Hickman To Install Parking Meters Soon

Parking Meters May Yet Be Installed In Fulton, Some Believe.

The board of the city council of Hickman has authorized the mayor to contract with Duncan Meter Corporation for 130, more or less, parking meters to be installed in the business district of Hickman.

The list of communities that have installed parking meters as a means of controlling congested parking areas and providing additional revenue is growing steadily. Union City, Mayfield, Paris, Dyersburg, Hickman are among those in this vicinity. The Fulton council recently withdrew a plan to install meters here after protest by local business group. Now the council is asking this group to support a movement to inaugurate a privilege license tax here as proposed during the protest meeting several weeks ago.

The company representative at the meeting of the Hickman council stated that the meters would take 10 pennies or two nickels.

The Hickman council passed an ordinance giving the state highway department a right-of-way on the streets over which state or federal highways are routed.

Park Director Would Reduce Size Of The Columbus Park Area

Russell Dyche, director of Kentucky state parks, has recommended that the state dispose of all land south of Highway 98 in Columbus Belmont State Park, in his annual report.

The park lies astride Highway 98 and all developments are north of the highway. No benefit has ever come from the approximately 200 acres on the south side of the highway, which has been taken over in considerable part by persons living in the neighborhood, the report says.

Mr. Dyche also declared that he was happy to note "that the Tennessee Valley Authority has in process the transfer in fee simple of all the land of the proposed Kentucky Lake state park area, including considerable additions to their first proposal at both the north and south ends of the area." "It is the present plan of this Division," he continued, "to build a park for negroes on the northern or lower portion of the Kentucky Lake area to be named Cherokee State Park. This makes necessary the additional land and lake frontage we are requesting of the TVA and its full development will require acquisition of additional lands now under private ownership."

"Kentucky Lake state park for whites only, will be above the Eggers Ferry Bridge and additional land acquisition is indicated there also. An adequate buffer area immediately below the bridge will be maintained between the two parks."

Support Prices Now To Next Two Years

President's End of Hostilities Declaration of Significance To Ky-Tenn. Farmers

President Truman's recent declaration of an end of hostilities has particular significance to Kentucky and Tennessee farmers. As a result of the President's proclamation, the period in which price supports for agricultural products will apply, under present law, is two years beginning January 1, 1947. This means, that under the law as it now stands the government will support the price of so-called basic commodities in 1947 and 1948 at 90 percent of parity, with the exception of cotton, which will be supported at 92.5 percent of parity. Other basic commodities are corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts for nuts.

In addition to these items, support at 90 percent of parity is provided for a number of other products for which substantial increases were requested during the war. These include the following important products produced in Tennessee: hogs, eggs, chickens (except broilers), turkeys, milk and butterfat, soybeans for oil, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

One major product which no support is provided under present law is beef cattle.

The U. S. average parity price on November 15 for some representative products was $1.36 per bushel for corn; $1.87 per bushel for wheat; $15.40 per hundred-weight for hogs; $3.73 per hundred weight for wholesale milk; and 26.3 per pound for cotton.

GREENWRAP TOMATOES TO CONTINUE THIS YEAR

The green-wrap tomato program will be continued as usual through the 1947 season. H. C. Spillman, chairman board of directors, of the Graves County Farm Bureau Co-operative Marketing Association, announced.

A very wet season last year brought very poor production of suitable green-wrap tomatoes last season. But market prices remained up.

Inferior chicks are expensive at any price—buy early from high quality stock.

Work On Creek To Start This Spring, Officials Believe

30 Property Owners Have Agreed With City For Right-Of-Way Others Pending.

Contract will be let for improving Harris Fork Creek through the city limits of Fulton and South Fulton, sometime this spring, unless some unforeseen legal block appears to temporarily stall the city's major project. The creek work will include cleaning, widening and straightening of the creek right-of-way for the purpose of eliminating perennial floods, that cause annual damage running into thousands of dollars.

Approximately 30 property owners have already given right of way to the city or agreed to a settlement, and about 17 other cases are pending. James Warren city attorney stated this week. An ordinance has been passed providing for the issuance of $40,000 creek bonds to be sold as needed.

The states of Kentucky and Tennessee have agreed to bear one-half the cost of construction work in their respective state. The legal costs, right-of-way and the remaining half of construction cost are to be borne by the city of Fulton. This cost is to be assessed against property inside the flood area, which district has already been set up by the city.

