Persistent Efforts Bring Results

Good Work Accomplished Through Chamber of Commerce. Savings to Fulton Shippers Will Amount to Approximately $50,000.00 Annually.

FULTON TO RECEIVE A CHANGE IN FREIGHT RATES

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a communication from L. F. Orr, Secretary, Mayfield Chamber of Commerce, stating that the Interstate Commerce Commission has handed down a decision in the Mayfield-Fulton cases tried at Mayfield in January, 1924.

The decision covers rates between Mayfield and Fulton and the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, and embraces territory populated by more than 70,000,000 people.

This decision reduces rates to and from all of these points by amounts ranging from 34c on first class; 29c on second class; 27c on third class; 25c on fourth class; 22c on fifth class; 18c on sixth class; an average reduction of 26c per hundred pounds with corresponding reductions on carload shipments moving on commodity rates.

Mr. Orr, in commenting on the decision, states that the Interstate Commerce Commission has in effect overruled the contention of the railroads and the Ohio River cities that rates to and from all of the above territory should be made by adding the local rates to and from the Ohio River to make through rates between Mayfield and Fulton and points north of the Ohio River. In other words, the first class rate from a given point such as Detroit, Michigan, to Fulton has heretofore been made by adding first class local rate from Detroit to Paducah of $1.12 to the first class rate from Paducah to Fulton, of 58c to make the total thru rate to Fulton, while under this decision the rate will be made by adding an arbitrary of 24c to the $1.09 rate from Detroit to Cairo, making a total through rate of $1.33. This is a typical example of what will follow in the readjustment brought about by this decision.

Based on last year's revenue the savings to Fulton shippers will amount to approximately $50,000 annually.

He further states that while there are some very material reductions, the decision is not all that may reasonably be expected to follow and that the bright spot in the whole decision is the applying of official classification and official territory rates to Mayfield and Fulton which in effect recognizes the rate relationship that should exist between Mayfield and Fulton on the one hand, and Paducah and Cairo on the other and serves as an opening wedge by which these two towns may eventually procure a rate adjustment that will allow them to compete with Paducah and Cairo.

The Commission recognizes that Mayfield and Fulton are being discriminated against and stated in their opinion: "The records show that complainants are in competition at Mayfield and Fulton with shippers at Paducah and Cairo and other Ohio River points in respect of numerous commodities moving under class and commodity rates here assailed. It shows also that a number of business interests after investigation, located at the Ohio River points in competition with Mayfield and Fulton, in preference to the latter points because of existing rate differences."

He further stated the decision does not mean the entire matter is settled, but does recognize the existing competition and establishes a basis by which the discrimination may be lessened and upon which a fair and equitable adjustment may eventually be built. Nor does it mean that we have received an adjustment that will allow us to locate industry manufacturing heavy wares in competition with Paducah, Cairo, and other Ohio River cities, but it does mean that if the opening wedge made by this decision is followed through to a conclusion that we will eventually receive rates that will permit us to compete with Ohio River cities from and to all points in the United States.

The order of the Commission makes the new rates effective April 8.

ALL ROADS IN BAD CONDITION

Reports from all over the country tell of the horrible conditions of roads and high water. The continuous rains have done much damage to all dirt roads and some concrete surfaced roads, especially up the state. The railroads have also suffered considerable damage, but schedules have been fairly good. At some points between Fulton and Louisville the tracks were under 18 and 24 inches of water. Up to this writing no serious accidents have occurred.

Over at Hickman considerable damage is reported to property of the Mengel box factory. Up town just in the rear of a number of business houses near the river a cave of fifty or more feet long and 4 or 5 feet deep is reported.

Taxi travel between Gibbs and Union City went out of commission some time ago. Practically the same conditions prevail between Hickman and Fulton, and other towns.

Some of our oldest citizens can't recall when this section of the country had such a continuous rainy spell. December and January are breaking the record.

Between Fulton and Memphis all the low lands are covered with water.

COURT WEEK IN FULTON

The January term of the Fulton circuit court opened here Monday with Judge W. H. Hester, of Mayfield, presiding and County Court Clerk Hampton, Sheriff Thompson, Commonwealth Attorney Martin and County Attorney Adams in attendance.

On account of bad weather and road conditions, a number of cases on the docket were continued.

