing nicely.

Two Literary Societies have been organized. Mr. Ollie Barnett was elected President of the Utopia Society and Mr. Kermitt Phillips President of the Jeffersonian Society. Mr. Bernice Brown of Dexter entered school Monday. We were indeed glad to have him with us.

There will be a Halloween party at the school house Wednesday night Oct. 31. Everybody is invited to come.

KIRKSEY HI NOTES

Quite a number of our students, faculty and patrons went to Memphis last week to the Tri-State Fair and National Dairy Exposition, all report a pleasant and profitable time, despite the rainy weather part of the time.

Our ball boys played their second game of the season with Almo Friday night on Almo's court. This was a good game even if the final score did look one sided. The first half was uncomfortably close, but Ross was put out in the first half which crippled our team and Almo soon had a lead which could not be overcome. We consider Almo Calloway's strongest team. However there are other strong teams, who will give them a good run.

Mr. C. E. Clark and Mrs. J. V. Stark have been appointed on a committee in this community to investigate disasters from flood, fires, tornadoes and etc. Anybody knowing of any families who need help owing to these conditions should report it to one of this committee.

Prof. Wether went to Farmington Saturday where he had been invited to judge the cattle at their School and Community Fair. Others of our community attended the fair.

ATHEISM VIA RADIO.
THANKS, MR. WILBUR.
OLD HEARTS NEED CARE.
AMERICANS ARE TALLER.

The American Association for the Advancement of Atheism demands a high powered radio station in New York City and does not get it, although the easiest way to make an atheist ridiculous is to let him talk. It is hard to understand how anybody could talk atheism, knowing that his voice propelled by a power beyond comprehension, travels around the world through the mysterious ether.

Atheists, young ones, especially, might meditate on one of Bacon's collected apothegms: "Simonides, being asked of Hiero, 'what he thought of God,' asked a seven night's time to consider it, and at the seven night's end he asked a fortnight's time, at the fortnight's end, a month."

At which Hiero marveling, Simonides answered "that the longer he thought upon the matter the more difficult he found it."

The more glibly you answer King Hiero's question the less you know.

great in the world. They will be three times as big as the Los Angeles, one third bigger than the German giant Count Zeppelin and each will carry, under the great gas bag, five airplanes for scouting.

The Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation will build them and, friendly as we do not intend to be taken by surprise.

A fleet of such dirigibles, each carrying fifty tons of explosives and modern war gas, able to unleash one hundred fast destructive planes, could leave with Uncle Sam's compliments a visiting card in Europe or Asia that would not soon be forgotten.

We make war on no nation, but we should be ready and able to fill with subsequent regret any one attacking us.

William W. Breck, retired business man, fell dead while playing golf. He was sixty-four years old. At sixty-four, make no violent effort, unless a good doctor has pronounced your heart "fool proof."

Golf is good for old men that play, as they should, talking, laughing, walking slowly. It's dangerous for those that strain and strive to better their game.

Remember old gentlemen, that whether you go around in 130 or 103, the cosmos will roll on, just the same. Treat an old heart as you would a delicate vase, not as you would treat an old rubber boot.

Americans are not going backward PHYSICALLY, at least. Girls are taller and stronger than ever. And among 100 candidates reporting for freshman crew practice at Cornell yesterday, 48 were 6 feet tall; a good sign.

A well balanced body, of good size, about 6 feet, is the right sort.

In old days, a Napoleon had to be short. If he had been a little taller he would have been killed by the first of the bullets that went an inch above his head.

No wonder American boys and girls grow. The nation's food bill is TWENTY THREE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS.

Forty-seven thousand, nine hundred and eighty-five factories of different kinds turn out food products, assisted by 6,448,366 farmers. And 22 per cent of the food plants produce nine-tenths of the food products. Shiver at that, if you dread monopoly.

It is a rich country that can afford to eat twenty-three billions worth of food in a year. Much of it unfortunately, is wasted.

