THE LISTENING POST

How old the two were I do not know. Roughly, I should say the man must have been around sixty to sixty-five, and the woman somewhere in the neighborhood of forty. Perhaps not so old, perhaps a bit older. I never got a good look at her, and she might have been older or younger than I guessed. But one thing I do know—both of them seemed old enough to know better.

But let's get the items down in the proper order and get along with the yarn. It was in a restaurant one night recently and along the wall was a row of booths. The booths are not hiding places in any sense, and the occupants of them can readily be seen by a majority of the people in the restaurant. At the particular time mentioned the restaurant was crowded to capacity, and the couple referred to occupied one of the booths. At first they sat facing each other, and then the man got up and moved around to sit beside the lady. This was what first attracted my attention.

I noticed that the man was elderly, to say the least. His hair was totally white, and his face showed the marks of quite a number of years. But, boy, I was soon to see that he was old only in appearance. Within a few minutes I saw him begin to lean toward his companion after the manner of youth, and although I could not see her very well from where I sat, I judged that she was aiding and abetting him in the said leaning.

Others in the restaurant began to notice what was going on, and I thought the couple would take notice that they had become the cynosure of all eyes, so to speak. But they never seemed to realize it. While waiting for the meal to be served they held their hands together, the man's arm remained around the lady's waist most of the time, and several times I saw their lips come together, and now and then I saw the lady's hand caress the old boy's hair. She would rumple his gray hair and they would go into a clinch and would kiss, oh, so, fondly and so lingeringly. The business of eating in that particular restaurant was practically suspended at various times while the customers observed the goings-on in the little booth.

I heard one scandalized lady at a nearby table speak to her husband. "Do you suppose that she is his daughter or wife?" she inquired. The husband buttered a piece of bread and cast a wise eye at the booth. "It isn't his daughter," he answered wisely. "No man ever makes over his daughter that way." Which must have been pretty good philosophy and quite true.

Well, the man proceeded quite slowly. The old boy and his lady were not in a hurry and those who had ringside seats did not appear in a hurry to leave and miss any of the show. Between the tomato juice and the dinner there were a number of soul-satisfying kisses—at least they appeared to be—and between the dinner and the dessert there were more of the same. There were also several discreet drinks from some liquid that was not served by the restaurant, and the old boy's face grew redder and more jovial.

My dessert arrived and not having quite a ringside seat I left the scene. How the couple fared after that I do not know. I only know that they appeared to be having quite a nice time, thank you, while I was there.

British Writer On Communism Refused Entry

Will Be Sent To Ellis Island For Hearing Before Board

New York.—Evelyn John St. Loe Strachey, British writer on Communism and onetime object of a deportation proceeding in this country, was barred from entry in the United States tonight by immigration officials.

They ordered him held aboard the Normandie overnight and instructed the French line to deliver him tomorrow morning to Ellis Island for appearance before a special board of inquiry.

The hearing will determine whether he shall be allowed a temporary permit to enter.

The immigration officers said Strachey "was in possession of a passport but did not have a valid passport visa."

"The visa which accompanied the passport has been revoked and canceled by the consular general at London, England, by order of the department of state and the authorities at Ellis Island were so notified," said Rudolph Reimer, commissioner of immigration.

Strachey, who left the United States in 1935 in the midst of efforts to deport him, had planned a lecture tour.

"I have a passport and it was properly vised," the writer told ship reporters. "I am not a Communist. I am a Socialist and I once was a Laborite member of parliament."

Strachey was interviewed before his entry to the country was denied.

Reimer said the visa was canceled on orders from Washington after Strachey already was aboard ship.

The immigration chief, who made a special trip to Quarantine to carry out the order, said the responsibility for Strachey's possible return to England rested on the steamship company.

Reimer pointed out that in the event the board refuses entry "the alien has the right to avail himself of an appeal . . . to the secretary of labor."

President Returns To Desk To Catch Up With His Paper Work

Washington.—President Roosevelt came back to Washington today, received a dozen callers and caught up on his "paper work."

Arriving this morning from his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, the chief executive spent most of the afternoon studying questions submitted by government agencies.

He talked during the day with three treasury officials—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Assistant Secretary John Hanes and Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell.

White House attaches said the conference was the first of a series on next year's budget.

Former Fulton Electrician Dies In Paducah, Ky.

