NUMBER 45.

CAMPBELLITES Praying for Rain.

This is one of the times that all signs have failed in dry weather. The leadings lights of both hard and soft shell Baptist have prayed loud and long for rain and it never came. The elders, circuit riders and class-leaders in the M. E. church did their best at the quarterly meetings, at the ordinary monthly meetings, at the camp-meetings and at the prayer meetings to cause rain to fall, but it never fell. The Presbyterians tried their hand at the business, but still the rain refused to come. After all had failed a few of the most devout Campbellites concluded now was a good time to ascertain the efficacy of solemn prayer for rain by them, so they selected a place to meet and after some little preparation, a tall, hungry looking brother arose and said: "Now is the time for true and faithful work, and we don't want to begin this business unless we are certain there are no hypocrites among us; we will wait a moment to see if there be such here on this solemn occasion, and if there be one who is not of the best and thinks he can have no influence with the Great God of all good and perfect gifts let him get up and quietly walk away." One brother got up and moved away; soon another, and then another until there were only a few left to test their faith for rain.

Silence reigned a few moments, then an elderly brother arose and said, "Now brethren lets do our best for rain because the people are in sore distress about it and the eyes of the great Jehovah is upon us on this occasion." The time came for work and they were all asked to fall upon their knees and lamentate for rain. But in the meantime these unholy brethren had not gone very far, but had sat down under some trees and a cluster of bushes to await the result of the meeting. They had only been down but a few minutes until a small cloud appeared in the northwest. After a long and silent kneeling they arose in great solemnity and looked about for signs of approaching rain. They saw the small cloud and while they thought it was the result of their petitions they said it was not large enough and they must try it over. They again fell upon bended knees and began their work in silent devotion, but by this time the little cloud had come nearly over them. It was one of these little thunder heads. And while they were all in silent work, very unexpectedly, there came a tremendous clap of thunder, the lightning tearing a burly oak all to pieces and causing leaves and brush to fall all about. This brought a standstill to the work; in an instant another peal came; this was too much for the brethren. They concluded it was best to stay further proceedings and run for home. This they did saying "we have done the work." In a few minutes the cloud had spent its force in thunder, lightning and wind but no rain. The wind shifted to the north and in an hour the weather was clear and cool and for two weeks the weather has never been so dry and damaging to crops as since the Campbellites began to pray for rain on this occasion.

Nothing was said about this effort on their part for some time, but one of the good men studied the matter over and concluded something was wrong, so he called the same brethren together again and said: "Brethren, there was surely something wrong with some of us, and I believe it's our duty to find out, if possible, what was the cause of our failure to bring rain when last we met. I would like for each one to arise and speak out what he may have done that's wrong so we may set ourselves aright before our God."

After all was quiet, one brother arose and said: "I have always tried to live right in the sight of God and man and know of nothing I have done except to oppose the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause in the Sherman law."

The brother who had called the meeting together said: "Let's hear from some other brother." Another arose and said: "You know brethren, I have always tried to live sober and honest; I have worked hard and tried to pay my just debts, but for the life of me can't think of any harm I have done unless the affidavit for an increase of my pension was a little too strong." He took his seat and another arose and said: "Since we have met I have concluded I was not fit to pray for rain, because I have been too selfish all the days of my life and have envied my neighbors the many blessings they have enjoyed, in fact I have always been one thing to their face and another in their presence; I am a hypocrite of the worst kind." Another got up with tears in his eyes, and said: "I am a good man and can't now call to mind anything wrong I have done unless I have put too much faith in water baptism and not enough in prayer." Up got another; he seemed very humble and penitent and said: "Brethren, I have always attended our church meetings, have always been industrious, sober and honest and I now can't call to mind any reason why my prayer should not have been answered unless it was because I have got to voting the third party ticket." This was too much for the good man who was presiding over the meeting; he arose in all the solemnity of an apostle, and said: "No wonder, brethren, our meeting was such a flash, and no good came of it. It was only through the good mercy of God that the last one of us was not killed by lightning when such a mottled crowd of so called christians met to ask God for a special blessing. Never again will I meet to ask God to change the laws of nature for rain."

