Germany-based Webasto Roof Systems Inc. is bringing an international manufacturing presence and the automobile industry to Calloway County for the first time as the company plans to construct a new facility and employ about 150 people.

Murray-Calloway County Economic Development Corporation President Mark Manning said he's been working a little more than a month to secure Webasto. Local EDC representatives joined state economic development and Webasto officials this morning at Murray State University's Murray Room to announce the plant's expansion into Murray.

Gov. Ernie Fletcher stressed the importance of economic growth across region. The governor campaigned on bringing economic development to the state and has continued to promote that message in his almost four months in office.

"Economic development in the commonwealth is crucial to the well being of all Kentuckians, and I am pleased that Webasto has decided to expand their facility in the Murray-Calloway County Industrial Park," Fletcher said. "This expansion will deliver much-needed jobs to western Kentucky and our administration will continue to promote job growth and economic opportunity in Kentucky."

Accoridng to Manning, a 105,000-square foot facility will be built next to Pulmo-Dose on U.S. 641 North in the industrial park. Future expansion to nearly double the facility is possible on the about 25 acres. Construction and equipment costs will initially total $16 million.

"We want to get dirt moving as soon as possible so they can begin production in January," Manning said. "We have prove we can go step for step with them." Full production is expected to begin next summer.

Established in 1901, Webasto deals with roofs and heating and cooling systems for international automobile manufacturers and other vehicles, such as buses, fire engines, ships and cranes.

"The state and local government support provided since we opened our first Kentucky facility in 1998 has been excellent," Webasto Vice President of Operations Mark Wallace said, referring to one of two Lexington plants. "The employee work ethic and commitment to quality has contributed greatly to Webasto's reputation for highquality, innovative products. We appreciate Kentucky's continued interest in our business and we trust this third facility will further contribute to Webasto's North American success as a market leader."

Murray competed with at least seven other Kentucky communities, as well as three states, Manning said. The university,

Plan outlined for fiscal responsibility

Murray-Calloway County Hospital CEO Jon O'Shaughnessy sees the hospital on its way to becoming more fiscally responsible, if the reorganization proves efficient.

While not eliminating positions, O'Shaughnessy's wants to cut back on overtime and premium pay expenses on the payroll. Right now overtime costs account for about 2.5 percent of that budget item and O'Shaughnessy hopes to reduce that figure to about 2 percent.

"We are deeply committed to retaining full- and part-time staff and flexing (practicing registered nurs-

The restructuring the hours that hospital staff work as been an issue at the monthly employee forums the CEO has organized. Employees are free to voice concerns and ask questions of the administrator.

"Face time with them on my behalf will help take care of some of the negativity," he said.

O'Shaughnessy said the length of stay for hospital patients is becoming shorter. That trend affects employee hours. While the hospital hopes to become financially efficient in this area, staff members deserve their

As benefit packages throughout the nation are becoming more expense for a variety of industries, the hospital administration is getting ready to accept bids for new plans, insurance health O'Shaughnessy said. The current health insurance plan for hospital employees is generally a 90-10 payment plan. The proposed plan design will likely change that to an 80-20 setup.

Employees also are likely to make more of a financial contribution to their benefits package, the CEO said, as is the trend with which most industries are dealing.

"What this does is shift some of the responsibility to the consumer, the employee," O'Shaughnessy told the commissioners. "We are looking to bid the project design out to the general insurance market. With this will probably come back to you and say we have projected savings of X and how do we want to handle this. Do we want a safe landing for the employees the first year and then gradually increase their responsibility."

O'Shaughnessy wants the relationship between the hospital and its foundation to take a new direction. The hospital is a public entity while the foundation is a private corporation. He said he hopes foundation contributions increase and expenses decrease to combine for nearly $100,000 income.

"I want to get to the point that the foundation is self-sufficient so its expenditures don't exceed its capital contributions," he said.

Because the hospital has control over the foundation, the two organization's financial statements are combined, according to MCCH's Chief Financial Officer Louie Vetter.

"Because of the control this board has over the foundation, there is enough control that it warrants the combining of the hospital and foundation financial statements," he said, citing information provided by the groups' auditors.

Attracting a new type of industry is important to the economic stability of the community, according to Melvin Henley, chairman of the Murray-Calloway County EDC and member of the state Kentucky Economic Development Finance

Authority Board of Directors. "Our region has never penetrated the automotive assembly and automotive supplier industry," Henley said. "This is the first. We've never had one and that's important because they are usually higher paying jobs."

Webasto will offer a variety of jobs, including some engineering positions, for employees with different qualifications, Henley said. Diversifying the local workforce and spreading out new jobs among different industries will help the local economy stay strong.

"Most of the jobs we have attracted are better paying with better benefit packages. And they are spread out over several different industries so we are not quite as vulnerable to national economic downturns," Henley said. "We don't have all our eggs in one basket."

Three other Webasto facilities are located in Michigan - Livonia, Rochester Hills and Sterling Heights. The company also has a Santa Fe Springs, Calif., location and two sunroof manufacturing facilities in Lexington. The Lexington site nearly doubled its employment with an additional plant last year after initially employing about 250 people.

