Booklet Will Advertise Fulton

Chamber of Commerce To Issue Booklet at Early Date

L. J. Kierman, associate editor of the Illinois Central Magazine, Chicago, was in the city Monday the guest of Secretary Motley of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Kierman's mission in the city was to confer with Secretary Motley and the Chamber publicity committee and lend his assistance in the work of getting out a contemplated bulletin or booklet advertising Fulton and vicinity to the outside world.

Secretary Motley has been figuring on issuing such a booklet ever since his arrival in the city, and was no doubt greatly surprised when he took charge to find the Fulton Chamber of Commerce without one piece of publicity literature of any kind.

Attempting to successfully operate the Chamber of Commerce or any other business without publicity is just about as difficult as to run a car without gas.

The object of the booklet is to let the outside world know that Fulton is a "big spot" on the map, an ideal location for all kinds of industries, with excellent transportation in all directions and in close proximity to the best markets, cheap electrical power, near the coal fields of Kentucky, water unsurpassed, native labor, low tax and insurance rates, mild climate, and many other industrial advantages with civic assets a plenty, surrounded by the best agricultural country in America.

Aside from the above our school advantages, churches, civic and fraternal organizations, financial institutions, Building & Loan Association, county fair, beautiful homes, leading industrial institutions and businesses will be stressed.

It goes without saying that any kind of business of any degree of magnitude that is successfully operated in this all colorful age willingly attributes its major success to the high-class advertising program which is its mouth piece and its energizing power which is continually spurring it on to still higher planes of progress.

It is also a story without words which endures no contradiction that all big business is first popularized and gains its momentum through strictly high class advertising and not the cheap pand shoddy kind. No business ever excels the methods from which it springs and it therefore behooves us to employ spectacular and modern methods of advertising if we are to anticipate phenomenal success as a return for our money spent in this effort.

One of Motley's mottoes which he lives up to as we see it is when you have a dollar to spend be sure and buy a dollar's worth, but to buy cheap advertising matter is purely extravagance and leaves the purchaser right where the transaction first found him. We know that Secretary Motley is right in his views of advertising Fulton, and if the Chamber of Commerce will stand behind him and his publicity committee they will find cause to rejoice in his efforts.

Geo. Hicks, 34, citizen of Mayfield, received a crushed skull in an automobile wreck which occurred on the Paris highway near Sedalia Tuesday and died later in a Mayfield hospital where he was taken for an operation. It is said the Hicks car was hit by a speeding car filled with boys and girls, only one of whom was slightly injured.

SUNDAY, MAY 15, IS DECORATION DAY IN FULTON

Proclamation

Know all men, women and children by these presents: That, Whereas, the season of year has put forth new life and the blossoming flowers are at their best, it is becoming of us to commemorate and honor our dead.

Now, therefore, be it known that Sunday, May 15, is the day set for Decoration Day at Fairview. This is an opportune time to express with flowers the love and esteem for our dead. With reverence let us beautify our city of the dead with choicest blossoms on this memorial occasion.

W. O. SHANKLE, Mayor.

High School Notes

Rev. Peeples, pastor of the First Methodist church at Dyersburg, Tenn., has been invited to deliver the Baccalaureate sermon on May 15.

The speaker for the Class Day address has not been announced but it is understood that he will be from the State University.

Today is the chief day of the Big Meet which will probably be the greatest of its kind ever held in Western Kentucky. The sports will begin promptly at the Fair grounds at 1:00 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

Music week is being observed in the city schools this week. On Monday Mrs. Hardeman accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Maddox sang two songs. Both were received and much appreciated by the audience. On Tuesday Mr. Brown accompanied by Miss Cantrell sang "The Heart of the Hills," and Miss Bell rendered a piano solo "Love's Dream," from Liszt. The careful attention of the student group during both renditions was an index of their earnest appreciation.

On Tuesday Mr. R. E. Goldsby, a citizen of this city and a former superintendent of schools of McKenzie, Tenn., as well as an instructor at Bethel College gave an address on the subject of "Compensation." Mr. Goldsby made clear the fact that the law of compensation is never at rest and that what we do whether for good or evil makes an impression on our lives.

Mr. H. J. Alexander made a short talk Monday on the proper observance of music and its history.

