THE LISTENING POST

● This writer has never made the claim that he knew much about mathematics. In fact, if I could find several teachers who had the distinction of trying to teach me in my early years I could bring up iron clad proof that mathematics meant little to me and I meant little to mathematics. I can still burn behind the ears when I remember certain examination papers that I turned in during those years. One in particular stands out in my memory, for on that occasion after the examination was over the teacher called me to her desk after school and gently asked what she should do about my papers.

● "What should you do?" I asked as if in bewilderment, although I knew full well what she was talking about. I remembered that paper I had turned in on arithmetic. For reply she turned to the mass of papers on the desk. "Here," she said, "are all your papers. On every study except arithmetic you have made practically 100. On arithmetic do you have any idea what your grade is?"

● I shook my head. Truth was, I did not think I had even scored, for on remembering the questions and examples, I was certain that I had answered not one. But I was too hopeless about the matter. I had guessed the correct answer to a few, and my grade was even 30—which was 70 points below my other studies. I will not into any more details of this scene, for my ears are burning and my throat is all choked up. I will add, however, that I finally did better than mark, although I never set any classrooms on fire with my mathematical knowledge.

● I thought then that the books I studied were hard, in fact, more or less impossible, and so I have continued to think until very recently. Now I know that those books were easy indeed, compared to the sort of books that boys and girls studied in the good year of 1812. For the other day John Harpole brought me a book that was studied in that year, and believe me, arithmetic was something to regard with awe and utmost respect then.

● In fact, the book is not a printed book at all. It is merely a paper bound blank book, eight inches by thirteen, such as one can buy for a dime or a quarter these days in book stores, and the poor boy who was trying to learn arithmetic in those days had to write down his problem on a page, and then proceed to work it out and prove it to the satisfaction of some hard hearted schoolmaster. I can vision that scene—of boys and girls sitting on hard benches with a tall stern schoolmaster giving out the problem and then waiting for the youngsters to solve it. Or perhaps the schoolmaster wrote the problem in a fair and flowing hand and told the boys and girls to get the solution—or else.

● The book, while more than a century old, with several years to spare, is well preserved and the writing is still legible. It has even a picture of a goose or a duck or a chicken on the cover, and I know that some lad in those far off years must have run up against something which he could not solve and whiled away his time by sketching this fowl on the cover. I know just how he felt and I know just how he felt a bit later when the schoolmaster discovered his shortcomings.

● The book is filled with problems which are so much foreign

Railroads And Labor To Seek Pay Agreement

Carriers Gain Roosevelt's Approval For Legislative Aid

Washington.—Railroad management and labor assured President Roosevelt today they would cooperate in an effort to settle their wage dispute peacefully, and received in return the chief executive's promise of vigorous support for legislation to help the carriers.

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, and George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association, conferred separately with Mr. Roosevelt.

Both spokesmen said the President expressed confidence that a helpful legislative program for the carriers would be presented by an informal committee of six for consideration by the next Congress. Mr. Roosevelt appointed the committee—three representatives of management and three of labor—some months ago.

Pelley added that Mr. Roosevelt said he would "do everything he could to get such a program enacted into law."

Meet In Chicago Friday

The rail management leader said he was asked to find out from the individual railroads what their attitude was toward a report made Saturday by the President's special fact-finding committee.

Pelley said he would gladly do that, and later he summoned the railroad heads to meet in Chicago Friday.

The fact-finding committee report asked the railroads to withdraw their order for a 15 per cent wage reduction, scheduled to go into effect Dec. 1. Nearly 1,000,000 rail employees have voted to strike if the wage cut, estimated by officials to total $250,000,000 annually, is made effective.

Harrison said he believed that "in a good many respects we can get together."

Safety Patrol Formed At School

Supt. J. O. Lewis announced today that a safety patrol had been formed at the schools, and junior traffic officers had been appointed. Chief of Police Dalton visited the schools and participated in the organization of the patrol and police officers will continue to cooperate in the work. The general plan is to guard the younger children against traffic accidents, teach them safety rules and also toward safer operation of automobiles in the school area. The junior officers will be authorized to take numbers of cars that violate the traffic rules about the school grounds and turn over these numbers to the police court for action. School authorities and the police department are determined to break up speeding in the school area and formation of the safety patrol is the first step in the program.

7 Cities In State Will Vote On Government And Utility Projects

Lexington, Ky.—Seven Kentucky municipalities will vote on government and utilities projects in the general election November 8, Carl B. Wachs, executive secretary of the Kentucky Municipal League, said today.