Manning said today's announcement brings together "the people you've got to have" - the university, state and local economic development agencies, and the city and county governments.

Another one of those partners is the Tennessee Valley 'Authority. "Webasto is bringing career opportunities to the people of Murray, which is why TVA is so pleased to be partnering with Murray-Calloway County Economic Development Corporation, West Electric Kentucky Rural Cooperation and the commonwealth of Kentucky to make this historic day a reality," TVA Board Chairman Glenn L. McCullough Jr. said.

Local EDC officials have worked with the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority Board to put together an incentive package, which is on the agenda at today's KEDFA meeting. What Murray qualifies for in terms of company tax credits for jobs created for Kentucky residents differs from the other locations hoping to land Webasto, Manning said.

"Many of the communities we were competing with qualified for higher incentives from the state because they have higher unemployment rates and things like that," Manning said. "Our goal was to make the first cut and then we saw it as a competition with ourselves."

While the present is solid for Calloway County's economy, the future and finances can be fickle. Manning said he knows future economic growth in the community is up to him and other leaders.

"In this business, all you can do is recognized when you have a real opportunity and focus, focus, focus," he said. "...We need to do more diversification and this certainly helps in that area. We need to maintain the high standards we have in the community, and, as they say in the Bible, prepare a place. We're running out of industrial space."

Webasto to the community will help close the gap Mattel left. "We're pretty much back to where we were when Mattel left," he said. "But we're not through yet.'

The wages will be highly com-stepping stone to new industries in Murray. "International companies tend to congregate," Manning added. "This proves we can compete in the international market. And it's automotive, which is a new industry to Murray. People are saying with the Graves County Industrial Park automobile manufacturers will come and auto supplireverse that."

Witnesses told deputies the motorcycle was slowing down but could not stop in time and that Jones told them he did not see the motorcycle and turned in front of it. The truck remained in service, but the motorcycle was left at 1200 Bethel Road with permission from the land owner.

Great Steamboat Race winner ruled not a steamboat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The Belle of Cincinnati finished ahead of its rival in the 41st Great Steamboat Race, but didn't win the prized gilded antlers.

The reason: The judges ruled that the Belle of Cincinnati isn't a "steamboat" and awarded the prize to the Belle of Louisville.

The Kentucky Derby Festival event is a throwback to the era when steamboats were a fixture of river transportation and races were run with the only rule being that there are no rules.

Trustees OK tuition increase at UofL

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - University of Louisville trustees have approved a 13.3 percent tuition hike for full-time in-state undergraduates next year.

University officials say the increase of nearly $600 a year for most students will go toward hiring faculty and staff, adding career and academic counseling and protecting programs. U of L is the latest public university to ask its students to pay hefty tuition and fee increases next year in light of state budget cuts. Gov. Ernie Fletcher had ordered public colleges and universities to cut $66 million from their budgets this year - including about $11 million at U of L.

Bush and Cheney will meet in a private session beginning at 9:30 a.m. EDT at the White House with all 10 members of the commission investigating the Sept. 11, 2001, terror attacks.

At the administration's request, the questioning will not be recorded, nor will a stenographer be present to make a transcript. Commission members may take notes. That significantly differs with the commission's interviews with former President Clinton and former Vice President Al Gore, which a commission member said

But Lanny Davis, who was special counsel to former President Clinton, said it will be hard for Bush and Cheney to demonstrate full cooperation given their past resistance to the panel and their "insisting on appearing together."

"To me, transparency is the high road the White House should have taken from day one. And it mystifies me why they haven't," Davis said.

Bush first opposed creating the commission and then opposed extending its life. He also initially opposed having Rice testify in public. And he at first said he would only meet with the chairman and vice chairman of the panel, and only for an hour. But he relented on all counts.

Davis said Bush can only show complete good faith if he follows the lead of then-President Ford, who testified before Congress in public about his 1974 pardon of President Nixon. "History has taught a lesson that all presidents need to be transparent. Avoiding transparency on grounds of constitutional principle is not going to fly in the post Watergate era," Davis said.

Democratic Foreign Policy

By GEORGE GEDDA AP Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sandy Berger, a top Clinton-era National Security Council aide, has written a long essay on President Bush's foreign policy. It's friendly - but only for the first few paragraphs.

He begins by praising a Bush speech last fall in which the president "rightly argued" that the lack of political freedom in Muslim countries drives people toward "shadowy, violent alternatives."

Berger also notes, though, that Bush "fairly criticized" past administrations for having been too tolerant of authoritarian Arab regimes.

From then on, Berger has almost

The number of American casualties: 0.

Foreign policy issues normally are reduced to sound bites in presidential campaigns. Berger's essay fleshes out some of the gaps, although it is unclear whether Kerry, the Democrats' presumptive nominee, subscribes to all of Berger's thoughts.

Berger says the Bush administration is not responding adequately to terrorism and other dangers the country faces.