The city of South Fulton has already obtained right of way through the Tennessee municipality. The Illinois Central railroad has agreed to co-operate where their property connects with the creek right of way, and has set aside $5,000 to aid the creek project.

YMBC To Meet At Cayce January 28

The annual Boy Scout drive will be conducted in February, Robert Burrow, the president, announced. He thanked the club for its fine support in the recent Christmas seal campaign, and for the new club home sign located at the foot of the stairway. The sign was provided through the co-operation of Mr. Brown, local theater manager.

Finis-Vancil, Preston Watts and James Wheelis were admitted as new club members.

Fulton Group In Car Wreck; Escape Injury

Members of the Obion County delegation attending the Tennessee Education Association held last week in Nashville included: Ed Eller, South Fulton principal; Milton Hamilton, county superintendent; C. D. Hilliard, grade school superintendent; C. D. Parr, W. B. Forrester, W. T. Latimer, R. A. Fowkes, Mrs. Mary Louise Welch Mrs. Nell Foresee.

While returning home, Mr. Hilliard's car and a truck were in a collision near Dresden. No one was injured.

Delegates report favorable public opinion of Governor McCord's two per cent sales tax, which will likely become law.

This measure provides that $14,000,000 of the estimated $20,000,000 income should be used for educational purposes. That would mean a flat $300 yearly raise for each school teacher in Tennessee.

Farming is a complex business, and the man who doesn't keep up with farm science cannot logically expect to get ahead.

READING ON THE FLOOR

All sorts of people have left records of reading in their youth. Some have delighted to tell of how they received some great book as a present and forthwith became lost to all the world while they read it. Others have told of borrowing from a neighbor a book that transformed their lives. But I do not recall having read of any one who told of reading on the floor.

In our big family and little house, space was decidedly at a premium. It was hardly possible for every person to have his own table or desk, where he could keep his books and do his reading. Consequently, I found it very convenient to read on the floor. Again, to save space, I would lie under a bed and let only head and shoulders protrude. Lying flat on my stomach, I would pore over books that I could read or, earlier, books that contained maps or pictures.

When I was just a little boy, father subscribed for the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION at a time when a world atlas was given with each subscription. I fairly wore that atlas out in my under-the-bed reading and studying maps. It was about the size of the big geographies that my older brothers and sisters used at Fidelity School. Its fine print was a little hard on young eyes, particularly as people circulated in the room, but the charm of its facts and its numerous maps beguiled hundreds of hours that otherwise might have been weary.

There is an art in being able to read on the floor. First you must know how to prop up your head with one arm and turn the pages with the other. You must know how to be comfortable on your stomach and not have your legs go to sleep while you are lost in Russia or Australia or Argentina. Probably the greatest skill is required in being able to concentrate on your reading while the family mills about you. It is no small art to be able to avoid being stepped on as the littlest member of the family.

I suppose that reading on the floor grew out of our earlier playing on the floor. Every child that I have known, in shacks or near places, has liked to play on the rug or the bare floor. No amount of civilization seems to make newer generations of children less likely to play thus. Early we had small books, like my old linen Alphabet of Animals, in which I learned to read. We soon graduated to elementary school books, with their wood cuts (and in this way bridged the gap from mere pictures to the more difficult art of reading).

Of course, reading on the floor was a daytime task, for no light could reach us from the coal-oil lamps at night. Besides, it was dark under the beds and suggestive of the frightful things that we read about. Sometimes in our day reading or looking at pictures we might grow tired. It was easy to withdraw our heads from out among the people and take a peaceful nap right among our books. That habit still obtains for me, for I love to doze in my chair and wake up to start all over again on the interesting or necessary book that remains open before me.

It was easy, too, to make the book or atlas an excuse to remain in the midst of things and listen to the conversation of the big folks. Without appearing to be the least bit interested, I gathered the gist of what was being said and meanwhile imagined myself traveling into the remotest countries that the atlas mentioned. After all, can you imagine any better place to read than this semi-private reading room, out of the way for the most part but near enough to see and hear all that was going on?

