Fulton An Important Trade Center

The growing importance of Fulton as a trade center was fully demonstrated Saturday when the city was crowded with shoppers from all directions, many from neighboring towns as well as the rural districts. It was the largest crowd in town since the Christmas holidays. Some from the country had not been in town recently on account of weather conditions and bad roads. They were in need of various articles and our merchants were splendidly prepared to fill their needs. Visitors reveled in the new springtime fashions revealed in the displays of the season's smartest and newest apparel. Spring coats flaunted new ideas, frocks, expressed feminine charm, and the interesting displays of new spring hats charming creations, won the admiration of women shoppers. Some were looking for odds and ends to spice out the cooler days yet to come and were happy in finding bargains galore in practically all lines. Others had in mind house cleaning time, near at hand and invested in furniture, floor coverings and draperies, while the good, reliable farmer was visiting the hardware establishments supplying his needs with implements, field and garden seeds. It was a beautiful, warm, sunshiny day, and everybody was wearing a smile.

Enthusiastic Get Together Meeting

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting in the council chamber at the City Hall Wednesday night, accepting the invitation of Mayor Shankle on account of their home being freshly painted. It was a happy meeting with the mayor and his entire cabinet present.

Director Clyde Williams opened the meeting in a brief address, stressing the point that the Chamber of Commerce desired to co-operate with the city administration in any way possible for the general welfare and betterment of the community.

Mayor Shankle voiced the entire sentiment of the council when assuring the directors of the Chamber that they appreciated the co-operation extended and would probably call on them often.

President E. C. Hardesty introduced S. S. Motley, the new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to the city officials. Later in the evening Mr. Motley delivered an address, sparkling with brilliant expressions, and assuring that the Chamber of Commerce go on record offering their co-operation to the mayor and councilmen in any undertaking for the betterment of the community.

Joe Davis was elected chairman of the meeting and at once instilled enthusiasm and "pep" into those assembled as he briefly outlined its purpose, forcefully impressing the necessity of taking some action as quickly as possible regarding Fulton's street improvement program.

City Attorney Nichols was called upon to impart all the information he could give regarding street improvement from a legal standpoint. He outlined in detail every feature attached to the work from the time the resolutions were read until the streets were built and completed.

The street question proved to be a live issue for discussion, in which, practically everyone present took part, including Messrs. Joe Browder, Clarence Pickering, J. E. Hannephill, Joe Bennett, Mayor Shankle, Walter Butt, Smith Atkins, L. S. Phillips, W. P. Murrell, Paul DeMyer, Esq. Hagler, Clyde Williams, Joe Davis.

In his talk, Mr. Browder said, "the business men have spoken and want the street improvement work speeded up as quickly as possible."

When Chairman Davis asked for a rising vote on the question every man present rose and said: "we are all ready to co-operate and work together for streets, LET'S GO, do lots, and make no big noise about it."

It was also stated during the meeting that the Mississippi Valley highway will enter Fulton on Church street, the route having been definitely decided settled.

In Mayor Shankle's talk near the close of the meeting he deeply expressed his appreciation of all that had been said and done, and assured those present that he and his councilmen were heartily in favor of every good movement for the betterment of the city and with the united co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions and Woman's clubs, they could put anything over they wanted, "so let's go," said the Mayor.

The officers and members of the Chamber of Commerce are especially invited to meet with the city council at their regular monthly session Monday night, March 7, when several engineers and street builders are expected to be present. Street improvement will be a feature with the regular routine of business.

If you want better streets for Fulton attend the meeting.

Introducing Our New Chamber of Commerce Secretary

S. S. MOTLEY

In this issue of our paper we take pleasure in introducing to the people of Fulton and Fulton community, the new Secretary of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce, in the person of Mr. S. S. Motley who hails from Southeast Missouri "as he always puts it." We have heard quite a bit of Southeast Missouri with regard to her very fertile land and splendid highways and we are about to believe that it is based on facts after getting acquainted with Mr. Motley.

The editor has taken note of several very fine characteristics in the make up of Mr. Motley, which increase his faith in Secretary Motley as being a man well fitted and qualified for our Chamber of Commerce manager. When Mr. Motley arrived on the job, the editor was among the first to greet him and ask for a short interview, but the new secretary cleverly advised that nothing definite was to be a matter of announcement at such time but assured the editor that a statement would be prepared for him. This made the editor begin to take notice.