Moody Norman, 50 year old electrician of Clinton died yesterday in a Paducah hospital after an illness of two weeks. Funeral and burial will take place in Clinton.

Mr. Norman was at one time employed by the Kentucky Utilities Company in Fulton and is well remembered by many of our local people. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Laymen Meeting Held Last Night

A Laymen's Conference was held in Trinity Episcopal Church here last night, the meeting being presided over by Bishop Charles Clinganman of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky. Laymen and clergymen from Paducah, Cairo, Union City, Hickman and Fulton were present, and Bishop Clinganman delivered an interesting discourse on the subject, "The Kind of Layman I Would Like to Be If I Were a Layman."

Charles Wulf, rector of Trinity Church here, had asked the Bishop several months ago to conduct such a meeting here, and Bishop Clinganman expressed his appreciation for the interest that had been manifested by the various churches of the district.

Bishop Clinganman, a scholarly, fluent speaker, stated that if he were a layman he would have great expectations of the clergy. "I would expect leadership from the clergy," he said. "I feel that laymen have the right to expect leadership from the clergy, but they should not expect the minister to be a packhorse. Rather, the ideal arrangement is more in the form of a partnership, with the clergy furnishing leadership and the laity giving full and hearty support. The laity has more power than many suspect. The future of the church lies largely in the hands of the laymen, and this fact must be recognized."

Bishop Clinganman also pointed out that great strides have been made in reaching the goal of Christian and church unity in recent years. "We will achieve Christian unity before we reach church unity," he stated, "but both goals must ultimately be reached, and the church will be a mightier force when this goal is reached."

Chuckles Come From Mail Received By Gov. Browning

Nashville.—Gov. Browning's mail in the past two days has provided office attaches with more than the normal number of chuckles.

From Forrest City, Ark., came a letter addressed "Governor B. Browning, White House, Washington, D. C." The writer was complaining of the plight of cotton growers. The letter was kindly—or unkindly—relayed here by the White House.

From Corinth, Miss., came six blank pages of paper with a note attached that a woman there suffering with "delusional insanity" had written Browning and would be allowed to mail the envelope. The "dummy letter," said the note, was being substituted "to eliminate a bit of annoyance for the governor."

An old-age pension recipient near Jackson, Tenn., appealed to the governor for more money. But the communication was addressed to "Gov. Hill McAllister"—Browning's predecessor—and sympathized with him that "we did not get the nomination" in the recent primary.

Indian Summer Does Not Exist This Man Claims

Plainfield, N. J.—A sun beaming down through a haze of autumnal gold brings talk of an Indian summer, whose glories have become an inextricable chapter in American tradition and literature.

But that October haze is composed of collected and suspended smoke and minute particles of vegetation such as dried, fallen leaves, and the "Indian summer"—Well, it just doesn't exist, at least not as a meteorological entity.

So says S. K. Pearson, co-operative observer of the U. S. weather bureau, who spoke today of the "figment of poet's fancy" as something of an accident and usually caused by a stagnated high pressure area.

White House authorities announced the President would make a radio address Friday night in behalf of the mobilization for human needs, the annual effort to obtain funds for community chests.

The chief executive arranged tentatively to leave Washington this week-end for another visit to Hyde Park.

Cornea Of Rabbit Restores Sight Of Man Blind 6 Months

Hagerstown, Md.—Six months of blindness gave way to blurred sight through a rabbit's cornea today for Frank L. Hoffman when physicians removed temporarily his bandages.

Dr. Paul N. Fleming, who transplanted the whole cornea from a laboratory tested rabbit to Hoffman's right eye, said the 61-year-old laborer "could see objects passed before his eyes but could not distinguish the outlines."

"I am greatly pleased with his progress," said the surgeon. "There has not been enough time for regeneration but we will know definitely within the next week how successful the operation has been."

Transplantation of animal cornea to a human is not new, an eye surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore said. Previous attempts restored sight for a short time in many instances but the animal cornea "invariably" became opaque, he said, and blindness returned after several weeks.

The surgery was performed on September 27 at the request of Hoffman, who was completely blinded in both eyes by lye and carbolic acid from a spraying machine last May.

City Manager May Resign At Paducah

Paducah, Ky.—A secret ballot was taken by city employees tonight at a general convocation at the City Hall on whether they favor the resignation of City Manager L. V. Bean. It was learned from twelve employees.