A COINCIDENCE

That Involves an Opinion of the State's Attorney-General.

Frankfort, Aug. 15.—It has often been observed in a group of people that simultaneously two of the persons will suddenly begin to talk on the same subject, and perhaps neither had previously thought about it for a long time, but the receipt of two letters by Attorney-General Hendricks to-day furnishes a remarkable illustration of the long range coincidence of the expression of the same thought. In Grant county there is a sheriff by the name of J. R. Lemon, and in Benton, Marshall county, the newspaper Tribune is owned and edited by J. R. Lemon; and it chanced that on last Saturday both men were struck with the desire to know whether or not the assessed valuation should apply for county purposes instead of the valuation fixed by the state board. The question in each letter is put in almost the same language and one letter has thirty-two and the other thirty-five words. What subtle power is it that could thus move at the same moment a sheriff and an editor, many miles apart, to inquire about taxes—a matter that is the business of the first, but not generally supposed to be the business of the last named?

As the answer to the question is one of general interest, though not often raised, it may be said that the auditor of public account to whom the letters were referred, replied that the law did not specifically cover the case, and he knew of no suit in which the point had been decided. In nearly all the counties, however, the state board valuation has been accepted as the one on which the county levy is made.

It will also be remembered that at the same time and in the same year the J. R. Lemon of Marshall county and the J. R. Lemon of Grant county were both candidates for sheriff and both were defeated; that both have been married twice and each have five children, three boys and two girls, and that the two J. R. Lemon's don't know each other and are not related.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

J. L. Smith, chairman pro tem of the democratic committee of Lyon county, and W. M. Reed, chairman of the democratic committee of Marshall county, this day met in the town of Eddyville, when the following orders were agreed upon, to-wit:

First: That a primary election be and the same is hereby ordered and called to nominate a democratic candidate for the representative district composed of the counties of Marshall and Lyon.

2d. That said primary election be held in each of said counties on Saturday the 18th day of September 1893, at which election all voters in said counties heretofore affiliating with the democratic party and voting the democratic ticket, also all young men who have not heretofore voted, and who will be legal voters at the next November election, who will agree to support the nominee of this primary, as well as any other voter offering to vote at said primary who claims that he believes in the principles of the democratic party and will agree to support the nominee of this primary and the nominees of the democratic party at the Nov. election, shall be entitled to vote in said primary election.

3d. Said election shall be held on said day between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

4th. The vote shall be cast by ballot, but the name of each voter shall be recorded in a book prepared for that purpose.

5th. Each candidate seeking the nomination at said election shall have prepared and furnished to the voters of said counties suitable ballots having on same his name only.

6th. Said election shall be held at the respective voting places in said counties, except that a poll may be opened in addition thereto at Woodson's chapel and Oak Grove in Lyon county, and at Hardin, Sharpe and Palma in Marshall county.

7th. The chairman and acting chairman of said respective counties shall appoint persons and officers to hold said election therein.

8th. It shall be the duty and the clerks of the respective voting places, are requested to return the poll books with the certificate of the officers of said election attached, showing the result of the vote at each voting place, to the chairman and acting chairman of said respective counties at Eddyville and Benton on the 18th day of September 1893, who shall meet on September 20, 1893, at a place to be agreed upon by them and count the vote of said counties and declare the nominee of said primary election, and give due and proper notice thereof.

BLACKBURN AND SILVER.