Ashland and Paducah will vote on whether to remain their present forms of city manager government or go back to the older form of mayor-commissioner administration, relinquished by both cities several years ago.

Fulton and Hickman will vote on a proposal to purchase electric distribution systems, Barbourville on purchasing the entire lighting sys-

President Endorses $30-Every Thursday Downey In California

LOS ANGELES.—President Roosevelt entered the California political scene today with a written endorsement of Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, who was termed "a real liberal in mind and heart."

Downey, with support from the $30-every-Thursday pension movement, won in the Democratic primary against Senator William G. McAdoo, who had been publicly urged by the President to seek re-election.

Downey's Republican opponent is Philip Bancroft, farmer-lawyer.

Final Home Game Here Thursday

Thursday's game with Gleason will mark the last home appearance of eleven senior Bulldogs. Seven of these, Brady, Hill, McCrite, Stockdale, Captain Thomas, Underwood, and Captain Williams are regulars, and Armbruster, Laine, Moss and Wellons are first reserves. To lose seven regulars from any squad is a hard blow, but for the Bulldogs it is just about a major calamity. These boys have rendered valuable service to the Blue and White during their high school careers. It was the good blocking of Williams and Underwood that helped to make the long runs of Thomas possible; it was the sturdy line play of Brady and Hill that held the Tiger tackles at bay, it was the faultless centering of Stockdale that prevented fumbles; and it was the fine job of backing up the line by McCrite four seniors and the remainder of the team that made victory sure for the Bulldogs.

These Seniors realize that they have but one more chance to show their wares before the local fans, so they are determined to show just how good they are. Incidentally they will have to be plenty good to hold the Gleason outfit in check. These boys are having the best season in their history, and are determined to wipe out the 13-12 Garrison-finish defeat handed to them by the locals last year.

Maurine Ketcham, who was elected football queen by the Bulldog squad will be crowned at 2:30 with great ceremony. The band has hopes of having its uniforms by that time. If so they will surely show just how a classy band should do its stuff. Don't miss this game, if you want to see two good teams in action.

To The Citizens Of Fulton, Ky --

Your Mayor and Council recently passed an ordinance which permits you, at the regular November 8th election, to vote on the following question:

ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF PURCHASING, CONSTRUCTING AND OPERATING A MUNICIPAL LIGHT, HEAT AND POWER PLANT, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS ADOPTED BY THE CITY OF FULTON, AND INCURRING AN INDEBTEDNESS BY THE ISSUANCE OF REVENUE BONDS IN THE AMOUNT OF $110,000.00.

This question is one of considerable interest to our Company as well as to the people of Fulton. It, therefore, occurs to us that a public statement outlining briefly our Company's position on the question should be made at this time for your benefits:

1. We are not disposed to obstruct the efforts of the city officials nor the citizens of Fulton to take advantage of whatever benefits may be available by virtue of T. V. A. service. We are, of course, keenly interested in protecting the investment in all of our operations, and it is and has been our efforts to afford our customers a good service at the lowest practical cost. We, therefore, must exert every honorable effort to that end.

2. We are informed that your Mayor and Council have received notice from T. V. A. that its service is not at this time available to the City of Fulton. Just when it will be available no one seems to know. Why, then, should you by your vote authorize the City Council to issue bonds for the purpose of financing the costs of an electric light, heat and power plant? The amount which they have asked you to authorize, so we are informed, is sufficient to cover the cost of constructing a diesel engine plant. (A study of the plans and specifications, which the law provides should be on file for your information, should disclose just what goes to make up the cost of the $110,000.00 bond issue.) INASMUCH AS THE ORDINANCE DOES NOT IN ANY SENSE OF THE WORD PROVIDE FOR T. V. A. SERVICE, we are somewhat confused by the issue. We do know this, however, that if this bond issue carries at the election on November 8th and the procedure of the City in creating this ordinance has been valid, there is nothing that we know of to prevent the City from installing a diesel engine plant as provided for in the ordinance.

3. If, in the future, T. V. A. service should become available to Fulton, and the City desires to avail itself of this service, we will be willing to discuss with you in a friendly way the terms and conditions under which our electric property in Fulton might be purchased by the City. We are sure you will recognize the fairness of this proposition.