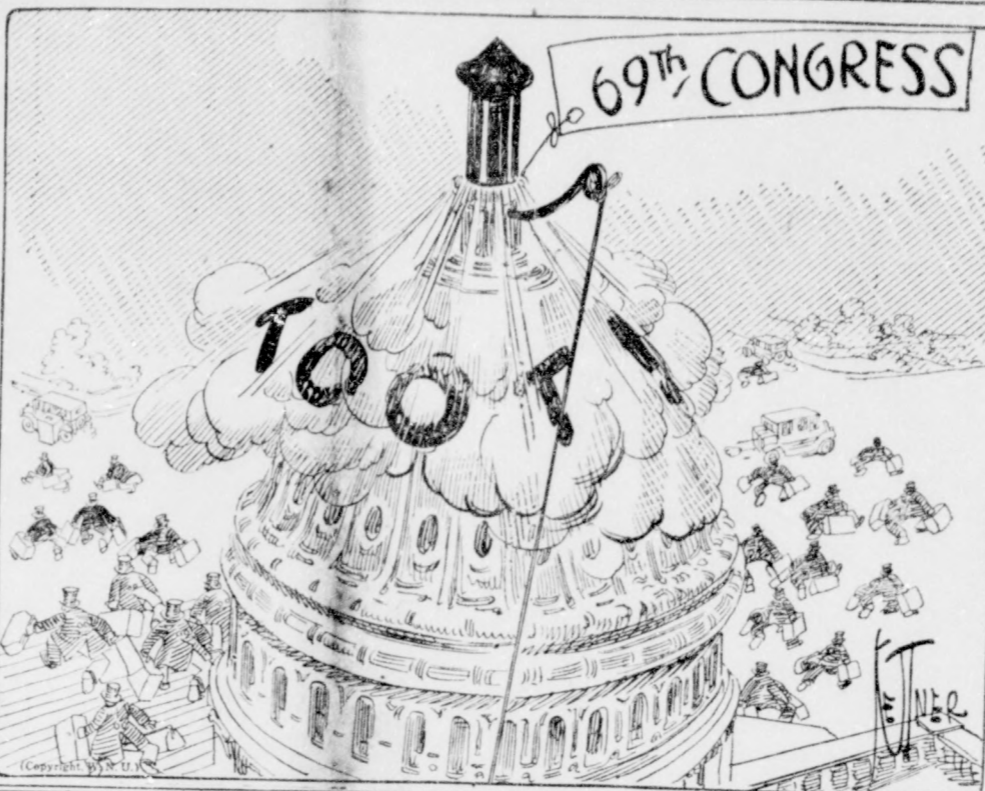

The first thing that Secretary Motley did was to set his house in order which he went about in a very orderly and business-like manner. He prevailed upon the board of directors to have the interior of the building gone over and reworked, which makes it a very inviting place to visit. He disposed of some of the old furniture and replaced it with new furniture. He drafted the by-laws and constitution of the organization so as to make them capable to meet the needs of the present day in Fulton and will soon make application for a Charter for the organization, which it has never had before.

There are many other very important things which he has done that we will not mention at this time but we feel safe in saying that if the people of Fulton will cooperate with the new secretary there will soon be a new day in the personnel and general character of Fulton, Ky. This paper wants to go on record declaring itself 100% for the new Secretary and for the Fulton Chamber of Commerce.

FINIS

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF FULTON

I am gratified to have this opportunity of extending to you my deep appreciation for having been accorded the opportunity of becoming your Chamber of Commerce Secretary. Inasmuch as you have made your choice in me over so many other applicants I am naturally inspired to bend my every energy to not betray your confidence thus involved, as I really must count it an honor.

It has been my intention to make a personal call and make the personal acquaintance of every member of this organization, but on account of so many preliminary matters of importance to the beginning of our work I have been precluded from so doing. I hope however, within the very near future to make the acquaintance of all of you and many of those not affiliated with the organization. I want to say in this connection however, that those of you whom I have had the pleasure of knowing have extended to me one of the finest spirit of courteous cooperation that I have ever enjoyed and I feel quite confident that when we once get our machinery to properly functioning there will be many worth while things accomplished to do credit to your splendid civic pride.

You Must Use the Chamber of Commerce

We want you to use the Chamber of Commerce and make it your VERY OWN—make it your public spokesman, make it your advertising medium, make it the medium of contact where important matters of your City's welfare will be taken care of in a prompt and efficient manner, and I assure you that you will always find your Secretary ready and eager to offer his full time in the promotion of anything that will raise the standard of morality and place the City's welfare upon a higher plane of permanent progress.

Do We Cater to the Farmer?

The tilling of the soil was the first vocation of man and will likely be found in the end of the perfect day, hence may we say that civilization begins and ends with the plow; therefore we especially extend to the farmers of Fulton County an invitation to make the Fulton Chamber of Commerce their headquarters when in the City.

We are fundamentally all farmers anyway and will pledge our allegiance to your support to the last ditch to make Fulton County the beacon light of West Kentucky. Don't fail to see us whenever convenient and allow us to cooperate with you upon all occasions.

Again thanking you for this opportunity, I am,

Very cordially yours,
S. S. MOTLEY,
Secretary of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce.

THE WORLD'S BEST MUSIC ALWAYS AT THEIR FINGER TIPS

Elks Install the New Orthophonic Victrola in Their Club Rooms

The editor readily accepted an invitation to the Elks Club rooms this week to hear some of the world's best music on the new Orthophonic Victrola recently installed. This amazing instrument reproduces vocal music in all its original purity and power as well as instrumental music. The new Victor records are living recreations of the artists themselves. The Victrola is operated by electricity, which eliminates winding. It is a wonderful entertainer and we congratulate the Elks on its installation. It is a handsome $200 machine, and adds materially to the entertaining features of the club rooms.