Where the administration "has gone badly wrong is in applying its with us or against us' philosophy to friends as well as foes," he writes. "Put simply, our natural allies are much more likely to be

Berger also comments on the relationship between Secretary of State Colin Powell and Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld, saying they are the embodiment of a "clash of civilizations" within the administration - a phenomenon, he observes, that is not unknown in the Democratic Party.

Powell sides with "liberal internationalists in both parties who believe that our strength is usually, greatest when we work in concert with allies in the defense of shared values and interests," Berger says.

On the other side are those "who seem to believe that the United States should go it alone - or not go it at all." Berger clearly is aligned with the former view Without foreswearing unilateral use of military power, Berger says a Democratic administration "will have no more urgent task than to restore America's global moral and political authority, so that when we decide to act we can persuade others to join us."

Bush plans to build his answers around the theme that he knew al-Oaida was a threat but there was no hint of the time, place or date of an attack, administration officials said.

He was preparing by reviewing documents from the months leading up to the attacks and has been consulting with White House chief of staff Andy Card, national security adviser Condoleezza Rice and White House counsel Alberto Gonzales.

The testimony of Bush and Cheney will not be under oath, but they will "tell it exactly how it happehed," McClellan said. McClellan said he expected Bush - not Cheney - to do most of the talking Rich Bond, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, said Bush and Cheney would "tell the whole truth and nothing but" to the panel.

This is a closure in terms of procedures and in terms of some of the symbolism that is associated with the commission," Bond said.

Once Bush and Cheney testify, the administration will be able to say that "all interested parties" right up to the president had appeared before the panel "and no stone was left unturned," Bond said.

tion's role in the 1980s Iran-Contra affair.

Reagan is rarely remembered as the American president who sold arms to Iran to try to win the release of U.S. hostages and used the money to illegally finance rightwing Nicaraguan guerrillas, Hinshaw said.

Rather, he is regarded as the man who "stood tall" against the Soviet Union and "restored American credibility," Hinshaw said

Since polls show that nearly four in ten Americans still believe Saddam had something to do with the Sept. 11 attacks, "that's what will color the perceptions of Bush," Hinshaw said.

Norman Ornstein, an analyst at the American Enterprise Institute, a Washington think tank, said that on balance there are "more positives than negatives" to the joint appearance by Bush and Cheney.

"Unless a president really messes up, the sense that you're being forthcoming I think helps in this case," Ornstein said. "If Bush says something really foolish, that could be a negative. But I doubt very much that that's going to happen. And the odds of that happening with Cheney there are less.'

nothing good to say about Bush' foreign policy. Perhaps that's not surprising, given Berger's Democratic pedigree.

How To Buy A French Veto

Anyone who pines for genuine international multilateralism would do well to follow the bribes now being uncovered in the United Nations' Oil-for- Food scandal

Advisory

Why did France and Russia oppose efforts to topple Saddam Hussein's regime? And why did they press constantly, throughout the '90s, for an expansion of Iraqi oil sales? Was it their empathy for the starving children of that impoverished nation? Their desire to stop the United States from arrogantly imposing its vision upon the Middle East? It now looks like they it was simply because they were on the take. Saddam was their cash cow. If President Bush has suffered some discredit over his apparently false - but not disingenuous -- claims of Iraqi weapons of mass destruction, the lapse is minor compared to the outright personal selfishness and criminality that appears to have motivated many of those who opposed his efforts to rid the world of one of its worst dictators.

Throughout the '90s, France and Russia badgered the United States and Britain to increase Iraqi oil production. President Bill Clinton and Prime Minister Tony Blair fought them at each step, but then reluctantly gave way. First Iraq was allowed to sell 500,000 barrels daily. Then, on Franco-Russian insistence, it was the war when an an adviser and an an an and raised to 1 million, then to 2 million and, finally, to 3 million barrels a day.

Each time, America and Britain - the nations now accused of coveting Iraqi oil - resisted the increases in Iraqi production and urged tighter controls over the program. Each time, the French and the Russians prattled on about the rights of Iraqi sovereignty and the need to feed the children.

Now we know why the French and Russians were so insistent. Iraqi government documents (leaked to the Baghdad newspaper Al Mada) list at least 270 individuals and entities who got vouchers allowing them to sell Iraqi oil - and to keep much of the money. These vouchers, and the promise of instant great wealth they carried with them, bought vital support in the United Nations to let Saddam stay in power.

The list of those receiving these bribes includes France's former French Interior Minister Charles Pasqua (who's a leader of Chirac's party) and Patrick Maugein, the head of the French Oil firm Soco International. France's former U.N. ambassador, Jean-Bernard Merimee, got vouchers to sell 11 million barrels.

In Russia, the payoff chain reached right into the "office of the Russian president." President Vladimir Putin's Peace and Unity Party also got vouchers, as did the Soviet-era Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzhkov and the Russian Orthodox Church. Nationalist leader Vladimir Zhirinovsky shared in the largesse.

Not to be left behind, the Rev. Jean Marie Benjamin of the Vatican got the rights to sell 4.5 million barrels as recompense for setting up a meeting between Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq

Aziz and the pope.