The meeting, the city manager explained to the employees, was called after, he said, word had come to him that it would be to the best interest of City Manager form of government in Paducah if he resigned.

Slips of paper containing the words "resigned" and "stay," were passed among employees. A secret ballot was taken.

Results of the ballots were not announced to the employees. Ballots were not counted while the meeting was in progress.

It was reported that City Manager Bean met with members of the Board of City Commissioners following the meeting with the city employees.

Dies Proposes Pres. Roosevelt Order Red Sift

Washington.—Representative Dies, Texas Democrat, today proposed that President Roosevelt order an investigation to determine whether Government officials and employees have been members of Communist or Fascist organizations.

The Texan, who is chairman of the House Committee On "Un-American" Activities, said that proposed measures to thwart the activities of foreign spies would be futile unless the Government service was rid of persons who were sympathetic to Fascist and Communist groups.

He said his committee had evidence of Government officials' membership in groups which he characterized as communistic, and said investigation should be made of Fascist organizations to determine if they also had governmental members.

"We must clean out the Government service first," he said. Dies intended to embody his suggestions in a letter to the President, who announced Friday he was studying the problem of strengthening the country's defenses against spies.

"I am going to see the Governor when he returns and try to carry out our agreement to reorganize the patrol on a legal basis," the Attorney General said on returning from a week's visit to his home in Greenville. "I know nothing of the present arrangement by which it resumed functioning."

Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to return about Wednesday from his trip to the East.

Meredith Denies Taking Part In Putting Patrol Back To Work

Frankfort, Ky.—Attorney General Hubert Meredith said today he had taken no part in the arrangement by which the State Highway Patrol, which he recently ruled was illegally paid for out of State highway funds, resumed operations last week.

"I am going to see the Governor when he returns and try to carry out our agreement to reorganize the patrol on a legal basis," the Attorney General said on returning from a week's visit to his home in Greenville. "I know nothing of the present arrangement by which it resumed functioning."

Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to return about Wednesday from his trip to the East.

The patrol, which had approximately 200 men, was suspended September 9 after Meredith's ruling. It resumed operations with a force of eighty-five October 3, and State Highway Commissioner Robert Humphreys said then the duties could be confined chiefly to the highways. Meredith, who had declared highway funds could not legally be used to pay the patrol work, issued a statement that he was saying there was no connection between him and the charges that "we have agreed to work out an arrangement to let the patrol out of the highway funds."

Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to return about Wednesday from his trip to the East.

Mr. Myrick returned yesterday from Chicago, Illinois where he purchased a supply of new skates from the Chicago Roller Company and announces that the rink will be completed by noon tomorrow and will be operated in full swing tomorrow afternoon.

Noted Publisher Expires At 79 In Pennsylvania

Williamsport, Penn.—Dietrich LaMade, 79, president and publisher of the Williamsport Grit, which he built up from a small-town newspaper into a weekly with a national circulation, died today of pneumonia after four days' illness.

The son of German immigrant parents who came to America in 1867, the veteran publisher got his first job in a printing office at 13.

In 1884 LaMade and three others bought the name and good will of a paper called Grit, which had begun publication two years earlier. From that paper LaMade developed the weekly publication which now circulates in every State in the Union.

The Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia awarded him is Poor Richard Award in 1932 for meritorious newspaper service on the occasion of Grit's fiftieth anniversary.

Judge Tells Man To Keep Trousers Off His Horse

New York.—Those who remember unimportant miscellany may recall a remark in connection with a courtroom appearance of Miss Sally Rand—that some people are so pure they would put pants on a horse.

It all came back today in a case which involved a horse with pants. The owner, Lorenzo Lopopala, told Magistrate Sylvester Sabbatino: "I like my children. I like my horse. I put pants on my horse."

Patrolman Joseph Ryan ruined the picture of equine splendor with assertion that the pants concealed the fact the horse was so poorly shod his forelegs were sprung and that to drive him in such condition was cruelty.

"It's all right to love your child, but keep pants on them," the Magistrate told Lorenzo, "but if you love your horse, keep pants off him understand?" Case dismissed.

Lindbergh Is Denounced By Soviet Fliers

American Flier Refuses To Make Comment On Russian Charges

Moscow.—Eleven Soviet aviation leaders denounced Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today in a letter which referred to alleged statements by the American flier published in London after he visited Moscow in August.