The senior play cast under the direction of Miss Royster are meeting daily now for practice. The senior play, "Bab-the Sub-deb," will be presented May 13. This is a charming drama and promises to be a brilliant success.

The Operetta, "In a Florist's Window Shop," was presented Tuesday by the pupils of The Terry Norman School. The stage with its beautiful greenery was a fitting background for the children arrayed as Violets, Pansies, Columbines, Daffodils, Roses, Bees, and Little Green Bugs, the Mustard Flower and Florists. The Robin Hood scene was charming and carried the audience to the romantic days in merry England when knighthood was in flower and when Robin, Little John, and Friar Tuck roamed the greenwood.

MORMAN B. DANIEL SEEKS RE-ELECTION

MR. DANIEL'S CARD

To the voters of Hickman and Fulton counties:

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election for Representative District comprising the counties of Hickman and Fulton. While serving this district at Frankfort I tried not to violate any of the confidence placed in me by the people of this district. I tried to voice the sentiments of this district by every vote cast by me. Each vote cast for or against the bills that were presented to the House of Representatives was a conscientious vote.

While in Frankfort I introduced and sponsored measures, which, if enacted into law, would have relieved the farmer and business man of part of the perplexing problems of taxation. I introduced a measure in the House which called for a repeal of the present tax law regarding real estate. If that bill had been enacted into a law it would have exempted real estate from taxation for a purpose. If re-elected I expect to introduce that same measure and devote to it all the energy that I possess, and if possible, secure its passage.

I deeply appreciate the confidence heretofore placed in me by the constituency of this district, and for which I shall always feel grateful.

It is with a commemoration of pride and good feeling that I take this means of mentioning the names of my former opponents, Judge Walter J. McMurray and Mr. A. E. Brown, they are men of high type, men of character, integrity and ability. Men who could have represented these counties at Frankfort and who would have reflected a signal honor to this district. The clean and sportsmanlike manner in which they conducted their campaign should be a living monument to those who are interested in clean politics.

I shall endeavor to see all the voters throughout the district and make a vigorous campaign. Meanwhile, I hope that my friends and acquaintances throughout the district will look with favor on my candidacy and realize that my highest ambition now and always will be to serve them in private life or in public office.

Respectfully submitted,
MORMAN B. DANIEL.

Large Crowd In Attendance

West Kentucky and Tennessee Spring Meet.

Fulton is host this week to a large number of young people representing many neighboring towns and who are in the city attending and taking part in the activities of the West Kentucky and Tennessee Spring Meet.

For the occasion the town is in gala attire, many of the store windows being attractively decorated and everything being done to entertain our visitors, and it is a jolly crowd too.

Especially attention is being directed to the P. H. Weeks' Sons' show windows where official results are bulletined. The artistic decorations in the windows reflect the skill of Louis Weeks, junior member of the firm, as a decorator. The windows have created much favorable comment, not only on account of the colorful decorations, but the beautiful Spring merchandise displayed.

Another place elaborately decorated and worthy of special mention is Culver's bakery, well known as the 'Palace of Sweets,' the young people's resort for refreshments.

Circuit Court will convene in Fulton next week for the May term. There are several important cases on the docket and the session promises to be largely attended.

A great deal of unnecessary argument and time would be saved if those not acquainted with the plumber-sewer ordinance would read the document over more carefully. As it is, great confusion prevails. The ordinance was adopted by the Council and should be adhered to strictly.

SECRETARY MOTLEY VISITS MAYFIELD

Tuesday of this week Secretary Motley, of the local Chamber of Commerce, spent the day with the secretary of the Mayfield Chamber of Commerce and the Graves county farm agent. Mr. Motley was very much enthused over the splendid work that is now being done in Graves county thru the Graves county farm agent with the Chamber of Commerce of Mayfield cooperating. His findings were as follows:

During the last three years Graves county has maintained a very active and industrious farm agent, and the Mayfield Chamber of Commerce has stood squarely behind the agent which speaks for the following accomplishments of agricultural pursuits. The Graves county farmers have purchased 150 cars of commercial lime stone which they have distributed over 1,500 acres of their farm land, and as a result they have now in growing crops 1,000 acres of sweet clover and alfalfa aside from many other kinds of legume crops. They have 700 acres of peach trees, 400 acres of apple trees, 600 acres of strawberries, as well as many acres of other horticultural crops, which are very profitable.