Indeed, the list indicates that Benon Sevan, the United Nations official in charge of the Oilfor-Food program. received vouchers. He denies the charge, but has decided to retire next month anyway.

At the start of the Oil-for-Food program, America and Britain proposed that the money flow only to accounts entirely controlled by the United Nations. Soon this standard was lowered to include accounts not actually controlled by the United Nations, but only monitored by it.

Then-Sen. Frank Murkowski (R-Alaska) warned that "oil is fungible" and noted that once Iraq was allowed to pump and sell it, Saddam could sell all he wanted outside of officially sanctioned channels and nobody could tell which black liquid was legal and which not. But nobody imagined that there were actual bribes going to specific French, Russian and U.N. officials as part of the program.

Now it appears that Secretary-General Kofi Annan's sanctimonious posturing may have concealed oil bribes which reached high up in the ranks of the U.N. organization itself.

The defect of international coalitions is that they include the just and the unjust, the bribed and the honest, the democratic and the autocratic. And their members cannot be trusted equally. The group that stood up and backed the invasion of Iraq was nicknamed "the Coalition of the Willing." Now it appears it was also "the Coalition of the Honest."

Safety emphasized after minor accident

BY KRISTIN TAYLOR Staff Writer

While a city sanitation worker only sustained minor injuries in a collision Monday morning, the department supervisor was reminded of the importance of safety as trash is collected from the streets.

Sanitation supervisor Don Rogers said as Murray's streets get busier the garbage truck drivers and collectors are at greater risk as they deliver curbside pickup to city residents.

According to Rogers and Murray Police Department Det. Capt. Eddie Rollins, a two-man sanitation team was collecting residential trash Monday morning on North 16th Street when a 1982 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by Thomas Smith, 55, Murray, was traveling the opposite direction on the same road. As one of the two sanitation workers, 29-year-old Jody Wrye, was getting ready to get off the back of the truck to pick up a garbage can, Smith's truck mirror hit him in the lower back.

MPD responded to the wreck and city officials transported Wrye to Primary Care Medical Center as a precaution. Charges are not expected to be filed in the matter, Rollins said.

Monday's accident was the first the sanitation department has experienced, but Rogers said there have been some close calls. "We've been extremely fortunate because the guys are on the roads every day," the supervisor said. "We try to get out there when the streets aren't as busy, but with some of the streets it doesn't matter because some of them stay so busy."

Rogers has taken suggestions from residents before concerning his workers' routes. For instance, a resident once recommended the collection time for Wiswell Road be changed so the garbage trucks weren't on the street at the same time as school buses.

"You've got to get it picked up, but if residents see something that could help, we're open to suggestions," Rogers said. "Some roads stay so busy it won't make a difference when we're there, but sometimes we can re-route.'

Safety is on Rogers' mind as the Murray City Council finance committee is working on the 2004-05 budget. In his request, Rogers outlined a $180,000 automated garbage truck to replace a 1988 model currently operated by a twoor three-man team. Only one worker would have to operate the automated truck.

"Then you are just talking about a driver in the cab picking up the cans without getting out of the truck," he said. "That sure would help with safety.

The automated truck is able to make 100 pickups an hour, compared to the current 60 or 70. Rogers said when he presented his budget request to the committee earlier this month. With residential and commercial waste combined. garbage pickup has grown to nearly 80 tons daily.

The National World War II Memorial, opening to the public on Thursday, has been almost two decades in the making. While the formal dedication ceremony is still a month away, project organizers have been racing to put the finishing touches on the memorial so that the ever-dwindling number of veterans from that era can visit it.

Once the fence comes down, visitors will be able to walk freely about the memorial, which spans the length of a football field and sits prominently between the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial on the National Mall

MCCH celebrates National Occupational Therapy Month

April 2004 has been designated as National Occupational Therapy Month by the American Occupational Therapy Association, and by occupational therapy practitioners at Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Occupational therapy is the allied health profession that focuses on maximizing a person's ability to participate in life independently. People who can benefit from occupational therapy range from the tiniest of newborn infants to senior citizens, and every age in between.

More than one fourth of the occupational therapy practitioners in the United States work in the school systems, where they help children pursue the "occupations" of learning, playing, and growing.

A leading reason for referring a child to occupational therapy is for help in mastering handwriting, a skill necessary for the "job" of the student. But occupational therapy also helps children with conditions such as autism, cerebral palsy, Down's syndrome, mental retardation, spina bifida, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, and many other health problems.

Premature infants with health problems also benefit from occupational therapy. A baby's "occupations" are to simply eat and grow; but if developmental complications cause feeding problems, a pediatric occupational therapist can often provide treatments that improve the baby's ability to take in nourishment.

In industry, occupational therapy helps injured workers return to the job, and also teach healthy employees how to prevent injuries at work. Some common workrelated conditions that can benefit from occupational therapy are hand and wrist problems such as carpal tunnel syndrome and tendonitis.

School arts funds lacking in Fletcher plan

a nonprofit

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) Education officials wanted to expand a school arts program that some believe will help improve elementary students' grades and IQs, but Gov. Ernie Fletcher's proposed budget provided no money for the program, and the legislative session ended without a budget.