HOSPITAL FOR FULTON

The mention of a hospital for Fulton is a live issue at any time and we know of no reason why one would hesitate considering such an institution a paying investment if properly managed.

That Fulton can and will support heartily a properly equipped and managed hospital is beyond doubt.

It is practically impossible to ascertain the exact number of Fulton people who have gone to hospitals during the past year, but undoubtedly a reference to the files of the papers covering that time would show that there had been a sufficient number to make a hospital in Fulton a paying institution. Also there are undoubtedly many cases that have been treated at home because of the inability of the families of the sufferers to meet the expense of sending the patient away from town to a hospital.

Should such an institution be located here it is certain that a large number of patients would be obtained from families that belong to the above class. Also, many persons who are now treated at home, particularly on the farms, would be brought to town where they could have proper treatment and at the same time allow the families to visit the patient and avoid the expense of railway fares, hotel bills and other minor expenditures that would be inevitable should the patient be sent out of town.

Almost every citizen of Fulton knows of one or more cases where their friends have gone to Paducah, Mayfield, Memphis or other places for treatment, that have never been mentioned in the Fulton papers.

While it may be well to figure the money end, the most important consideration is life itself. What a happy thought it is to save a life. Surely you are interested and will lend your best endeavors to procuring such an institution for Fulton.

Notice.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club has been postponed from Friday, March 4th, until March 11th. The board meeting will be held Thursday morning, March 10th.

AIR DRIED CLOTHES

Do you realize what it means to receive a bundle of thoroughly washed and air dried clothes from a modern power laundry?

It means that at last the only remaining barrier between the housewife and the laundryman has been broken down. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immemorial, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned clothes line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

The greatest development in years and years, comes to this steadily growing industry in the perfection of a natural drying process. This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine

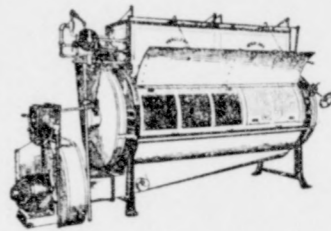

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in our laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes; it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundering process. It puts the work of the power laundry on par with that of the housewife's own private laundry.

Be sure to see this wonder machine in our laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

Phone 130

When you see the pleasing results, the economy and the convenience of this complete service, you are going to put a ban on "home wash days" throughout the year.

Fulton, The City of Opportunity

Just to show that funny things still happen—

The Chamber of Commerce closed its contest Monday afternoon wherein just 40 suggestions had been submitted for the permanent slogan for the organization, and as it happened to be the slogan, "Fulton, the City of Opportunity" was decided upon by three competent judges who reviewed the list of suggestions for more than an hour in a most careful manner.

The Chamber of Commerce listed the suggestions upon a sheet of paper with the contestant's name following, and upon another sheet listed the suggestions following same with serial numbers which was given over to the judges as was known to them only by serial number, the first sheet being reserved by the Chamber of Commerce under seal, and the sheet carrying the serial numbers being submitted to the judges who judged according to the merit and appropriateness of the slogan for the occasion, although there being three contestants submitting the same suggestion, the judges could not get away from that suggestion and this, of course, staged another contest which was carried out in the following manner: The Chamber of Commerce asked Miss Mary Gray McWhorter, book-keeper for Fall & Colley, to suggest a number between 25 and 50 and place same in an envelope and one of the three final contestants guessing closest to that number would be the lucky contestant.

The final contestants were Mrs. A. L. Martin, 112 Cedar Street; Mrs. R. E. Goldsby, 316 Carr Street; Mr. H. F. Burkheimer, of Burkheimer Bakery, of Commercial Avenue.

Their guessing at the premium number were as follows: Mrs. R. E. Goldsby, No. 84; Mrs. A. L. Martin, No. 37, and Mr. Burkheimer, No. 35. The number selected by Miss McWhorter was 39, thus awarding the $2.50 gold coin to Mrs. A. L. Martin.

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank all of those participating in the contest. Their conduct carries many encouraging features. It shows that there is quite a bit of talent in Fulton. It shows that there is a splendid spirit in Fulton. It shows that the people of Fulton have a considerable substance of originality. There were many real snappy suggestions submitted, many of them being diagrammed in the most artistic manner, which cost a considerable lot of thinking upon the part of the judges, but it was finally decided to adopt the slogan as above mentioned because of the fact that it will appear most attractive and most visible upon the cut of bronze to be used in placing same upon our stationery as a permanent slogan.

Again thanking all of you, we are Very truly yours,
Fulton Chamber of Commerce,
S. S. MOTLEY, Secretary.

WHERE THE CREDIT GOES

Up in British Columbia a hen set the world's record for laying eggs. She missed only fourteen days in 365. That's better than any hen ever did before her, according to the people who know.

There will be a lot of fuss made over this champion. Her owners will give her the best food obtainable and every precaution will be taken to guard her health.

All well and good, but the hen isn't entitled to any credit. All that she is she owes to man. If her progeny had not been carefully reared, if the breeding had not been watched, she would have been just an ordinary hen. If man had not one day started in to improve chickens, she would probably be turning in a dozen or so eggs and calling it a year.