They have also developed from practically nothing, one of the best systems of poultry production that can be found in any community. They have at present 20 demonstration flocks of purebred poultry which is striving to qualify for state titles and many other farmers who are making ready to put on demonstration flocks for 1928. They produced 2,000 capons last year which brought $3,565.00. They have two hatcheries which turn off 35,000 chicks every 3 weeks.

Hog Production of Graves County

During 1926 there were 20 Graves county farmers entered the ton litter club and 12 of them finished the job in good shape. They produced a total tonnage of 26,694 pounds of pork, which gave them a net profit after market price of all feeds and average wages were deducted for the time used in taking care of the hogs, $1,834.37. The balance of the club failed to meet the requirements as prescribed but in the main, the whole bunch made money out of their hogs.

Other Accomplishments of the County Farm Agent

Other accomplishments of the County Farm Agent is the erection of a canning factory at Water Valley which consumed during 1926, 150 acres of tomatoes, 70 acres of sweet potatoes and 35 acres of string beans, the total yield of Graves County sweet potatoes amount to more than 50,000 bushels. Through the activities of the Mayfield Chamber of Commerce and the County farm agent cooperating they now have in Mayfield a milk condensory which will start up with one unit within a few weeks, this plant will consume 9,000 gallons of milk every day for 6 days out of each week, they hope to add another unit by January first, 1928, which will then consume from 18,000 to 20,000 gallons of milk every day.

It looks like that what can be done in Graves County is equally possible in Fulton County, and especially when the County Farm Agent admitted to Motley that Fulton County had a much more productive soil than Graves County. Motley says that our opportunities are fully equal to that of Graves County or any other in Western Kentucky for that matter and it is up to us to see that production is brought up to the highest possible standard. We think that Motley is right and all that is necessary is for the Fulton Business men and the Fulton County farmers to get together and we will soon see ourselves going over the top.

A large delegation from our local Union attended the B. Y. P. U. Convention in session in Newport, Ky., last week. They come back to us with a great deal of enthusiasm and inspiration, reporting this to be one of the greatest conventions in the history of our B. Y. P. U. work. Many noted speakers of our faith were present and over nine hundred delegates registered. The 1928 convention will meet at Middlesboro, Ky.

Our series of meetings will begin Sunday, May 22. Rev. E. F. Adams, a former pastor of the local church, will assist the pastor in the meeting, and we are hoping for one of the greatest spiritual meetings in the history of the church.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the services.

Rev. Howard, the Evangelist of Wilmore, Ky., preached a very helpful sermon at the morning hour last Sunday and the pastor at the evening hour.

The Epworth League had charge of the prayer meeting last Wednesday evening and reviewed the book, "Yet Another Day for Methodism." The Yo-Pe-Mi-Sos had charge this past Wednesday and both programs were very enjoyable by all present.

The Warner Blackard Missionary Society groups all met last Monday, as follows: Group A at the home of Mrs. Ward McClellan, with Mrs. Jordan, assistant hostess. Mrs. Harold Owen was leader for the afternoon of the Bible lesson, giving the life of Saul; Mrs. Don Hill, David; Mrs. John Price, Solomon and Elijah. Light refreshments were served. Group B met at the home of Mrs. Howard Clowe, with Mrs. W. I. Knave, assistant hostess. Mrs. Joe Davis presented the Bible lesson in a very interesting manner, her subject being "Solomon and Elijah." During the social hour hostesses served delightful refreshments to fifteen members.

Group C met at the home of Mrs. Herman Snow. Mrs. Joe Beadles, leader, gave the Bible lesson, her subject being, "Solomon and Elijah." 18 members were present and delicious refreshments were served. Each Group had a business session just before the lesson.

Church News

Miss Virginia Cole was unable to attend Church School Sunday, due to a cold.

Water in the basement of Trinity, caused by the recent rains, necessitated the holding of the Church School in the Study, as the heat was not sufficient to warm the Parish house. Due to the same reason, the church was not as comfortable as usual.