The Kentucky Senator Writes a Letter Outlining His Position.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 22.—Senator Blackburn has been counted both upon the side of repeal and against repeal of the Sherman silver purchasing act by the friends and opponents of free silver respectively, but a letter received by a friend in this city shows that the senator is very decidedly a free silver man. The inference also might be drawn that he will oppose the repeal. In speaking of the silver fight now on in congress the senator writes:

"I beg to assure you that in the part I play upon exciting political questions now pending there will be no dallying nor hedging. Appreciating fully the gravity of the situation and the danger of party disruption, I shall do everything that conservatism demands, whilst not abating a jot or tittle of the faith that is in me. My convictions on this question are life-long and fixed. I shall advocate them without concealment or indirection. I know that I mean to earn and believe that I will receive your own approval and that of a majority of those who sent me here. There has never been ground for doubt in the mind of any man who chose to know what my position was upon any public question and there will be none now. I am opposed unalterably to a single standard and to the views held by Wall street. I am an uncompromising advocate of bi-metalism, and mean to make this fight for the maintenance of the money of the constitution and for the fulfillment in good faith of the pledges given upon this subject in the platform of the last national convention of my party. Others may stray and wander if they will; I will not."

It will be seen from the above that Senator Blackburn is a free silver man.

IN BROKEN DOSES.

Love never works by the clock. Neither do our loafers.

Mercy is one thing that cannot be kept on ice. Some men round about here have none to keep.

Contentment is the feeling that you are better off than your neighbor.

If gravestones told the truth the millenium would be here now. Children should always be very cautious and always set good examples for their parents.

A sympathetic young man imagines that something is hurting a young lady every time she lisps.

Summer in the country would be more agreeable if somebody could convince the frogs that they cannot sing.

These are times when a good many of us have to sit down and think to find out where we stand. The woman who paints her cheeks and the man who dyes his whiskers never fool but one person.

Are You Nervous.

Are you all tired out, do you have that tired feeling or sick headache? You can be relieved of all these symptoms by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives nerve, mental and bodily strength and thoroughly purifies the blood. It also creates a good appetite, cures indigestion, heartburn and dyspepsia.

Hood's pills are easy to take, easy in action and sure in effect. 25 cents a box.

A Lafayette (Ind.) preacher has stirred up a hornet's nest in his congregation. Last Sunday he said: "God made the earth in six days and then he rested, then he made man and rested again, then he made woman, and since that time neither God nor man has had a rest." Dozens of women left the church and it is said, actual disruption is imminent.

WED. EVENING, AUG 30.

"In the future—"

"We'll defend—"

What a help to have a great defender.

The battle is over, the defender is at hand; but God saved the defender.

The artful dodger of the Tale had better examine his own record as a democratic voter.

"In the future will defend the democracy." Ha! ha! ha! That party is safe from day and date.

"Can you understand now who has treated the truth with such disrespect?"—Tale of Two Cities.

Yes, Martin gall and the Tale of Two Cities.

We have driven the Tale of Two Cities from all of its positions, and by monkeying with the little thing it now claims to be loyal to the democracy of Lyon county.

No one ever accused Esq. B. F. Smith of voting against the nominee of his party, but voting for the nominee of another political party was the crime he committed.

"The Benton Tribune announced in the last issue that it was out of the legislative fight."—Tale of Two Cities.

That must have been good news to that paper.

We don't ask the galley editor of the little Tale of Two Cities to "be a man or mouse," we only ask him to be a true democrat and vote the ticket and support such for office.

The big Tale of Two Cities is at last in the democratic party. No one knows how it got in, unless it "scratched" in, which is perfectly satisfactory to that vassalizing journal.

The City National and the Merchants National banks of Louisville both resumed business yesterday. Public confidence is being restored and the country will soon be all right again.

The Olive and Hardin Star is now shining in our sanctum. It is a new Star that rises every two weeks at Olive and Hardin. L. C. Starks and J. B. Hurt are its editors. Long may the Star shine and do good.

"We still stick to our position though the heavens fall."—Benton Tribune.

"Wise men often change, but fools—etc."—Tale of Two Cities.

Yes, we know of some fools that haven't sense enough to take a position and stick to it, and the editor of the Tale of Two Cities is not an exception to the rule.

The peoples' party in Calloway county met in a small room upstairs in the court house Monday and nominated Thos. G. Thurman as their standard bearer for the legislature. Mr. Thurman is a good farmer and a good citizen, lives in the west part of the county and will carry his party's strength.

