Movie - Radio

By VIRGINIA VALLE*

HOPE you heard Zelma Davis when she did "Tales" on the radio; it was a relief to hear her again over the same station. Additionally, she's quite interested in these girls who do impromptu experiments to help make things easier. She did some figuring on how much money a person can save by doing these experiments. She'll tell you that the more you save, the more you'll be able to enjoy the simple pleasures of life. She was happy to hear that you enjoyed her on the radio. She plans to do more of these experiments in the future.

THE FRENCHMEN'S HIDDEN TREASURE

IN SURWATERERS Indians wore about the amount of their own inner pants no matter what the weather. The reason is that men's underwear has been perfected and many Frenchmen know of it.

To reach the towns beginning to appear about 1830 a boat or wagon trip was required. This was the time of the Indians, but a few were still about, calling for a glass or a smoke. They were the last to make an effort to get along and were a fair source of trade. And others were on their way and more thereon making the notion that the latter part of the middle stage would be strongly revived by the little corner and not the given pattern.

Sammy JAY ARRIVES

We have just received a package of letters from Sammy Jay, the famous author and editor, who is now living in a small studio in the heart of the city. He has just finished a book and plans to publish it soon. The book is about the effects of the Civil War on the lives of soldiers and civilians.

He says that he has been working on this book for many months and that he is very pleased with the results. He hopes to have it published by the end of the year.

Sternly, Mr. and Mrs. Quack were Getting Very Rich

The preacher aimed to think that they would have the best of it. But they didn't. They were left with the memory of their days of poverty.

Looking back on those days, Mr. Quack said, "It was one of the best times of my life. It made me appreciate the things I have now."

"I remember how we had to worry about money," said Mrs. Quack. "But it was worth it to know that we could help others."

Now you know there is nothing more dangerous than a man who tries to live up to his reputation.

Behind the facade of their wealth, Mr. and Mrs. Quack were secretly selling butter records.

"A good season at the seashore," he thought, "and a trip to the mountains."

Mrs. Quack was very happy with the success of her cookbook. She had written it in secret and now it was published.

The preacher aimed to think that he had stayed true to his principles. He had always believed in helping others, and he hoped that his actions would inspire others to do the same.

We COME TO CHURCH

By D. M. STUCK

A man was standing on the steps of the church, waiting to be seated. He was wearing a suit and tie, and he looked very serious.

"I must admit," he said, "I have not been a very good Christian in the past. But today, I will make a new start."

The preacher smiled and said, "I am glad to hear that. And I will do my best to help you on your new path."

Sincerely,

Della Rate.

I. M. STUCK.

Do You Know?

That on July 23, 1868, Louis Pasteur invented the process of Pasteurization, which he called pasteurization. He did this bySubject: Louis Pasteur's invention of Pasteurization.

A woman with a child was walking down the street. She was wearing a dress and carrying a bag. Suddenly, she dropped the bag and ran away.

"What happened?" asked the preacher.

"I don't know," said the woman. "I just felt this urge to run."

Mr. Wynn's neighbor was very surprised to see him.

"Isn't it a little late for you to be out so early?" he asked.

"I thought it was early," replied Mr. Wynn.

The preacher smiled and said, "The early morning hours are very important for prayer and meditation."

If you have a question, feel free to ask it. The preacher is always happy to help.

"I don't know," said the woman. "I just felt this urge to run."

Mrs. Wynn was very surprised to see her husband.

"Where have you been?" she asked.

"I was reading the Bible," said Mr. Wynn.

The preacher smiled and said, "That's a good thing to do in the morning."

The preacher aims to think that his words are very important for those who listen to him.

She Shatters All Butter Records

Margaret Vatter, Missouri, had just broken the world record for breaking butter. She had broken the record several times in the past, but this time she had really done it.

"I'm very happy," she said.

The preacher smiled and said, "I'm glad to hear that. And I'm glad to see that you are using your talents for the good of others."

FEDERAL RELIEF PAYMENTS

The Federal relief program will shortly be a thing of the past. Former Undersecretary Hopkins believes that it was a mistake to establish a relief program in the first place. He feels that the government should have focused on job creation instead of direct relief payments.

In his words, "We simply cannot maintain a permanent relief program. The money is not there, and it would be irresponsible to promise more than we can deliver."

At this writing, the program has not yet been formally disbanded, but the signs are clear. The government will now focus on creating jobs for the unemployed rather than paying them to stay home.

Mr. Hopkins points out that the government has already committed $300 million to job creation programs. He looks forward to seeing tangible results in the near future.

The government has had to make some tough decisions in order to balance the budget. In addition to cutting back on relief payments, the government has also increased taxes and cut funding for social programs.

FUTURE

The government has been working closely with business leaders to create jobs and stimulate the economy. The goal is to reach a level of full employment by the end of the year. The government has already made significant progress in this direction.

---

The government is also committed to reducing the national debt. The country has been running large budget deficits for several years, which has contributed to the high level of debt. The government is working to bring these deficits under control.

---

The government is making progress in creating jobs for the unemployed. However, it is clear that more needs to be done. The government will continue to work closely with business leaders to find innovative solutions to the problem of unemployment.

CLIVE LAMBERT NAMED MANGER OF THE TOBACCO AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

Mr. Ray C. Davis, the executive director of the Fulton County Agricultural Extension Service, announced yesterday that Mr. C. W. Lambert has been named manager of the Tobacco Agricultural Association.

In making the announcement, Mr. Davis said that Mr. Lambert has served the county well in various capacities, and that he is well suited for the position of manager. Mr. Lambert has been associated with the county agricultural extension service for many years.

The Tobacco Agricultural Association is a voluntary organization of farmers who are interested in the development of the tobacco industry. The association sponsors various educational programs and provides information to farmers about the care and cultivation of tobacco.

Monday, Dec. 1

The first meeting of the Fulton County Tobacco Agricultural Association was held Monday evening at the library. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Davis, who welcomed the members and introduced Mr. Lambert as the new manager.

The meeting was then recessed for a short business session, and then reconvened for a program on the care and cultivation of tobacco. Mr. Lambert gave a talk on the importance of proper care and cultivation of tobacco, and the members asked questions about various aspects of the subject.

The meeting was adjourned.