Man consciously improves everything but himself. He watches his poultry and his livestock, feeds them properly and houses them well. Unconsciously he improves his own breed fighting disease and old age, making human life more enjoyable. They are different systems and the evidence is that they are both working.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

The fellow who is always criticizing his own town is like the kid who hankers for a chance to pull the other kid's nose. He forgets that the condition of the town is mostly likely brought about by his own shortcomings and those of others of his kind. He sees only the delinquencies of others and forgets that perchance his own may be even more glaring and destructive. He weaves a halo around his own precious brow and bespatters that of his neighbor with ooze and slime. He sees evil where good exists, failure where success is assured, and poverty when prosperity is in the ascendant. If he, like the unruly kid, wants to pull anybody's nose, he would confer a favor upon suffering humanity by tweaking the bump on his own face. It needs it.

"IT CAN'T BE DONE"

The "Can't Be Done" crowd is the biggest drawback to any community. Whenever any progressive movement is started, there are always some folks who pull back in the harness and rely on the old bromide that "It can't be done."

If the advice of this type of person were followed, nothing worth while would ever have been accomplished in the world. If Wilbur and Orville Wright had listened to the chant of the "can't be done" people, flying machines would not have been invented when they were. If Thomas A. Edison had allowed himself to be swayed by the "can't be done" crowds, we might still be burning kerosene for lights.

Innumerable examples might be called to attention. All of the great paintings, all of the great pieces of literature, all of the marvelous inventions of all times have been brought into being by men who thought it "could be done."

The will to do a thing is half the battle. Half-hearted entering into any enterprise is starting with a handicap.

Whenever anything of value to the community is suggested, don't hide behind the excuse that "it can't be done," because the odds are that it can. If you must disagree, give an honest reason for disagreement.

CIVIC STANDARDS

A woman whose house needed painting badly at one time, excited considerable criticism among her neighbors. She began to get discreet hints, suggesting how regular painting makes a building last longer and increases its sale value.

She was somewhat impressed by these hints, yet she delayed and postponed. She told a neighbor finally that she knew her house needed painting, but she was so fearful that the neighbors would criticize any color that she would put on that she hesitated to do anything about it. Possibly those particular neighbors were too much inclined to pick flaws. Yet in the main their idea was right, that people ought to consider the effect that the condition of their homes has upon the neighborhood where they are located.

There are many towns and locations where anything seems to go. A man may put up an ugly building or allow his property to become decadent, but no one seems to care or find fault. There is an easy going feeling that it is a kind of go-as-you-please place, and anything is accepted tolerantly and where people can do just as they like without regard to its effect on the community.

Such a state of things may seem pleasant to indolent and careless people, but it checks progress.

If it is proposed in a town to put up an ugly or inadequate public building, public sentiment should demand something more appropriate. The people who allow their places to run down, should realize that they injure others as well as themselves by such neglect.

It would be a fine thing if every real estate owner in Fulton could look over his property critically beginning this day, and see what renovations are needed this spring. He should not merely be satisfied with what he will get by, but should ask if conditions conform with his ideal of what he wants his home town to be.

CONCRETE STREETS

In your visits to the cities you know, have you noticed the streets? Of course you have, because in these days of automobiles everybody is interested in pavements. But the streets you know best are those in your own city—the streets that lead to your home and to your place of business.

These streets are your responsibility. Whether you are an owner or a tenant, you suffer or benefit by their condition. Your voice and action will determine the type of your street because you buy the pavement.

Buy that pavement as carefully as you buy your automobile. Shop around a bit. Consider it from the standpoint of beauty, comfort, first cost, upkeep, all-weather operation, safety and the other points you investigate when you buy the car that will ride over it.

Ride over a concrete pavement. Notice its even, clean, attractive surface. Slap on the brakes. You can't skid—rain or shine. Your car is absolutely under control—a comfortable feeling to have in the dense traffic of today. Investigate costs and maintenance charges. Study pavement values. Compare.

You will find, as thousands of communities have found, that concrete streets represent the biggest pavement value because they serve your interests best.

Our immediate attention should be directed to permanent streets in the business section of Fulton.

SERVICE IS THE KEYNOTE

A railroad must consider both the present and the future of the territory it serves, in the opinion of L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System. In a letter to the public, issued March 1, he says:

"A railroad must first provide facilities and service that will fully and efficiently meet current requirements. That accomplished, it must anticipate the development of its territory and must provide facilities and service to be prepared for such development when it materializes."

Continued railway progress, according to Mr. Downs, calls for the courageous investment of large amounts of money. It has taken a constant inflow of investment to provide increased and improved facilities for the Illinois Central System in the past. For every $100 invested in the Illinois Central System seventy years ago, the books now show an investment of $3,000. For every mile of roadway then, it has thirteen miles today; for every locomotive then, it has the equivalent of 129 such locomotives today; for every freight car then, it has the equivalent of 167 such freight cars today. All other facilities have been vastly improved in size as well as in mere numbers.