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

A good way to use canned vegetables is to make them into a chowder—a hearty main dish for lunch or supper. Any combination of vegetables may be used, although one is used in larger quantity with smaller amounts of others for added flavor. Miss Florence Imlay, food specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, suggests the following:

Corn Chowder

- 4 cups potatoes cut in small pieces
- 1 1-2 inch cube salt pork or bacon
- 1 small onion

2 tablespoons pimento or green pepper

- 1 1-2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 2 cups of corn
- 2 cups scalded milk

While the potatoes are boiling, cut the pork in small pieces and fry out the fat. Add the chopped onion and fry slowly. Combine with the potatoes and potato water (there should be two cups of the latter.) Add the corn, pimento or green pepper, seasonings and not milk. Heat to the boiling point and serve with crackers.

$7,451,000 ALLOCATED TO AID KY. FARMERS MAINTAIN SOIL FERTILITY

To aid farmers in maintaining the fertility of Kentucky soil, $7,451,000 of the proposed 1947 Agricultural Conservation Program funds have been allocated to the State this year, M. D. Royse, state director of Production and Marketing Administration, announced this week.

As in past years, these funds will be used to repay a part of farmers' costs for approved conservation practices on their farms during the year or to furnish certain materials, such as lime and phosphate, used in carrying out these practices.

Soil conservation and soil building practices for which the funds may be used were selected from among those recommended by elected farmer committeemen in the counties.

Practices approved in this statewide conservation program for 1947 include spreading ground limestone on farm land; applying phosphate to eligible grasses and legumes; applying potash to grasses and legumes; seeding winter cover crops; turning under green manure crops; establishing or improving permanent pasture; constructing stockwater dams and ponds; planting row crops on the contour; terracing and ditching of land to reduce erosion and conserve moisture; draining wet land; planting forest trees; harvesting needed legume seeds.

Each farmer in Kentucky will be able to qualify for assistance in carrying out any of these approved practices needed on his farm. To insure an equitable distribution of the funds, a farm allowance is set up for each farm in the state. This allowance is based on the crop land and no-crop pasture in the farm.

JERSEY BREEDERS TO PUSH DAIRYING IN TENNESSEE

The promotion of Jerseys and of dairying on a local basis will be the chief goal of district or 'parish' organizations to be formed throughout the State of Tennessee by the Jersey Cattle Club.

Tentatively, nine districts or 'parishes' are contemplated for the State, and organization meetings have been scheduled starting this month. All Jersey breeders and all persons interested in Jerseys, purebreds and grades, and persons interested in dairying generally are invited to attend the nearest meeting.

Helping with the meetings will be a field man of the American Jersey Cattle Club, the secretary of the Tennessee Jersey Cattle Club, members of the Extension Service, and breeders from various parts of the State.

Following is the schedule of One of these meetings will be held at Martin, January 23 with representatives present from Dyer, Obion, Lake, Benton, Carroll, Gibson, Benton, and Weakley counties.

DEMAND AND PRICE SITUATION

The high level of general business activity continues to support a strong demand for agricultural products.

The Department of Agriculture says that income payments to individuals in October rose to a new peak annual rate of $172 billion—primarily because of greater than usual seasonal advances in agricultural incomes.

Many people need information along all lines of human activity and affairs. A real leader possesses understanding which is not to be confused with more intelligence.

Young people should be encouraged to invest their money as fast as they have anything to invest. Collecting interest is much easier than working.

Accidents on our highways are increasing which means that traffic regulations must be more strictly enforced than ever before if we are to reduce the number of fatalities.

Courtesy is love in trifles, and where love is not, though its counterfeits may abound, courtesy itself is not.—George Jackson.

The small courtesies sweeten life; the greater, ennoble it.—Bovee

It's good business to gain several extra bushels of corn with a little fertilizer, since labor cost per acre with or without fertilizer would be about the same.

Retonga Gave Relief When Hope Was Low

Eats Whatever She Wants Now And Feels Happier and Stronger Than In Years, States Mrs. Greene, Tells Of Her Case.

MRS. W. L. GREENE

"I felt so run-down I often had to rest from my housework and sometimes I was so despondent it was hard to even keep hoping, but thanks to Retonga I now feel splendid," gratefully declares Mrs. W. L. Green, well-known resident of 2004 E. 33rd St., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"I suffered so much from indigestion that it took all my will-power to pull myself out of spells of worrying," continued Mrs. Greene. "Food didn't appeal to me and when I made myself eat to keep up a little strength, gas pains and suffering would begin. Nights I would wake up after sleeping a short time and stay wide awake until it seemed the night would never end. My elimination was so sluggish I was almost a slave to laxatives, and I felt so weakened that almost any physical effort seemed to wear me out.