The Trappers

High School Notes

An extension course given under the auspices of the Murray Normal School, will be organized in Fulton this week. This course will be conducted by Miss Iva White, science teacher of the Fulton High School, and will be entitled, "A History of Education in the United States."

Rev. Warren gave a very interesting and instructive lecture at the High School Tuesday. His subject was "Joseph," and he presented the story of this famous character in a very attractive manner.

Prof. Frank Cheyney, who has been ill for several days, is now meeting his classes again. We are glad to welcome Mr. Cheyney back as he is one of our most popular instructors.

The new typewriting department has been fitted up and contains eight machines. This, with our mimeograph, and the new adding machine now in use in the office, gives our commercial department a good supply of the tools of business.

The Senior class had a tea for the Junior girls at the home of Ann Read, Saturday afternoon. This was sponsored by Miss Mary Royster, Miss White and the Junior class were the guests of honor.

Miss Johnnie Hornbeak was absent one day this week on account of illness. Mrs. Harry Murphy acted as substitute.

The Girls' Basketball team will journey to Rives Friday afternoon to meet the basketball team of that place.

Solid geometry is offered during the second semester in addition to the regular mathematics courses.

A gift from Mr. Edward Thomas of Fulton of an interesting collection of Civil War relics will prove, we hope, the beginning of a high school museum. A collection such as this, with additions from time to time, should be among the most prized possessions of every high school.

The resignation of Miss Ritchie Stevenson, domestic science teacher, was received with genuine regret by the high school. Miss Stevenson was a popular teacher and was very efficient. During her stay here she endeared herself to the hearts of the high school students.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL HAS RECORD YEAR

Report Shows Over Five Per Cent Freight Gain in First 11 Months.

The Illinois Central system operated more efficiently in the year 1926 than in any previous period, according to operating statistics for the first 11 months of the year. There were 59,708,000 tons of revenue producing freight moved over the system during the 11 months, as compared with 56,742,000 tons in the same period in 1925. This is a gain of 5.2 per cent.

The number of tons of revenue producing freight moved one mile was 14,771,000,000 in 11 months of 1926 as against 14,004,000,000 in 1925, a gain of 767,000,000 ton miles, or 5.5 per cent.

Increased efficiency was also shown by the average number of miles made daily by locomotives in freight service. In 11 months of 1926 all freight locomotives traveled an average of 77 miles a day, compared with an average of 71.1 miles a day in the 11 months of 1925. This represents a gain of 5.9 miles per day or 8.3 per cent.

Greater operating efficiency was also shown by the more intensive utilization of freight car equipment. In 11 months of 1926 all freight cars in service moved an average of 38.9 miles a day as compared with an average movement of 42 miles a day during the same period of 1925. This is a gain of 3.1 miles per day or 8 per cent.

In the entire year of 1926 the Illinois Central system placed in service a total of 4,744 pieces of new equipment.

ANNUAL ROTARY ANN DINNER

One of the most delightful social functions of the new year was the annual Rotary Ann dinner given at the Usona Hotel Thursday evening by the Rotary Club. The beautiful dining room was a scene of brilliancy with the club decorations and handsomely gowned honored guests.

The program in its entirety was given such an excellent presentation that it held the undivided attention of members and guests and elicited an applause, hearty and sincere. The beautiful musical numbers was a feature of the evening's entertainment.

BIDS ASKED FOR ON CLINTON ROAD

Road Expected to Be Surfaced This Year

Sealed bids will be received by the state highway commission at Frankfort, on February 17, for the improvement of federal project No. 131 F, known as the Fulton-Clinton road, and for the bridge over the Illinois Central railroad company's track consisting of 40-foot reinforced concrete spans and reinforced concrete substructure. Blue prints of this work are now on file in the courthouse in Hickman.

Work was started on this project the past year and most of the grading has been done. This will give a surfaced road from this county into Hickman county. The road through the county will be finished this year.

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

Funeral services for the late Sam B. McAlister were held at the home Saturday morning, conducted by the Rev. Howell, interment following in Fairview cemetery.

Mr. McAlister died Thursday afternoon at his home on College street after a brief illness. At the time of his death he was 69 years of age.

In his passing Fulton has lost a good citizen, honored and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a loyal member of the Central Church of Christ.

Besides his widow he is survived by one daughter, Miss Lucile McAlister and three sons, Paul, Arnie and Sam McAlister, one brother, Richard McAlister and one sister, Mrs. S. C. McCoy and five grandchildren.

