MSU Students Name Paris Coed As New President Of SGA

A 174 vote margin shattered a decade-long parade of male student body presidents at Murray State University as Cathy Lynn Cole of Paris, Tn., was elected yesterday as head of the Student Government Association.

Cole, a 21-year old senior, edged Fayette Brewer of Murray in the final tabulations of the first two-day election ever held, 878-704.

Previously serving as executive secretary on the SGA, Cole had been the established favorite in the week long campaigning process, although Brewer ran as an independent candidate and closed the gap to make the final count one of the closest in SGA history.

Originally, Brewer and Cole had been seeking the student body vote along with Jim Dickens of Louisville. But on election eve Dickens withdrew from the race and announced he was supporting Brewer in the contest.

David O'Daniel whipped Jim White of Morganfield for the vice president's post as the Wickliffe junior tallied 1,045 votes to White's 416.

In the biggest upset of the election, Anne Erwin of Murray was defeated in her race for executive secretary by Tim Langford of Hickman. Erwin, who was the incumbent Student Activities Board secretary, lost to Langford, 834-697.

In the only uncontested executive position, Tim Taylor of Fulton rolled up the biggest vote count of the election when he pulled 1,232 votes to retain his

School Board Approves New Lights At Stadium

Bids amounting to over $13,000 were approved by the Murray Board of Education at its regular meeting Thursday night, for light fixtures for the west side of Holland Field.

The bids included two metal towers, awarded to Hannan Supply Co. of Paducah for $6,520 plus $556 freight; and 32 fixtures, awarded to GE Supply Co. of Evansville for $186 each.

The board also heard a report from Jim Lawson, coordinator of the Murray Vocational School, who said that enrollment has jumped from 450 last year to 641 this year. The enrollment figures include 225 high school students, 88 post-graduate students, and 328 enrolled in evening classes.

A study of last year's graduates at the school showed 55 per cent employed in training-related jobs, well over the 30 per cent average. Lawson was commended for the excellent work at the school by the board.

The remainder of the board's time was devoted to routine and personnel items, according to the minutes of the board.

Lost Child In Good Shape Following Overnight Ordeal

Anna Marie Miserak seemed none of the worse today for her 12½ hour experience in the darkness and fog of Wednesday night.

Anna spent the night on the back porch of an abandoned house, after climbing through her bedroom window for a walk with her dog, named only "Dog."

Anna said she climbed through the window for a walk, lost her way in the fog and darkness, and happened upon the back porch of an abandoned house, where she and "Dog" spent the night.

"I wasn't scared because Dog was with me," she said.

Meanwhile, around 80 persons were searching the area, rousing the residents of Regents Hall twice through the night, and could not find a trace of the missing girl.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miserak, said they put her to bed at around nine p. m., and when they went to check on her at 10:00, she was gone.

Personnel from the Murray Police Department, Kentucky State Police, Calloway County Fire-Rescue, Henry County Rescue Squad, campus police, and several other volunteers all combined forces to search for the girl. State Trooper Guy Turner found the missing child at about 10:30 Thursday morning, hiding behind the staircase of a nearby house.

Turner said he was going down Walnut Street, a deadend street just north of Main, when he saw the small dog near the staircase. With that clue, he quickly found Anna at the top of the outside steps.

Dr. James Ammons checked Anna at the Houston-McDevitt Clinic, and pronounced her in good shape after her night away from home.

Lions Announce Annual Broom, Light Bulb Sale

Just in time for spring clean-up and fix-up will be the Lions Club broom and light bulb sale, according to project co-chairmen Johnny McDougal and Lynn Holloway.

Some 85 Lions will work door to door in the city on successive nights, April 21 and 22. The club will be selling household brooms for $2.50 and six-pack cartons of light bulbs for $2.50. Proceeds from the sale will be used to finance various Lions Club projects including sight conservation and the local blood bank, according to President Kenneth Winters.

Most of the area of the city east of Sixteenth Street will be worked by the Lions on Monday night and the remainder of the city on Tuesday night.

Members of the ATO Fraternity at Murray State University will assist the Lions Monday night in their sale. Tuesday night the club will get assistance from the members of the local DECA Club.

Cloudy and Cool

Partly cloudy and cool this afternoon. Highs in the mid to upper 50s. Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the upper 20s and low 30s. Sunny and cool Saturday. Highs in the upper 50s. Outlook for Sunday, partly cloudy. Probabilities of measurable precipitation 5 per cent today, tonight and Saturday.

Miss Vicky Butterworth
Miss Spring of 1975

The Murray Ledger & Times is pleased to present "Miss Spring of 1975," Miss Vicky Butterworth. Miss Butterworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Butterworth of Route 1, Murray.

Very active at Calloway County High School where she is a senior, this year's Miss Spring is a varsity cheerleader, a member of the track team, secretary of the speech team, a member of the band and a member of the pep club.

Her classmates have voted her "Miss Calloway County High," "Best Looking" in the senior class and "Best All Around Senior Girl."

She serves as president of the 1975 CCHS Senior Class and vice president of the student council. She is also active in Future Homemakers of America and the Student Association for Education. Miss Butterworth has been selected for the Society of Distinguished High School Students.

Let Vicky take you on a guided shopping tour of Murray. Turn to the special "Miss Spring" section of today's Murray Ledger & Times to see what local merchants have to offer for spring shoppers.

American Revolution One Of Most Unique In History, Symposium Participants Told

The American Revolution was one of the most unique revolutions in world history, participants in the sixth American Revolution Bicentennial Symposium at Murray State University were told Thursday.

Speaking at the closing session of the day-long symposium, one of eight to be held on the Murray campus by 1976, Dr. Robert E. Brown, professor of history at Michigan State University, explained by saying that the colonists were "not trying to get something, but trying to keep something—a democratic, republican, popular kind of government."

Dr. Brown, who has been at Michigan for 28 years, has, along with his wife, authored five books on the American Revolution.

"If the revolution had been a social revolution you would expect to find fundamental changes in the constitution," he said. "There wasn't. It was the same old constitution, just about the way it had been all along with exception that they had eliminated the British."

Dr. Brown, who has written extensively on two of the colonies and on two of the most important historians—Charles Beard and Carl Becker—went on to call the Revolution a "liberal revolution" because the American society was the most liberal society in the world at the time.

"The Americans were trying to keep that liberal society," he said. "If the British had been successful, they would have eliminated democracy in this country. They would have imposed imperialism as we know it in the world today. This was their intent."

Dr. Brown also holds a view of revolutionary America as fundamentally a middle class society rather than a sharply defined class structured society, and said that the conflict resulted "not to gain democracy on the part of the lower classes but to preserve democracy from British encroachment."

In line with the general theme of the symposium, "The American Revolution: Conflicting Viewpoints in The Twentieth Century," Dr. David Curtis Skaggs, Bowling Green University, Bowling

Court Hires Consulting Engineer

The Calloway County Fiscal Court authorized the hiring of a consulting engineer to survey and report flood-related damage in the county at its regular meeting Thursday.

The engineer will work closely with state and federal engineers and inspectors to make sure that Calloway County obtains all relief funds that it is entitled to.

In other action Thursday, Harold Hurt was appointed to the Murray-Calloway County Hospital Board by the court.

No action was taken on a request from the Dexter Senior Citizens for funds for a community center there. The court also voted to pay $36 to Alfred Duncan per year for the use of his building for a voting place for the Faxon precinct. The court voted to pay $25 to the Woodmen of the World for the use of their building at the Kirksey precinct.

Several Items Considered By Council Members

Several items of routine city business were handled by the Murray City Council at its regular meeting last night.

The council approved a partial payment of $8,595.80 to Sears for fencing for the new tennis courts. The fencing was delivered to the site of the tennis courts last fall but the city has not been able to install it because of weather conditions.

Also approved on the first reading was an ordinance which will prohibit parking on the west side of S. 6th St. The council also discussed the elimination of the block of one-way traffic on 8th Street between Main and Poplar. It was decided that the mayor and police chief had authority to change the traffic pattern without council action.