Dr. Boyd, accompanied by Mrs. Boyd and Clara Elizabeth, went to Crutchfield on Saturday to look over the new home and farm that the doctor has just traded for. They are very enthusiastic over its possibilities and the doctor hopes now, to see his dream of a fruit farm come true.

Clara Elizabeth Boyd has about recovered from her recent operation and was able to attend school last week.

The Church at Columbus is reported to have about eight feet of water in it and it is likely that the building will be badly damaged, as the building is sealed with hard pine and the water will likely warp it badly.

Interest in the gym classes of the Young Peoples Social League is still growing. Those wishing to join should see some of the members and arrange for admission as only a limited number can be accommodated.

Tom W. Beadles has returned to his duties at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. Tom's splendid development speaks well for the care "Uncle Sam" gives his boys.

Protecting Your Family

Keeping the wolf from your door is often taken too figuratively. But it is not an idle joke, to be ridiculed or ignored.

To keep the wolf from your door requires weapons more powerful than implements of war. It requires a defense that cannot be bought or borrowed—it is gained through practice of thrift.

To save is to insure yourself and your family protection.

Every man owes himself and his family the protection of a savings account in a good substantial bank such as this one. There are other ways in which we can help you protect your family. Investigate.

NEW CONCENTRATION CAMPS ESTABLISHED

Territory of Relief Operations Pushed Down Into Louisiana

More Than 12,000 Homeless at Delphi, La.

More than 14,000 refugees fleeing the newly flooded areas in northern and central Louisiana, have poured into five concentration camps within the past week, the Red Cross announced. Five thousand are in the village of Delphi, La., where the population normally is about 700 and relief workers were taxed to care for them.

Maneuvering its forces to absorb increasing emergencies so as not to interfere with the enormous work already in hand, the great relief machine, co-ordinated in the American Red Cross for the succor of Mississippi valley flood sufferers, widened its territory of operations through Louisiana this week.

While rescue workers labored to evacuate flooded communities in north and central Louisiana parishes, field workers set up new organizations for taking care of the refugees. Especially was this work speeded at Delphi, La., where headquarters had been advised that more than 12,000 homeless will be concentrated. An airplane was dispatched with medical supplies and boats were taking in food, clothing, cots and blankets.

Increased population of refugee camps along the eastern border of the flooded Yazoo basin, due to recent breaks in the Yazoo levee system, necessitated additional supplies of every sort, and with hundreds still being brought to Yazoo city from Belson and other inundated towns, the need was urgent.

More Refugees Coming
Far to the west in Arkansas, a string of refugee camps stretched from the Missouri border on the north to Louisiana on the south and still the refugees were pouring in as boats brought in people who finally had been persuaded to leave their dangerous perches in houses and on levees.

Fine weather and some recession of water in both Southeastern Arkansas and in the northern half of the Great Yazoo basin lake aided the rescue and relief work to such an extent that it was believed the emergency situation soon would be passed.

While health conditions in refugee camps continued good for the most part, Dr. William R. Redden, medical director of the Red Cross, said there was some overcrowding and that as a result of this extra precautions were taken to prevent a spread of disease in these camps.

To insure the water supply of the camps, the quartermaster's supply depot of the seventh corps area, at St. Louis, was requisitioned for ten Mobile laboratories to be used in testing water.

More than 60,000 persons have been given the first "shot" of typhoid vaccine and the same number have submitted to the small pox vaccination, Dr. Redden reported.

While flood and backwater from five rivers were reaching out this week in nine northeastern and east central Louisiana parishes, the torrent flowing through the huge artificial levee made in the Mississippi river levee south of New Orleans apparently had removed the danger from New Orleans.

With the Mississippi waters rushing down into Concordia parish from four breaks in the embankment south of Vidalia, the Red River smashed through its northern bank at Vick, east of Alexandria, inundating a part of Avoyelles parish to the south of Concordia.

Meeting this rushing water is that coming down from the Arkansas river in Arkansas. A special weather bureau bulletin issued said Jones and Bonita in Morehouse parish were under water with Mer Rouge and Oak Ridge threatened and one thousand refugees already in Bastrop.

Arkansas river waters also have reached into Tensas parish, inundating two miles of the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks above Newellton. In Richland parish, the water was reported six feet deep at Bardell with Rayville threatened.