4. It is NOT necessary for the citizens to vote this bond issue in order to get T. V. A. service when it might be available at some future date. Nor will the fact that our Company may be operating in Fulton at that time, with or without a franchise, be of any disadvantage whatsoever to the City in acquiring T. V. A. service. In fact, experience in other cities makes it apparent that it will have no bearing on the matter at all.

It is our hope that this letter will fully clarify the position of our Company in this matter, and you will agree with us that it is to the best interests of all of the people of Fulton to vote "NO" on this bond issue.

Dr. Russell Rudd Was Ready For Worst As Army From Mars Struck

To date only one local citizen has been interviewed who was really scared the other night when the armies from Mars were attacking this nation and laying waste to great sections—according to the radio story which was mistaken for fact by so many people.

Dr. Russell Rudd was the victim of the hoax who broke down and confessed. The doctor tells the yarn so well himself that his own words will be used.

"I had heard about the boy getting killed while coming to Fulton, and had seen the man who was hit by a car, and was remembering the accident that the five Mayfield men had," he said last night. "I was out on a country call and had started home all alone. It was the loneliest road I ever saw, and I don't believe there was even a 'possum in nine miles. There was not a light visible. Everybody had gone to bed and my old car was not running any too well, and I was afraid a tire was about to go down, too. Thinking of all the things that had just occurred, I was so lonesome that I wished I could make it home in a hurry."

"Finally I decided to hear what the radio said. I flipped it on, and the first thing I heard was somebody somewhere saying that thousands of people were running madly down Fifth Avenue in New York, that buildings were burning and falling and people were leaping out of high up windows. The man at the radio station said he was the last man there and would stick it out until the gas got him, and he sorta strangled and I heard him gasp. Then I heard another radio station calling frantically for him, but no answer came. Then there was a bulletin that a bomb had fallen on St. Louis and killed several thousand folks. I tell you, my hair just naturally rose straight up then, for I knew I was not more than 200 miles from St. Louis, and I wondered if the gas was coming my way. The car felt sorta stuffy, so I opened the windows, and it seemed that I could smell gas, and there was a curious, ghostly light in the skies. Then I began to shiver, and I guess I was just scared, but for a minute I thought the gas had me.

"I never did know what it was until I got home. I was mighty happy to drive into Fulton and see the lights still burning, see people still moving around and realize that whatever I had imagined had not really happened. But for several minutes out there on that dark, lonely road I thought everybody in the world was going to be killed except me, and I figured they might not be able to find me out there. I didn't know whether to come home and take the chance, or just stay out there in the country and make the killers come get me."

Defend Or Drop Monroe Doctrine Is Theory Of Legion Nat'l Com.

Louisville, Ky.—The United States "must prepare to defend the Monroe Doctrine or 'discard' it," Stephen F. Chadwick, National Commander of the American Legion, said today in an interview. Chadwick, who termed Armistice Day the veterans' "Thanksgiving" as well as their "Memorial" day, also called on "malcontents, dissenters, inciters and disunionists" to keep "their soap boxes off the streets while the U. S. A. pays tribute x x x to those who have served it faithfully and well."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "there are a number of groups, po-

Radio Industry Under Fire Over Scare Broadcast

Demands Made For Some Form Of Federal Control Over Industry

Washington.—The radio industry viewed today a hob-goblin more terrifying to it than any Halloween spook.

The prospect of increasing federal control of broadcasts was discussed here as an aftermath of a radio presentation of an H. G. Wells imaginative story which caused many listeners to believe that men from Mars had invaded the United States with death rays. When reports of terror that accompanied the fantastic drama reached the communications commission there was a growing feeling that "something should be done about it."

Commission officials explained that the law conferred upon it no general regulatory power over broadcasts. Certain specific offenses, such as obscenity, are forbidden, and the commission has the right to refuse license renewal to any station which has not been operating "in the public interest." All station licenses must be renewed every six months.

Within the commission there has developed strong opposition to using the public-interest clause to impose restrictions upon programs. Commissioner T. A. M. Carven has been particularly outspoken against anything resembling censorship and today he repeated his warning that the commission should make no attempt at "censoring what shall or shall not be said over the radio."

Commissioner George Henry Payne recalled that last November he had protested against broadcasts that "produced terrorism and night-mares among children" and said that for two years he had urged that there be a "standard of broadcasts."

Boys Carry Prank Too Far

Three local boys will appear at the police station this afternoon questioning concerning a Halloween prank which, police say, was carried entirely too far. The three boys are suspected to be in the bunch which went around over the town last night releasing water-plugs at a number of places. The police, and also the fire department, were called out to the residential section a number of times last night to correct this.