Street Department superintendent Lee Bolen and councilman Art Lee pointed out that the street would be well marked with a center line extended to the traffic lane on Main Street prior to the change to the two-way traffic.

The council also went on record to urge the Kentucky Legislature to enact legislation that would allow the return of 20 per cent of the state's five per cent sales tax to the municipality in which it was collected.

"In light of the fact that the state has meddled in municipal affairs by enacting laws which require expenditure on the part of municipalities yet provide no funds for these expenditures," councilman Melvin Henley said, "I would like to introduce the following resolution for council consideration."

Henley's resolution, which was unanimously approved by the council, is as follows:

"Whereas, the State of Kentucky, through the legislative and administrative branches of government, has promulgated many and various statutes and regulations requiring local governments to appropriate and disburse monies which they may have no desire to spend, and

"Whereas, the State of Kentucky is in seen fit to provide a portion of said monies to local governments, and

"Whereas, the State of Kentucky is in possession of a well-publicized sum of money, commonly referred to in the media as a surplus.

"Be It Therefore Resolved that the 1976 Legislature be requested to enact enabling legislation to return 20 per cent of the sales revenues collected within the confines and boundaries of any municipality to same, and

"Be It Further Resolved that this Common Council direct the Mayor of the City of Murray, Kentucky, to forward a copy of this Resolution to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and a copy to each candidate for election to the State Legislature from the First Senatorial District and the Fifth Legislative District."

Henley also asked that copies of an editorial which appeared in the April 1, 1975, edition of the Murray Ledger & Times proposing the change in the state sales tax law, be included in the letter to the elected officials and candidates for office. He also urged the city to send copies of both the resolution and the editorial to other city governments in the state as well as the Kentucky Municipal League.

The city fathers discussed the federal and state Occupational Safety and Health Act. Mayor John Scott and councilman Dave Willis advised the body that the city could request a consultative survey of all city departments to find out if the city was not in compliance with any of the OSHA regulations. The council delayed acting on the proposal until a later date.

Councilman Willis also announced that the annual spring trash pickup by the

Dr. Hal Houston Speaks At Xi Alpha Delta Chapter

The Xi Alpha Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met for its regular meeting on April 3, at the Community Center on Ellis Drive.

Dr. Hal Houston, local surgeon, was introduced as the guest speaker, by Mrs. Richard White. Dr. Houston showed slides and centered his talk around breast cancer. Points were made concerning diagnosis, treatment and follow ups on breast cancer. A question and answer session followed the program.

Mrs. Tommy Brown, president, presided at the business meeting. Routine reports were given. Mrs. Gerry Requarth, vice-president, reported that the new pledges had taken their test and all had passed successfully.

Mrs. Mike Morgan, Social Chairman, reported that plans were being made for "Monte Carlo" night to be held on April 12.

New officers elected for the coming year are as follows: President, Mrs. Bruce Thomas; vice-president, Mrs. Ronnie Hutson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Tommy Carraway; recording secretary, Mrs. Joe Sulter; treasurer, Mrs. Bobby Martin; and extension officer, Mrs. W. H. Williams.

In the meeting held by the Chapter on March 20, Tommy Carraway was the guest speaker. Mr. Carraway had been part of a Crusade group from the 7th and Poplar Church of Christ who spent several days in Trinidad doing mission work. He showed slides concerning this work as well as displaying several things he had brought from Trinidad. Mr. Carraway's program was most delightful and informative.

Members present for the April 3rd meeting were Mesdames: Tommy Brown, Jerry Caldwell, Tommy Carraway, Charles Chilcut, Greg Holt, Mike Holton, Mac Hulse, Ronnie Hutson, Donny Lyons, Bobby Martin, Mike Morgan, Gerry Requarth, Joe Sulter, Bruce Thomas, Richard White, W. H. Williams, Bobby Wilson, and Danny Workman.

HOW JEANS NAMED

Denim originated in the southern French city of Nimes when English merchants began importing blue cotton cloth called "Serge de Nimes" (de Nimes—from Nimes—because "denim"). Levi Strauss, a German immigrant, took bolts of denim with him to San Francisco and made the tough cloth into tents, then into pants reinforced with rivets. His trademark became Levi's. Genoese sailors in Italy frequently wore blue canvas trousers and since the French word for Genoa is Genes, that's how "jeans" came into the language. Got it?

FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 12, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Weigh proposed undertakings and their possible outcomes before taking action. You may want to revise plans a bit.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Negative factors need not disturb if you keep situations in hand and study the reasons. Emphasizing the positive, you can take appropriate measures as you go along.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

An analytical look at your position may indicate some new avenue to pursue. Keep an easy yet alert eye toward future moves. Taper off in late hours to relax.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

A day which calls for careful discrimination. Listen thoughtfully, observe, but do not read meanings into things not intended. Stars warn against hasty decisions.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stellar influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Some extra care needed in domestic and romantic interests. Don't become anxious, however. Handle with your usual dexterity.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Accent is now on career achievement, possibly some unusual token of recognition. Those engaged in creative pursuits especially favored.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Some interesting possibilities indicated. Day may finally see the completion of an important project; also a real improvement in your financial situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Wait on decisions until all avenues have been explored. Should temporary deterrents appear, handle discerningly, with clear-headedness, smart control.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your ingenuity, foresight and intuition should be at a peak now. A good time to look into new enterprises and gauge their real value.

Housewife Feels Jailed and Her Hubby's the Warden

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27-years-old and my husband is 31. We've been married for 10 years and have three really nice sons.

Abby, I am a clean, respectable woman, but my home is getting more like a prison every day.

My husband doesn't think I need to leave the house. He doesn't even let me go to church because he doesn't care to go.

I can't belong to any clubs or organizations because my husband thinks a woman's place is in the home and no place else. He wouldn't even let me join the PTA, and our two oldest boys are so ashamed because their teachers have never even met me.

We don't socialize with anybody because my husband says we don't need friends. The only time I get out of the house is when we go marketing together once a week. He handles all the money.

We get into quarrels every time I say I want to go somewhere. Both our families are far away. When I ask him to please sit down and talk things over, he says there is nothing to talk about. If I talk back to him, I end up with a busted mouth, a black eye and bruises.

I mentioned divorce once and he beat me up so bad I could hardly get out of bed for two days. Abby, I can't take the boys and leave because I don't drive and I don't have five dollars of my own. What should I do?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: A woman who takes repeated beatings from her husband needs counseling, and badly. The Family Service Agency (listed in your phone book) offers this confidential, excellent help. And don't worry about not having any money. Their fee is based on your ability to pay. If you have no money, there is no charge.

Also, there are laws stating that a man is responsible for the support of his wife and children—no matter what he may say about it. I urge you to get the help you need at once. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13-years-old and could pass for 16. I babysit to earn my own money.

My problem is my mother. She said I can spend my own money on whatever I want as long as it is under $10. If it costs more than that, I have to get her permission to buy it.

I saw a beautiful ring that costs $16.95, and I want to buy it. I told my mother about it, and she said that it was probably just a piece of junk. And that I couldn't buy it.

Abby, I keep thinking about that ring, and I really want it. Would it be wrong if I bought it and just didn't wear it around the house? My mother never snoops in my drawers.

MAD AT MOM

DEAR MAD: You sound like too nice a girl to be playing hide and sneak. One lie leads to another. Be honest. It's great for your conscience.

Mrs. Neale B. Mason's Students Are Presented In Spring Recital Sunday

Piano students of Mrs. Neale B. Mason were heard in an early spring recital which they presented for their parents and friends on Sunday afternoon, April 6, at the Murray Woman's Club House. The program took an historical approach, containing music representative of each musical era from Baroque to Contemporary.

Murray students appearing in the recital were Mark Hussung, Lynne Outland, Kim Alley, Tina Steele, Anne Gregory, Stacey Ammons, LaDonne Roberts, Sharon Outland, Deena Dailey, John Gordon Taylor, Tiffany Taylor, Alison Wallace, Cindy Masters, Harriet Hood, David Story, Donna Humphries, Vona Darnell, Whitney Taylor, and Kim Wilham.