"Retonga brought grand relief. I now have the appetite of a growing youngster and eat anything. I sleep well and have stopped taking strong laxatives. I feel stronger and happier than in years. I wish everyone knew what Retonga did for me."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at the City Drug Co., formerly DeMeyer Drug Co. adv.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Life" is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 19, 1947.

The Golden Text is: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life and this life is in His Son." (1 John 5:11)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." (John 17:3)

The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "What is life? Life is divine principle, mind, soul, spirit—Life is neither in nor of matter. What is termed matter is unknown to spirit, which includes in itself all substance and is Life eternal." (P. 468).

LADINO CLOVER MAKES PROGRESS IN FULTON CO.

Giant Clover Got Start In This Vicinity By Accident.

An article in the January issue of the Progressive Farmer says: "The story is told that W. W. Kimes, of Fulton county, was disappointed. A clerk had given him the wrong seed and it was already in the ground before the mistake was discovered. That was in 1939. It marked the birth of a new pasture crop in West Kentucky.

"S. V. Foy, former Fulton county agent, fostered and encouraged the saving of seed from the first field. Experts identified the new-come as Ladino clover, a giant brother of common white clover, grown only in the irrigated west lands.

"From Fulton county the seed spread to adjoining Hickman county. These two counties are now centers of production of Southern Ladino clover. After seven years of trial and observation, growers enthusiastic over its results. Popularity has grown to the size of 8,000 acres in the two counties and a seed demand which cannot be met by producers. The mistake paid off.

"We visited with Warren Thompson, Hickman county agent. He was eager to show off the luxuriant patches which spot his county. Circled the fields of Cecil Binford, one of the first growers, gives a good idea of what the new legume will do. The resemblance to common white clover was easily seen. Just can't tell any difference in the seed. Mr. Binford demonstrated, separating the small yellow seeds in his palm. The leaves and rest of the plant were identical, except for being 5 or 6 times larger than the usual white clover. In places it was over 12 inches high.

"Under foot you could feel the cushion formed by the mass of runners growing from individual crowns. When the crowns die, another is formed where these roots enter the ground, Thompson pointed out. 'Once you get a stand it seems to remain indefinitely. We think it's just the thing to hold back erosion,' Binford said. 'Yet it can be destroyed easily with one plowing.' Cutting across a field that had recently been broken out of Ladino you could see that the soil was left in a fine mellow condition.

"At the farm of Master Farmer J. T. Reed, in Hickman county, fine Shorthorns were going after a mixture of Ladino and grass. He said he watched them closely. 'Ladino will bloat cattle like any other clover, but this is not as bad with the grass mixture. Seems like both do better when growing together,' He told me that some of his neighbors had made hay from Ladino. It was of good quality but mean to handle."

GET CHICKS EARLY FROM STOCK, POULTRYMEN SAY

Inferior chicks are expensive at any price, say Extension poultry specialists of the U. T. College of Agriculture, in urging early ordering of pullorum tested stock of high quality.

Since late-hatched chicks often make a slower rate of gain during the hot summer months, and may not mature as rapidly as earlier hatched chicks, every effort should be made to obtain chicks as early as possible. Then, be sure that houses, equipment, and yards are in good condition for the chicks' arrival, say poultry specialists. A good cleaning mixture is one can of household lye to 15 gallons of hot water. This should be applied freely to floors and walls of the chicken houses. Many poultry parasites can be destroyed this way.

Since clean range, not used for the previous two years for chickens or turkeys is good insurance, the brooder house should be moved to provide such range.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Mucilage Substitute

Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all necessary is to moisten the mucilage flap on another envelope, run the stamp over the damp part quickly, then place on the letter to be mailed.

Mending A Cracked Range

A crack on the inside of a range can be mended by using a filler made of equal parts of common table salt and wood ashes, moistened with water the the proper consistency. The filler will dry hard and will be lasting.

The Hanging Basket

A novel way to water the hanging basket, without spilling water on the floor, is to insert a small funnel in the dirt, as near the center of the basket as possible, and hidden by the foliage. Fill this funnel with water every day and it will soak into the soil gradually.

Testing Coffee

A way to test the quality of coffee is to put a spoonful in a glass of cold water and add a few drops of lemon juice. If the coffee is pure it will remain on top of the water; if not, the water will become brown in color.