A NATIONAL ASSET

Railway service is one of our country's most valuable assets. It fosters national unity and thereby stimulates both social and economic progress.

Before the railroads came to serve our people, travel was difficult, communication was slow, and shipping by land was highly expensive. Lack of efficient transportation impeded social progress, confined trade to small areas and restricted the development of our abundant natural resources. As railway construction progressed, these conditions changed. Travel became easy. Communication was speeded up. Distance no longer constituted a barrier to trade. The railroads found and developed new markets for producers, new sources of supply for consumers. Sectional lines gradually disappeared.

The history of the Illinois Central System strikingly demonstrates the benefits of railway expansion. Seventy years ago this railroad began to operate its original 700 miles of line, all of which lay within the borders of Illinois. Its principal stations were small and widely separated towns; for the most part its lines ran through the virgin prairie—a land uninhabited, untouched by plow, unchanged for centuries. Today the Illinois Central System operates more than 9,000 miles of line in fifteen prosperous states of the Middle West and the South—states in which good transportation has greatly stimulated the development of natural resources and of agricultural, industrial and commercial possibilities. This region now teems with activity, and it is constantly advancing in population and wealth.

The development of railroads, the Illinois Central System among them, was an important factor in this veritable economic revolution. Such railway development, in turn, however, depended upon another factor—the steady inflow of new capital for the improvement and expansion of railway property. For example, the Illinois Central today represents an investment equal to the cost of thirty railroads such as the Illinois Central of seventy years ago. Moreover its ability to render greatly improved service today is intimately related to its increased investment.

Investment enabled the railroads in the past to lead the way in national development. Similar investments in the future will have further beneficial effects. We as a people must do our share to encourage such investment by indicating clearly our intention to safeguard railway credit.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

A CHERISHED POSSESSION

As we come again to the observance of Mother's Day, we bow in reverence to motherhood as one of our most cherished possessions.

The custom of setting aside a special day—the second Sunday in May—to honor mothers is comparatively young. However, the custom promises to endure, because it presents the opportunity to give expression to a sentiment that is the very soul of the American home.

If we are to believe history, there was once a time when womanhood did not have such a high estate as at the present.
We used to hear it said that this was a man's world, and if one had been compelled to believe all the intellectual folly that poured from the lips and pens of persons who were not over-wise, the inference would have been that woman had had so slight a share in the affairs of destiny as to be quite negligible.

The truth is that our indebtedness to womanhood is too large for measurement by any conventional yardstick of scales. We have but to remember that if woman had not consented to go down into the valley of the shadow of death, if necessary, to produce offspring there would have been no human history at all.

A man's attitude toward womanhood is revealed by his treatment to his mother. When he ceases to reverence his mother, he loses all his inspiration in life, and he is a failure in his own eyes and the eyes of others.

There is not much danger of Americans ever becoming contaminated by a philosophy of pessimism, or of losing their reverence for their mothers.
They know their history. They are aware that from the time of the earliest American settlements, through all the stress and storm down to the present hour, the American mother has shared with the American father the burden of maintaining the American home.

Her burden, indeed has often been greater than his. For if the American father has worked hard, his wife has worked harder. American mothers, as well as all other mothers, have known the truth of these lines that tell us
"Men work from morn till set of sun,
But women's work is never done."

MORMAN B. DANIEL
ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

In this issue of the Advertiser we publish the announcement of Mormon B. Daniel, candidate for re-election to represent Fulton and Hickman counties in the State Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, election August 6, 1927.

In his campaign two years ago he received the largest vote ever given to any candidate for this important office. He won distinction on the stump, being termed "Baby candidate and silver-tongued orator." His oratory gained rapid fire notice.
His tender age—24 years—
made an appeal to the people, and his overwhelming vote proved that the people recognized his grit and determination.

The voters of Fulton and Hickman counties have no regrets for electing him their representative and will no doubt express their appreciation for his honest efforts in their behalf when they go to the polls and cast their vote for Representative on August 6.