From other areas were Sherry Harrison, Puryear, Jay Fern, Calvert City, Shannon Morgan and David Hurst, from Benton, Nadia Ingram of Paducah, and Lisa Hunter, Farmington.

Following the musical portion of the program, class performance certificates were awarded to each student who had qualified for them by performing in the monthly classes held throughout the year of study, with special mention of those achieving highest recognition in each class—David Story and Mark Hussung in the junior group, Jay Fern and Lisa Hunter from the intermediate class, and Donna Humphries and David Hurst in the senior class.

The audience was also told of the results of the recent Piano Festival-Contest, sponsored annually by the Kentucky Music Teachers Association in which four of the students, Jay Fern, David Hurst, Donna Humphries and Anne Gregory appeared on March 15 on the Murray State University campus.

Mrs. Mason announced that official notification had been received from the State chairman of Student Activities of KMTA that Anne Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gregory, Murray, was the winner of the 1975 regional contest and will represent this area in the State contest next fall in Lexington.

Keep Breathing

The National Nothing Foundation is trying to establish a special day when we can just sit—without celebrating, observing or honoring anything.

Sounds like an excellent idea. A special day without newspapers, radio, television.

No working, no driving, no nothing. No fun either. Just sit and let the day pass by. But keep breathing.

Junior Speaks

We have not been able to derive any moral, political or sociological lesson from the following information, but we pass it along to you just as a favor:

Junior Samples, the rotund country comedian (on "Hee Haw") is fighting his own battle of the bulge, under doctor's orders. So far the 5'8" Mr. Samples has lost 55 pounds—down to 281. His goal is 200.

The Atlanta Constitution reports that Mr. Samples is unhappy about his diet—no grease, no sugar, no eggs, no salt, everything boiled. But he has not considered having his jaw wired shut. "If I got in a fight now, all I could do would be bite," Mr. Samples explained. "If I couldn't bite, I'd be helpless."

Man's Responsibility For Creation

Unquestionably God, the creator and ruler of the universe, is interested in and concerned about every man whom He has created, blessed, and sustained. Made in the image of God, man is truly accountable to Him.

I. Appreciation of God, Psalm 8:1-2

In these two verses we have a recognition and an acknowledgment of the excellence and majesty of God. How excellent, great, majestic, splendid, and glorious is His name, which stands for His person and character! The fact that God is infinite and perfect should cause all to appreciate and worship Him. God's magnificence is exalted above the heavens. He has made those who are so young that they are just able to list God's praises, and therefore are weak, the instruments of His strength. To still the enemy and the avenger is to render their efforts ineffective.

II. Admiration of God, Psalm 8:3-8

Surveying the outward canopy of the heavens in the stillness of the night, the Psalmist was overwhelmed with all the beauty and grandeur of the vast expanse with its starry glories. By their splendor and stability the heavens manifested the glory of God in an impressive manner. One wonders how anyone can remain an unbeliever when he reverently scans the heavens and sees the marvelous work of God. His revelation of Himself should inspire awe and reverence in all of those who behold it.

With all the glories of these heavenly manifestations before him, the Psalmist turned his thoughts to frail and apparently insignificant man. He marvelled that God should consider man at all, and even more that he should make him the crowning manifestation of His glory. He wondered that God should choose so insignificant a thing as man to be the object of His special regard. The word which He used for man in verse four is very remarkable. It signifies a being who in himself is frail, weak, and mortal.

Compared with the majesty, splendor, and permanence of the heavens, man is lowly and frail, and his existence on earth is brief.

These verses set before us in powerful contrast the littleness and the greatness of man. Although little in himself, there is something in man which separates him from all other creations, something which enables him to think of God, to come to know Him, to love Him, and to serve Him. There is nothing which gives such dignity to man as the fact that he is the crowning achievement of all God's creation. God endowed man with the ability to think, dream, hope, aspire, reason, invent, and build. Whereas the rest of creation accepts the world as it is, man undertakes to make it what he thinks it ought to be. God has given man dominion over his environment. He has cared for man every day of his life. He has provided salvation for him. On the basis of what God has done for man, obviously He rightfully expects much from him. He expects him to be saved, to practice self-denial, to represent Him conscientiously, constantly, and consistently, and to be faithful to Him under all circumstances. He certainly has a right to expect His children to be faithful and dependable.

III. Adoration of God, Psalm 8:9

If by grace God is your Lord, that incomparable possession should produce in you an adoring wonder. All of God's children are obligated to adore, honor, worship, obey, and serve Him until He calls them home.

It is interesting to note that the Psalmist here speaks of the greatness and majesty of God as the fundamental reason for praising and worshipping Him. This passage magnifies the majesty and surpassing grandeur of God. His greatness is incomprehensible. Praise to God for His majesty is an indispensable constituent of spiritual health.

We rejoice to think of God's immutability, omnipresence, omniscience, and omnipotence. As we contemplate God's holiness, righteousness, justice, love, mercy, and faithfulness, we are moved to honor, praise, and worship Him.

Psalm 8 closes with the same exclamation of reverent wonder and great adoration with which it began. Therefore, it behooves every Christian to admire, appreciate, adore, love, worship, and serve our heavenly Father until He calls us home. We are challenged to glorify Him in our thoughts, words, and deeds.

IV. Authority of Man, Genesis 1:26

In this verse we are told for the first time that the three persons of the Trinity counseled together. The Trinity consulted, agreed, and decided to create man. The creation of man was the result of God's sovereign decision. If God had not decided to create man, he never would have been called into being.

When God created man, He made him in His own image, so there is an unspeakable dignity attached to man. What does it mean when the Bible tells us that God created man in His image? In no sense of the word does it mean that God is a corporeal being. There is nothing in the Bible which indicates that man looks like God because He created him in His image. This image was not material or physical, but rather a likeness in personality. Just as God knows, feels, and wills, so man, made in His image, knows, feels, and wills.

God gave man the authority to control the animals and other living creatures. Man is responsible to God for the way in which he controls and uses the things which He has placed in his custody.

Outlawing Holding Companies Favored

By NIEL HEARD
National Federation Of Independent Business, Inc.

Due to the fact that big business has taken advantage of a "loophole" in banking regulations originally designed to aid small rural communities, the nation's independent business people are in favor of outlawing bank holding companies.

This is the interpretation placed on the results of a just completed nationwide poll by the National Federation of Independent Business on the question "Are you for or against the prohibition of bank ventures into non-banking enterprises and limiting activity solely to banking?"

The results of the poll show 61 per cent of the respondents in favor of such a law, 29 per cent opposed, with 10 per cent undecided.

In Kentucky the vote is 61 per cent in favor, 29 per cent opposed, and 10 per cent undecided.

For several years members of the National Federation of Independent Business have complained quite vigorously about banks becoming engaged in such diverse activities as insurance, sales of securities, data processing, travel agencies, equipment leasing, and other fields. It is alleged that this places banks in the position of competing against free enterprise.

While a bank itself does not engage in these functions directly it is in turn controlled by what is known as a holding company which does engage in these other enterprises.

In the early part of this century, bank holding companies were usually formed in small communities that had no banking facilities. This resulted when the local feed mill, the retailers, and other business people decided they needed a depository in the home town and formed a separate corporation and secured a charter to operate a bank.

But as the century wore on and the era of big banks, especially branch banks, became widespread, big banking sought the blanket of a holding company in order to permit it to engage in other enterprises.

This condition has been the subject of spirited debate in the Congress for about the past three decades. In 1970 the Congress passed a law which restricted holding companies to the control of a single bank. But in the final passage the legislation was watered down. It also gave the Federal Reserve Board the authority to decide what types of non-banking business these "one-bank holding companies" could engage in. In addition, there were no limitations on the size of the single banks that control vast amounts of assets.

According to the NFIB the argument against any bank holding companies is that it permits bank earnings to be used to compete with many small entrepreneurs who do not have access to this type of financing.

