CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank everyone who contributed and participated during the recent fire and flood in our community. My deepest appreciation goes to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sparks, Mr. J. H. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Parker, and all others who contributed to help the community.

The community has been brought together and united in the common cause of survival. The fire and flood have taught us the importance of preparation and planning, and the community has come together to work for the common good.

CHAPTER I

The Cockroach

Mr. Barnhill had just finished his dinner, and was now sitting quietly in his study. He was deep in thought, trying to decide whether or not to sell his farm. His mind was filled with care and anxiety, and he felt a great sense of responsibility. He looked at his farm and wondered if he could really sell it. He knew that the farm was his life's work, and he didn't want to part with it. But he also knew that he couldn't keep it if he couldn't afford to run it. He was at a loss as to what to do.

Mr. Barnhill had been a farmer all his life. His family had lived on the farm for generations, and he had always been proud of it. He had worked hard to make it what it was today, and he didn't want to see it go to waste. But he also knew that he couldn't do it alone. He needed help, and he didn't have it.

The farm was not doing well. The crops weren't coming in as well as they used to, and the animals weren't producing as much. The land was worn out, and the weather was against him. He knew that he couldn't keep it up without help, and he didn't know where to find it.

Mr. Barnhill finished his dinner and thought for a long time. He knew what he would have to do, but he didn't want to do it. He looked out the window and saw the farm stretching out before him. He knew that he loved it, but he knew that he had to sell it. He sighed and got up from the table. He knew that he had to make a decision, and he wasn't sure what it was.

Thanksgiving Treat: "Thanks a Million"

Our Thanksgiving treat is a classic favorite. It is a traditional dish that has been enjoyed for generations. It is a symbol of gratitude and a reminder of the abundance we have in our lives.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

OUR THANKSGIVING TREAT "THANKS A MILLION"

THANKS A MILLION

"They speak of me in whispers. I'm tired of living their life - I'm going to live my own life now."

Glamorous Joan, never so gregariously gowned, in the happy, sprightly romance of the girl who had everything money could buy, except her kind of love.