This country, after all its spending for food, clothing and other necessities, has a "social surplus" of TEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS, more than the country needs for its living. That is what builds up values, savings bank accounts and Wall Street prices.

Clovers Required To Build up Soil

I desire to convert 73 acres into a good general-purpose farm. I want to milk a few cows, raise a few hogs, have a good flock of chickens and sell wheat and tobacco. I want the farm to produce all the feed, or

About a third of the farm is rather poor pasture. It is producing only a small amount of feed. The rest can be cultivated. Corn yields 20 to 25 bushels. Clover will not grow. How should I begin building up the land in a small way so that, in three or four years the farm will be producing feed for five to ten cows, 15 to 25 hogs and 200 chickens?

The first requisite in building up soils is to secure a good growth of clovers or other legumes. The Robert R. Roberts, of the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky, in answering the foregoing questions. If they do not grow well, the condition can generally be corrected by liming. Outside of the Central Bluegrass region it is also necessary to use a phosphate fertilizer. By introducing clover and alfalfa into the rotation and using all of the manure that can be produced, it is possible to build nearly all worn soils to a good level of production.

For good pasture, the same treatment is necessary. It is remarkable how much pasture can be produced by liming and fertilizing worn lands and seeding them to a mixture of grasses and clovers, including sweet clover and lespedeza.

Junior Club Members

Calves have been entered from counties as follows: Barren, 20; Bourbon, 15; Boyle, 18; Caldwell, 25; Carroll, 28; Casey, 5; Davies, 5; Franklin, 40; Garrard, 80; Grant, 1; Grayson, 15; Harrison, 15; Henry, 25; Hopkins, 27; Letcher, 2; Mercer, 41; Montgomery, 55; Nelson, 8; Nicholas, 30; Oldham, 20; Pulaski, 35; Shelby, 20; Spencer, 6; Washington, 55; and Wayne, 55.

Merchants' Windows Show Farm Products

Merchant windows in London were used to display farm and home products at the recent community and junior club fair and festival. Business men of London, 12 rural communities in Laurel county and junior agricultural club boys and girls cooperated to make the event a success.

One hundred and eighty-two entries of farm, home and garden products were displayed in store windows, and junior club members showed 158 chickens, 28 pigs, 6 calves and several sheep at the court house.

Fruit Growers to Meet at Lexington

The annual winter meeting of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society will be held at Lexington December 18-19. The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Experiment Station will cooperate in the program.

It is announced that the program will be well balanced, some of the subjects to be stressed being: the control of the oriental peach moth; orchard management, including fertilizers, cultivation, insect and disease control; roadside and whole sale marketing; place of the farm storage house, and the growing of strawberries and raspberries.

The meeting will be open to all persons interested in the growing and marketing of fruit.

Jap Clover Yields Two Tons per Acre

Variety tests of lespedeza on the experiment field maintained by the Agricultural Experiment Station near Mayfield made good yields of hay this year on land that formerly

The varieties were seeded in the spring of 1927, and yielded well that fall, being cut after some of the seed had matured. This year's crop grew from the shattered seed.

Plots of native grown lespedeza yielded at an average rate of 4,310 pounds of cured hay to the acre. Plots sowed to Louisiana seed made 70-pounds less per acre. Essay made 130 pounds more to the acre than did the native seed, the Korean 935 pounds more and the Kobe 1,165 pounds more.

The thickness of the stand varied considerably in the different varieties, probably due to differences in the amount of seed dropped from the previous crop.

Heavy Producing Cows

A report of the official testing in Kentucky shows that a Holstein cow owned by the Gray-Von Allmen Dairy, LaGrange, produced 4,444 pounds of butterfat in two days, and three other Holsteins in the same herd produced more than three pounds of fat each in two days.

