On last Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, Dr. Cantrell, pastor of the First Christian Church, preached the Baccalaureate sermon for South Fulton High school at the First Baptist church, to a large and appreciative audience, and the musical program was pleasing beyond the ordinary. On Sunday morning at eleven o'clock the Baccalaureate sermon for Fulton High school will be preached in the same building. It will be noted from the above the pastor will be in the pulpit for the regular evening service. The public is cordially invited to all services. Special Music will be rendered.

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Irby it has been made possible for the Intermediate Department of our Sunday school to arrange for separate opening devotional services each Sunday, in the assembly room of the Intermediate department of the building. Every intermediate is urged to be present Sunday morning at 9:30. This should prove a great stimulant to our intermediates, and a noticeable increase in the attendance is expected.

Beginning at 7:30 p. m. next Monday evening, prayer meeting will be conducted by the Brotherhood of the church every evening throughout the week, preparatory to the series of meetings which will begin at the church, May 22. The public is cordially invited to attend these prayer services, and the members of the church are urged to be present.

Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Special music by the choir. Mrs. Chas. Brann, director.
The public is cordially invited to attend all the services.

Mothers Day was observed in all the services, Sunday, at the Sunday school hour little Miss Margaret Stevens sang "I Wear a White Rose for You, Mother." Mr. Joe Davis read a tribute to "Mother."

The pastor preached one of his best sermons about "Mothers of Other Days," and "The Modern Mother," to splendid audience.

The Warner Blackards met Monday at the home of Mrs. Paul Newhouse, with Miss Wood as assistant hostess. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Graham, vice president, in absence of the president, Mrs. Whayne. Mrs. Hardin opened the meeting with the devotion, followed with prayer.

A short business session followed and all officers and chairmen gave splendid reports.

Mrs. Kramer, assisted by Mesdames Weeks and Bennett, gave squibs from the Bulletin. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Hardin, leader.

Her subject was "Why Should We Give Our Major Attention to Children?" Mrs. Smith Atkins gave "Why Is It Necessary to Have a Knowledge of the Child We Train?" Mrs. Fall, "Most Important Factor in Child Training" (Love). Mrs. Paine, "The Magnitude of our problem with Children."

Mrs. Stewart, "Christian Education of the Child." Mrs. Graham, "What the Missionary Conference is Doing for the Children." The hostesses then served delicious strawberry shortcake to 28 members and two visitors. Mrs. Clyde Roper and Mrs. Tom Franklin were added to C group as new members.

Mr. Felix Davis is quite ill at his home on Eddings street.

Preaching 7:30 p. m.
Prayer Meeting, Wed. 7:00 p. m.

Our congregation will attend the commencement services of the Fulton High school at the Baptist church next Sunday School and Lord's Supper as usual.

A recently released report of the Census Bureau reveals the fact that there are nearly 300,000 patients in hospitals in the United States suffering from mental diseases. One cause of this is sorrow that has entered into the lives of some of these patients. On the night of May the twenty-ninth, the minister of this church will preach on the subject, "What sin has caused the most sorrow in the world?" To the first person giving the same answer as the minister there will be presented a Bible. Write your answers, sign your name and file. You may give an answer each time you are present. No answers will be received after 7:30 the night the sermon is preached. The only other condition is that the person who turns in the first correct answer must be present to receive the Bible.

therein, and the Treasurer shall keep a record of the address opposite the number of the bond on his record. The notice herein provided for shall be directed to such address, and if no address be given, the notice shall be directed to such owner at his last known address, and the bond specified therein shall bear no interest after the date fixed for its redemption, and this provision shall be shown in substance on the bonds. Mailing such registered letter twenty days before the time fixed for such redemption shall be deemed a compliance herewith. After the issue of such bonds no suit shall lie to enjoin or resist the collection of any assessment or tax in anticipation of which the bonds are issued, and the validity of the same shall not be questioned, but all property owners shall be conclusively estopped and precluded from in any manner assailing the effectiveness or validity thereof. Such bonds shall convey and transfer to the owners thereof all lien, right, title and interest in and to the assessments, taxes and liens upon the respective lots and parcels of ground, which liens shall stand as security for such bonds and coupons until they are paid, with full power to enforce the collection thereof of such bonds or coupons be paid on presentation to the Treasurer, by foreclosure in any court of competent jurisdiction as hereinbefore provided. If any lots or lands be sold for the payment of any special tax or assessment thereon, or for any installment thereof, or for any general municipal tax, such lots and lands shall not thereby be released from any other special tax or assessment, or installment thereof, existing thereon, unless the same be asserted in the action in which such lots or lands are sold. In any foreclosure suit brought by the city or any bondholder as provided herein, it shall not be necessary to make the other bondholders parties, but the proceeds of the suit shall be paid into the city treasury to be applied to the redemption of matured bonds in the same manner as if the same had been paid without suit.