Didn't the Tale of Two Cities twist and squirm in order to prove that it did not misrepresent us when it said, "The Benton Tribune accuses Esq. B. F. Smith of scratching the ticket when he voted for M. C. Marshall instead of W. M. Reed." But it could not make the Tribune say it, and there is only one way to get out of it and that is back out of it. We still say we did not say any such thing, and if there is "gall" in anything it is "Martin gall" of the commonest kind. Tell the truth, and don't misquote us, because it's plain to everyone you started out to boost a man for the legislature and can't do it without misrepresenting the Tribune. Now what is worse gall than Martin gall?

We insist that all the democrats of both Marshall and Lyon counties go the polls on September 16 and vote for some good democrat to represent the two counties in the next legislature. Will the Tale of Two Cities say—as much Editor Martin, try and let your shaky democracy speak out, (that is, if you are not afraid of the republicans of Lyon county.)

"Don't forget in the future that the Tale of Two Cities will ever be found standing by and defending the rights and just claims of the democracy of Lyon county."—Tale of Two Cities.

Going to defend the democracy of Lyon county in the future! What have you been doing in the past? No wonder you did not speak a word in your last issue for the claims of Esq. B. F. Smith. You have been, it seems on your own confession, defending the claims of some other democracy than that of Lyon county. The democracy of Lyon is all right now, the Tale of Two Cities has decided to defend it. It may be, after all, that that paper will be democratic. Since it is going to defend democracy it may say a word or two against the republican and peoples' parties. It's true it has never done any harm, but perchance it may yet do some good. Up to date it has been abusing the Tribune, a democratic paper, and advocating the claims of men who have been wayward in their votes and never saying a word against the other political parties, and we have wondered what were the politics of its editor, but from now hence we may expect to hear the rottenness of the republican party and the fallacies of the peoples' party held up in all their hideousness to the voters of Lyon county. If Bro. Martin's paper is a democratic paper why can't it defend the democracy of Caldwell, or Trigg, or McCracken, or Marshall, or all of them? Democracy is the same in all counties, and a true democratic paper will defend it wherever it may be found; but it may be that he thinks the boundary line of Lyon county is the boundary line of the United States. Some men are so small in their conception of right and wrong that they can't see a stone's throw before them. The democracy of Lyon county needs no defense; it's all right; it never has been questioned, and has always done its duty in every contest, and will do so again. The democracy is all right, but some men are not true to it. The Tale of Two Cities never concluded to go to work until a primary was voted.

THE SILVER VOTE

Was Yeas 124, Nays 226—A Big Majority in the House Against Free Coinage.

Monday a vote was taken in the house on the great silver question and it resulted in the smashing defeat of free coinage by a majority of 102. The question now goes to the senate, where a vote will be taken soon on the Wilson bill, and we will not be surprised to see the bill go through with little or no friction. The democratic platform is for sound and good money, both gold and silver, and there is no use of the enemies of the party trying to down a party so sound on the money question.

Picked Paragraphs.

A CALL.—The democratic committee of this legislative district has at last called a primary election to be held on Saturday, Sept. 16, 1893. The call is published in this week's Tribune. Read it and govern yourselves accordingly.

A FALLING OFF.—The Murray Item is complaining of a falling off in boarding pupils at their school because the trustees will not assist in advertising it this year. A good reason for the decline of that school is that the Benton school is now fast coming to the front and will soon take many more pupils from that school. But to mention advertising to our trustees would throw them into fits.

THEY ARE MUM.—The delegates from the State Sunday school convention were a little mum on many points connected with their trip. It leaked out that they passed a resolution not to give away any jokes on the boys, but we have learned in some way that Willie Douglas, of Hardin, was the butt end of a good joke. It is said he, while asleep on the train, embraced a drummer's valise thinking it a woman.

PHYSICIANS.—The county physicians were in a call session here last week for the purpose of attending to some routine business. Under the new law they are all required to bring their diplomas here and exhibit them to the county clerk, pay their two dollars and be then permitted to continue to practice medicine. The attendance was good. The next regular meeting will take place here in October.