The fire department was also called to the back of the International Harvester Company store to extinguish a gasoline fire which is thought to have been started when children attempted to steal gasoline from a tank on one of the big Farmall tractors.

RECKLESS PLEDGES

Texas has been added to the long list of states which for years have been operating at a deficit and are facing problems that seriously threaten the continuation and even expansion of that unwholesome condition. The general revenue fund of Texas is now more than $17,000,000 in the red.

The incoming governor stands pledged to the payment of a pension of $30 a month to every person over 65 years of age in the state, regardless of need. To redeem this promise would call for an annual appropriation of $45,000,000, a sum so preposterous that no legislature would think of imposing taxes to raise such an amount, whatever be the influence of Governor O'Daniel.

Governor Alfred found it necessary, it will be recalled, two years ago to convene the General Assembly in extraordinary session because, under the statute it had passed, pensions and expenditures would be several times more than the appropriation. Since that time awakened public opinion has placed restrictive provisions in the law, and there is no sort of probability that any legislative body for years, however insistent be the pressure from a governor who had ridden into office on an extravagant platform, will override the public.

The situation in Texas is a fore-language to me. The toll that went into the making of it, the brain fatigue that ensued from the solving of some problems, I can only imagine, and I'd guess there are some problems there that our present day teachers would have a hard time with.

 In looking at the first page I see a definition and example of what was called fellowship, and I surmise from the reading that fellowship must have meant what we call partnership. The question was "How many sorts of fellowship are there?" (By the way, the word was spelled "there" in the question.) The answer was "Too" single and compound, with "too" spelled as noted. A single fellowship, it was explained, was when the stocks of each partner continued for an equal term of time. The rule was given as follows:

As the sum of the several stocks is to the total gain or loss, So is each man's share of stock To his share of the gain or loss. Whether this was meant for verse or rhyme I know not—it was written in this manner.

 The book is filled with all sorts of material, formula, some of which I don't understand, but for the most part I had just well be trying to read original Greek.

Knoxville politicians are doing a lot of "blowing" about cheap T. V. A. power and light for that city. With a record city bonded debt, which we hear so little about, Knoxville's taxpayers sure do need a break, if they are really getting one. But as all new blooms sweep clean, the real story will be told ten, twenty and thirty years from now; there is no history in just one month's light and power bills. When politics begins to worm its way into the operation, rates will gradually go up and the service and the equipment will gradually go down. Here is where the hot air fails to blow.

The City of Corbin has had her plant for years and ample opportunity to make a record and not much bragging do we hear coming from that city. The biggest thing they are able to do is to "moosh" in on all the rest of the taxpayers of the United States by getting a grant from the Federal Government and then float a loan to the sum total of $400,000 to rebuild their political failure. The city of Corbin should be made to stand on its own feet just the same as other towns in this section served with privately-owned plants. Corbin's rates have been as high if not higher than in privately-owned towns. What has gone with the money? We all know, and still our national Government encourages just such methods by helping Corbin to cover up. It is hard to understand just why such incidents as this do not convince our people of the unsoundness of politically-operated public utilities.

The T. V. A. is a political monstrosity which, if it had to stand on its own feet, would have to charge three or four times what it does for its power. It causes us to meditate if there are many real honest people who can see fair-play, especially when they are due to get a little slice of the loot—Middlesboro, Ky., Three States.

A statement From Mayor Of Fulton:—

As Mayor of Fulton I have always tried to do things I thought were for the people's interest. If you want cheap current it depends on how you vote November 8th.

I'm sorry that the bond issue has been misinterpreted by our voters. Neither I or the City Council have any intention of building a generating plant which means making electric current in Fulton. We have never had this in mind.

This bond issue is to buy or build a distribution system which means poles, wire, meters, transformers, and not a power plant.

This bond issue is the next step we will have to take to get cheap electricity, as other towns have done. We are following the same steps that other cities have followed to the goal which is cheap current.

Also remember any City, town or county has to own all electric lines, poles, meters (the distribution system) before they can get T. V. A.

The city then will sell the current to the people. The people will own the poles and wiring by the City of Fulton. We will not build a power plant.

The bonds will be revenue bonds and will not raise your taxes 1 cent.

Railroads Are Advised Not To Insist On Reduction In Wages

Washington. — President Roosevelt's fact finding board recommended today that the railroads abandon their proposal to reduce wages of approximately 1,000,000 employees on Dec. 1.