A Jersey owned by L. T. Johnson, Clarksville, Tenn., but in Kentucky testing territory, produced 2,440 pounds of fat in one day. Cows owned by Myron Murray, Elkton; M. D. Harrison, Farmington; Wayne Rudolph, LaCenter, and Hinson Guier, Farmington, produced two pounds or more of fat in a day. One hundred and fifty-six Jerseys, 10 Holsteins and 11 Guernseys were on official test.

Now they're whispering denials of the whispering campaign!

SOUTH SIDE NEWS

Had some splendid rains this week for which we are very thankful, now that these rains have come the farmer can complete the wheat and rye seeding, already quite a lot has been sown, and much of it had come up before last good rain. I think it the proper thing to do, sow at least a small amount this year using, ground lime, or other fertilizer all the bran, as well as flour can be profitably utilized.

even the straw will more than pay for baling.

ON EDGE Worried A Lot

"I took Cardui at intervals for three years, and have been in good health since last fall," says Mrs. Noble J. Hayes, of Waterloo, N. Y. "My improvement after taking a course of this medicine was really remarkable."

"I am much stronger and can accomplish so much more work now. My weight increased twenty pounds, and my color is good."

"For a long time I had been feeling poorly. Some days I dragged around the house and had not enough energy to do my housework."

"I worried a lot about myself. I did not seem like myself, and my nerves were all on edge. I did not sleep well, and my appetite left me."

"I found Cardui to be an excellent tonic. After I had taken it a few weeks, I began to pick up and to gain in weight and strength."

ATTY. GENERAL GIVES RULING ON ELECTORS

Must Vote for Presidential Nominee to Qualify in Primary Election

CAN'T STAY AT HOME

Voters who register as Democrats and who fail or refuse to support the ticket in November elections will not be eligible to take part in the primary election to be held next year, according to a decision from the attorney general's office. This ruling also applies to those who do not participate in the presidential election, the communication states.

The ruling was quoted in a letter from the attorney general's office, dated August 31, which was addressed to Humphrey Marshall, of Sadiesville, who had asked that certain questions be answered that were being asked by the county committee.

A portion of the letter reads as follows: He (voter) shall, in addition to said qualifications, be a member of the party for whose nominee he intends to cast his vote, and shall have affiliated with said party and supported its nominee, and no person shall be deemed to have affiliated with the party in whose primary he seeks to cast his vote if he voted against the nominee or nominees of such party at the last general election. Thus, no voter claiming to be a Democrat could vote the ticket this fall and fail to vote for Governor Smith, and still be eligible to vote in the primary of 1929. This letter says further: "In case the voter posts and stays at home in the November election, 1928, he is not eligible to vote in the Democratic primary in 1929, because he did not 'affiliate' with the party at the last general election. You will observe from that part of the statute that before he is eligible to vote in the primary he must 'have affiliated' with said party and supported its nominee." Another question, upon which a ruling was asked was:

"What step can be taken by the officers of the election or challengers to keep a voter from voting in the primary who has failed to support the nominee or nominees of the Democratic party in November, 1928?"

"The challenger at the primary election has the right, and it is his sworn duty, where a voter presents himself and seeks to vote in a primary, to have him sworn before allowing him to vote and to require that he sign and swear to a blank affidavit, swearing that he supported the nominee of the Democratic party at the last general election, and if the voter refuses to subscribe and swear to such affidavit, it is the sworn duty of the officer of the election to refuse to allow him to vote."

Testing Shows Profits from Grain-fed Cows

The six dairy herd improvement associations in Kentucky had 147 herds containing 2,817 cows on test last month, according to a report of the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station at Lexington.

The 640 cows in the Blue Grass association, including 80 dry cows, averaged 20.4 pounds of fat in September with other associations producing as follows: Graves county, 19.8 pounds; Mercer-Boyle-Lincoln county, 18.2 pounds; Taylor-Marion-Washington county, 18.8 pounds; Oldham-Jefferson county, 18.1 pounds; and Northern Kentucky, 17 pounds.