Service Is The Keynote of Success

Twenty-nine years of continuous service in a community is a splendid record, especially when that service contributes directly to the health and comfort of every man, woman and child in the community. This is the record J. J. Owen, proprietor of the O. K. Steam Laundry, holds in Fulton.

This valuable institution was established here in 1898 and can easily be classed among Fulton's leading industries.

The O. K. Laundry has built up an extensive business, catering to the highest class of work, and has ever maintained the highest standard of excellence in every branch of laundering, dry cleaning and dyeing.

The plant is equipped with modern machinery and appliances in keeping with a first-class establishment of this kind, giving employment to 25 or more people, who are skilled in their different lines of work.

The most delicate fabrics are handled with perfect satisfaction both in the laundering, dry cleaning and dyeing departments. Their trade is not confined to Fulton, but includes nearly all the towns in this territory, extending as far South as Covington, Tenn., and north to Wickliffe, Ky.

Mr. Owen has labored zealously to give the people of Fulton and vicinity during the past 29 years the best laundry and dry cleaning service and his efforts has not been in vain. He keeps abreast of laundry and cleaning improvements and every facility which is devised for the betterment of the work is installed.

The utmost scrutiny along all lines is exercised in the conduct of the O. K. Steam Laundry and we do not wonder at its phenomenal success.

In recent years Harold and Vernon Owen, sons of the general proprietor, have become closely identified with the work and excellent services rendered the public, and are due their share of credit to the popularity of this institution.

No business in Fulton is conducted on a higher plane than the O. K. Laundry. J. J. Owen is one of our most popular business men and during his long business career here has gained a reputation seldom equaled for enterprise, ability and integrity.

SPANISH TRAIL LURES TOURISTS

Scenic Spots Line Famous Highway in South.

Biloxi, Miss.—Established by the Spanish conquerors almost a century before the Pilgrims landed in New England, the old Spanish trail across the southern borderlands of the United States is now becoming a favored winter tourist route, affording unexcelled scenic effects.

Beautiful at all times from its beginning at St. Augustine, Fla., to its western terminus at San Diego, Calif., the historic trail is in all its foliage at this season of the year. Its year-around climate with mild autumn days and cool nights make motor travel a pleasure.

The complete construction of this transcontinental highway is now assured and some $62,000,000 already has been spent. Constant improvement and paving are on the program of state and federal highway officials. Millions likewise are being spent on connecting roads.

The expeditions of the conquistadores in their search for the riches of the western coast are unfolded along the route. From St. Augustine, the oldest city in America, the highway travels across the pine tree barrens of west Florida to Old Mobile, Biloxi, founded by O'Hervey in 1699 as the first capital of the Louisiana territory, and historic Pass Christian, are points on the trail along the Mississippi Gulf coast.

Following the shore of the gulf of Mexico, the trail leads south to New Orleans, the gateway to the South, and westward across the Louisiana bayous to the Texas plains. San Antonio, the cross route of the Southwest, famous for its missions, including the immortal Alamo, is visited.

Cats Are Responsible for Creeping Eruption

Washington.—Creeping eruption, a common and annoying infection prevalent in the southern states, approaches a solution with a recent discovery at the United States bureau of entomology that dogs and cats are concerned in its causation.

For some time scientists have been searching for the original home of this parasite that attaches itself to man, leaving red, sensitive, raised places and causing intense itching.

Tests made at the United States bureau of entomology indicate dogs and cats. The theory that creeping eruption and hookworm are related was also strengthened in the experiments. It was discovered that larvae from dogs and cats, producing creeping eruption when applied experimentally to the human skin, had the same appearance as the hookworm larvae. It was further observed that in the dogs and cats were adult hookworms of the same genus as the hookworm which affects man.

Helium May Reveal Sea's Buried Secrets

Washington.—More secrets of the sea may be revealed in the future than in the past, through a discovery for the use of helium in deep-sea diving. Experiments are being conducted by the bureau of mines along lines already followed in laboratory and practical tests.

Helium was used in salvaging the hull of the submarine S-51, near Newport, R. I., and during an inspection of the Lakeland, a Cleveland ship which was sunk several years ago in Lake Michigan.

The extent of helium's importance in undersea exploration depends upon investigation now being conducted at Pittsburgh and Norfolk.