KICKERS.—The dry weather has had a depressing effect upon the crops in this county as well as business. When the drought begins to injure either corn, tobacco or wheat in this county then the calamity howlers begin to be heard. As long as crops are good and a demand for the products of the farmers is good so long these kickers will not complain but will be perfectly contented and happy.

SPEAKING.—The beardless hero of the great money problem, Joe A. Parker, of Lagrange, Ky., passed this way last Saturday and delivered the usual stereotyped harangue against the leaders of the democratic party. He spoke at the court house to about 40 or 50 men. He looks like a boy of 20 summers, yet what he said though delivered in a broken way, was eagerly gobbled up by the few orientals of the baby party.

PROSPECTIVE.—The prospects to have our depot built nearer the public highway are very good. They will begin to build the new depot in about three weeks, but before that time Supt. Hills will be out here to select and locate the place where it will be built. The people are highly delighted over the prospect of having it built where it should be for their convenience. The railroad company is disposed to listen to the will of the people.

YOU SHOULD VOTE.—Less than three weeks from now until the primary election. Every democrat in both counties should go to the polls and cast his vote for someone and thereby give the nominee to understand that nomination means election. The democratic committees could not have fallen upon a better plan to hold the election than what they did and their action has given perfect satisfaction so far as we have heard.

READY TO REPORT.—The committee appointed by the last fiscal court will be ready to make its report by the time that body meets in October, concerning the best and the cheapest way to care for the paupers of the county. We believe they will, in their report, recommend that the county buy a body of land and erect suitable houses thereon where all paupers shall be kept. We will have more to say by and by on this subject.

LICENSE RAISED.—The trustees of the town of Benton met last Saturday, and under the authority given it by the laws governing towns of the sixth class, fixed the amount of license for saloons at $500 per year. This action was highly satisfactory to the tax-payers of the town, but veto, presto, change. Monday morning came; they met, they talked, they dilly-dallied and without a vote to change their action on Saturday, lowered the license to $400. On Saturday four of them were strong for $500, but on Monday not one voted for that amount. There are plenty of men who will gladly give $500 for the privilege and the trustees who have been wanting money without taxing the town to build up few streets and repair old ones, should have stuck to their first decision. The people here are in favor of it and the trustees should have been firm in their first work. There has been a long petition, signed by a majority of the tax-payers and voters of the town, asking for a town marshal, but the trustees have claimed they were not able to employ one; but if they had only charged the $500 how easy they could have employed one and then had as much money for town purposes as they now have.

ONE OF THE OTHERS.—The Tribune never advocated the claims of any candidate from this county only while there was only one in the field, but has always claimed it as Marshall's time, and we say so yet. The name of Lyon's candidate would never have been named in these columns but for the egotistical desire of the Tale of Two Cities to jump on the Tribune. If the editor of that paper had not desired to dodge the question, but only confined his remarks to the discussion of the question at issue, it would have been much better for Mr. Smith, but from the tenor of its slang it is making the fight against the Tribune and not against Mr. English or Barry, or in favor of its own candidate. If the brass editor of that journal thinks the Tribune is a candidate, and it can run it out of the race, just let it "crack loose." The result will be it will leave the Tribune master of the situation and kill the prospects of its own candidate. Whenever a man tries to defeat another by the abuse of a third party his little scheme always falls to the ground. This blustering editor in his last paper in large letters, in referring to Judge Barry, said, "He voted for a Republican nominee for Assessor in Marshall county." This is not true, not one word of it. He never did vote for a republican nominee; but if the Tale of Two Cities had wanted to have "toted" fair it would have, in the same connection, told how English, Smith and Barry all voted, but it is too biased to tell the truth. It would be asking too much for its editor to "be a man or mouse," for it can't be either, but we would like for him to be slightly consistent in his eagerness to misrepresent and distort the facts. You need not whine, twist and squirm, the inevitable is before you, and you had as well begin to prepare to support the democratic nominee or else get out of the party. You need not abuse Barry or laud Mr. Smith and ignore Mr. English, they are all in the race and one of them will be the nominee and you shall support him or you must leave the party. You can't carry longer on both shoulders.