The territory in which the Illinois Central System operates likewise has developed in seven decades. Agriculture, industry and commerce have thrived under the stimulus of being provided with more and better railway service.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hastings, who have been valued citizens of South Fulton, have moved back to their farm southwest of town. Fulton people regret to lose such good people, as citizens, yet they have not gone so far but that they will be frequent visitors to our city.

Protection of Porch

Point of Importance

There is no part of a house that is more exposed to the relentless buffeting of wind and weather than the porch. Projecting from the main body of the house and being more or less open, it is peculiarly exposed to the attack of the elements. Sun and wind, rain and snow all prey upon the protective armor of the porch. Unless this armor is extremely durable, it will not long withstand this constant attack, and must inevitably succumb to the forces of decay and disintegration.

The only adequate and suitable protection for the woodwork and metal parts of porches is frequent painting with a good brand of exterior paint. Due to its comparatively isolated location, the porch should be repainted oftener than is necessary for other portions of the house.

Just as porches require protection because they project, so, for the same reason, they are prominently on display at all times, and therefore require suitable decoration. One of the first things one notices about a house is the condition of the porch. For this reason porches should be decorated as attractively as possible. Frequently the appearance of a porch bears an important relation to the appearance of an entire house. If the porch roof is beginning to decay in the main timbers, or if the porch columns are beginning to show signs of neglect, or if the paint is beginning to peel on the steps or the floors, the appearance of the whole house is marred. Consequently a dilapidated porch will lower the value of any house.

But, aside from these reasons, we should keep our porches as attractive as possible because of what it tells about the owner.

Concerning the color schemes of porches, they should harmonize with the body of the house, though they need not be of the same color, provided a contrast color will not make them stand out conspicuously.

Wise Property Owner Never Forgets Paint

People who are most vociferous in their appreciation of the sentimental values of their homes, who let it be known to all and sundry that they would never sell their home because of old associations, are frequently the readiest to sell if they get what they call a "good offer."

They are really good salesmen, and their boasted affection for their homes is merely good sales talk. While this attitude may be a trifle calloused, there are few of us who do not keep a weather eye upon real estate values.

We are proud and pleased when there is a "boom" in our immediate neighborhood. And rightly so. We are pleased when the property value of our home advances, because it has materially increased our potential estate, and proud that our purchase has proved to be a wise investment.

Be Prompt in Repairing

The old adage of "a stitch in time saves nine" is especially applicable to the upkeep of a home, as one neglected item usually leads to another. A leaking gutter or down spout should be repaired immediately, as the leakage will surely damage other parts of the superstructure.

A leaky roof may cause damage to walls and decorations many times in excess of the cost to repair the roof. In the event that the home requires painting on the outside, have it done as soon as possible. Remember that wood covered on the exposed surface by a film of paint will last almost indefinitely, and one coat of paint every year will be more effective than two coats every two or three years.

Home's Ideal Qualities

A home is a good deal more than a place where people live for a longer or shorter—usually shorter—time. It is the abode also of memories, of associations, customs and habits, and of the felt presence of those "who, having finished their course in faith, do now rest from their labors." And yet, to be fair, even "amid the city's jar" there may be a peace "man did not make and cannot mar." But the peace that dwells in a home is hard to find in a civilization of apartments and motor cars, and among a nervously mobile and fluid population.

Repairs Around House

A great amount of satisfaction can be derived by doing things around a home when you realize that you will be doubly compensated for your money and effort by greater durability and attractiveness of your home. However, do not overestimate your ability to do things that might result in a costly waste of material if you are not able to successfully follow the job through to completion.

Working in Harmony

Cordial, co-operative and neighborly relations among the various groups within the city; and also between the city and those who live in its surrounding trade territory bring their "rewards."

FARM POULTRY

SANITATION PAYS

CHICKEN RAISERS

Illinois farmers, who took big strides toward more profitable pork production by adopting swine sanitation, are now finding that sanitation pays just as well around the chicken lot as it does with pigs. To further the idea, poultry specialists of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois mapped out a workable system of poultry sanitation and already many chicken raisers of the state are profiting as a result of it.

There's the case of B. A. Barker, a Grundy county farmer, for instance, who took up the poultry sanitation idea and thereby put a stop to the heavy losses which he had been taking as a result of tapeworms and other poultry parasites and diseases. In connection with the sanitation system, Barker yarded his old hens for the first time this past year and as a result the egg production of the flock was more uniform throughout the summer than it had been in previous years, due to the fact that the hens were uniformly fed. Under this plan they always had access to mash but were not allowed to overeat on grain. Barker has co-operated with the agricultural college in its poultry flock record project for three years.

In putting the poultry sanitation plan into practice on his farm, Barker had his flock tested for tuberculosis. It also was pronounced free of bacillary white diarrhea, one of the worst of the many chick diseases. The old yard where most of the chicks had been raised before was turned into a garden and the chicks this past year raised on fresh ground which was sown to oats and rape. During the summer the rape provided shade as well as green feed. A movable brooder house was used.

C. H. Wilke, a McLean county farmer, is another Illinois poultryman who has profited as a result of following a definite system of poultry sanitation.