(Col. Lindbergh declined comment when he arrived late today in Rotterdam with Mrs. Lindbergh, en route from France to Berlin for the annual session of the Lillenthal Society for aerial research.)

(Neither in Moscow, where the couple visited Aug. 17-28, nor subsequently has there been any public statement by Col. Lindbergh on his Russian trip or any other subject.)

(The statements attributed to him on the Soviet airmen's letter were of the same tenor as an article in the October issue of "The Week," Leftist publication published in London.)

Barkley, Clark Held Possible '40 Candidates

Washington.—Post-primary analysis of gubernatorial and senatorial candidacies, around which speculative forecasts of 1940 Presidential booms have been built, discloses these striking facts:

There are few Republicans on the list of those being talked about as possible Presidential nominees if they win in November. And there are even fewer Democrats regarded as possible Roosevelt-favored heirs apparent.

Nearly all of the considerable primary crop of potential Democratic dark horses for 1940 are being groomed in anti-Roosevelt stables. That circumstance tends to heighten the expectation that Roosevelt third-term agitation will increase rather than diminish after election day.

The only Democrat around whose nomination contest there lurked a suspicion that he might be regarded by the President as 1940 Presidential timber was Senator Barkley of Kentucky. In no other party contest in which the President himself took a hand or any other form of administration special interest was indicated was there even a whisper of that.

It certainly played no part in the selection of party purge opponents for Senator Tydings in Maryland, Senator George in Georgia or Representative O'Connor in New York.

Whatever 1940 build-up came out of those bitterly-fought party skirmishes accused to Tydings and George. They appear likely to be at least favorite son candidates in 1940, and of added political stature because of the nation-wide advertising the President's personal primary foray gave them.

Patrolman Joseph Ryan ruined the picture of equine splendor with assertion that the pants concealed the fact the horse was so poorly shod his forelegs were sprung and that to drive him in such condition was cruelty.

"It's all right to love your child, but keep pants on them," the Magistrate told Lorenzo, "but if you love your horse, keep pants off him understand?" Case dismissed.

The Leader will gladly correct any error in facts which may have gotten into its news stories when attention is called to them.

Honest Adjectives Make Equivocal Nouns

The Washington Bureau of The Associated Press notes from observed phenomena, "few signs that any party will accept the 'Conservative' label." The Associated Press article shows by its contest that it employs "conservative" in the sense of reactionary. It means that no party will propose to abandon Federal relief, social security, aid to agriculture, low interest, guarantee of bank deposits, stock market regulation, slum clearance, promotion of home ownership, rural electrification, flood control and conservation. The "gold standard" is ignored even by Herbert Hoover, who held it as "the Gibraltar of world stability," our "last fortress from a crashing world and the very destruction of our own form of government" until the banking system collapsed.

To repeal these policies and restore those which preceded it would be reactionary and those who favor such reaction are reactionaries in the true sense of the word devoid of the opprobrium implied by its use as an epithet. A reactionary course could be the conservative one. President Roosevelt things not in this instance. He insists that his is the conservative course; and, when the Associated Press says the tendency of both parties is "liberal despite President Roosevelt's attempt to array liberals in one camp and conservatives in another," it is either confusing terms or it means to "array" reactionaries "in the other camp." The President distinctly said he referred to those who opposed and obstructed these policies.

A "Liberal," according to the interpretation of the Associated Press article, is a person who supports such policies. Yet they were unquestionably radical innovations. To extremists who would undo everything the present Administration has done, the Republican Party's adoption of the policies in principle would be too conservative; to the extremists who protest that it hasn't gone far enough, the Democratic Party is too conservative.

We see from this transmutation of radical into liberal and liberal into conservative that we make a lot of trouble our rational processes when we convert honest adjectives into equivocal nouns. A Reactionary can be radical and a Liberal dogmatically illiberal when anyone disagrees with his specifications. Liberalism is liberal as far as it goes, conservatism as conservative as it turns out to be; but there is no incompatibility between the two. — Courier-Journal.

Pepper pot soup is a hearty meal-in-itself soup for a cold day.

CHILLY DAYS AHEAD ... and the call goes out for savory, heartening soup

says Dorothy Greig

"NOW, that's what I call real soup," father used to beam as he served us children great ladlefuls of savory, thick soup. "That soup will stick to your ribs."