The Patch Bag

A most practical patch bag can be made from a yard or two of mosquito netting. This enables one to see the contents from the outside, and there is no necessity for emptying the entire contents to find the exact piece of goods desired.

Pouring From Cans

The secret of pouring liquid from a can is to make two holes in the can instead of one, about an inch apart. The one hole is for the liquid to pour from, the other hole to let the air into the can.

Writing While Traveling

When necessary to write while traveling in an automobile, train, or bus, press the elbows into the body just above the hips, and you will find the task easy.

The Door Key

That important door key will not be evasive any more when the housewife returns from the grocery, if she will sew a large-sized dress hook inside her handbag, near the top, on which to hang the key.

Sewing Room Hint

Cut the strips containing buttons and button holes from discarded garments and use them under flys in new garments. This will save much time and labor.

To Clean Playing Cards

Soiled playing cards can be easily cleaned by dipping a small sponge in spirits of camphor and rubbing the card gently. This will restore the newness.

A Convenient High-Chair

If four rubber-tipped door stops are screwed into the legs of an ordinary chair, it will make an ideal high chair for kitchen work, or for a small child.

Ink Stains On Hands

A solution of peroxide of hydrogen containing a few drops of ammonia will remove ink stains from the hands.

In our own personal opinion there ought to be a law to protect the innocent purchaser, even if you have to put him in a cage.

Goodness and benevolence never tire. They maintain themselves and others and never stop from exhaustion.—Mary Baker Eddy.

don herold says:

I wish you were a millionaire

This may sound crazy in this day and age, but I wish there were 100 times as many millionaires in this country as there are today.

I wish you were one.

I wouldn't mind being one myself.

My theory is that almost every millionaire helps other people make money. Whether you like millionaires or not—most of them build businesses, set wheels turning, give jobs.

I don't mind if you make a million dollars if, in so doing, you add to the general activity and prosperity of America.

The amount of money to be made in America is not limited. We could make a total of 300 billion a year if we all worked hard and had good, energetic leadership.

The biggest trouble with most big talkers is that they don't understand what they are talking about. If they did, they wouldn't have so much to say.

I go on with what I am about as if there were nothing else in the world for the time being. That is the secret of all hard working men.—Kingsley.

TOO MANY TOUGH PROBLEMS

New Year's reviews of 1946 and prophecies for 1947 were messes and guesses.

World problems are complicated all the way from Russia to the South Pole, with everything else, in all directions. Most writers declared that the past twelve months were full of foolish failures.

To quote: "Constantinople is a very hard word and you can't spell it." But that has nothing to do with the case.

Washington has improved its regard for President Harry Truman since the November election started into coordinate relations between the White House and Congress. It seems uppermost in his mind to recognize the responsibility of the Congress and to join in practical ways to promote the interests of the People, instead of the two selfish old political parties.

The showdown fight between the President and John L. Lewis indicated that measures like the Case Bill and the Wagner Act will furnish patterns for settling industrial disputes, and will be passed by Congress and signed by the President. In general terms the President indicates willingness to meet the Republican controlled Congress more than half way.

Summed up, the new co-partnership between the Executive and Legislative branches of the Government promise to produce real results in the public interest. And that is encouraging.

Suppose you make your own guesses. Write them out on a piece of paper and look it over in December 1947—just to find out if you are a prophet or just another dreamer.

ANOTHER PHONY BUILD-UP

The so-called bright young men who like to pose as "labor leaders" but more, often of late have appeared as professional promoters of periodic management-labor fist-cuffs are starting off again on a new build-up. They are following a pattern that bids fair to become almost as much of a routine as that used by Tex Rickard back in his "Battle of the Century" days.

Initial phase of this build-up as engineered immediately after the war's end is getting some economist to release a report or study saying that wages can go up without any price increases. The auto workers used that one in 1945 vs. General Motors pinning their arguments on the later discredited and disavowed Department of Commerce report that Henry Wallace did not deny until two days after the long GM strike had ended.

HOMES FOR FAMILIES

The recent movements for more and better homes were intended to meet critical conditions. Huge production of new babies presented problems that could not be ignored. Uncle Sam and Sister Sue got into the game of home building ahead of the real estate sharks.

Finally President Truman and Congress began guessing that it might be better to have more houses to rent and so they interrupted the big racketeers who busted with the home building game—they were getting rich too quick.