Wilke, who is co-operating with the extension service of the agricultural college in keeping records on his chickens, took off a hatch of 437 chicks in March and placed them on clean ground where no chicks had ever been raised before. The ground happened to be in a corn field. In line with the sanitation system which he was practicing, Wilke used movable brooder houses. No signs of disease showed up in these chicks throughout the entire season and 100 pullets were taken from the bunch and placed in winter quarters. They were plump and ready to lay.

Wilke's experiences with a batch of April chickens which were raised the old way are a striking contrast to the results which he obtained under the sanitation plan. There were 1,332 chicks in the hatch that came off in April. They were raised in old chicken yards where hens had run before and where chicks had been raised in previous years. The result was that one disease alone, coccidiosis, wiped out 25 per cent of the chicks. Roup followed as a result of the weakened condition of the stock.

Feeding Soaked Bread

Is Dangerous Practice

There is danger in feeding soaked bread to poultry, according to a writer in an exchange. Soaked bread, he says, is one of the worst things one can feed poultry, either young or old, as usually fed, but there is a way of feeding stale bread that transforms it into one of the best and cheapest poultry foods.

To do this cut the bread into slices and dry it over a stove or in the oven, until it is dry enough to crack; put the bread in a pan, or stout box, and chop it up with a spade.

When ready to feed, put a quantity of this in a pan, cover with hot water and pour water off in about one minute, then mix in enough mash so that it will crumble. For summer or winter feeding this cannot be beaten as an egg or flesh producer. The finer particles of bread left in the bottom of the box when chopping up the bread make an excellent food for small chicks and may be fed dry.

High Egg Production

In cold, severe mid-winter weather the winter-egg man gives attention to keeping his poultry house properly ventilated, as he knows from past experience that cold temperature and moist atmosphere do not go well with winter egg production. Too frequently, as cold weather comes, the poultryman begins to close the windows at night and pull down the curtains, which all goes to make matters worse, and causes marked decrease in egg flow.

Mating the Flocks

When mating the flocks, allow 8 to 10 hens of the heavy breeds, such as Brahmas or Langshans, to 12 females of American breeds, such as Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes, and 12 to 15 hens of the light breeds, as Leghorns and Anconas, to each male. Cockerels will care for more hens than cocks and fewer males are necessary if the flock enjoys free range. Eggs may be saved for hatching and will generally be found fertile two days after the males are introduced.

MORE AND BETTER SERVICE

The development of a railroad is both a cause and an effect of the development of its territory. As a railroad improves its service in advance of current requirements by providing more and better facilities it stimulates the development of agriculture, industry and commerce in its territory. Then, as these activities expand and the excess of railway capacity is reduced, there develops a need for still more and still better railway service, which in turn stimulates further railway development.

The railroad must therefore consider both the present and the future of the territory it serves. It must first provide facilities and service that will fully and efficiently meet current requirements. That accomplished, it must anticipate the development of its territory and must provide facilities and service to encourage such development and to be prepared for it when it materializes.

The history of the Illinois Central System illustrates this point. Seventy years ago the Illinois Central, if judged by present-day standards, was a primitive railroad. Its roadbed was crude, its engines and cars were few and small, and its other facilities were just about in proportion to these. Seven decades have witnessed great changes. For every mile of roadway then, the Illinois Central has thirteen miles today; for every locomotive then, it has the equivalent of 129 such locomotives today; for every freight car then, it has the equivalent of 167 such freight cars today. Moreover, facilities of all other kinds have been vastly improved in size as well as in mere numbers.

The territory in which the Illinois Central System operates likewise has developed in seven decades. Agriculture, industry and commerce have thrived under the constant stimulus of being provided with more and better railway service, and the Illinois Central System has endeavored to keep abreast of their growing transportation needs.

Continued railway progress, of course, calls for the courageous investment of large amounts of money. It has taken a constant inflow of investment to provide increased and improved facilities for the Illinois Central System in the past. For every $100 invested in the Illinois Central System seventy years ago, the books now show an investment of $3,000.00.

We of the Illinois Central System believe in preparedness at all times. By constantly increasing the usefulness of our railroad through the expansion of facilities and the improvement of service we shall endeavor to satisfy the ever-growing transportation requirements of our territory in a way that will deserve the continued good will of our patrons.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Watkins, secretary and show superintendent. Board of Directors: J. D. Davis, Smith Atkins, A. M. Nugent, W. R. Butt, Dr. Horace Luten.

This year's show promises to be better and larger than ever, for Supt. Watkins says he will "hit the ball."

HICKMAN LUMBERMAN DIES AT DYERSBURG

B. G. Hale, prominent Hickman citizen, was found dead Thursday morning, February 24, in bed at the Stephens Hotel, in Dyersburg, Tenn. He had been to Memphis on a business trip and had reached Dyersburg, deciding to spend the night there and return to Hickman next day as he could not get home that night. He had not been feeling well lately. Several years ago he suffered a stroke of apoplexy but had recovered from that and was very active in business. Besides his lumber interests in Hickman he was a large land owner in Fulton Lake and Dyer counties. It is thought that he died from heart trouble shortly after retiring.