Murray Mentions.

Last Monday was county court day at Murray and notwithstanding the dry, hot and cold weather there was a large crowd of people in town. There was no business of any importance transacted by the court, but the merchants did a thriving business. Lots of people go to Murray on public days and nearly all of them buy more or less goods. The merchants keep large and well assorted stocks of goods which is one of the best reasons why they sell so many goods.

Abe Thompson, a candidate for the legislature, took a very ridiculous position when he said that "the offices of circuit court clerk and school superintendent should be combined and both made one." Such a position is unfeasible, impracticable and impossible and will not bear a moment's discussion.

Frank Peterson, the handsome candidate for representative for the democratic nomination, is gaining votes every day and the people of Calloway will do a bad days work when they beat him. He will make an able, faithful and true representative and by all means he should be the nominee.

We kinder hate to say so, but truth compels us to say that the women of Murray are better looking upon a general average than they are here, but the men—God save them.

Several new houses are going up which will greatly add to the beauty and business of the city. Among them are three new substantial brick business houses.

T. A. Miller, the veteran democratic war horse, is almost the unanimous choice of the people in that county for State Senator.

The milk shakers are a holy terror to the peace and quietude of a town like Murray.

The dust is deeper there than here.

The Sirls Boys.

The readers of the Tribune will remember that Joe and Frank Sirls filled upon liquor some time early in the present year and became involved in a personal difficulty with Mr. George McLeod, at his home above Birmingham, in which they assaulted Mr. McLeod and his wife and tried to shoot and otherwise hurt them. The boys were arrested and were fixing to hold an examining trial near the place where the difficulty occurred, but during the preliminary arrangements to begin the trial the boys took advantage of the officers and ran away. The circuit court met and the grand jury found two bills against Frank and three against Joe. They remained away until last week, when they came to town and gave themselves up and said they were ready for trial. They were placed in jail where they remained until last Thursday morning when their attorney, Mr. Lovett, had them brought out of jail and demanded a trial before the judge of the quarterly court.

On the first indictment for carrying a pistol they submitted the case to the judge, when he fined each one $25 and ten days in jail. On the joint indictment for assault on Mr. McLeod the judge assessed a fine of $50 against each, this ended it so far as Frank was concerned, but there was yet another indictment against Joe for an assault on Mrs. McLeod and attempting to shoot her. This the attorneys also agreed to submit to his honor but he refused to decide the case and preferred to hear the evidence before a jury. So the case was continued until next day when he again appeared before the court and wanted him to try the case. But the attorneys agreed to submit the case to the jury and admit all that was charged in the indictment and let the jury say how much he should be fined. This was done and the indictment turned over to the jury, who after a short time returned a verdict of guilty and assessed his fine at $100, which he could not pay and both were returned to jail to pay off their fines and their ten days in jail. Joe will have to remain jail 97½ days and Frank 47½ before they can again be free.

The Wonderful Kola Compound

Nature's Sure Cure for

Asthma and Hay Fever.

Kola Compound, or Himalya is nature's sure cure for Asthma and Hay Fever and is the only remedy ever discovered that is a Constitutional cure for those diseases. In other words it is a TRUE SPECIFIC, while all other remedies are mere anti-spasmodics which may relieve at the time, but have no real effect in preventing future attacks. Himalya is a TRUE SPECIFIC and is sold under a STRICT GUARANTEE to cure in the above named diseases. Sufferers are requested to send for pamphlets, etc., describing Kola Compound. Address A. T. Sims, Sole agent for Jackson's Purchase, Fair Dealing, Ky.

OLIVE, KY., June 6, 1893.

This is to certify that I have been subject to Asthma for 20 years, and after trying every known remedy during that time without relief, except temporary, I commenced the use of the Kola Compound and after having used two and a-half bottles of that I have never had a symptom of asthma. Allowed To Go Free.