The stalemate is jeopardizing the two-year pilot program that is in 10 elementary schools and involves 4,000 students.

Arts advocates and some parents and educators also worry that the funding uncertainty is an indication that arts and humanities programs will be left out of tight school budgets, as administrators feel pressured to spend money on reading and math.

While Kentucky schools and districts haven't yet completed their budgets for next year, advocates point to a recent national study where one-fourth of educators say schools are spending less time on arts instruction, and a third say they expect more declines.

In tight economic times, "it is not unusual that it is the arts teachers who get cut, or a teacher who usually teaches one art form is all of the group that promotes arts education.

That's short-sighted, say educators who cite studies showing that lessons learned through arts and humanities programs translate to other subject areas, such as reading and math. Educators and others also argue that the arts can motivate some students and involve parents and the community in schools through art shows, concerts and plays.

"The benefits derived from students' participation in the arts helps students in many ways," said state Sen. Lindy Casebier, R-Louisville chairman of the Senate and Education Committee. Casebier said

Parent Michele Tackett said her son, Zachary, a second-grader at Russell Primary School in Greenup County, has gotten the chance to attend his first play, "Cinderella," and take Spanish classes because of his school's participation in the program

"He's had a wonderful experience with all of this," she said, noting that he also has been teaching Spanish words to his 2-year-old sister, Madelyn.

The state program, created as part of 2002 legislation, was modeled after a program used by Daviess County schools - one of Kentucky's highest-scoring districts on state academic tests. Daviess schools have gained national attention for their "Graduation 2010" program, which trains every child in arts, music, foreign language and critical thinking.

Traditionally, Kentucky as a whole has received high marks for its commitment to the arts. Since 2001, high school students have been required to have at least one arts credit to graduate. And Kentucky is the only state that tests students in arts and humanities as part of its school accountability system, said Philip Shepherd, the arts and humanities consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education.

But while schools have increased their scores in the arts and humanities portions of state tests since 1997, the area remains among the lowest of any subject. Shepherd attributes the low scores to how schools address arts and humanities. The successful ones, he said, usually have a goal and map out how they will improve their scores. They also integrate the arts into subjects such as social studies, English and physical education.

The pilot program is supposed to supply each of 10 participating schools with $50,000 this school year and again in the next. The schools use the money to hire foreign-language instructors, buy supplies, pay for students to attend performances and bring in trained artists. Schools also use the money to train teachers in the arts, from expanding their knowledge to helping them integrate the arts in classroom lessons.

The Murray Art Guild partnered with Graphic Design IV, an advanced course in Murray State University's Art Department, to develop a community identity and enhance public recognition for the Guild. Students under the direction of Alma Hale used the Guild as a model for their study of corporate identity systems and employed image building techniques that included developing a logo, creating methods for targeting audiences, maximizing the utilization of available facilities and increasing marketability.

The team of Gina Penney, Brandon Long and Bo Vanderburg submitted the logo of choice; however, key elements from the other presentations will be applied, as well.

Full field of 20 entered for Kentucky Derby

By BETH HARRIS AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The Cliff's Edge was made the slight 4-1 favorite for the Kentucky Derby and drew the No. 11 post Wednesday

A field of 20 3-year-olds was entered for the 1 1/4-mile race, with undefeated Arkansas Derby winner Smarty Jones the second choice at 9-2. Tapit was the third choice at 8-1.

In 2002, Harlan's Holiday was 9-2, the highest morning line favorite since the line was first published in 1949.

Churchill Downs oddsmaker Mike Battaglia had a tough time picking between The Cliff's Edge, trained by Nick Zito, and Smarty Jones, who is 6-0 in his career. "You can't knock Smarty Jones' record. The Cliff's Edge got a little bit better (speed) number in the Blue Grass," Battaglia said. "Nick Zito has won the Derby twice and The Cliff's Edge has won two races at Churchill Downs. Very, very close, but that's what swung me.

"50-1 is insane. I love Mike, but please," he said.

Zito added, "This probably will be the best betting Derby ever. I don't see any clear-cut favorite." Smarty Jones' John Servis and Stewart Elliott will try to become the first first-time Derby trainer at 10-1. Master David, trained by Bobby Frankel, and Read the Footnotes were the co-fifth choices at 12-1.

"I just played it safe and picked someplace in the middle," Frankel said. "The race will set up with Lion Heart going to the lead. What Smarty Jones does will dictate the whole race."

Four horses were at 15-1: Friends Lake, Imperialism, Wimbledon and Santa Anita Derby winner Castledale.

Three-time Derby winner Bob Baffert selected post five for Wimbledon. Baffert's horse, War Emblem, started there in 2002 and won; last year's winner Funny Cide also broke from No. 5.

"I wanted an inside post. I was hoping to get the five," Baffert said. "He's the kind of horse that's going to be following, he'll be back in the pack somewhere."

The last time 20 horses started the Derby was 1984. That year a rule was made to cap the field at 20, and since then the maximum has yet to be reached.