Funeral services and interment took place in Hickman, Friday.

He was 69 years old and besides his widow, is survived by three children, Mrs. Henry Sanger, Guy B. and Arthur Hale, all of Hickman.

In the passing of B. G. Hale, Hickman and Fulton county lose one of its best citizens, a man who had contributed much to the development of the town in which he had resided for many years.

SAFETY FIRST

The woods are full of get-rich-immediately guys who are headed for a fall to the hard surfaced streets of reality. Lucky is the man who walketh not the way of the cold check artist nor sitteth in the seat of the deadbeat, but whose delight is in the confidence of his banker and in his check book doth he meditate before scattering the ink on the bottom line. There is more joy in a clear title to a few acres of "cockle burr" ridges, and an old flea-bitten "Beck" than in broad acres covered by the blighting shade of a spreading mortgage. The pursuit of the elusive medium of free commerce and the stacking of "E Pluribus Unum" chips is not to be condemned and we would not impede the progress of those who are out to legitimately annex all of life's treasures that heart may desire, but it is a wise driver who reads all the "Stop, Look and Listen" signs and slows up at the crossin's. We are leaving the wreck of the gold brick era and many are veterans of the Silk Shirt Brigade. Some of these days we ought to get in the neighborhood of "normalcy."

Rose Plants PRUNING

If you have two-year-old plants, cut them back rather severely—to three or four buds on the Hybrid Perpetuals and about six on the Teas and Hybrid Teas. Always cut the stem just above a bud that points out, never above on that points toward the center of the plant. The term bud or eye is used to define the places on the stem where leaves will be produced. They are easily distinguished, as they look like small pointed warts on the stems. If the plants are in leaf the above does not apply. The crop of flowers on the rose plants is largely governed by the kind of pruning the plants receive. In fact, other conditions being ideal, the pruning determines the quantity and size of the flowers.

The Hybrid Perpetuals and most other hardy roses should be pruned in March; if weather permits, by the middle of the month. The tender roses, the Teas and Hybrid Teas, need not be pruned until the sap begins to flow and the buds begin to swell; for, at this time, dead and weak wood may be much more easily distinguished and cut out than earlier in the season. Besides, it is an advantage to leave the mulch undisturbed until settled weather has arrived. At the time of pruning, one must decide upon the kind of crop wanted. If the very biggest and best flowers are wanted, severe pruning is necessary (six to eight inches above the ground); if a large crop of average flowers, only moderate pruning (ten to twelve inches above the ground); but where a little pruning is necessary.

Lesson for March 6

SHARING THE GOOD NEWS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:4-8; II Cor. 5:14-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be my witnesses.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Others About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Winning Recruits for Christ's Army.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Telling Our Companions About Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Evangelism: Duty, Method, Results.

I. Preaching Everywhere (Acts 8:4). Following the stoning of Stephen, the enemies of the Lord were more active than ever in their efforts to stamp out the new faith. With Saul as their leader they dragged men and women from their homes and imprisoned those who confessed Christ. The devil overreached himself in this for this persecution scattered the believers everywhere and they preached the gospel as they went. The time had now come for this witness-bearing to extend beyond Jerusalem as the Lord had commanded. The Lord permitted this persecution so as to scatter them.

II. Philip Preaching the Gospel in Samaria (vv. 5-8).

Philip was one of the seven so-called deacons. He was not an apostle, nor a minister in the accepted sense of that term, but a layman. He is the only man called an evangelist in the New Testament. He is an example of what a devoted layman can do in preaching the gospel in the evangelization of the world. He went to the city of Samaria and preached Christ showing that the purpose of God included these despised people. The fact that Philip preached Christ unto these people shows that the true evangelist's message is Jesus Christ. He did not preach Christ as an ethical teacher or an example merely, but Christ as the Savior from sin through the substitutionary offering of Himself on the cross. This is shown by the fact that he preached Christ to the eunuch from the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah. He not only preached Christ as the Savior from the guilt of sin, but from the power of sin as symbolized in baptism, which means not only identification with Christ in His death, but to arise in the power of His resurrection, to walk in newness of life. Then, too, according to verse 12 he preached Christ as a reigning king. Philip's preaching was fruitful, for multitudes believed his message which was accompanied with numerous miracles. He cast out unclean spirits, healed the palsied and the lame. Great joy accompanied the reception of the gospel by these Samaritans.

III. Paul an Example of a True Preacher of the Gospel (II Cor. 5:9-20).

1. His supreme aim was to please God (v. 9).

To live or to die was immaterial to him if his service was but acceptable to God. This transcendent aim was strengthened by the consciousness that every one must one day stand before the judgment seat of Christ. This aim explains Paul's devotion.

2. His consciousness of responsibility (v. 11).

His sense of solemn responsibility was the explanation of Paul's behavior. Some thought that he was mentally unbalanced. His knowledge of God's holy nature and of man's sinful condition moved him earnestly to persuade men to be reconciled to God. No one who knows God's terror will be half-hearted in his ministry.