As indicated by the NFIB survey, almost two-thirds of the independent business people are in favor of legislation limiting banks exclusively to the business of banking.

With the new Congress showing an inclination to question the operations of the Federal Reserve System, it is considered by the NFIB that this issue of bank holding companies will again become the subject of heated debate and legislative proposals.

An AP News Analysis

Reaction To Ford Raises Some Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The immediate and overwhelmingly negative congressional reaction to President Ford's $722-million, arms-aid request for Vietnam raises serious questions about his real goals.

Ford made the arms pitch to Congress Thursday night knowing full well both the legislators and the majority of the American people would reject it.

But he also knew that Congress might accept a separate plan in his "State of the World" address to evacuate Americans in South Vietnam by using U.S. troops.

There were signs that Ford was using the aid request — more than double his original proposal — as a cover for the more immediate need of arranging the evacuation.

For instance, the $722 million was arrived at in a curious way, reflecting a lack of certainty that the amount would accomplish anything.

As the administration officials explained, the original $300-million request had become absurd in the face of a changed military situation.

And once it was decided to ask for more aid, the only other recommendation Ford had was the $722-million figure proposed by Army Chief of Staff Frederick C. Weyand upon his return from Vietnam.

The officials said that only time will tell if it is adequate, adding that not every military assessment in the past about Vietnam has been correct.

Today In History

In 1689, William and Mary were crowned King and Queen of England.

In 1713, Spain ceded Gibraltar to England.

In 1899, the Philippine Islands were transferred from Spain to the United States.

In 1921, a telephone line between the United States and Cuba was opened by President Warren G. Harding.

In 1947, a black played with a major league baseball team for the first time as Jackie Robinson joined with the Brooklyn Dodgers in an exhibition game against the New York Yankees.

In 1951, President Harry Truman relieved General Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

Missions: Evangelical Or Humanitarian?

Rev. Bill Hart
Goshen-Lynn Grove
United Methodist

The United Methodists of Calloway County have had the opportunity to hear at least one of 18 missionaries this week. As a host in our area, I have been with seven of these; as a result, I have done some reflecting.

Jesus said of the righteous, "As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me." He told the parable of the Good Samaritan to teach that whoever is in need is our neighbor and we love him by responding to his need. He made the water into wine and multiplied the bread for the hungry. God intended us to be fully human, sensitive and responsive to the needs of humanity, fully courteous and caring, i. e., "humanitarian."

However, if we over-emphasize the humanitarianism, it becomes in theology the doctrine called humanitarianism. This is a denial of the Spirit of God and the Divinity of Christ believing that man doesn't need the Grace of God because he can perfect his own nature. The goal in life is to eliminate mankind's pain and suffering, forgetting the mission Jesus had for the soul of man.

If we over-emphasize the Spirit and forget the human needs, we may become less than human and end up as one in Matthew 25 to whom Jesus will say, "Depart from me...for I was hungry and you gave me no food; I was thirsty and you gave me no drink; I was a stranger and you did not welcome me, naked and you did not clothe me, sick and in prison and you did not visit me."

There are thousands of adults and children dying every day from starvation. Only 40 children can be enrolled in a Christian school in India out of 200 who apply because there isn't space to accommodate more or enough scholarships, costing only $8.00 a month!

Grain-eating countries consume 800 lbs.

of grain while America uses 2000 lbs. for her cattle and chickens, and we complain because we don't have enough!

George B. Garden, who served in India for 43 years, said that often people would pass the government hospital and walk miles to reach their station for far less sophisticated medicine and treatment. When he asked why, the people replied, "You give us two medicines. One to take away our pain and one to take away our fear."

May God give us Grace to give both.

Question Of Iron

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

A heated debate continues on whether additional iron enrichment of bread and flour is necessary and safe. Also, will the extra iron be effective in bringing alleged benefits to the public, especially to women of childbearing age and to certain children?

The proposal to increase the iron content of bread and flour sold to the public has the support of certain members of the staff of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), other persons in industry, some nutritionists, and part of the membership of the AMA Council on Foods and Nutrition and its staff.

Opposition to increasing further iron content of bread and flour comes from equally qualified authorities, who question the safety, effectiveness, and need for such additional iron.

Strong argument against adding any more, made by William Crosby, M.D., a hematologist of the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, La Jolla, Calif., was recorded in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Crosby contends that the research on which to base an increase in iron in these foods is inadequate and that this added amount could be hazardous to certain persons who have defects in their metabolism of iron. He believes that tests on limited populations should first be carried out. Further, he questions whether adding the iron will benefit those persons who allegedly need it. He doubts whether many of the symptoms of disease attributed to so-called iron deficiencies are accurate. He vigorously challenges the proponents, including the FDA. I wrote recently of a new test—ferritin assay—which measures more accurately the iron reserve in a person's body. When the test becomes more widely available to screen the population, research information may become more dependable as a basis for conclusions regarding iron deficiencies.

Q. Mr. N.C. asks if exercise is helpful to an older person.

A: I believe that regular exercise that is well tolerated is even more helpful to the average older person than to a younger one. Too often, because of retirement or some minor disability, the older will not regular exercise and settle into a sedentary life. Yardwork, walking, or regular but light calisthenics have good effects on the muscles, joints and circulation, as well as obvious psychological benefits. Exercising with others in a small group has certain advantages. Consult your physician before starting a new exercise program, especially if it may be stressful.

Q. Mr. W.B., about 70 years of age, writes that he passes two to three quarts of urine at night and says that he has some prostate trouble. He wants suggestions for relief.

A: Drink your fluids mainly in the morning and only a limited amount before 3 p.m. By following this routine, you will not have as much fluid to pass during the night. You should have your urinary system examined by a physician.

FEAR ABOUT THE FUTURE

This woman is deeply troubled and afraid. Perhaps she has financial worries, or marital problems. Maybe she is afraid of growing old.

She has not yet turned to God for help, for God banishes fear from our lives. Paul wrote to Timothy, "God has not given us the spirit of fear but of power and of love." (2 Timothy 1:7) Whatever your problems, if you put them in God's hands, he will give you the strength you need to face them. Earthly problems are fleeting, God's Love is Eternal.

Wurth And Perconte: Success Brought On By Johnny Reagan

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
They are called the "Hoover Twins."

No, they aren't any relation to the late president, Hoover Heever, er, whatever his name was.

They are called the "Hoover Twins" because they are a lot like a Hoover vacuum cleaner. Nothing gets past them.

Who are they? They are none other than the keystone combination of Jack Perconte and Leon Wurth, star infielders for the nationally-ranked Murray State Thoroughbreds.

Perconte, a junior second baseman from Joliet, Ill., and Wurth, a senior shortstop from Paducah St. Mary High School, are both having banner years.

In 36 games this season, in which the 12th-rated team in the nation has rolled up an impressive 31-5 record, the two are having seasons that almost challenge the imagination.

Perconte, who already holds six single season career records at Murray, is belting opposing pitchers at a .392 clip and just until recently, had been over 400 all year.

In addition, he has 38 runs batted in, not bad for a guy who stands just 5-10 and weighs only 155 pounds.

Wurth, who holds five single season records at Murray, is hitting .429 and leading the team in runs batted in with 39. But the best thing about the two is their major league fielding ability. Both are able to cover ground like Paul Bunyan, both are fleet-footed and both have cannon-arms.

There weren't any scouts beating the doors down when the two graduated from high school.

After graduation from St. Mary, Wurth decided he would accept a baseball scholarship to Murray State.

Perconte played in a Colt League Tournament in Murray the summer after his junior year in high school and decided at that time, he liked the place.

Both players admit they were of "average" talent when they left high school. But when they got to Murray State, something magic happened to them. And that magic was Thoroughbred Coach Johnny Reagan.

A former basketball and baseball star at Murray, Reagan and his influence has been the key for the success of Wurth and Perconte.

"I don't know where to begin talking about the man," Wurth said.