It is evident that within a reasonable time veterans and civilians will be able to rent living quarters—and save their shirts without going into debt for the rest of their lives.

HOW ABOUT FUTURE TRAVEL?

Within less than half a century there has been a complete revolution in travel of all kinds. The railroads held the monopoly on all long distance land travel. Horses had the right of way for short distances. Then came the motor carriers and they bumped away for many years until new surface highways spread out web-like in all directions, from ocean to ocean and from Canada to Mexico. Steamboats and steamships burned coal, ran slow but carried all the ocean traffic. The ships were built bigger and better and they ruled the waves. After that came balloons which were replaced by airships. This arrangement entered into competition with the birds, and as improvements multiplied they were able to go "from here to there" as quick as one could say "jack rabbit." Now the railroads are pleading with Uncle Sam, who bosses them around, for higher rates in order that they can operate with profits. The horse and buggy has surrendered the right of way. The motor industry is having its troubles, because it was the greatest of all war production organizations, and had to return to motor production and activities, from scratch. Airplanes built up so fast and furiously that they overdid the business and many of the lines are stretching hard to keep going.

Land, sea and air are all very useful parts of this endless world, but they have stepped so lively along the pathways of travel that they seem to be in the same mess at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public will have to remain patient, and by the time their babies (which is the heaviest crop of humanity ever known in a five year space of time) grow up there will be plenty of room and plenty of facilities for the youngsters to ride the rails, the highways or fly. Incidentally, they may not have to carry heavy baggage if the wild animals keep their furs on and protect themselves by moving into the zoos.

CHEAPER PRICES

Inflationary prices are beginning to burst their own balloons. Many food prices are pointing downward. Prices of women's apparel, plus furs and "oh, them hats" that women wear have been slashed in prices—but that's all that can be said in their behalf. Furniture prices, rubber tires, butter and men and women's clothing are "going down." Many articles that fit into the above have declined a few pegs. As much cannot be said about many kinds of buildings that people want to use for business purposes or dwellings.

And when it comes to taxation there may be some reduction, but don't get the idea you are going to save much along that line.

Just one thing more: Don't grow optimistic over any prediction from Washington that the United States Government is going to meet the 1947 budget and begin paying off the National debt. Now you can laugh about that! It's just a "funny dream" to those who know the ropes in Washington and have watched the wheels go round for many years.

- 1 Sell your electric range and take to the Great Outdoors. Any Boy Scout can teach you how to build a fire and cook. It's a grubby job, but think of all the fresh air you'll get—particularly in winter! Just think, you might save as much as 10¢ worth of electricity a day! That should almost buy you as many indigestion tablets as you'll need.
- 2 Rip out all that electric wiring in your home, and go back to candle-light. It's so romantic you'll hardly even mind the inconveniences. Since it would cost about $200 for the quarter-ton of candles you'd need to light your house each month—you won't be able to buy candles. But with a little time and ingenuity, you can make your own out of old bacon drippings—if you can get the bacon. And by the time you're through, you'll just about break even—or break down!
- 3 Turn off your radio during the Electric Hour—"Hour of Charm"—every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 CST over CBS. Of course, you'll miss the All-Girl Orchestra under the direction of Phil Spitalny, with Evelyn and her Magic Violin—but you'll actually save one-sixth of a penny every time you do! In a year you'll be almost 9¢ to the good—and think what all that money will buy today!

* Watch for more of these practical money-saving suggestions by Dr. Twitch. He really knows his subject. We hope he'll help you realize how many jobs electricity does for you, and how little it costs.

THE AMERICAN WAY

FANATICAL EISENHOWER

By George Peck

Please don't let the title mislead you. This article is not a censure of General Eisenhower. On the contrary, if you will read on, you will find it a paean of the highest praise.

On December 3, 1946, the CHURCHMAN magazine made its Fifth Annual Award by presenting a bronze plaque to General Dwight Eisenhower, for his promotion of good will and better understanding among all people. The General richly deserved this recognition. The CHURCHMAN did well in making this award to the Chief of Staff of Uncle Sam's Army.

It has been charged in some quarters that the CHURCHMAN is rather leftist in its editorial policy; others allege that it leans far over to the left. General Ike, however, in his speech accepting the plaque, left no doubt as to how he stands on sound Americanism. In fact, his remarks would indicate that he was well aware of the leftist accusations leveled at the CHURCHMAN, and deliberately went "all out" to dispel any suspicion he was tarred with any "pinkish" brush.