2004 Ohio Valley Conference Champions 'Breds lose heartbreaker THREE SWEEP to No. 9

Staff Report

Murray Ledger & Times OXFORD, Miss. - Through impressive pitching and strong defense, the Murray State Thoroughbreds held No. 9 Mississippi scoreless over the last eight innings, but couldn't string together enough hits in the 2-1 loss on Wednesday.

Ole Miss

The Rebels - ranked ninth in this week's Baseball America poll and 12th in the USA Today/ESPN poll - got both of their runs in the bottom of the first, when Chris Coghlan led off with a double and scored on a single by Seth Smith.

Smith was erased on one of MSU's three double plays of the night, but Charlie Babineaux hit a solo shot to give UM (32-12) a 2-0 lead.

Murray State (11-27) cut that lead in half in the top of the third, when second baseman Seth Hudson was hit by a pitch and went to second on a single by third baseman Clint Griggs. Both runners advanced on a groundout, then both advanced on a sacrifice fly by shortstop Alex Stewart, scoring Hudson.

Lady Racers take home OVC golf championship, Golfer of the Year and Coach of the Year honors

By MICHAEL DANN Sports Writer

PADUCAH, Ky. - If Cuyler Hedley is the glue for the Murray State women's golf team, then it's a safe bet the other Lady Racer linksters are considered duct tape.

The always reliable Hedley unwound on the final day of the Ohio Valley Golf Championships at the Country Club of Paducah. But luckily for the Gobourg, Ontario native, her teammates were going to make sure they stuck by her.

Former Heath standout and senior Nikki Orazine provided the ties that bind, holding together a solid round en route to the Lady Racers' third straight OVC Championship at the 5,871-yard, par-72 country club course.

It was the Lady Racers' sixth OVC title in 11 seasons under head coach Velvet Milkman, who earned OVC Coach of the Year honors.

AP Photo Phillies pinch-runner Marlon Byrd scores from third as St. Louis Cardinals' Mike Matheny applies the late tag in the ninth inning Wednesday.

Myers' solution pays off in win over Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Brett Myers has a solution if he continues to struggle in the Philadelphia Phillies' rotation.

For one night, it proved successful

Ryan Madson bailed out Myers with four innings of one-hit relief in the Phillies' 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals on Wednesday night.

Myers has a 7.36 ERA in three starts and he said if it continues he'd expect Madson to replace him.

After Babineaux's first-inning home run, MSU starter Bart Peach and the 'Breds' defense retired 22 of the next 25 batters, allowing three hits and three walks over the last eight innings. "Bart Peach pitched really, really well," said MSU head coach Rob McDonald. "Our defense also made no errors, but we couldn't get any runs batting."

Both teams had six hits apiece. Stewart went 2-for-3 for Murray with a run batted in, while Josh Foreman went 2-for-4.

For Mississippi, Smith went 2for-4 with an RBI, while Coghland and Brian Pettway each doubled and Babineaux homered for the Rebels.

On the mound, Peach (0-4) allowed two runs on six hits, striking out two and walking three in the complete-game eight innings. Peach retired the side in the third (with the help of a double play), fourth, sixth and eighth inning, striking out two in the eighth.

Murray State fired a 325-315-323-963 in the 54-hole event to finish 14 strokes in front of second-place Tennessee Tech's 323-328-326-977.

Jacksonville State, an newcomer to the OVC field this year, took third with a 327-334-328-989 and Eastern Kentucky finished fourth with a 334-342-329-1005.

Meanwhile, Orazine fired the low round of the day and picked up top medalist honors with a three-day total of 80-77-77-234. Her efforts were more than enough for her to be named OVC Golfer of the Year.

She became the third consecutive Lady Racer to win the Golfer of the Year award, following last year's winner Lee Ann Pace and Hedley, the 2002 winner.

Orazine said it helped to be overlooked on the final day, as she entered the championship just three shots out of first place. But she had the added incentive with a flock of family and friends on hand to root her on.

"I loved the position I was in coming into the day." Orazine said. "There's not as much pressure on you, and I felt like I could just go out there and play my game. Hopefully, I could get a couple of breaks, and I think that's what happened today."

Hedley, who has led the Lady

Racer program all season, finished in a tie for third with an 86 on Wednesday after firing a 76 on Tuesday to put her in first place and vault her teammates to the top of the standings, as well.

"I just couldn't get it going (Wednesday)," Hedley said. "It wasn't for a lack of trying. I'm just really happy for Nikki. She's an amazing player and really deserves all that she is getting.'

Milkman seemed to share the same sentiments about her local product. Despite an extra year of eligibility left, the coach said the individual honor and the team's championship seems to be a fitting way to send Orazine off.

"Nikki's had the desire to win the OVC individual title all along," Milkman said. "I'm so proud of

"I'm going to come around and it had better be soon," Myers said. "Because if not I'm not going to be happy. I'll suggest they put Ryan in there if I keep pitching like this.'

For now, the Phillies will stick with the status quo. Manager Larry Bowa said Myers, who has worked on 11 days' and five days' rest this season, will make his next start on regular rest.