"I could say good things about him all day. He took a chance on me when he signed me out of high school. And now I have him to thank for making me a more mature person and a more mature baseball player," Wurth said of Reagan.

"Just being around the man helps. He has control in every situation, on and off the field."

Perconte agrees.

"He's a hell of a guy."

"He treats everybody differently. We are all individuals. Everybody respects him. Everybody really wants to win for the guy."

"There's been a few times this year we've lost and we felt like telling him we were sorry for not giving 100 per cent."

Among the accomplishments of Murray State this season was a record-breaking 22-game winning streak. And both feel Reagan was responsible.

"A lot of games during our streak, we'd be behind and mentally down. That's when a lot of teams fall apart," Wurth said.

"But he'd tell us if we'd just keep our heads and eliminate the mental mistakes, we'd get some runs and win."

"I have never been on a team where everyone gets along so well. There's no jealousy at all. Everybody plays as a team. You can play relaxed when you know nobody is talking behind your back."

"And another thing," Wurth said.

"Coach Reagan never screams at us while we're on the field. He never belittles us in front of a crowd. If he has something to say, he pulls us off to the side and talks to us."

For the past two seasons, the Thoroughbreds have been ranked in the top 20 teams in the nation. And this year, for the first time, the winner of the Ohio Valley Conference will receive an automatic bid into the NCAA Playoffs.

The 'Breds are considered a shoo-in for the title.

And with guys like Leon Wurth and Jack Perconte, and a coach like John Reagan, it's easy to see why.

Both Perconte and Wurth started as infielders during their sophomore seasons. And in their second year of playing together, professional scouts rate them as a first-class keystone combo.

Do both of them someday hope to play major league ball?

"All I want to do is to give it my best shot, to do the best I can. If that takes me to the major leagues, then that's fine. I just want to enjoy the game more than anything," said Perconte, who in two years has never been thrown out while trying to steal a base.

In fact, Perconte has a string of 46 consecutive stolen bases over the past two years.

"I feel about the same as Jack," Wurth said.

"I just want to do the best I can. If I don't play pro ball, then I'd like to help the kids have the opportunity to better themselves and I'd probably go into coaching."

Dark Finds New Light In Rookie Mike Norris

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

What do you do when you suddenly lose your best pitcher to the whims of baseball's arbitration process?

If you're Alvin Dark, Bible-toting manager of the Oakland A's, you seek comfort in the scriptures. Dark, in need of guidance after Catfish Hunter slipped out of his Oakland contract and into New York Yankee pinstripes, turned to Jeremiah 33:3:

"Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

Enter rookie right-hander Mike Norris. Norris, a 20-year-old from San Francisco, made his major league debut Thursday with a sparkling three-hitter as the A's pounded the Chicago White Sox 9-0.

"I've found my Jeremiah," declared Dark in a phone call to A's owner Charles O. Finley. Norris, who likes the nickname and, in fact, bought a Bible himself during spring training, said, "The name's right on. I'm with the Bible all the way."

There were just two other games played in the American League. The Baltimore Orioles opened their season with a 10-0 rout of the Detroit Tigers and the Texas Rangers shaded the Minnesota Twins 5-4.

"I've had dreams about doing something like this," said Norris after his successful bow, "and now it's all coming true."

Norris surrendered a first-inning lead-off single to Pat Kelly but promptly picked him off base. Carlos May's second-inning single and Kelly's double in the ninth were the only other hits off Norris, who walked three and stuck out three.

"I was sure he was nervous at the beginning," said catcher Gene Tenace, "but when he picked that guy off base I said to myself, 'Who knows what he'll do'."

"We all wanted Norris to do well, partly because of sheer necessity," added slugger Reggie Jackson.

Jackson hammered a three-run homer and Bill North and Joe Rudi had three hits apiece for the A's, who collected nine hits off five White Sox pitchers, starting with loser Stan Bahnsen.

Orioles 10, Tigers 0

Jim Palmer, making an impressive return from the sore elbow that hampered him all last season, stopped Detroit on three hits. Lee May, acquired from Houston over the winter, belted a three-run homer and Don Baylor had four hits and three runs-batted-in for Baltimore.

"We missed Jimmy Palmer almost all last season," said Birds Manager Earl Weaver. "With him back it's like we traded for another pitcher."

Rangers 5, Twins 4

Cesar Tovar's eighth-inning double drove in one run and Minnesota reliever Bill Butler walked in another as Texas won its first game of the year.

Both runs were unearned, the result of a two-out throwing error by Twins' third baseman Eric Soderholm.

Jim Spencer belted a three-run homer for the Rangers while rookie centerfielder Lynn Bostick collected three hits for Minnesota.

Crowds Up

DETROIT (AP) — Attendance at International Hockey League games in the 1974-75 regular season was up 157,628 from the previous season, the league said Thursday.

Commissioner Bill Beagan said the league entertained 1,257,929 fans in 398 games, compared to 1,100,301 in 342 contests a year ago.

The Saginaw Gears had the best attendance with 165,545.

New Name

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Hartford team in the North American Soccer League will be called the Bicentennials, a team spokesman said Thursday.

Robin Hogan, the spokesman, also said a lengthy delay in arriving at a team name was due to negotiations with a corporation interested in buying into the team.

Bobby Nichols Moves Into Lead At Masters, Nicklaus Second

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Can the old man win it one more time?

"If it doesn't peak now, I'm not sure it will ever peak," says the 45-year-old Arnold Palmer, surveying the game that thrust him into the thick of a gold-studded pack going into today's second round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

"I have been getting ready since December. I have been swinging better for the last month and a half. I feel my game is as good as I can possibly make it."

Polite cheers early in the day for Lee Elder, the first black man ever to tee it up in this festival of golf's elite among the pines, turned to exciting roars at dusk for the Masters sentimental favorite as Palmer toured a steady par and birdie course to the final hole.

There on the 42nd-yard uphill hilly hole, where his bid for a "championship" drowned in a double bogey of errant shots in 1961, Palmer hit a heavy three-iron into the sand and took his lone bogey for a 69.

The score, climaxing a rain-spattered day of triumph and frustration for the field, didn't give Palmer the lead, but you couldn't tell that to members of Arnie's Army, thirsting for the first major victory since Arnie won his fourth Masters in 1964.

The first-round leader is Bobby Nichols, a strapping part-time club pro, who hardly hit a faulty shot in firing a bogeyless 67, five under Augusta National's par 72.

Poised behind Nichols at 68 were the heavily favored Jack Nicklaus, bidding for his fifth Masters, and the other Miller-Allen, not Johnny—a pleasant, moon-faced University of Georgia graduate who joined the tour in 1971.

Palmer's 69 put him in a tie at that position with J. C. Sneed — old Sam's nephew — and Tom Weiskopf, winner at Greensboro, N.C., last weekend. Just behind them at 70 were former champion Bill Casper, plump Bob Murphy and young Tom Watson.

Sam, 62, winner of three Masters, joined a half-dozen others, including a revived Lee Trevino, at 71 — making 16 players under par.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Top first-round scores Thursday in the Masters Golf Tournament on the 7,020-yard, par-72 Augusta National Golf Club course:

The league's two other playoff series continue tonight. In the East, New York and St. Louis, tied at 1-1, meet in St. Louis, and in the West, Denver, with a 2-1 lead, plays Utah at Salt Lake City.

The Colonels shackled Memphis with strong defense, including 17 steals and three blocked shots. Dan Issel had four of the steals and one blocked shot, in addition to scoring 21 points, grabbing five rebounds and holding George Carter to 12 points.

"Issel was just terrific," said Brown. "It may have been his best defensive game of the season."

"I don't know if it was my best defensive game, but I guess I did well," said Issel. "I got my hands on a lot of stuff inside and shook the ball loose."

Memphis' Tow Owens led all scorers with 33 points.

Pacers 113, Spurs 103

Indiana's George McGinnis, co-winner of the league's Most Valuable Player Award, put on a devastating show against the Spurs. He scored 42 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and had nine assists.

handed goal by Pittsburgh's Colin Campbell sent the Penguins to a 5-3 victory and on to Montreal for Sunday's opening game of their best-of-seven series against the Canadiens.

