Four Steps Necessary in Freezing of Foods

Four necessary steps in having foods frozen so the family will enjoy them were set out by Mrs. Pearl Haak, canning authority at the University of Kentucky.
They include: selection of varieties that freeze well, having them while young and tender, careful blanching and cooling, and not over-cooking them at the time of serving.
Vegetables that are frozen when young and tender will have a bright green color. Snap beans become tough and shucky as they mature, lima beans turn white and peas get starchy.
A warning to housewives that all vegetables must be blanched in order to avoid change in color, flavor, texture and food value was given by Mrs. Haak.
Blanching consists of submerging the vegetable in boiling water for a period of time from 40 seconds to eight minutes, then in ice water for the same period. Avoid slow heating and slow cooling, as they make for an inferior product, the specialist said.
Satisfactory containers for freezing are of glass, tin or cartons lined with cellophane or plastic.
Mrs. Haak reminds housewives that frozen vegetables require less cooking than fresh ones when they are prepared for the table, as they were precooked in blanching before freezing.

A Plan For The Future

Or A

Plan Of The Present

THE ALGER, though small in area, contains all the features necessary in any home, whethe large or small.

All the rooms of the Alger are on one floor without basement, or second floor. In addition, a third bedroom can be installed by a simple conversion of the storage closet into a connecting corridor.

The first floor slab rests on a gravel fill, with the superstructure of frame with siding, except that the front living room wall is faced with stone or face brick.

Storage space is generously supplied, by 12 closets in all, distributed in every room.
 These twelve closets range in type from wardrobe closets in the bedroom to large storage closets in the utility room.

The dimensions of the Alger are 50 feet by 26 feet. Floor area is planned to be 1163 sq. feet. The cubage of this house totals 14,405 cubic feet.

For further information about THE ALGER write the Small House Planning Bureau, St.
 Cloud, Minn.

We hope we can be of service to you on plans for a New Home. We Invite you to discuss your plans with us.

Speaking of Fish Stories, Have You Heard This One?

There probably are as many fishermen per square mile in Marshall County as in other places on the globe.

And every one of them has either told or heard plenty of fish stories.

But don't stop us if you've heard this one. Ted Dobson brought it back from vacation.
Here it is:

I ask a simple question,
The truth I only wish,
Are all fishermen liars,
Or do only liars fish.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
International Union
Sunday School Lesson

SCRIPTURE: Judges 6:1-25.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 47.

Hero, Artist, Saint

Lesson for July 20, 1952

THE GREAT TRAGEDY of life is that man has three incompatible ideals. So says a famous thinker of our time. These three are the hero, the artist, the saint. The hero's virtue is strength; the artist's is beauty, and the Saint's is holiness.

A hero, in the course of his heroic acts, does things which would stain the honor of a saint and which are too ugly for a sensitive artist even to think about. Saints on the other hand are often most unheroic; they "wax valiant" in submission, not in fight; and they often care very little for beauty. Artists likewise may be personal cowards and live anything but saintly lives. Yet society needs all three, though the values one cherishes may be just the opposite of what the other prizes. Very rarely, the same man may show traces of artist, saint and hero.

Dr. Foreman

THE WORD "Judge" in the Book of Judges usually means what we would call a hero, a military man with a successful record. Then, as now, if a man made good in the army he was after thought of as an army man. His title and his rank stuck to him his life long.

We think of General Grant as an army man, and of Lee as another; though one was President of the United States and the other one a distinguished college president.

So Gideon comes down in history as one of the "Judges" who delivered Israel from a powerful enemy. This time the enemy was the Midianites, a roaring nuisance if ever there was one.
Midianites were nomads, they lived where they pleased, and they lived off the peaceful farmers wherever they were.

There were so many that their army looked like a swarm of locusts. They were seen only once a year, but that was enough. They would wait out in the wilderness until the crops were ready for harvest; then they would dash into the country, raid every farm from border to border, and skip out again, leaving the Israelites on the edge of starvation for another year.

How Gideon, a small farmer and a timid soul by nature, became the hero who nearly exterminated the Midianites and set his people free, is one of the most fascinating tales in the Old Testament. The people loved him and remembered him for that one thing above all: he could fight!

Gideon the Artist
THERE ARE MORE WAYS than one to be artistic. General Gideon painted no pictures, carved no statues, wrote no poems. But he was an artist all the same. There is something artistic about any good workmanship, and it is as true of military campaigns as of everything else.

Incidentally, generals have a temptation to overlook this. At the Battle of Fredericksburg in the American Civil War, when the northern army was marching into the grinding trap which Lee and his generals had prepared, Lee remarked that it's a good thing war is so terrible, otherwise we should become too fond of it. He was speaking from the general's viewpoint, of course. The private is seldom in danger of being too fond of war.

At all events Gideon's campaigns were just as "beautiful" in all details as anything Napoleon, Lee, Hitler or Hannibal ever invented.

Can a hero be an artist? In his way, yes; like any other craftsman, he can do a necessary, rough and dirty piece of work in a way that calls out the exclamation: Beautiful!

Saint Gideon
CAN A SOLDIER be a saint? If you mean by "saint" the ideal of what a Christian should be, most would say No. General Lee said at the end of his life that if he had it to live over again he would not be a soldier.

And still, the writer of the letter to the Hebrews in the New Testament does not hesitate to list Gideon, and even that half-hero Barak, right along with the rest in his list of high saints, the men and women of Faith.

For fundamentally it is faith that makes the saint. And Gideon was a man of sturdy faith. To paraphrase Tennyson, his strength was as the strength of ten, because his faith was pure. So there have been countless men whose profession is arms who have also been men of faith.

How Times (and Typists) Have Changed!

NOW, after more than 50 years, our Girl Fridays are getting the recognition they deserve. The sanction of the U. S. Department of Commerce has been given to the celebration of National Secretaries Week, June 1 to 7. It was a different story, however, before the turn of the century when business was still considered man's domain. Because of a shortage of operators for the then new-fangled writing machines, the New York YWCA advertised a course in typewriting for "strong women." The "athletic" eight who enrolled formed the vanguard for the more than 1,500,000 typists, stenographers and secretaries in business today. No doubt, the early operators found typing fatiguing, but today thousands of typists enjoy using electric typewriters like the IBM seen immediately above.