The General described himself as a fanatic, "a fanatical devotee of the American system of democracy." He said he believed there were two fundamental bases of this system: (1) A deep and abiding religious faith, and (2) that it is a system of freedom, of rights and liberties of the individual, described as free enterprise.

Without these two fundamentals, he declared there could be no democracy. Then he voiced his conviction that no individual, including even himself, can be trusted with absolute power, by stating: "I am certain that if you entrust all your affairs and your property and your liberties to a bureaucrat in Washington, SUCH AS I AM, you would not have democracy as we know it now."

There may still be some doubt about the sound Americanism of the CHURCHMAN, but General Eisenhower has left none regarding his.

It was also most refreshing to learn that our greatest General named "a deep and abiding religious faith" as the first of two bases of our American Way. It was especially timely because all too many ministers of the Gospel have been bitten by the "socialist bug." This statement of General Ike's should cause all such seriously to consider a return to preaching religious faith as the one and only thing that can regenerate mankind. By way of contrast, let me quote Karl Marx, the arch apostle of communism: "The democratic concept of man is false, because it is Christian. The democratic concept holds that . . . each man has a value as a sovereign being. This is the illusion, dream and postulate of Christianity, that man has a sovereign soul." And then as a further warning to our "Men of the Cloth", who seemingly have given up on God as the saviour of mankind, please read what Earl Browder, our leading American-born disciple of Marx, has to say. Browder brazenly boasts of how his communist party has invaded church groups in America. Writes Browder:

"It is significant that the communist party, more than any other group, has been able to achieve successful united fronts with church groups on the most important issues of the day. This is not due to any compromise on our part with religion as such. In going among the religious masses we are for the first time able to bring our anti-religious ideas to them."

Earl Browder announces that his atheistic party has brought its anti-religious ideas to church groups, in an effort to destroy "the deep and abiding religious faith," which General Eisenhower states is one of the two bases of the American system of democracy. Need any more be said?

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Public opinion as represented in the National Capital is swinging back in the direction of restoring American ideals and reestablishing so far as possible sensible standards of living that were uprooted by the New Deal. When the Democratic party switched from Woodrow Wilson's moorings it started opening the door for Communism. Looking back over a dozen or fifteen years it is fair to give full credit to men like Congressman Dies and his "Dies Committee". They exposed the Red invasion that was scattering poison over our fair land. Al Smith used to say: "Consult the Records." That makes it very clear in this instance that small groups of men knew what was happening. During the same period of time J. Edgar Hoover was carrying on a thorough job with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Every time this group exposed a dangerous situation the New Deal shifted gears, and increased its speed in pushing new and false changes in our form of Government. We, the People, have started to govern our own affairs.

Feeding and freeing starving Europe does not seem to be appreciated anywhere. Right here, in our own country, so-called "American liberals" are actually supporting the Communist system. Programs launched and supported by men like Wallace and a few so-called leaders of labor unions—Murray, Lewis, Green, Reuther, et al must be wiped out-and-up by the people of the United States. You can't compromise with those ducks. Already, they are losing ground—so speed them with pushing and shoving over the brink and into oblivion. The Republican and Democratic parties are heading in the right direction—and there is hope that in time they will restore the old American system of sound Government in the Nation. "Take time by the forelock."

OLD THINGS TO BE LEARNED ANEW

One "wise man" who happens to live in Washington, D. C., declares that merchants have been disturbed by headaches but are shaking off their wooziness, and are now concerned about the welfare of their wartime customers.

Everybody is beginning to work—even father. There are plenty of jobs and high wages everywhere. In short, all classes of people are holding heads higher, beginning to think again.

What business men want and do not want is being pretty thoroughly discussed and the new Congress is going to take us thousands of new problems to make the United States Safe for Democracy.

TEACHERS MUST HAVE MORE MONEY

There is a demand throughout the United States that is being endorsed by leaders in the United States Senate and House of Representatives favoring Federal grants throughout the country to enable every public school to increase the rates of pay for teachers as high as fifteen dollars for each pupil.

THE NEW IDEA

Legislation providing universal military training for young men aged 18 to 20 has been introduced in the House of Representatives. It is the bright idea of Representative Brooks of Louisiana. The likelihood is that it will be killed.

On the other hand the movement for the training of young men outside the military branches of the Government, is gaining favor. President Truman is throw-