Helium promises to extend greatly both time and depths of underwater operation by divers and thus enlarge the whole range of submarine engineering.

Naval Observatory Stops Giving Time Over Phone

Washington.—The naval observatory, which corrects the nation's timepieces twice daily through its accommodations to various telegraph and wireless services, announces discontinuance of telling the time to individuals over the telephone. Since the Western Union company discontinued giving the time by telephone, it was explained, the number of calls to the observatory has increased from 650 to 2,000 daily, overwhelming the observatory's exchange and interfering with the conduct of its work.

3,000 at Service Vow They Talk With Dead

London.—An impressive belief in spiritualism was registered at the spiritualists' annual armistice service in Albert hall. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, leading the services, suddenly appealed to his hearers, shouting: "I ask all who are sure that they have been in touch with their dead to rise and testify."

More than 3,000 men and women of all types quietly rose, and this brought from Sir Arthur this fervent statement: "Thank God there are so many. I prophesy within five years that to such an appeal every man and woman will rise. We are not testifying to faith but to fact."

TURKISH PROGRESS IS BLOW TO CZECHS

Abolition of Fez Hits Important Industry.

Washington.—When news reached the world that Turkey had abolished the fez it created mild interest.

That is, the interest was mild in nearly all the world except in a little Czechoslovakian village in the Bohemer Wald, where it stirred up amazement. Instead, now the people of Strakonitz have protested against Turkey's abandonment of its traditional headgear because it cripples their industry of supplying fezes to Turkey.

"The predicament of Strakonitz (the Czechs spell it Strakonice) affords a telling cross-section of Czechoslovakian industry," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic society in Washington.

"Long before Czechoslovakia became an independent state it had the habit of making things for other nations. When the buying power of Europe shrank after the war, Czechoslovakians were forced afar for markets as they never were before. The 'Yankers of Europe' as they have been called, have been doing business with the 'Yankers of America.' What woman is not familiar with Czechoslovakian glass beads from Gablonz, with Czech embroidery and Bohemian glassware?"

"Strakonitz, Gablonz, Kladno, Pilsen, Brunn and other manufacturing towns are in the western end of the country. Czechoslovakia, at first, seemed an awkwardly long name, but it helps one remember the geography of the nation. Czech is a short, compact name, and likewise the western, or Czech, or Bohemian section, is as compact as a box. Slovakia stretches out on the tongue and geographically tapers out along the Carpathian range like a scarf trailing behind the Bohemian box.

"The edges of the box are mountain ranges and Strakonitz lies near the south wall. Another way of giving its position is to say that Strakonitz lies half way between Prague, dejection and Pilsen. A still better way is to say that it lies half way between Budweis and Pilsen, for the German spellings of those towns are far more familiar to an American than the Czech spellings.

"Volstead Act Grieved Pilsen. The sorrow caused Strakonitz by the Turkish edict against the fez is a drop in the bucket beside the grief Pilsen faced because of the United States' declaration of prohibition. Pilsen's municipal brewery is the largest in Czechoslovakia and one of the largest in the world. Its product goes to nearly every land. This brewery is a community-owned enterprise by a few hundred house owners of the town.

"While the textile industries, including the hat making of the Strakonitz district, are extensive, even a slight inquiry into the Czechoslovakian trade reveals that Bohemia is especially dedicated to beverages. First there is Hana (Pilsenitz) in Moravia, between Bohemia and Slovakia, famous for its barley malt, which is shipped all over the world. Then there is Saaz (Zatec) in the far west of Bohemia, famous for its hops, which are shipped to Pilsen and to Germany. There also are the numerous breweries. And finally there is the extensive glass industry centered in Gablonz (Jablonec) for fancy ware and Teplitz (Teplice), Prague (Praha), etc., for plain ware.

"Pilsen, Strakonitz and Budweis are also within the chief health springs district of southern Bohemia, one of the most famous of Europe. In past ages the country was liberally sprinkled with small volcanic peaks. Volcanic activity has survived only in the warm health springs, such as Karlovy Vary, better known as Karlsbad, and Mar Lazne, better known as Marienbad."

Whistling Policeman Is Saved by Whistle

New York.—There was considerable whistling early in the morning in the vicinity of Manhattan avenue and One Hundred and Eighteenth street.