Madson, 23, wasn't about to lobby for a spot.

"It's not up to me," he said. "I'm sure you've talked to Bowa about that and I don't care.

"I'm happy where I'm at right now and I just want to do a good job with my role, like I've always said."

Edgar Renteria had two RBIs for the Cardinals, who fell to 3-9 at home. That's their worst start since they also were 3-9 in 1990.

Staff Report

Murray Ledger & Times

MAYFIELD, Ky. - The Murray High Tigers put runs on the board in each of the last three innings of Wednesday's contest against host Mayfield, running away with an 11-4 victory over the Cardinals.

In winning its second straight game, Murray (6-5) broke a 4-4 tie with three runs in the top of the fifth and added two each in the sixth and seventh innings to provide the final margin.

The Tigers had only six hits in the game - all coming on singles, except for Kyle Erwin's run-scoring double in the seventh.

Erwin, Ryan Cobb and Antonio Kendall each scored two runs for MHS. Hugh Rollins knocked in two runs. Blake Hoover and Chess Volp were also credited with RBI singles.

Rollins (1-) picked up the pitching win, allowing two earned runs on four hits while striking out three and issuing five walks in six innings of work. Tim Masthay pitched the seventh, allowing one hit.

Both squads committed three errors. Mayfield remained winless, dropping to 0-8 on the season.

Judge rules in favor of jockeys' suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Two days before the Kentucky Derby, a federal judge on Thursday ruled in favor of jockeys who sued to be able to wear advertising logos in the nation's premier horse race.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge John Heyburn II applies only to the jockeys who sued over the advertising, Jerry Bailey, Shane Sellers, Alex Solis, Jose Santos, and John Velazquez, and two who filed a related suit.

He blocked enforcement against those jockeys of a state rule banning jockeys from wearing advertising, promotional or cartoon symbols during races.

In a separate suit, Heyburn ruled that jockeys can wear a patch with the name of their union, the 1,100-member Jockeys' Guild. That ruling applies to any jockey riding in Kentucky.

DiMaggio's bat returns home

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 2004

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The bat that Joe DiMaggio used to set the consecutive-game hit record in 1941 will return to Louisville after the president of the company that made it, Hillerich & Bradsby, bought it for $345,500 at auction. John Hillerich IV made the win-

the record

Two years ago, a Pennsylvania collector paid $577,610 for a bat used by "Shoeless" Joe Jackson of the Chicago White Sox.

"It was a big chunk of change," Hillerich said Wednesday. "But in the long run, it's got to be a bargain. It's going to help attract people to the museum. It's going to be of such interest. I'm just glad that someone bought it that will share it with baseball fans. "

Hillerich said he became aware that the DiMaggio bat was going to auction earlier this month. But it wasn't until late Thursday the day before the auction - that he and the company decided to bid for it. He called it a "once in a lifetime opportunity."

"It is huge for us," he said. "We haven't spent any money on memorabilia to speak of. This is the first acquisition we've made."

Louisville native and freshman Christi Baron tied for ninth overall with an 88-82-79-249, while junior Santie Koch earned a 13thplace tie with an 84-82-85-251. "Every title is sweet because you know how hard it is to win each of them," Milkman said. "I'm just really proud of these girls because we've all had our ups and downs this season. But, to their credit, they stayed focused through it all."

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 * * You finally get to clear the air and grind out a problem. Expect a touch more chaos in the process, but know that someone close is well-intended. Watch a tendency to go to extremes; the end result might not be pleasant. Tonight: Change plans if need be.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★ ★ ★ ★ Share more of what has been worrying you. Others prove to be unusually receptive, which delights and surprises you. With conversation and understanding, you feel much better. Express yourself and allow more humor in. Clear the air of tension, please. Tonight: Plunge into the weekend.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

* * * You might feel a lot better about a domestic matter than you have in a while. You gain a great deal of clarity and understanding. Someone has as much to share as you do. Let the good feelings transform what has been difficult. Tonight: Curb the socializing, and head home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

* * You might wish for more, but you cannot express what it is. Discuss your feelings with someone who could be quite helpful. Your instincts are right-on about a work-related matter. Gain greater insight. Be willing to adapt to new ideas and technology. Tonight: Relax with your pals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

* * * * Indulge yourself. Start planning a vacation or special weekend. You find that planning comes easily. Ask friends along if you want to really let go. A loved one could express jealousy. The results could be unpleasant. Careful. Tonight: Whirl into the weekend; have bubblies with a special friend. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 $\star \star \star \star \star$ Clear out what has been an albatross. An associate or friend supports you. The end results will be obvious to everyone. Express your thoughts without worry. Tonight: Deal with uproar on the home front only when you are ready. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

* * * You could be delighted by a partner or a group of people. You can start planning for something you have wanted for a while. Keep your own counsel, as someone might be in "bully" mode later in the day. Tonight: Do what is good for