3. He was constrained by the love of Christ (v. 14).

This means that he was governed by Christ's love. Ministerial devotion is the expression of reciprocal love. Christ's supreme love was expressed in His death for us. Our love in return is expressed in our devotion to Him.

4. Consciousness of the God-wrought change in Him (v. 17).

It was because he was wrought upon by God and was therefore a new creature that he sought to do His will.

5. The content of the gospel which he preached (vv. 18, 19).

The reconciliation of God through the death of Christ was his central message. In the incarnation God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself.

6. Paul was an ambassador sent from God to appeal to the world to be reconciled unto God (v. 20).

He was the ambassador from the high court of heaven sent to this rebellious world. In a real sense, every Christian minister is occupying the same position.

A FARM WAGON THAT IS GUARANTEED

The amount of satisfactory service that a wagon will give depends entirely upon the material and skill the manufacturer puts into it. We want to show you a wagon that is built of the best materials by men who know how—

THE JOHN DEERE WAGON
The Wagon That is Guaranteed

A special machine automatically measures the inside of the skinn of the John Deere farm wagon and shapes the axle to fit accurately. The skinn is set in red lead under high pressure. It has exactly the right pitch, and the axle has the right gather to make the John Deere wagon run lighter than other wagons. With the John Deere sand- and dust-proof skinn there is no wearing of bearing surfaces—the oil stays in—the wagon is always smooth-running and light-pulling. Only carefully-selected oak and hickory are used in the John Deere Wagon, and every piece of wood is air-seasoned under cover in our own yards for at least two years. The tires are set hot under hydraulic pressure and under a gauge that assures proper dish—the load is always carried on plumb spokes.

And don't forget this other big feature—the heavy malleable fifth-wheel with corrugated coupling—no bending in—breaking of kingbolt—bolster does not get out of line and rock—no danger of tipping when handling large, top-heavy loads.

Come in and see this wagon—read the guarantee on the tool box. Let us explain the many fine points embodied in it.

Senour's FLOOR PAINT

"It Penetrates"

IN the word "penetration," is a secret manufacturing process that has made Senour's Floor Paint a popular favorite for over 40 years.

If a floor paint does not penetrate or grip into the wood it will soon begin to crack, chip and peel.

Senour's Floor Paint dries overnight with a high gloss enamel-like finish, but at the same time it sinks into the pores of the wood and forms a film that will withstand the hardest usage and will withstand repeated washings without dimming the lustre.

Every can of Senour's Floor Paint is guaranteed to give satisfaction if directions printed on the can are followed or money back upon receipt of empty can.

Envelopes for the Lenten offerings of the members of Trinity congregation were distributed Sunday at the morning service, and Dr. Boyd explained

Patriotic Dames— New Organization.

A very entertaining, fun making, and laughter provoking institution, yet one which teaches some good morals, was the Patriotic Dames of '76, organized by the Eastern Star, after the closing of their meeting on Monday evening, February 28th. The following officers being elected:
Grand Dame, Mrs. Mattie Griggs;
Worthy Dame, Mrs. Elsie Han-
nepin; Patriotic General, M. F.
DeMyer; Patriotic Protector, A.
W. Morris; Patriotic Exchequer,
Mrs. W. J. Coulter; Patriotic
Amanuensis, Mrs. Bess Howard;
Patriotic Guide, Mrs. Ida Taylor;
Patriotic Lookout, Mrs. Calla
Latta; Patriotic Watchout, Mrs.
Foster Edwards; Patriotic Pianist, Mrs. Rebecca McWhorter.

After the installation of the officers, the work of initiating twenty-one candidates began.
The beautiful and instructive degree was conferred with much pleasure to the neophytes, and great enjoyment to the patriots.

The order of Patriotic Dames is not of any connection with the Eastern Star, but organized for the purpose of entertainment and good fellowship, and bids fair to become very popular, with prospects of a remarkable growth.

Miss Mary Virginia McWher-ter with song, Miss Annie Laura McWhorter with reading, Mrs.
Bess Howard with song, Mrs. Rebecca McWhorter with piano music, highly entertained the patriots, who showed their appreciation with great applause. Delicious refreshments served, added no little to the pleasure of the evening.

Its Spring Pressure Feature Insures Better Disking

We have in stock, ready for your inspection and use, a supply of disc harrows that are noted for doing a better job of disking their entire width when going over ridges or depressions, or on side hills, as well as on level land. Come in and inspect the

JOHN DEERE Model "B" Disc Harrow

By means of the third lever, spring and John Deere pivoted yoke, this harrow can be given the required pressure to penetrate at even depth its full width under all the above conditions.

It is a really flexible harrow—penetrates, pulverizes and packs in conditions where rigid harrows fail to work all the soil. Each gang works independently, like separate harrows, and both can be given the proper angle to pulverize under varying conditions.

It is strong—will last years longer than ordinary harrows because of its all steel main frame and double-bar, riveted gang frames. It has oscillating scrapers with lock-down and lock-off features, and the most convenient grease cups—easy to fill and out of the dust and dirt.

We can furnish the John Deere Model "B" with rear gang and hitch to convert it into a double-action, horse- or tractor-drawn harrow—a good way to save money and yet get good results.