L. H. Jones' herd of 16 purebred Jerseys, two of which were dry, in the Marion-Boyle-Lincoln association, averaged 32.8 pounds of fat, the best herd record for September. Ninety-three cows produced 40 pounds or more of fat each during the month, and 26 cows more than 80 pounds.

While figures presented by the testers pointed to the profitability of grain feeding, yet one man was found to be not feeding in accordance to the production of the cows. By reducing his feed bill $100 his return above the cost of feed for the month was increased $428.

Comparisons of profits in the various associations showed in every case larger incomes above the cost of feed where grain was added to pasture than where no grain was fed. Men who fed grain not only made more money during the summer months but the production of their herds was maintained into the fall months, whereas those receiving no grain suffered decreased milk flow.

A Simpson county junior agricultural club dairy cattle show, at which 87 purebred cows and calves were exhibited, attracted more than 8,000 people to Franklin.

Alfalfa seeded in August, 1927, on the farm of W. F. Minton & Co. in Knox county, cut 47 tons of hay from 8 1-2 acres in four cuttings this year.

Disloyalty to Home Town Is Costly Says Pennsylvania Editor

J. M. Harris, editor of the Tama-
(Pa.) Evening Courier, says:

That the life of any community depends upon the attitude of the people that make up that community. To patronize installment, mail order and other establishments that do not contribute one nickel to the general up-building of a community is simply digging away the very foundation upon which the industrial structure rests.

Money spent at home, goes home to root, but money sent to distant points goes to other towns, in which that concern is located and makes your own community poor indeed.

We all live off of one another, but if the chain is broken, especially in small communities, you can expect nothing more than a community will always be what is probably is now—a jumping off place and simply a commercial watering tank.

Advertising can help to overcome much of this community out-of-town buying distress, but unless the people become imbued with a patriotic feeling for their town, advertising or anything else will not help.

Community building rests upon its commercial advancement. A town of paved streets, boulevard parks and well kept public parks offers the admiration of the passing motorist, but if that town is to keep those things and add to them, it must have a firm commercial background upon which the advancement of any community must rest. Spending your money way from the town in which you live it will never do it.

Montgomery county junior agricultural club boys have purchased 71 ewes to raise lambs next year.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

The decorators tell us that every living room should have its screen. If it is not needed to match the entrance to the dining room or bedroom, then it is invaluable as a "high piece" to balance the tall secretary, bookcase or upright piano on an opposite wall.

Most attractive screens can be made at home at very little cost by covering the bare frame with an antique wall paper or a delightful modern paper may be used if the modernistic touch is wanted in the room.

Another effective screen that can be made at home is the screen of prints. Wall paper in a tiny gold star, diamond or cross stitch pattern makes a good foundation; then mount old-fashioned flower prints, Godey or quaint French prints in panels at the top.

A substantial dessert for little folks is cold fruit pudding made by dissolving 1 package fruit-flavored gelatin in 1 pint boiling water. When beginning to thicken, stir in a handful seedless raisins, a few nuts, chopped dates and figs and a sliced banana. Mold and serve with or without cream.

For Flaker Pie Crust
Your pastry will be much finer and more tender if prepared cake flour is used instead of bread flour.

Beef Stew en Casserole
Use 1 pound lean raw beef cut in inch cubes, 3 cups tomato pulp, 3 sliced onions, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper and parika to taste. Mix all together in casserole and bake covered in moderate oven for one hour, stirring occasionally. Delicious with baked potato.

Dice cold cooked lamb, beef or veal, heat it in gravy to which a little softened onion, celery and green pepper (chopped) have been added. Bake patty shells of pie crust arranged in muffin tins and while still hot fill with the meat mixture.

UNIQUE MACHINE TESTS MODEL A FORD RADIATORS

In the Highland Park Plant of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit, there is a machine which tries with all the efficient fiendishness of an engine destruction, to shake the life out of a Ford automobile radiator in the shortest possible time.