Stoughton's goal at 10:19 of overtime gave the Maple Leafs a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Kings and a 1-1 tie in their best-of-three first-round series. It took 7:33 for Boldirev to make the Black Hawks a 4-3 winner and send them back to Boston for tonight's deciding third game. The Rangers scored early and often on the way to a brawl-strewn 8-3 triumph and tonight's best-of-one matchup with the Islanders at Madison Square Garden.

Meanwhile, at the Nassau Coliseum, the fellow working double-time was the man on the penalty clocks. By the time the Rangers finished stomping the Islanders in the second game of New York's "commuter series," 170 penalty minutes had ticked away — as had the hopes of an Islanders sweep into the NHL quarter-finals.

There will be no such fun for St. Louis, singing the Blues after time ran out on their championship dreams. A short-

Weary Colonels Take 3-0 Lead Over Sounds

By The Associated Press

Momentum usually is a major factor in a team's performance, but the Kentucky Colonels, winners of their last 13 games, would rather take a rest right now.

"We've won 13 games in 19 days, but we're a tired ball club," Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown admitted Thursday night after his Colonels had demolished Memphis 101-80 for their third straight victory over the Sounds in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

"We'd love to have the extra time (off) a sweep would give us," continued Brown. "I think our guys are thinking about this and we won't let up Friday night."

The Colonels can complete a sweep of the best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal series with another victory over the Sounds tonight at Memphis.

The surprising Indiana Pacers also took a 3-0 lead over San Antonio in their Western Division semifinal series, beating the Spurs 113-103 in overtime Thursday night. The Pacers go for a sweep Saturday night at Indiana.

Eddie Williams Signs At Murray

Eddie Williams: Blue-Chip Recruit Home-Court Record Of Bullets Didn't Worry Buffalo Braves

By The Associated Press
The Washington Bullets had the best home-court record in the National Basketball Association this season, winning 36 games—tying a league record—and losing only five.

But the Buffalo Braves certainly aren't convinced of the Bullets' superiority at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md.

During the regular season, the Braves won both their games against Washington on the Bullets' court. And Thursday night, they again beat the Bullets at Landover, 113-102, in the opening game of their best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series.

In other NBA playoff games, the Detroit Pistons tied their best-of-three opening round Western Conference series against Seattle, thrashing the SuperSonics, 122-106, and the New York Knicks evened their best-of-three opening round Eastern Conference series against Houston, beating the Rockets 106-96.

Detroit will be at Seattle Saturday night in the final game of their series, with the winner going on to meet Golden State. New York will be at Houston Saturday afternoon in their nationally televised final game, with the winner to face Boston.

Pistons 122, SuperSonics 106
Dave Bing's 24 points and 11 assists, George Trapp's 24 points and Curtis Rowe's 22 points triggered Detroit's fast-breaking offense against defenseless Seattle. Fred Brown was high for Seattle with 30.

"Bad defense," said Seattle Coach Bill Russell in explaining his team's loss.

The Sonics had won the opening game 90-77 with their best defensive effort of the season. That defense wasn't evident in the second game.

Knicks 106, Rockets 96
Reserve Jim Barnett came off the bench in the second period and ignited a decisive 20-6 spurt that carried the Knicks to victory and enabled them to avenge a 99-84 opening-game loss. Barnett had nine of his 15 points in the second-quarter burst. Walt Frazier topped New York with 26 points.

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 22 points for Houston and Calvin Murphy had 20.

Fred Overton finally has a piece of the pie.

When the Murray State basketball coach stuck in his thumb, the plumb he pulled out came in the form of 6-5 Eddie Williams of nearby Mayfield.

Williams is the first player Murray has announced as having signed a national letter of intent. Overton hopes that with Williams in fold, several other highly-touted prospects will join the ranks.

"The big thing Eddie brings to Murray is the great inside game and the ability to play both ends of the floor," explained a jubilant Overton just after the signing.

"We only had two players last year that were true inside men, but now with Eddie, we have some much needed strength." Williams, who played last year under Coach Bob Sparks, was one of the most highly sought after prep players in the area.

But in the end, it was between Murray and Vanderbilt as to where the silky smooth high school senior would go to school. That's when Overton pulled out his plumb.

"He's a great young man with outstanding scholarship and he's from within our community," Overton continued. "This is something we've all been looking for."

"With Williams and the possibility of getting a couple of more kids from the area, our program has the potential of reaching great heights."

Williams has had a brilliant career at Mayfield.

Although his team was knocked out of the Regional Tournament in the semifinals by eventual champ Carlisle County, he reaped many honors. Among them Prep-All-America, Courier-Journal Second Team All-State, All-Region and All-District.

As a senior, he averaged 24.5 points and 11.8 rebounds per game as compared to 19.5 points and 14.7 rebounds during his junior year. He ranks first among all-time Mayfield rebounders with 1,064. That figure is 204 more than the next closest player on the list.

And his 1,721 points places him behind only Joe Ford as Mayfield's all-time leading scorer. His 43 points against Marshall County last year ranks him third among single game highs.

"He's just a sound basketball player in all parts of the game as far as fundamentals go," Sparks, his high school coach, emphasized.

"And before he's through, he'll develop into a great outside shooter."

Of course a question looming in many people's minds is why did Williams finally decide on Murray?

"He thought he'd be more comfortable playing close to home," answered Sparks. "And Coach Overton made a tremendous impression on him."

According to Sparks, Williams is among the two best prep players he's ever coached—the other, of course, being Joe Ford who is now a starter at Vanderbilt. Most area fans should also recall that Arby Arnold and Warren Fiser also played for the Cardinals.

"Ford and Williams are two completely different type players," Sparks added.

"Ford could do some things better and Eddie could do others better. Eddie is certainly one of the best to ever come out of Mayfield."

Williams is an excellent leaper with exceptional quickness and as a high school player, gained experience playing with his back to the basket or facing it. That's one of the reasons Overton thinks he is so valuable.

"He will fit right in here," said the flamboyant Racer coach.

"He has the personality, character and ability to help make us a winner. We need people like this."

Overton doesn't hesitate to say that Eddie Williams is one of the better players he's signed since entering the coaching and recruiting business.

And he should know what he's talking about. After all, he inked the likes of Bird Averitt, now with the Kentucky Colonels, when he was at Pepperdine; Howard Wright at Austin Peay; and Mike Coleman and present star Jesse Williams at Murray.

Red-Hot Reds Sweep Series With Dodgers

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds picked up where the Los Angeles Dodgers left off.

The Dodgers were National League baseball champions last year and they're still the defending champions. But the Reds have made the first three jumps in a checkers game that is expected to end only when there is one king left.

Whether he will be Los Angeles or Cincinnati blue may still be 159 games from being determined, but the Reds three-game sweep of the first crucial series of the season had them thinking about an abdication.

"We might have drained a little morale out of them," said reliever Clay Carroll after he nailed down the Reds' uphill 7-6 victory Thursday night. It was the third straight one-run victory for the Reds over the Dodgers.

The Dodgers won the NL West last year by four games, beating Cincinnati 12 out of 18 times along the way. The Reds didn't play Thursday night like they were impressed with that performance, rebounding from deficits of 5-0 and 6-5.

"This means a lot to us," said Tony Perez, who supplied the clutch tie-breaking double in the eighth inning. "That's how they beat us last year."

Elsewhere in the NL, the St. Louis Cardinals dumped the Montreal Expos 7-2; the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the New York Mets 3-2 in 11 innings; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Chicago Cubs 8-4, and the San Francisco Giants blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0 in 11 innings.

With one out in the eighth Los Angeles reliever Charlie Hough, who lost opening day to the Reds, hit Pete Rose with a pitch. Then, just to prove it was an accident, he did it again, hitting the next batter Joe Morgan.

Perez, reportedly peddled by the Reds at baseball's winter meetings, then proved everybody else's loss was Cincinnati's gain by ripping a double down the left-field line. Morgan was thrown out trying to score.

but Carroll protected the one-run margin and the Dodgers had been run out of town winless.