The boy, Allen Lindley, charged with the murder of the little baby of his sister, Mrs. Jerusha Sturgeon, was arrested and brought here ten days ago but the county judge was engaged in the Curd-Brewer trial and could not hold an examining trial until last Wednesday, but during all this time the boy, instead of being locked up in jail was kept under guard. John G. Lovett was employed to assist County Attorney Heath to prosecute the prisoner. The trial began about 10 o'clock a. m. and went on well enough until noon, the commonwealth having introduced three or four witnesses and was thought by some to be making out a good case, but soon after the assembling of court, after noon, the county attorney against the protestations of his co-counsel Mr. Lovett dismissed the case and let the prisoner go free. This was a strange proceeding, but the county attorney said the reason he dismissed it was because the court would not admit the dying declarations of the child as testimony. Thus another Lindley, charged with murder, was allowed to go free.

We refund money in every instance when Plantation chill and fever cure fails. Sold by R. H. Starks, Benton. Barry & Stephens, Benton. J. R. Lemon, Benton. M. L. Chestnut, Gilbertsville. J. A. WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Suicide of W. B. Davis.

W. B. Davis of whom we have so often mentioned in these columns, is no more. Last Sunday morning he took hold of a big army pistol that was hanging on the wall and turned the muzzle towards his stomach and fired, the ball entering his bowels in a downward direction producing a mortal wound from the effects of which he died in about two hours. He was conscious until just before life left him. He said the shot was fired accidentally, that he did not aim to kill himself, but his friends claim that he must have contemplated suicide as he was never known before to fool with a pistol or have anything to do with one. The old man of late has been in great trouble about the breach of promise suit, and other little things that he in his childish days would fancy were troubles, but his days ended about as we have anticipated, but they were brought about in a different way. The man who attempts to live as he did generally dies unmourned and unwept. He was lucky in his declining years to make his home with such a kind family as Mr. Lamb and his wife; they have always done all in their power to make the old man comfortable and contented, and let others say what they will, not one family in five hundred would have been to him during the long term of twenty-five years what W. R. Lamb and his wife were to him. It is true he gave to Mr. and Mrs. Lamb all of his property for and in consideration of their kindness to him, but he only did what he should have done. No other persons were entitled to it but them. While his life could have been improved upon, from a social standpoint, yet he disposed of his life and property to suit himself and who has a right to complain.

It will give you a clear complexion, will restore you to health and strength and will make you feel like a new person. Get it to-day at J. R. Lemon's.

An Oversight.

The announcement of Mr. W. W. English, for representative, failed to appear in the last number of the Tribune in the announcement column by an oversight of the printer, and not intentionally on our part. It appears this week, and we take pleasure in referring our readers to it.

Consumption.

The most to be dreaded of all diseases often begins in a simple cold simply neglected. No cough should be allowed to run a single day without using the finest remedy in the world, Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It acts like magic, strengthens the lungs, allaying all irritation and cures a cough where all other remedies fail, 25 and 50 cents per bottle at J. R. Lemon's drug store. 4

A FEW REASONS Why Ministers Should Remain Out of Politics.

There is too much complaint among the people about the part ministers are playing in politics. The profession of the minister is, of all, the most holy and sacred of all the vocations of life, and for that very cause and that reason it should be kept alone and free from all the contaminating influences of outside pollutions. The least blot or blemish on the ministerial robes of the holy man of the pulpit renders him, that far, incapable of winning souls to the bosom of his Master. The minister who alone gives his life and labors exclusively to the beautiful work of the ministry is the man who is able to do the greatest amount of good in his church. The preacher who is so opposed to the mingling of church and state and who is so much in favor of the two being kept separate and distinct should remember that the best way to do this is for him to give his time and influence to the arduous work of the former and remain out of the dirty pool of politics. It is only right that the ministers should avail themselves of the right of suffrage and use it by voting for men who are as true to their party as the preacher ought to be to his church. But when this is done he is then guilty of doing his duty and his work in that direction should end.

The church all over the country is now going through a very trying ordeal brought about by so many of its ministers trying to carry the state in one hand and the church in the other. There can be no objection to a minister engaging in an honorable business aside from his regular ministerial work, but there is an objection to him dragging his pulpit robes, clean and pure, down into the filth and mire of politics.