The railroad management gave no immediate indication as to whether they would comply. Still up to the President in the words of one board member, was the problem of averting the nationwide strike which the rail workers have voted if the proposed 15 per cent reduction is put into effect.

The White House disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt would pursue this problem Monday at a conference with George M. Harrison, head of the Railroad Labor Executives' Association, and John J. Foley, president of the Association of American Railroads.

Presumably, the possibilities of other proposed solutions of the railroad's plight will be discussed at this conference. The administration's ideas on government aid and legislation at the next session of Congress are expected generally to be canvassed. Foley declared at recent hearings before the fact-finding board, however, that the wage cut offered the only adequate solution.

Summarized Report

The board, appointed by the President under provisions of the Railroad Labor Act summarized its unanimous report to Mr. Roosevelt today as follows:

"1. The wages of railway labor are not high even as compared with wages in other comparable industries.

"2. A horizontal reduction of wages on a national scale would not meet the financial emergency of the industry, since the savings would not be distributed merely to the needy roads.

"3. A wage reduction in the railroad industry would run counter to the trend of wage rates in industry generally.

"4. The financial distress of the carriers which has obtained since October, 1937, when the last wage increases were granted, is as yet a short-term situation. As such, it cannot be regarded as grounds for a wage reduction especially in view of present indications of an improvement in the business of the carriers.

"5. In the light of these findings, the board concludes that the proposal of the carriers for a reduction of the wages of railway labor should not be pressed and recommends that the carriers withdraw and cancel the notices which would put such a reduction into operation as of December 1, 1938."

MUNICIPAL PLANTS

(Paid Advertisement)

Knoxville politicians are doing a lot of "blowing" about cheap T. V. A. power and light for that city. With a record city bonded debt, which we hear so little about, Knoxville's taxpayers sure do need a break if they are really getting one. But as all new brooms sweep clean, the real story will be told in ten, twenty and thirty years from now; there is no history in just one month's light and power bills. When politics begins to worm its way into the operation, rates will gradually go up and the service and the equipment will gradually go down. Here is where the hot air fails to blow.

The City of Corbin has had her plant for years and ample opportunity to make a record, and not much bragging do we hear coming from that city. The biggest thing they are able to do is to "moosh" in on all the rest of the taxpayers of the United States by getting a grant from the Federal Government and then float a loan to the sum total of $400,000 to rebuild their political failure. The city of Corbin should be made to stand on its own feet just the same as other towns in this section served with private owned plants. Corbin's rates have been as high if not higher than in privately-owned towns. What has gone with the money? We all know, and still our national Government encourages just such methods by helping Corbin to cover up. It is hard to understand just why such incidents as this do not convince our people of the unsoundness of politically-operated public utilities.

The T. V. A. is a political monstrosity which, if it had to stand on its own feet, would have to charge three or four times what it does for its power. It causes us to meditate if there are many real honest people who can see fair-play, especially when they are due to get a little slice of the loot.—Middlesboro, Ky., Three States.

A statement From Mayor Of Fulton:--

As Mayor of Fulton I have always tried to do things I thought were for the people's interest. If you want cheap current it depends on how you vote November 8th.

I'm sorry that the bond issue has been misinterpreted by our voters. Neither I or the City Council have any intention of building a generating plant which means making electric current in Fulton. We have never had this in mind.

This bond issue is to buy or build a distribution system which means poles, wire, meters, transformers, and not a power plant.

This bond issue is the next step we will have to take to get cheap electricity, as other towns have done. We are following the same steps that other cities have followed to the goal which is cheap current.

Also remember any City, town or county has to own all electric lines, poles, meters (the distribution system) before they can get T. V. A.

The city then will sell the current to the people. The people will own the poles and wiring by the City of Fulton. We will not build a power plant.

The bonds will be revenue bonds and will not raise your taxes 1 cent.

"Whereas, the Board of Council has therefore passed an ordinance declaring it desirable that the City of Fulton shall purchase or construct and operate a municipal light, heat and power plant, and has adopted the necessary and proper plans and specifications of the municipal light, heat and power plant, and has made the necessary estimates of the probable costs of the construction or acquisition of a plant, and has caused a survey to be made of the lands, structures, right of way, franchises and easements, the acquisition of which may be deemed necessary: therefore

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF FULTON, KENTUCKY:

And opposite the question on said ballots, shall be printed "Yes" and "No" with the proper squares for stamping the cross mark to indicate the preference of the voter.