HICKMAN HARD HIT

Sunday was an ideal spring day and motoring was fine. The new highway between Fulton and Hickman was alive with cars. Hundreds of Fulton people visited the river town to view the Mississippi in its destructive state. The river had fallen five feet at Hickman since the highest stage and the water was out of all the store buildings that had been flooded and was receding from the little park in front of the N. C.
& St. L. station.

Few stores in Hickman but what was damaged, but those on the river bank suffered the greatest loss. When the river was at its height a strong wind and electrical storm aided the waters in their mad fury and practically every window glass in the rear of more than a score of buildings were shattered into fragments. Some of the window and door frames were also dislocated. Some of the firms had moved their stocks of merchandise to safety while others suffered great damage who had not removed their fixtures and stocks entirely from the buildings. During the storm lightning struck a three-story brick business building on the water front and completely demolished it, but not firing it.

Viewing the levee protecting West Hickman since the waters receded one can plainly see the desperate fight that must have been made against the waters, especially at the place where wagons had crossed the levee leading to cotton gins on the river bank, also at the Mengel box factory. At these points, and all along the levee thousands of sandbags were used and men frantically worked night and day as the waters were creeping over the top. It was a heroic effort as destruction looked almost inevitable.
Every ounce of energy was exerted with the odds against them, but there was no let up, the men continued to work, the torrential rain accompanied by a stiff gale was blinding, but finally the hardest fight ever made on the levee against the mighty waters of the Mississippi was won. Today, thousands of people owe a debt of gratitude and perhaps their all to the faithful workers who have fought for them. Had the battle not been won at this eventful time the Mississippi river today would be winding its way through a new channel, with many happy homes destroyed and lives lost, to say nothing of millions of dollars damage.

Notwithstanding the severe losses to the business firms at Hickman, visitors are welcomed with outstretched hands and a smile, and as one young lady expressed it, "We're still on top."

No people on earth have more regard for their town than the citizens of Hickman. All the business folk are now busy cleaning house, some are displaying new spring merchandise in their windows and apparently, from within, no one could tell their stores had been flooded only a few days ago.

Nothing reflects more truly the hospitality and big heartedness of Hickman people than the "tented city on the hill" where hundreds of refugees find a place of refuge.

RAILROAD INVESTMENT

How investment in the railroads is directly related to the beneficial effects of their improved and extended service is the subject of a statement made May 2 at Chicago by L. A.
Downs, president of the Illinois Central System.

"Railway development in the past depended upon the steady inflow of new capital for the improvement and expansion of railway property," Mr. Downs said. "For example, the Illinois Central System today represents an investment equal to the cost of thirty railroads such as the Illinois Central of seventy years ago. Investment enabled the railroads in the past to lead the way in national development. Similar investments in the future will have further beneficial effects."

The beneficial effects of railway development in the past are summarized by Mr. Downs as follows:

"Before the railroads came to serve our people, travel was difficult, communication was slow, and shipping by land was highly expensive. Lack of efficient transportation imped-ed social progress, confined trade to small areas and restricted the development of our abundant natural resources. As railway construction progressed, these conditions changed.
Travel became easy. Communication was speeded up. Distance no longer constituted a barrier to trade. The railroads found and developed new markets for producers, new sources of supply for consumers. Sectional lines gradually disappeared."

How Electric Power Will Benefit You

Industry in Kentucky expands at about the same rate that the use of electric power for industrial operations increases.

Industry creates prosperity and benefits everyone, directly or indirectly. Prosperity brings progress along all lines of human endeavor.

During the last five years this company increased its power transmission line mileage 297 per cent, and its electric output 380 per cent.

These are remarkable increases—but Kentucky is today seventh from the bottom in the list of states in the amount of electric power used by each inhabitant.

Last year the per capita use of electricity was 195 kilowatt hours in Kentucky, 365 in Tennessee, 358 in Virginia, 542 in Indiana, 698 in Ohio, 794 in Illinois.

Kentucky Utilities electrical service is adequate, reliable and fairly priced.

Kentuckians can employ the electrical servant to greater advantage to themselves—in operating machinery, illuminating factories, stores, offices, homes; reducing household drudgery, such as washing, ironing, sweeping, cooking.

Lesson for May 8

PETER AND THE RISEN LORD

LESSON TEXT—John 20:1-10; 21:15-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ which according to His abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Forgives Peter.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Forgives and Restores Peter.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Risen Lord Appears to Peter.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Fellowship With the Risen Lord.