Men we notice, have always been partial to soups that "stick to the ribs" . . . soups rich with chunks of meat or chicken, hearty with vegetables, savory with seasonings. And certainly there is nothing so cheering on a cold day as a big steaming bowl of just such a soup. It is a sustaining comfort.

ing dish that revives spirits and satisfies hungry appetites.

These days with the truly amazing variety of soups available, anyone can enjoy good soup on a minute's notice. Thick soups such as pepper pot, vegetable-beef, cream of mushroom, oxtail and Scotch broth are almost a meal in themselves. This soup like consommé, tomato, mock turtle are a stimulating beginning to a meal.

Then, too, these days it is fun to combine one soup with another thereby making possible an even greater variety of flavors. Here are a few of my soup combination favorites. I call them chilly day soups because they are extra hearty and nourishing:

Pepper Pot Supper Potage

(lots of slip to this)

1 can condensed pepper pot soup
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 cans of milk (using soup can to measure)

Heat and serve. Serves 5-7.

Bisque of Pea with Bean

(extra filling)

1 can condensed bean-with-bacon soup

1 can condensed pea soup

1 can water

1 can milk

Combine the bean-with-bacon soup and the pea soup. Stir in the water gradually and then add the can of milk (using the soup can for a measure). Heat to the boiling point, but do not boil. Serves 5-7.

Way to His Heart

(What flavor?)

1 can condensed tomato soup

1 can condensed vegetable-beef

2 cans of water

Combine and heat to boiling point. Serves 5-7.

Hunter's Soup

(for those "hungry as a bear")

1 can condensed Scotch broth

1 can condensed tomato soup

1 can condensed pea soup

2 cans water

To 1 can of pea soup add 1 can of tomato soup stirring constantly.

Then add 1 can of Scotch broth.

Stir in 2 cans of water (using soup can for a measure) and simmer 3 or 4 minutes to blend flavor. Serves 7-9.

Lindbergh Is of Parliament, last Thursday called Parliament's attention to the story in "The Week."

The letter, published in Pravda, organ of the central committee of the Communist party, and circulated by Tass (Russian official news agency), accused Col. Lindbergh of making "slandorous and insolent anti-Soviet utterances" before guests of Lady Astor, Virginia-born member of the British House of Commons.

It referred to a report by "The Week agency" and charged that "Lindbergh acted in conformity with instructions of British reactionary circles to 'prove the weakness of Soviet aviation' and thus provide (British prime minister) Chamberlain with an argument in favor of capitulation in Munich in the Czechoslovak problem."

The letter was signed by Vasily Molokoff, civil aviation chief and a noted flier; Valeri Chkloff, Georgi Baldukoff and Alexander Belahoff, who flew from Moscow across the North Pole to Vancouver, Wash., in June 1937; Bikhail Gromoff and Sergei Danilin, two of the airmen who flew a month later 6,262 miles from Moscow to California by way of the north pole; Valdimar Kokhinski, who flew 4,300 miles non-stop from Moscow to Vladivostok in the summer; a flier named Seorr; and flier order-bearer Demchenko.

The letter said Lindbergh had made himself the "laughing stock of the entire world" and called him a "mercenary liar."

The Lindberghs visited Moscow Aug. 26, then flew to the Soviet Ukraine and left Russia Aug. 31. It was pointed out at the American embassy that they came like any American tourists and that the embassy asked nothing for them it would not normally ask for any Americans.

First District
Educators End
54th Session

Murray, Ky.,—Expenditure of $12.12 per child was recommended today by the First District Education Education at the conclusion of its fifty-fourth annual session here.

The association adopted a resolution that a minimum school term of eight months and a minimum salary of $600 for every teacher with two years of college training be established.

The board voted to reconvene at Murray College next year, October 13-14.

Other resolutions approved the work of the K. E. A. Planning Board, the district program committee, and the efforts of school leaders to secure Federal grants for public education.

Superintendent Harry Peters spoke briefly on the status of public education in Kentucky.

Officers nominated yesterday without opposition were elected today. They are Superintendent W. J. Caplinger, Murray, president; Marshall Berry, Marion, vice president; W. C. Jetton, Paducah, W. E. A. director; J. O. Lewis, Fulton, F. D. E. A. director; Hickman Balgore, Mayfield, retirement representative for the K. E. A.

Lindbergh sat with Soviet airmen some distance away from American and other diplomats and other foreigners.