Ten hours is the time allotted to this machine, known as an "aggressor," to do all within its power to ruin a water-filled Ford radiator. At the end of that period the much abused radiator is taken off the machine and examined by experts for any signs of damage and a brand new Ford radiator, also filled with water, is put on for another ten hours of torment.

This aggressor device is part of the testing equipment for radiators that are being built for the new Model "A" Ford car. When you watch it jiggling and jolting and shaking the gurgling radiator, you have a feeling that no automobile driver could drive a car over roads and at a speed which would give it such a severe shaking up and still hold on to his wheel and his seat. Then the factory foreman tells you that within the period of ten hours this aggressor gives the new radiator more and severe jars and jolts than the average Ford car will get in its whole lifetime of service.

Campaign for Blue Ribbon Babies in Calloway County Is Begun

A campaign for Kentucky Blue Ribbon infants and children sponsored by the State Board of Health has been adopted by the Public Health Nurse as the basis for child health work this year. The slogan is "Blue Ribbon Children for Kentucky." Kentucky has long been noted the world over for her Blue Ribbon apples and health officials hope she will be noted for her Blue Ribbon children.

Every mother and father is urged to learn what standards of health their children must reach to win a Blue Ribbon, and then to try to have them reach the standard. There are, no doubt, some children in Calloway county whose health habits, freedom from physical defects, and immunization already make them eligible for Blue Ribbons. At school inspections and visits to family physicians these children will be found, while those things which keep other less fortunate children from being eligible for a Blue Ribbon will be discovered so that they and their parents will know what to do to win a Blue Ribbon.

The campaign starts at once and will end May 1st 1929, when a beautiful Blue Ribbon, lettered in gold, will be presented to each child winning one. Plans are already being made for a big celebration for this purpose.

Start now to make your child a Kentucky Blue Ribbon Child.
Mabel P. Glasgow,
Public Health Nurse.

NOT IN TAMMANY

Hoover orators and editors who have been so bitterly denunciatory of Tammany Hall are entitled to derive such comfort as they can from the following list, which was furnished by an Indiana newspaper, of prominent political leaders who are not members of Tammany and have never been:

The Hon. Albert B. Fall (Alk. A.), Republican secretary of the interior under Harding, conspirator and crook.
The Hon. Thomas Miller, Republican alien property custodian, thief and convict.

The Hon. Col. Forbes, Republican head of the veteran's bureau, who stole from the soldiers and went to prison.

The Hon. D. C. Stephenson, Republican leader of Indiana, who sent Robinson to the senate and Jackson to the governor's chair, now in prison for murder.

The Hon. Florence S. Knapp, Republican secretary of New York state, just out of prison for forgery and theft of public funds.

The Hon. Harry Daugherty, Republican attorney-general under Harding, co-conspirator with other cabinet officials and department heads, now repudiated and broken.

The Hon. Warren McCray, former Republican governor of Indiana, tried, convicted and sent to a federal penitentiary.

The Hon. Harry Sinclair, Republican angel to the Harding administration and co-conspirator with Albert Fall.

The Hon. Edwin Denby, Republican senator from Michigan, who resigned under pressure because of campaign expenditure scandals.

The Hon. Will Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, who took Sinclair's bonds to pay the party debt.

The Hon. William S. Vare, Republican senator from Pennsylvania, barred from the senate because of election scandals.

The Hon. Frank Smith of Illinois, Republican senator who was barred because he accepted Insull's cash while he was head of the Illinois utilities commission.

The Hon. Ed Jackson, Republican governor of Indiana, who got $2,500 for a horse he "sold" to Stephenson, and who offered $20,000 for $10,000 for a political appointment.

The Hon. Len Small, Republican governor of Illinois, who got away with a million of state money until the courts made him put it back.