In our opinion it would be best for both church and state if all licensed ministers would steer their religious barque clear of the whirlpool of politics. The minister who once enters upon the arena of politics never again lives to see the day when his influence for good is as strong as before. The safest and best plan is, let the minister preach religion and the politician politics.

Colorado's Threats and Suspend- ed Banks.

The producers of silver in Colorado and other western states have, within the last few weeks, threatened the country with all kinds of dire results if congress dared to repeal the Sherman bill. Burning Grover Cleveland in effigy by a lot of Arizona kickers was not equal to the incendiary speeches made in Denver in which "reputation" and "riding in blood to the girth" were among the terms used.

Within the space of one short week a lesson is taught the clamorous for free silver. The east would grant no extensions to those who threatened reputation, and twelve banks closed their doors in the midst of the greatest panic ever witnessed in the "Centennial state." This lesson is one on a small scale in comparison with the one that would follow if the U. S. would declare for free silver. The panic would not stop at 12 banks, but would likely close every one in the country.

If it were intimated to the holders of our bonds and other securities in Europe that they are to be paid in silver dollars worth 58 cents, such a flow of American securities would set in as to absorb every dollar held by the banks of the entire country.

It is to be hoped that the silver men will realize the utter impossibility of the United States to re-monetize silver alone; this must be done by an international agreement which, at this time, is very far from being favorably considered by any of the great powers.

The people of Colorado have no more right to demand the government to maintain the value of their silver product at a certain price than have the iron men of Alabama, the wheat men of Kansas, the coal men of the coal-producing states, to complain of the depreciating price of their products.

The extreme speeches made in Denver will do no more to repeal the Sherman bill than anything that has occurred since the election of Grover Cleveland. When the south and west said "we must have free silver," Grover Cleveland launched his anti-free-silver letter. It made his party mad. He was damned from one end of the country to the other by political demagogues who are for anything that will win votes. That letter saved the country from the results that would have acted on every bank in the land exactly as the speech of Colorado's governor has on the banks of Denver.

Had we no foreign trade, anything would do for a circulating medium among ourselves. Soap would be as good as gold, but with a large trade with every nation on the globe, soap will not do, and the country that would have any other basis for its circulating medium than the gold standard would soon find its money at the discount of that of India and Mexico.—Industrial American.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. H. Starks.

Our Old Friends.

The persons we term our "old friends" are the men and women endeared to us by association during our school days and during our young manhood. The persons who were friends in these two periods of our life are friends to-day and are called our "old friends." No man lives but what, when he begins to and reaches old age, he very kindly remembers the associations of his younger days. Such friends are generally understood and believed to be his best friends.

If he could always live near and among the same people it might be he would not appreciate them so much as in after years when they are divided by county and state lines, some in one place and some in another. We know there is no one who can look back over life's rugged road and remember his young associates with more pleasure and satisfaction than we; they are our solace and company when alone. Only a few years can pass in these times, after men and women begin to look out for themselves and meet the stern realities of a business life, before they are scattered and soon live and have homes in all parts of the country. We are not yet fifty years old, and yet when we ask the question, "where are the friends of our younger years?" echo brings back the answer, that they are in nearly every state in the union. They are so scattered that we can only see them in our imagination and it is only in this way we can commune with them.

We presume it is a pleasure with most people to silently and quietly commune with old friends through the great highways of their memory, it is with us and will be as long as we can use that wonderful faculty.

Many such friends are yet living and many have crossed that river that we all must sooner or later cross, but let them be among the living or the dead it is a pleasure for us to remember them. Some have grown rich, some have had their names written high upon the leader of fame, some have made themselves illustrious in various professions, some have become an honor to their country and others have become criminals and have been executed for violations of the laws of their country, but without regard to what became of them in after years we see them as we saw them then, and happily remember them as our friends of the long ago. It makes no difference how many friends one may make during his business life, they never appear to him and remembered by him with as much pleasure as the friends made by association when he was young.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Penn., in the treatment of diarrhea, in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea remedy from Rev. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. H. Starks.