I. Peter and John at the Empty Tomb (John 20:1-10).

John does not enter into a description of the resurrection of Christ or attempt a proof other than that the tomb was empty and that Jesus had repeatedly manifested Himself to the disciples after the tomb had been found empty.

1. How they came to know (vv. 1, 2).

The information was brought by Mary Magdalene out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons (Mark 16:9, Luke 8:2). Prompted by love for Him she went early to the tomb, "while it was yet dark." "She was last at the cross and first at the grave, she stayed longest there and was soonest here." Her love for Jesus was genuine, though her knowledge of His resurrection was defective. She could not rest till she had done her utmost for Him because she realized that great good had come to her from His hands. The reason we work so little for the Lord is that we have such a dim sense of His saving grace.

2. Their investigation (vv. 3-10).

The news of the empty tomb, which Mary brought with breathless haste, so moved John and Peter that they both ran to investigate. Upon arrival at the tomb John gazed upon it, but Peter entered it. John, with holy reverence, hesitates. Peter, with impulsiveness, enters the tomb at once. Their respective actions are not to be explained on the basis of degrees of love for the Lord but to temperament. The investigation convinced them. The removal of the stone from the sepulcher, the arrangement of the graveclothes all convinced them that it had not been done by an enemy.

II. The Charge of the Risen Lord to Peter (John 21:15-17).

Jesus put to Peter the thrice repeated question, "Lovest thou me?" Then He gave him a commission. This shows that supreme love to Christ is the one essential qualification for serving Him. Love is the spring from which all Christian activity flows. He asked, also, to show that there are three classes in the church which demand care and attention. These three classes need special care and food.

1. Feed my lambs. (v. 15).

This first charge relates to those who are beginning the Christian life—the babes in Christ. The word "feed" means more than instruction. It means in addition to instruction that proper surroundings, influences and examples should be provided. As a Christian minister, Peter was to be an example, provide the proper surroundings and do the proper teaching for the young Christians, those just beginning the Christian life.

2. Tend my sheep (v. 16).

This charge shows a different class. It means to shepherd the sheep. It has application to the mature class of Christians. The duty enjoined therefore is to care for those who have passed out of their childhood into maturity. He must feed the sheep, give them proper instruction, guide them, lead them and discipline them. For this ministry the essential qualification is love.

3. Feed my sheep (v. 17).

The implication here is that Peter was charged with the responsibility of caring for aged Christians. The word "feed" is much the same as in the first case. It means that for the aged Christians the instruction ought to be such as will be suited to their needs. This needs special emphasis today because much attention is given to the young people, but in many instances the old people are neglected.

III. Follow Me (vv. 18-23).

In verse 18 is given a clear prophecy concerning Peter's death. It was to be by crucifixion. Peter once shrank from the cross, but now the Lord holds it up before him. It is not the Lord's death on the cross, but Peter's own. He teaches here that the Christian's death is for the glory of God. Whatever may be before us, even the cruel cross, the Lord's command is to follow Him.

Our Hope

Our hope lies not in the absence of danger, but in the presence of Christ, who is able to control the storm. No church with Christ in it can be wrecked or lost. More of the living Christ, more of His love, of His teaching.—Western Recorder.

Slats Shed Like a Spading Fork

Solve your shedding problem with this slat moldboard plow. It's a sure shedder in sticky soils. If your solid moldboard plow will not shed, you need a

John Deere-Syracuse Slat Moldboard Plow—1471 Series

This plow works well in soils where any solid moldboard—chilled or steel—cannot be made to shed. It does good work in practically all conditions.

Plows of this series are exceptionally strong. The high-arched, double-beaded beams of high-carbon steel are guaranteed not to bend or break. Here's another big feature: the malleable standards are die-dropped, which insures the uniform shaping of each standard—the moldboard, shin, landside and share assembled on this standard, are held rigidly together; repair parts fit perfectly.

Syracuse chilled iron is the hardest metal used in plow bottoms—one deep-chilled Syracuse share will outlast two similar shares of other makes.

Come in and see this better plow and let us explain the interchangability of parts that means long life and uninterrupted good service.