Patrolman Frank A. Ryan of the West One Hundredth street station was making his rounds just before daylight while solemnly contemplating, as is his wont, a weighty metaphysical problem. He was just speculating as to what would have been the fate of Europe had Napoleon not had a cold the night before the battle of Waterloo, when he was interrupted by the sight of three men trying to break into Samuel Lipman's drug store at the intersection of the aforementioned thoroughfares.

"Whew—" whistled Patrolman Ryan to himself.

"Whew—" whistled the three men on finding themselves thus rudely interrupted.

"Whoa, there!" shouted Patrolman Ryan, as he saw the men running to their automobiles.

The driver swerved his car and bore down on him. He pulled his gun and fired three times. The three returned the salute. A fourth hit him on the hip and felled him.

All of which gave Patrolman Ryan a new problem. For it was his police whistle, silent all through the interchange, that deflected the bullet that whistled straight for his body.

AIR DRIED CLOTHES

Do you realize what it means to receive a bundle of thoroughly washed and air dried clothes from a modern power laundry?

It means that at last the only remaining barrier between the housewife and the laundryman has been broken down. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immortal, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned clothes line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

The greatest development in years and years, comes to this steadily growing industry in the perfection of a natural drying process. This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in our laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes; it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundering process. It puts the work of the power laundry on par with that of the housewife's own private laundry.

Be sure to see this wonder machine in our laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

EASY TO FORGET

The red tongues of flame sweep over a town and destroy a good section of territory. Thousands and thousands of dollars are swept away and the people rave and storm over the lack of adequate protection from loss by fire. The tumult of indignation is at fever heat for a few days, and then begins to subside. Time only is needed to send it, too, into the realm of forgetfulness, until the next fire comes along and creates even greater devastation and death. It is easy to forget.

Some one arises in a public meeting and proposes a practical scheme for development of the commercial interests of the community. He is sincere and eager to do something for the benefit of his home town. He believes in progressiveness. His scheme looks good and sounds better to other business men and citizens and everybody begins to talk in its favor. The editor backs it up in his columns and for a few weeks it is the general topic of conversation. No forceful leader seems to be at hand, and the rest of us are too engrossed in our private affairs to assume the duties and responsibilities of leadership. Time does the rest, and a practical forward movement is bogged in the mire of forgetfulness.

We might go on for hours citing similar instances, for they are legion in number and local in application. But what's the use? You, too, would read and ponder and exclaim today — and forget tomorrow. It is our way. Americans are a great people and they perform prodigies in the commercial, inventive and intellectual world. No obstacle is too great for them to surmount, if time will only permit them to forget to forget. But time is inexorable in its flight, and forgetfulness follows in the wake of American time.

President Coolidge Urges Observance Of International Golden Rule Sunday

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE again asks America to observe International Golden Rule Sunday. By Presidential endorsement the day has been observed for the past three years to aid child welfare and relief work of the Near East Relief. This year the day will have the additional significance of aiding the earthquake victims of Armenia.

The President's letter of endorsement follows:

"I regard International Golden Rule Sunday as a movement of much importance. Began in an attempt to care for the orphaned children of Bible lands, it has been extended to other countries.

"Practical help is the best expression of friendship. The aid we may give out of our abundance to those less fortunately situated than we should be of great value in bringing about the application of the Golden Rule to the settlement of misunderstandings among nations as well as among individuals.

"I hope the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in America and throughout the world."

Senour's FLOOR PAINT

"It Penetrates"

IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries over night with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

MOONSHINE

"You don't need to worry about this," the fellow says who tries to sell you the contraband whisky. "It's absolutely pure." But you realize after you're nearly killed by it that it's all moonshine.

The same thing in substance was said who tried to sell me stock in a corporation organized for the manufacture of automobile tires. If I had made half as much money from the investment as he said I would, I should have been easily in the class with Croesus and Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller. "You don't need to worry about it at all," he said. "It's perfectly safe." But I knew it was moonshine. The fellows that took up the scheme lost everything they put in.

There is more moonshine in the world than that made in dark cellars and mountain fastnesses. It's made quite commonly in the open and retailed on the street or at respectable freestides.

I met Ed Collins on the train between Laramie and Cheyenne. He looked prosperous, but tired. When I knew Ed fifteen years ago he was a happy-go-lucky who followed the habit of not doing today what could be put off until tomorrow, with the hope that it might in some way not have to be done at all. He had at his finger ends a long list of notables who through inattention to duty and neglect of work had finally got to the top. "You don't need to worry about anything," he would have said, "it's perfectly safe."