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

* * * * Consider another's revelation your gain. You might not have to work so more, the merrier. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) * * * * You could be on overload with all that is dropped on your plate. Handle what you must with an eye to the weekend. You finally find that someone key is ready to talk. Jump on this opportunity, as this person could change his or her mind. Tonight: Out and about. Flex with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) * * * Your ability to read between the lines comes through. You might be ready to confront what has been a difficult situation. Revise your thinking, if appropriate. Note a tendency to be a bit judgmental. Tonight: Take off ASAP. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

* Investigate what might be going on with a financial partnership, especially if you are the other half! You gain professionally as a result. How you speak to someone might have a lot to do with his or her willingness to share. Tonight: Opt for one-on-one rather than with the gang.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

* * * Others finally open up. Building security proves to be primary. Use your finances carefully, even though you could feel freed up, to a degree. For now, don't overindulge or spend. A boss might be a wee bit too demanding. Tonight: With others.

On the other hand, if you use laxatives or frequently vomit after eating, you need professional attention. Similarly, if your diminished appetite is a recent phenomenon and is associated with significant weight loss (more than 10 pounds in the last year), you should check with your doctor.

Many chronic diseases, such as hidden cancer or depression, can affect appetite and caloric intake. Therefore, it's very important to know whether or not your pattern is chronic (and stable) or acute (and ongoing). Perhaps you can find an answer to your question from your family physician. I recommend that you share your concerns with him or her. After an examination and appropriate testing, the doctor should be able to address your concerns.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is lupus? Is there any cure?

DEAR READER: Lupus erythematosis is a disease that affects the body's connective tissue, primarily in the kidneys and other organs. It is treatable, but not yet curable; the muscle aches, skin lesions and other symptoms can be relieved by medication, usually by steroid ther-

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Lupus: The Great Imitator.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 77 and in reasonably good health except for slight emphysema. I would like to get more exercise, but I tire easily when I walk (because I'm out of shape). Would an exercise bike be a reasonable investment?

DEAR READER: Stationary exercise bicycles are excellent devices to use for regular physical activity. Their use doesn't depend on the weather (as do walking and running); they can be adjusted periodically to maintain an increasing level of work, do not require weight-bearing (hence, are useful for patients with arthritis), are relatively inexpensive, will improve cardiovascular fitness and are convenient (you don't have to go to a fitness center at 7 a.m. to be embarrassed by sweet young things in leotards).

If you need regular exercise, a stationary bike is a healthful and easy way to get it.

I can't explain why other piercings such as earlobes usually have no scarring while navel piercings often result in unsightly permanent scars. Anyone considering a belly button piercing should be aware of this potentially permanent problem. -- OREGON GYNECOLOGIST

DEAR OREGON GYNECOL-OGIST: Thank you for writing. Many readers commented regarding that letter. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: May I add a note to your response to the parents who agreed to let their daughter pierce her belly button, then changed their minds? I am 62 and still can't quite forgive my father for much the same thing. He was old-fashioned and wouldn't let my older sister drive. When I was 15, I begged to take driver's ed and get my license at 16. He agreed -- on the condition that I pay for the lessons myself.

Well, I did -- and passed with flying colors. But when I turned 16, he refused to allow me to get my license. When I asked why he'd lied to me, he said he hadn't lied. He break your word. It could damage your relationship with your son or daughter forever. -- MARJ G., WESLACO, TEXAS DEAR MARJ: | agree.

DEAR ABBY: In some states, piercing isn't legal before age 16, even with parental consent. If the parents relent, I hope they'll find out what the local laws are and go to the most reputable person who performs piercings. My advice to potential piercers: Stay away from those who will do the piercing regardless of state law. --SUZANNE, PRIMEVAL INK TAT-TOO, MONROE, WASH.

DEAR SUZANNE: Good advice.

DEAR ABBY: While I respect the right to change one's mind, the relationship of a parent to a child can be permanently damaged by relatively small betrayals. In today's world, belly button piercing is little more than a fashion statement, and the parents who are waffling over their promise to let their daughter pierce her navel in exchange for good grades risk far more by breaking their promise than by allowing the piercing. -- GEORGE (A YOUNG PARENT WITH CHIL-DREN), SANTA MONICA, CALIF

By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, April 29, the 120th day of 2004. There are 246 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On April 29, 1945, during World War II, American soldiers liberated the Dachau concentration camp; that same day, Adolf Hitler married Eva Braun and designated Admiral Karl Doenitz his successor.

On this date:

In 1429, Joan of Arc entered the besieged city of Orleans to lead a victory over the English.

In 1862, New Orleans fell to Union forces during the Civil War. In 1974, President Nixon announced he was releasing edited transcripts of some secretly made White House tape recordings related to Watergate.

In 1983, Harold Washington was sworn in as the first black mayor of Chicago.

In 1996, former CIA Director William Colby was presumed drowned by authorities in Maryland after an apparent boating accident; his body was later recovered. In 1997, a worldwide treaty to ban chemical weapons went into effect.

It is true that if West had any distribution other than 3-4-3-3, the slam would fail. Nevertheless, the fact remains that South has to hope for this distribution and must plan his play as if it actually exists.