The Hon. William Hale Thompson, Republican mayor of Chicago whose administration has been one long ride of crime and corruption.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lax, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

Crippled Children's Fund Falling Short

Campaign for $100,000 in State To Continue Through Next Week

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24—Failure of many county organizations to function properly and adverse weather conditions have made it necessary for the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children to continue for another week its statewide campaign to raise $100,000 so that the State Crippled Children's Commission can carry on its work.

Julius G. Ellis, chairman of the drive, has announced: "In this final appeal to the citizens of Kentucky to help make this campaign a success we want to reiterate the fact that hundreds of helpless boys and girls are dependent on this fund for alleviation of their suffering," said Mr. Ellis.

At Madisonville recently 100 crippled children of whom we had no record, made their appearance at the clinic. They had heard that examinations of crippled children were to be held there and they hurried in from the surrounding country.

DIZZY Lost Appetite

Mr. M. F. Fink, of Harrisburg, N. C., says: "It must have been fully twenty-five years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly."

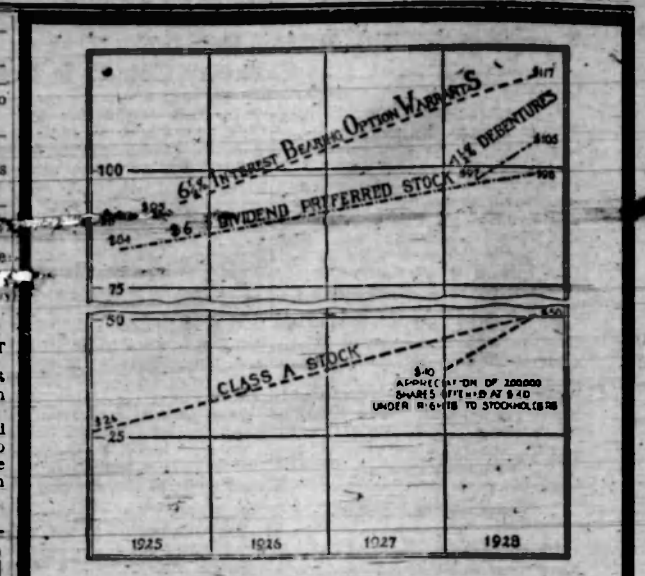

"I was in town one day, and while talking to a friend I stopped over to pick up something. When I straightened up, I felt dizzy. I spoke to him about this and how I had not felt like eating."

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night, another. In a few days I felt much better."

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, on headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year." Try it!

COMMENT ON CONSOLIDATION OF MURRAY PAPERS

The two papers at Murray, the Calloway Times-Herald and the Murray Ledger have been purchased by a company of Murray and Calloway Publishing Co. and merged into one paper, capital stock $40,000.00 and will hereafter be issued under the name of The Ledger and Times. This is the most forward step Murray has taken in a long time, it has been thoroughly demonstrated beyond any question that two papers can't prosper in a town under 25,000 people, besides, it falls to give the town the publicity it deserves. One of the important factors in any town is its newspaper. If the paper is progressive it reflects progress from that community and if the newspaper can't make money it's impossible for them to keep up and produce a publication in keeping with that particular city, besides two newspapers tend to divide the community into factions and force merchants to duplicate their advertisements. Mr. and Mrs. Jennings have been publishing the Murray Ledger in Murray for many years and have well represented the progressive city of Murray, been well trained in journalistic field and worked at all times to give to the outside world the best Murray had. It is regretted by the Messenger that on account of ill health Mr. Jennings is forced to give up the work he loved so well, but so successfully has he managed his business.

It is good to fare for himself and family through many rainy days. The Times-Herald under the management of Mr. Sanford is new in the journalistic field, and has only been in existence for about one year. Mr. Sanford, too, showed an aptness for newspaper work and produced a splendid publication.

The town of Murray and the management of both papers not only showed a progressive spirit in this consolidation, but also showed splendid judgment in selecting as the manager and editor of the consolidation Joe T. Lovett of Benton. Mr. Lovett is one of the highest newspaper men in Kentucky. Young, ambitious and with a vision. We predict that with the fertile field of Murray and Calloway county, The Ledger and Times will soon take its place among the front ranks of journalism in this section.—Mayfield Messenger.