Now, as I said, he had a tired look in his eye.

"What's the matter, Ed?" I asked. "It can't be that anyone so well-to-do as you should be worried. The theory that only the loafer ever amounts to anything, has been working."

"Working?" he answered. "I do nothing else but work. I haven't had a vacation in five years. I'm at it early and late. That old theory of mine may be perfectly safe, but it's moonshine."

"How come?" I queried. "It didn't work," he said. "I soon saw that when I got into real business. If a fellow seems to get anywhere without working, there's a trick somewhere, like the sleight of hand of the magician who appears to pick money out of the air or to pull live rabbits out of empty plug hats. It can't be done. The fellow who hands you that is selling you moonshine."

When fellows tell you that it is only the trickster that gets ahead that a clean virtuous life is neither a necessity nor an asset, that pull is the only path to preferment, or the honesty is neither the best policy nor the best principle, give him the laugh. It's all moonshine.

"Excellent. Some of the best people in town live in this section."

FASHION ANNOUNCES REVIVAL OF GRACEFUL BELL SLEEVES

WE HAVE with us, under latest fashion, that once-upon-a-time favorite, the bell sleeve. It bids fair to repeat its former triumphs, for not only do our frocks attest to its revival, but also our coats both cloth and fur.

The idea of the bell sleeve comes in most harmoniously with today's trend toward feminizing the styles. There is something most charming in the frock which has graceful bell sleeves cunningly be-ruffled with contrasting material, to the depth of the elbow. Many of the silk and crepe afternoon frocks are just that way.

This same row-and-row trimming is achieved for cloth coats by means of bandings of narrow fur. Others, both wraps and frocks, show elaborate embellishment of embroidery or applique design. While still other coats have bell sleeves void of trimming save perhaps a turn-back cuff.

If, however, one feels the urge to embellish and elaborate, the bell sleeve gives ample opportunity, in fact becomes inspirational in that direction. Handsomely is the decorative thought expressed in the development of the striking coat model in the picture. Throughout its design it reflects the Russian influence, not only the entire silhouette but from the fact that it is embroidered in national colors and trimmed with flying squirrel.

Especially does the flowing sleeve take on exaggerated lines when it comes to the afternoon frocks of georgette which are at present so very fashionable. The charm of these dainty, colorful dresses is their fluttering draperies and the sleeve does its share in adding grace to the picture. Not only do sleeves but angel-wing sleeves are good style.

AFTERNOON FROCKS REGISTER ATTRACTIVE BOLERO TYPES

TO HAVE a bolero or not to have a bolero is not the question, for fashion leaves no doubt in the mind in regard to this subject. Throughout the styling of not only dresses but suits as well, the bolero is taken as a matter of fact. Designers are creating many versions in the name of bolero, some of which employ the all-around treatment, some with open backs, others much longer than those we have been accustomed to seeing.

Advance reports from abroad are to the effect that the bolero, which at present is playing so important a role in not only afternoon but evening frocks as well, bids fair to be even more pronounced in the spring styles, especially in the fashioning of youthful cloth suits.

As a matter of immediate importance, the bolero is an outstanding item. It is the bolero idea which lends pliancy to the attractive emerald green velvet afternoon dress from Doucet, here pictured. A broad black velvet band forms the hemline. Gold effectively details the neckline of the undergarment and edges the pockets and cuffs.

It is most timely that these cunning little jacket effects be introduced into the scheme of dress design at this moment, for the trend of the mode is decidedly toward elaboration, and the bolero always invites an intricate style accompaniment. In the undergarment which necessarily must be with every bolero, a wealth of opportunity is presented to smuggle in all sorts of frills and furbelows and ornate handwork. For instance, be it a velvet, satin or crepe frock, it is becoming for the bolero to open over a white satin bodice, heavily encrusted with all-over gold and silver embroidery. This undergarment could just as acceptably be made of gleaming metal cloth, of lace or of georgette handsomely tucked or plaited.

POULTRY

FEEDING PULLETS IN COLD SEASON

Pullets must be well developed, vigorous and must carry a surplus of body fat if they are to produce heavily during the winter months.