During the whole stay in Moscow, Lindbergh spent most of his time with Soviet airmen, occasionally saw Americans, but consistently refused to talk for publication.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF RETONGA RECEIVED AT EVANS DRUG COMPANY

Famous Roots, Herbs and Barks Medicine Is Being Introduced For First Time In Fulton. It Has Been Enthusiastically Received and Indorsed By Thousands For Its Remarkable Up-building Powers.

Evans Drug Company is extremely happy to have obtained a supply of the famous roots, herbs, and barks medicine Retonga. This is the new medicine which is literally sweeping the country because of the extraordinary results it has brought about for thousands of weakened, worn out people. Sufferers from sour, nervous indigestion, the pains and aches of toxic poisons due to sluggish elimination and getting up nights, report their conditions quickly relieved by Retonga. Perhaps never before has any medicine met with such an overwhelming demand or has been more enthusiastically praised and endorsed by men and women of unquestioned standing in their communities. As an example of the demand for Retonga, more than forty thousands bottles have been purchased by the people of Nashville, Tenn., and vicinity within the last few months. Among the many public statements recently made is the following from G. W. Wilson, well known farmer of Dukedom, in Weakley County, Tenn., who writes that he found in Retonga the only medicine that has been worth its cost to him in years of experimenting with other medicines. He states the famous medicine also helped his daughter to overcome ailments similar to his and she is so happy she took several bottles home with her.

Sneddon Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Douglas, of Fulton. The wedding will take place Thursday, October 27, at the Trinity Methodist Church with Rev. G. C. Fain officiating.

Mr. Douglas is connected with the Libby-McNeill-Libby Company of Memphis.

BILL BEADLES IS GOING TO FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Callahan, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Fulton and other surrounding towns for the past few weeks, left this morning for their home in Lakeland, Florida.

They were accompanied by Bill Beadles, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Beadles, who will make his home in Lakeland where he has accepted a position.

G. W. WILSON

"I had sluggish bowels," said Mr. Wilson. "My body was full of aches and pains, my joints were stiff and my muscles were sore. I had terrible pains in my back, legs, and shoulders and I suffered agonies with acid indigestion. My food fermented and I had gas pains that drew me into knots. I was nervous and had to get up so often at night I became weakened and tired out. I tried everything I knew of and spent hundreds of dollars, but nothing helped me until I took Retonga and it proved to be all that was claimed for it. My strength returned, my pains and aches have about entirely gone and I am still improving every day."

Evans Drug Company has known of Retonga for a long time and is glad to at last be able to supply the demand for this remarkable medicine, and in co-operating with the manufacturers of Retonga they are glad to guarantee results from the very first bottle of this famous roots, herbs, and barks medicine and if it fails to bring gratifying improvements in your condition, they will refund the small costs of this first bottle. Get a bottle of Retonga today at EVANS DRUG COMPANY.

FARMER PLOWS UP BOX WITH HUGE AMOUNT

Baltimore. —A Baltimore County farmer doing his fall plowing unearthed a fortune of some $90,000 in matted, musty paper money in an old tin box, officials of the Federal Reserve Bank here disclosed today.

The money was brought to the bank by a lawyer representing the farmer. The names of both were kept confidential by the bank pending settlement of origin, ownership and taxability of the cash.

Those who handled the money said it was so old and so matted together that it was extremely difficult to count. Estimates of the value of the fortune ranged from $90,000 to $100,000.

FULTON'S CHANCE TO GET T. V. A.

The Utility Franchise Has Already Expired

This Bond Issue Will Not Increase Your Taxes On Any Property.

Tuesday, November 8th will be a memorial day for Fulton, the day your Mayor and Council have made it possible for you to VOTE on Electric Revenue Bonds. Don't be misinformed. The Bond Issue will not increase the tax rate on any property owner. On the face of the Bond it will state that the bonds are secured by the Electrical System, and are not a lien on any City Property, real or personal. The bonds are retired by Electric Customers of the City and at the same time you will get your electricity from 25% to 50% cheaper even after paying the bond and interest expense.

This is the plan: To acquire either by building a new or buying the existing electrical distributing system, then in the remote event that Fulton can not get T. V. A., then it will build its own Electric Generating Plant.

The Y. M. B. C. believes this will be the greatest progressive step in Fulton's proud history.