The Reds had scored five runs in the fourth to tie the game at 5-5, but Bill Buckner's run-scoring double in the sixth put the Dodgers in front. In the seventh, George Foster tied the game again with his second homer of the night.

Foster's first homer, a lead-off blast, sparked Cincinnati's five-run fourth inning. Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson called that shot "the hardest ball I've ever seen. It was a rocket."

Philis 3, Mets 2, 11 innings
Physically, Tony Taylor doesn't get into games until late but mentally he's in there before the first pitch.

"Every day when I come to the ballpark I've got to prepare myself mentally," Taylor said. "I say to myself, 'I'm going to pinch hit today and I'm going to get a hit.' It's a full-time job."

His last swing was one too many for the Mets. Taylor sent Alan Bannister from first to home with his 11th-inning double that snapped a tie and beat the Mets.

Pirates 8, Cubs 4
The Pittsburgh bats, still warm from two extra days in the Florida sunshine, were able to cut through the chill in Chicago. And Willie Stargell's bat was the hottest.

Stargell, the Pirates' massive slugger, belted four home runs enroute to a four-hit day, as Pittsburgh dumped Chicago.

Chicago's pitchers gave up four home runs. Manny Sanguillen and Richie Hebner contributed the other two.

Cardinals 7, Expos 2
Rookie pitcher John Denny overcame Montreal and a case of the jitters for his first major league victory.

Denny, who gave up five hits, left the game in the seventh with a 3-2 lead. He was made even happier an inning later when the Cardinals fattened the spread with four more runs.

Lotu Brock slammed a bases-loaded double to highlight the burst and reliever Al Hrabosky made it stand up with two flawless innings.

Giants 2, Padres 0, 10 innings
Bobby Murcer made his first game in the National League memorable with a run-scoring double that gave pitcher Jim Barr and the Giants their extra-inning triumph over the Padres.

Murcer, the former New York Yankee star, tagged reliever Rich Fulkers for a double and raced home on Gary Matthews' double. Chris Speier then sacrificed and Matthews came home on Steve Ontiveros' ground out.

Barr went the distance, yielding eight hits. The big right-hander struck out four and walked one.

Leaders Predict Rejection Of Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders predict rejection of President Ford's more than doubled request for $722 million in military aid for South Vietnam but indicate likely approval of limited authority for U.S. troops to evacuate endangered Americans and Vietnamese.

Even before Ford spoke to an unusually grim and silent joint session of Congress and to the nation Thursday night, key lawmakers were saying there was virtually no chance that additional arms would be voted for South Vietnam. "The Congress will never vote for military aid," declared House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts.

"Further military assistance would only prolong or merely postpone an ultimate Communist victory," said Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee and until recently a strong supporter of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Ford coupled his request for the additional military aid, more than double the $300 million for arms and ammunition he has been unsuccessfully seeking for South Vietnam since January, with an appeal for a $250 million initial installment for food, medical supplies and other humanitarian aid for the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese refugees.

In contrast, he made no renewal of his $222 million aid request for neighboring Cambodia, declaring "it may be too late" already to prevent the fall of that embattled country to Communist insurgents.

He called on Congress to act by the end of next week to clarify restrictions on the use of U.S. troops in Indochina so the troops can be used to protect American lives "by ensuring their evacuation, should this become necessary," and to help pull out up to 200,000 friendly Vietnamese.

"I hope that this authority will never be used, but if it is needed there will be no time for congressional debate," Ford said.

When he reached the portion of his "State of the World" speech in which he appealed for the extra Vietnam aid "without delay," there was an eerie silence through the vast House chamber, dotted with an unusually large number of empty seats.

"The sums I had requested before the major North Vietnamese offensive and the sudden South Vietnamese retreat are obviously inadequate," Ford said. "Half-hearted action would be worse than none. We must act together and decisively."

Several longtime war foes, such as Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., shook their heads in disapproval. Freshman Reps. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., and George Miller, D-Calif., walked out.

In all, the President was applauded only 12 times through the hour-long speech, most of it from Republicans. Half of the bursts came near the end when he appealed for a continued strong defense and warned against destruction of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Initial congressional reaction produced virtually unanimous agreement that Ford should have authority to use U.S. troops to evacuate the 6,000 remaining Americans in South Vietnam. Some members of Congress said they thought the President had that already.

There was less certainty, however, about the possible use of the troops to evacuate what Ford referred to as "those Vietnamese to whom we have a special obligation and whose lives may be endangered should the worst come to pass."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said he feared using U.S. troops to evacuate large numbers of Vietnamese because it "would be getting us into a very, very dangerous situation because they could be used all over South Vietnam and the next thing we knew we'd be right back in that war."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., stressed the need to limit whatever authority is given to insure it is not misused at some future date for actions beyond those intended.

The White House had indicated in recent days that Ford would take a conciliatory tone towards the heavily Democratic Congress. The speech was filled with vows to "start afresh" and work with lawmakers "in the spirit of candor and consultation."

However, Ford firmly maintained his earlier stance that more U.S. military aid for South Vietnam was a necessity. That led Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., a long-time war critic, to say, "I'm appalled that a man could continue on such a bankrupt policy."

Ford shied away from predicting that the aid could turn the tide in Vietnam, confining himself to the statement that "a stabilization of the military situation offers the best opportunity for a political solution" and warning of the possible impact on other U.S. allies of a refusal to grant aid.

Generally, most support for Ford came from his fellow Republicans.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller termed the address "a great speech, forcefully delivered and with deep conviction," while Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott said Ford gave a "courageous" speech in which he "told the American people the truth, the unpleasant truth."

Though Ford's speech was intended as a worldwide foreign policy review, it omitted mention of a number of trouble spots, including Portugal, scene of rising Communist strength, and Cuba.

Besides the Vietnam aid, Ford asked for:

—Repeal of the provision barring U.S. military aid to Turkey, passed last year because of Turkey's invasion of Cyprus.

—Passage of legislation to permit him to waive restrictions in last year's trade act, such as the refusal to grant trade benefits to countries such as Ecuador, Venezuela, Nigeria and Indonesia which refused to join Arab nations in the 1973 oil embargo against the United States.

—Legislation to undo the trade law provision barring trade benefits for the Soviet Union because of its emigration policies, a provision Ford said has harmed U.S.-Soviet relations and given Western Europe and Japan business that could have gone to the United States.

BSU Choir in Washington — The Baptist Student Union Choir of Murray State University recently performed on the steps of the United States Capitol in Washington. The choir, which was on tour during MSU's spring vacation in March, sang several selections and was escorted to the steps by U.S. Congressman Carroll Hubbard.

Ford Says He Cancelled Chairlift After Learning Of Act Violation

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Former Gov. Wendell Ford has testified he canceled the proposed chairlift at Cumberland Falls a week after he first learned it might violate the state Wild Rivers Act.

A deposition by Ford to that effect was filed Thursday in Franklin Circuit Court. It was filed by C. Kilmer Combs, attorney for Edward Music, as part of Music's $1.7 million suit to recover expenses and lost profits as a result of Ford's canceling his contract to build the chairlift.

Ford said he was not told until around May 23 or 24, 1974, that the chairlift might violate the Wild Rivers Act. He said he had that possibility checked out and canceled the contract May 28 after being told it would violate the law.

Ford acknowledged making no effort to see if the chairlift could be built without violating the wild rivers law. He said the proposed site was within 250 feet of the middle of the river and the Wild Rivers Act prohibits construction of any man-made device within 2,500 feet, or within sight, of a river so protected.

Ford said he felt both the state and Music had made a mistake in not knowing the Wild Rivers Act prohibited the project.

"One who is entering into a contract ought to be sure the contract is good, and I think some of the responsibility should have been on the other side — to check out that he was getting a contract that would not be in violation of any statutes," he said.