D. C. Henderson, poultry specialist in the South Dakota State college extension service, says that pullets which come into laying with weak frames and undeveloped bodies usually break down under the strain of egg production during the winter months. He advises a careful feeding program for pullets so that they will have the surplus body fat so necessary to heavy egg production.

"Feeds containing protein and minerals are essential for proper growth of bones, feathers and muscles," he says. "Skim milk, if available in sufficient quantity, is an excellent feed. The birds should be given access to the milk at all times. It can be fed either in the sweet or sour form.

"If the milk is limited, part of the protein may be supplied through the use of meat scraps or tankage in a mash mixture."

A dry mash mixture which Henderson advises for satisfactory development of pullets is composed of one part each by weight of cornmeal, ground heavy oats, wheat bran, flour middlings and tankage.

One pound of salt should be added to each 100 pounds of mash. If a limited amount of milk is available, one-half part of tankage may be fed in the mash. Dry mash should be kept in the hoppers before the birds at all times.

Grain is necessary for the proper storing of a reserve of fat in the body, states the specialist. Late hatched pullets should be forced heavily with both bran and mash to develop flesh and bone, essential in continuous heavy egg production. Early hatched pullets, that are well developed and are coming into laying should be fed heavily on grain feeds and sparingly on dry mash. The pullet flock must carry a surplus of body flesh, obtained primarily from grain feeds, if they are to give profitable winter egg production.

Late Laying Hens Best for Building Up Flock

Eggs usually are the chief source of income from the farm poultry business and one of the quickest ways to build up the egg-laying capacity of the flock is to breed from the best of the late laying hens rather than from the young pullets which have not had a chance to show their worth as layers. Only those late laying hens which have the proper size, type and other desirable characteristics should be used in the breeding pen. Poorly colored birds and those with disqualifications, such as side spurs on the comb and stubs on the legs, are undesirable as breeders, the poultrymen say.

The most desirable of the late laying hens which molt as late as September 15 or later should be mated with the best males of the flock or preferably with males secured from a breeder of a good strain of production-bred stock.

Arranging Nests for Easy Cleaning Is Best Plan

Arrange nests for the hens and the new pullets as soon as possible. It is best they become accustomed to this equipment so that they are not afraid of it later on. If possible, build the nests in a long row, using a 12-inch board for the base, and square-sections of same for partitions. Fasten together with hooks like screen door hooks, so the whole structure will come apart for thorough cleaning. This is infinitely better than nailing up a few old boxes, and expecting the hens to use them.

Hens prefer dark nests, and if given choice between a dark nest and a light nest, will almost always avoid the light. It is convenient, also, if you can arrange the nests along the wall, so that the eggs can be taken up without going into the scratching area. This is convenient, and avoids disturbing the chickens.

Attend to Ventilation

Those who expect any great number of winter eggs from old hens are doomed to disappointment unless they have especially favorable conditions, such as electric lights. Old hens will molt. The poor layers start shedding in June while the best hens may not do so until late in the fall. And once in a while there is a hen that does not molt until December.

One must depend upon the pullet flock for satisfactory early winter egg production.

Blood Spots in Eggs

Blood spots in eggs are due to various causes, and often are not serious so far as the flock is concerned. Such spots are found quite commonly in eggs from commercial flocks, and unless in unusual numbers call for no change in management. If they do appear in larger numbers, examination of the ration to find whether there is not something wrong with it is recommended. The cause is sometimes feeding condimental foods such as pepper.

Dramatic Poster Tells Graphic Story Of Need in Armenian Quake Zone

INTERNATIONAL GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY

THIS dramatic poster by G. Patrick Nelson, prize winner in the thousand dollar contest conducted by Henry Morgenthau for the best poster for the Golden Rule Sunday campaign of the Near East Relief, tells in graphic fashion the story of the Armenian earthquake disaster. Primarily intended to provide funds for the child welfare work of the relief organization in Armenia, Syria, Palestine, Turkey, Persia, and Greece, the Golden Rule Sunday campaign this year will be used to collect funds for the earthquake victims. The disaster not only upset a large part of the constructive efforts of the relief organization in Armenia, but it created a vast army of homeless. It is estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the homes in the tiny country were destroyed and people are living in bitter zero weather in rough dugouts, with out sufficient food or blankets and practically no fuel.