LYNN GROVE SCHOOL

(By Myers Sherman)
Home Room 4 met Oct. 17th, and selected the name, motto, colors and flowers. Name, W. W. W. ("We Will Work"). Motto, "Push, Pull or Get Out of the Way." Color, Blue and Ivory; Flower, Lily. Misses Reba Sims and Beaton Chambers, former graduates of Lynn Grove were visitors Thursday.

Mr. Max Hurt, principal of the Kirksey High School rendered a splendid talk in chapel Friday morning on, Purpose of School. Mr. Hurt is an able speaker and we invite him back again!

Miss Opal Rogers and Mildred Blalock returned from Memphis Thursday. Miss Rogers entered a heifer which won three prizes. Lynn Grove plays the first basket ball game of the season Friday night with Lone Oak at Lone Oak, and Heath Saturday night. These are strong teams and the games are expected to be very interesting. We are very proud of the new shower bath which is being constructed at the back of the Gym under the supervision of Mr. Warren and Mr. Adams.

The reports comes from Home Room 2 that on next Tuesday, Oct. 30, at eleven o'clock, Bro. L. L. Jones of Murray will be with us to conduct our chapel exercises. Each of us remember with pleasure the wonderful address he gave us last spring at Commencement and we realize what an unusual treat he has in store for us at this time, and would like to extend to the patrons of the community an invitation to come out and enjoy it with us.

At last the desks for our food cases have been completed! We boys although we are not expecting to use them, feel that we have a part interest in them, for the Agriculture boys under the supervision of Mr. Warren and Mr. Homer Adams helped to make the twelve desks and built in cabinet. The girls of the Home Economics 2 class, composed of the Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors as a class project did the varnishing and enameling, and will have the larger part of the equipment installed by the first of next week.

Calloway Schools Work for Libraries

Attendance Records Are Being Broken This Year

Libraries will soon be procured by all the elementary schools of Calloway County with the funds raised through school activities, according to County Superintendent Broach. That this method of raising money is successful is indicated by the fact that Concord raised $62 from a pie supper, recently held at that school.

Three-fourths of the schools of the county have adequate libraries. The others are putting forth every effort to obtain them before the present term ends.

The record breaking attendance of the schools being maintained, and Superintendent Broach reports that, with the good condition of the roads, he hopes for a continuance of the good attendance.

The regular teachers meeting which was postponed on account of school activities will be held November 3 in the auditorium of Murray State Teachers College.

Stung by a few minutes of mediocre play that finally resulted in a blocked punt and the first score of the season early in the fourth quarter, the Murray Thoroughbreds trod roughly over the U. T. Juniors here Friday afternoon to score twice in the final period and win by 34 to 6.

Murray scored once each in the first two sections of the battle. Hugh May, flashing 20 yards for the first blood and Haynes, counting the second marker on the same play. Brodie's pass to Miller added the extra point after the second touchdown.

Substitutions at the beginning of the third quarter weakened the Thoroughbreds to the extent that the Tennesseans played them on even count until the regulars reentered the fray in the fourth to gallop through the visitors for three touchdowns.

Jim Miller scored first for Murray in the last period when he caught a thirty-five yard spiral pass from B. Norman. Norman scored the goal. A few minutes later and after John Miller had intercepted a pass on Murray's 37 yard strip, Norman passed to Holmes for 30 yards and another pass May to Brodie gave the Thoroughbreds another score. Norman again placed the try for extra point between the crossbars.

D. Norman, local center, started the next touchdown when he intercepted a pass on the 30 yard line. Brodie went around end for 14 yards. B. Norman plunged through for 11 yards and on the next play Norman fumbled over the goal line but recovered for a touchdown. Norman made his third successive attempt for an extra point succeed.