Ford and Music settled the case by agreeing, shortly before Ford resigned as governor to become a U.S. senator in December, to have the state pay Music $127,000 for his expenses. But Gov. Julian Carroll stopped that settlement upon taking over as governor and the initial case has wound up back in court.

Circuit Judge Henry Meigs already has heard arguments and received briefs on the case and presumably now will rule on the matter.

Former Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnson, who did the preliminary work on the project and contract, said in another deposition filed Thursday he had never been told the Wild Rivers Act covered the Cumberland Falls area.

Johnson said the first he knew the area might be covered was when Ford asked him to see if it would. That was in late May, he said, when he met Ford at the Mountain Laurel Festival in Pineville.

Johnson's deposition said he first discussed the proposed chairlift at Cumberland Falls early in his administration as parks commissioner, in early 1972.

Ford said in his deposition the first he knew of the project was when he received a copy of the Faris report and asked Johnson, in a letter dated Dec. 27, 1973, to advise him about it.

"You've stopped raising a son. You're building a partner. Let us help."

Deaths and Funerals

Rites Held Today For Jesse Roberts

The funeral for Jesse Roberts, retired Calloway mail carrier, was held this morning at eleven o'clock at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. Rodney Travis of Benton officiating and Richard Jones as organist.

Ronnie Parker, Rev. Lloyd Mayer, Rudy Holland, Joe Ryan Cooper, B. C. Grogan, and Armon Owens served as pallbearers. Burial was in the Ivy Cemetery.

Mr. Roberts, age 87, died Wednesday at the Benton Municipal Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pattie Beale Roberts, daughter, Mrs. Bill Farris, and three granddaughters, Mrs. Wade Outland, Miss Ethel Farris, and Miss Susan Farris.

Joseph McCabe, Sr.

Dies Thursday At Local Hospital

Joseph McCabe, Sr., of Murray Route Eight died Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 65 years of age.

The deceased was a retired tinsmith of the Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago, Ill., and he and his wife had moved to Murray from Villa Park, Ill., in October 1969. A member of St. Leo's Catholic Church, he was an Army veteran of World War II.

Born July 26, 1909, in McHenry, Ill., he was the son of the late Patrick McCabe and Catherine McCabe. He and his wife, the former Erna Marose, who survives, were married January 31, 1948.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. McCabe, Sr., Murray Route Eight; one son, Joseph McCabe, Jr., and two granddaughters, Lisa and Melanie McCabe, Lombard, Ill.; six sisters, Mrs. Margaret Foote, Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Mae Bennett, Schaumburg, Ill., Mrs. Lillian Stack, Elmwood Park, Ill., Mrs. Catherine Bottler, Pewaukee, Wisc., Mrs. Lucy McDonald, Plainfield, Wisc., and Mrs. Agnes Seelback, Antonito, Colo.

Memorial services will be held at a later date. The body was taken to the University of Kentucky Medical School, Lexington, as per the will of the deceased. The Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home had charge of the arrangements.

Trailer Burns At Lakeway Shores

The Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad answered a call to the frame trailer of E. A. Carter at Lakeway Shores at 5:15 p. m. Thursday.

A squad spokesman said the building was not occupied at the time and was owned by E. A. Carter of Route Two, Cedar Hill, Tenn.

Neighbors told squad members they heard an explosion before the fire, according to the squad report. Thirteen men and three units answered the call.

Symposium . . .

Green, Ohio, contended that the original purpose of the colonial "elites" was "essentially a conservative one."

"They demonstrated a skill and flexibility that allowed a major restructuring of the social and political order without the destructiveness of many subsequent revolutionary movements," he said.

"The revolution was 'a quest for equality,' he pointed out, emphasizing that after the conflict there was greater equality of popular participation in government and of social advance opportunities when compared with those existing prior to the period.

Even so, he said, many people were still excluded from the American dream, and the individualism that the revolution brought with it displaced consideration of coherence and stability of the social order with an instability in American social and political life.

The third of the three visiting lecturers participating in the symposium, designed to help equip junior high, high school and college history teachers for more meaningful teaching of the Revolutionary War period, was Dr. Joseph A. Ernst, York University, Toronto, Canada.

Dr. Ernst's paper dealt with the response of the various interests in America—the merchants, farmers and the planters—to the new economic legislation that came from the British after 1773.

That response, he said, brought about the dominate treasurer's position as a senior.

Cole, a pretty green-eyed blond, said last night after the final voting machine report was tabulated, "I'd sincerely like to meet the needs and wants of the students who elected me to serve as their president."

Asked by one of her supporters about the fact she will be the first woman student body leader in recent history, she said laughingly, "I think it an honor to be in this position, but not just because I'm a female, but rather because the students approved what I as an individual represent."

In the senior class races, only the vice president's clash was a true contest as James Heady, Morganfield, edged George Partridge, Anna, Ill., 179-128.

Jeff Green of Hickman, Joyce Newcom, Lacerator, and Richard Stacey, Paducah, all were elected as senior president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Although four senior representatives were chosen in the voting, a special run-off election may have to be held as Steve W. Givens, Mayfield, and Georgia Hillerman, Chester, Ill., deadlocked at 195 votes each as the top choices of present MSU juniors.

The representative in each class who receives the most votes sits on the Student Activities Board as well as the Student Senate.

Other senior representatives selected were Marsha Porter, Henderson, and Bob Boeschel, Louisville.

Mark Graham nudged out Kerry Buckley for the top position in the junior class in the closest presidential contest of the election. Graham, of Florissant, Mo., had 233 votes, while Buckley, of Keokuk, received 204.

Bill Briggs, Louisville, and Cathy Brooks, Grover, Mo., were chosen junior vice president and treasurer, respectively, as both ran unopposed, while Betty Veatch, Clinton, "dumped" Brian Stephenson, Louisville, 255-158, for the secretary's post.

Trina Habacker, Washington, Ill., Larry Lockhart, Murray, Evelyn Seaton, Calvert City, and Beth Baxter, Owensboro, were all chosen junior representatives.

In another close vice-presidential race, Steve Dages, form of protest of the decade, non-importation, and it and others' influence on a larger question which was in the minds of the colonials: Whether the British economic system, as they lived and understood it, was acceptable to them.

"They go from a simple system of reform trying to get the British to change their minds on economic matters to the larger question of whether or not they can live with any system which they come to see as more and more burdensome," he said.

Ernest also pointed out that the decade 1763-73 was a critical one because it is marked by two major economic depressions.

"Given those two economic crises, and the British economic legislation after 1773, a doubt is raised in the colonial minds as to whether or not they wanted to continue within the British mercantile system," he said. "It is that doubt which has to do with the coming of independence, which, in this

Carroll Opposed To Abolition Of Lt. Governor Post

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll says he's not in favor of a proposal that would abolish the office of lieutenant governor in Kentucky.

The proposal was submitted to a legislative committee last Monday by House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus.

Carroll said Thursday that the office has been effective during the last two terms and that he wants it to be productive in the future.

"As governor, I intend to make the lieutenant governor my partner in the operation of state government and intend to give him certain functions and responsibilities," Carroll said.

Carroll was lieutenant governor under former Gov. Wendell Ford.

Carroll is seeking a full term as governor in the May 27 Democratic primary. His opponents are Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, State Auditor Mary Louise Foust and Robert M. Johnson of Louisville.

Louisville, topped Mark Hardin, Owensboro, by 32 votes, 252-220, to grab the only contested top position in the sophomore class.

Ed Miller, Riverside, N. J., Eleanor Mills, Custon, and Karen Miller, Columbus, Ohio, were all selected for uncontested presidential, secretarial, and treasurer duties.

Of seven candidates seeking the sophomore representative seats, Noel Hudson, Owensboro, Karen Gordon, Benton, Cathy Hancock, Louisville, and Cynthia Bugg, Wingo, were victorious.

Three graduate representatives were chosen by graduate students to fill their positions on the SGA as Dan Anderson, Madisonville, Sharon Wynn, Murray, and Wayne Burnette, Paducah, all won seats.

Freshman elections are always conducted independently from the upperclassmen's event on campus.