A large number of the victims are children and many new orphans have been forced upon the relief organization for care. Approximately $1,000,000 will be required to meet the earthquake needs and to care for the children already in the orphanages until June. The Golden Rule Sunday campaign, endorsed by President Coolidge is the only answer to the situation.

Help Her Keep Her Feet!

The Armenian earthquake has left 80,000 people homeless. Near East Relief needs $1,000,000 to meet this emergency.

Lesson for January 30

THE CHRISTIAN OVERCOMING TEMPTATION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:1-13; 1 Cor 10:12, 13.

GOLDEN TEXT—In that He Himself hath suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying God Always.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Christ Helps the Tempted.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Overcome Temptation.

Christ's temptation was Messianic. No one has ever been tempted just like He was—led into the wilderness by the Holy Spirit to be tempted of the devil (Matt. 4:11). While we are not tempted as He was, the devil uses the same methods on us. This temptation was not:

1. A preparation for His work, but rather His first conflict. In His baptism we have the symbolic act of the dedication of Himself to the work of redemption through the cross—the making full a righteousness.

2. It was not to see if Christ would stand fast, nor to see if He would fall under the most crucial test. He could not have failed.

3. It was to show Christ as an object upon which we may rest our faith with unshaken confidence. He came as the second man, the head of the new race. The temptation therefore was a demonstration of the inseparableness of the divine and human natures in the incarnation.

1. The Temptation of Christ (Luke 4:1-13).

1. The place (v. 1).

The wilderness of Judea. The first man, Adam, was tempted in a garden with the most pleasant surroundings. The second man, Jesus Christ, was tempted in a barren wilderness surrounded by wild beasts (Mark 1:13).

2. The method (v. 2-12).

Christ as the world's Redeemer sustained a three-fold relationship—Son of Man, the Messiah and Son of God. Therefore Satan made each one a ground of attack.

(1) As Son of Man (vv. 2-4).

Satan made his first assault upon Him as a man by appealing to the instinct of hunger. Satan urged Him to use His divine power and convert a stone into bread. Hunger is natural and sinless. Real human life experiences hunger. The temptation was in satisfying a right hunger in a wrong way. To have yielded in this case though His hunger was desperate, would have been to renounce the human limitations which He had taken for our sins. In the incarnation He became identified with humanity, so He chose to abide in fellowship with man.

(2) As Messiah (vv. 5-8).

Here the temptation was to grasp His rightful dominions by false means. The devil offered to surrender unto Him the world if He would adopt his methods—worship him. The force of this temptation was in the fact that the kingdoms of the world are Christ's by God's covenant with Him. God's method by which Jesus was to possess the world was the sacrificial death on the cross.

(3) As Son of God (vv. 9-12).

Here Satan tries to induce Christ to presume upon God's care. He quotes a Messianic Psalm to induce Him to so act. To do the spectacular thing in order to get notice is to fall into Satan's temptation. For Jesus to have placed Himself in danger in order to get God's special help in delivering Him would have been to sin.

(4) Christ's defense (vv. 4, 8, 12).

It was the Word of God. He met and repulsed the enemy with "It is written." Our defense is God's Word.

(5) The issue (v. 13).

Satan was vanquished.

II. The Temptation of Believers (1 Cor. 10:12, 13).

1. Temptation is to be expected (v. 12).

From the appearance of Satan in the Garden of Eden on down through the ages men and women have been assailed by the tempter. These facts are God's admonitions unto us upon whom the ends of the world are come. Caution is always necessary. Over-reliance on self-confidence is most perilous to those who rest in the security of their divine election while neglecting a life of holiness.

2. Divine help available (v. 13).

All temptations which come to us are those which are common to the race. No one should surmise that his temptation is peculiar. God is faithful and will not allow the temptation to go beyond the ability of the one tempted. He will provide a way of escape.

Through the Needle's Eye

He hope that each one will make an effort to be present with a generous offering for this worthy cause. If you cannot get there with your offering, then send it. "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me."

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the church are going forward with preparations for the entertainment of the Sixteenth District Christian Endeavor Convention which is to be held here in the early spring. It is hoped that there will be a full attendance of the Senior Society next Sunday as there will be more planning at that time.

The Midweek service of the church is one of the great services of the church. It is hoped that ours may be made the greatest of any of the entire week. Not that we discount the Lord's Day services, for it is of course, the thing to do to attend church then. But the midweek service bridges us over between week end and week end.