Section 12. The City Treasurer shall keep in his office in a book to be provided for that purpose a record of all assessments of local taxes, showing the names and portions of streets in which the improvement is made, the character of the improvement and the names of the persons against whose property the assessments are made. Such record shall be subject to inspection by any person desiring to inspect the same and shall be conclusive evidence of notice to all persons of such assessments and the liens created thereby. Upon the payment of any improvement tax to the Treasurer, he will make proper entry thereof in the record book herein provided for, whereupon the lien for such tax will stand released. All local taxes paid to the City Treasurer shall from time to time be paid over to the contractor or other person entitled thereto upon the order of the Board of Council. The Treasurer shall carefully keep a separate account of the fund arising from assessments for each particular improvement and no proceeds arising from assessments for one improvement shall be diverted to the payment for any other improvement whatever. The proceeds shall in each case constitute a separate special fund for the payment of the contractor for the particular work for which the assessment is made or for the security and payment of the improvement bonds in anticipation of which the same are issued.

Section 13. Any assessment made for the improvement herein provided for which exceeds one-half of the value of the lots or parcels of real estate upon which the assessment is made shall be void as to such excess, but the improvement shall be taken into consideration in fixing the value of such real estate and the Board of Council shall provide for the payment of any such excess out of the general fund.

Section 14. The awarding or letting of said contract and making the assessment and the construction of the improvement aforesaid and issuing said bonds shall be in all particulars as outlined and required in Chapter 113 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Kentucky for 1916, and amendments thereto, and being Sections 3563, 3570, 3571, 3573, 3574, 3575, 3577 and 3578A of the Kentucky Statutes, Carroll's Edition, 1922, as amended at the 1924 session of the General Assembly of Kentucky, and all the procedures outlined in said sections and all of the same shall be pursued and followed and all the same are embraced in and are made a part of this ordinance and said Board of Council shall enact and pass any and all other ordinances that may be necessary to carry out the said construction in accordance with the statutes aforesaid and with reference to the laws of fourth class cities.

Section 15. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 16. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its final passage and publication as required by law.

Approved, this 13th day of May, 1927.

W. O. SHANKLE,

Mayor.

Common Brick Defies

Exposure to Elements

There are probably few if any of the ancient buildings that so effectively stir the imagination of the modern reader as does the famous old Colosseum of Rome. It has stood for centuries as a monument to the quality of building and of the materials that were used in ancient days. Travelers returning from Rome have reported that bricks were being taken from this great theater of the rulers of the ancient Roman empire to be used in the construction of new homes.

It is pleasing to learn that the dictator, Mussolini, has passed a decree forbidding the Italian people to disturb any part of the Colosseum. The bricks in that building are more than 2,000 years old, and are in such good condition that they can still be used after all these centuries. There was a grave danger that the structure in which early Christian martyrs were sacrificed to the lions and where the old gladiatorial combats were held would be destroyed. Whatever we must think of Mussolini's policies, we must certainly commend him in the stand which he has taken.

The use of these 2,000-year-old bricks is of particular interest at this time, when so much stress is being placed on permanent construction. They were manufactured of the same materials and under practically the same methods that are used in the manufacture of present-day common-burned clay bricks. It is possible that 2,000 years hence some equally ruthless despoilers will be tearing down our old landmarks to build houses out of the present-day bricks.

Ceilings Should Be

Lighter Than Walls

In the great out-of-doors we find the sky lighter than the shadows under the trees. This is our natural everyday background, and if we want to suggest the great and wonderful open atmosphere we must paint the ceilings lighter than the walls and the walls lighter than the floor. For instance, were we to make the ceiling the darkest, that would unconsciously suggest a catastrophe, a storm approaching, as does the darkened sky. We might feel that the ceiling was collapsing—that it was so heavy the light floor would be unable to hold it—and the result would be disorder! In other words, unless we follow the example set by nature we would be missing much of her loveliness.

AGRICULTURAL Development Campaign For Rural Fulton.

The Chamber of Commerce of Fulton will, with the assistance of the development department of the Illinois Central Railway Company, launch an agricultural development campaign beginning Monday Night of May 23rd.

The I. C. Development Department is donating the services of two of their Agricultural agents who are experts in the dairy and poultry features of farming, and it is hoped that all farmers of the Fulton community will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending these meetings which will be interesting and educational.

The campaign will open with a meeting at Chestnut Glade School on Monday Night, May 23rd, at 8 o'clock. Subsequent meetings will be as follows: Bowers School, Tuesday night; Crutchfield School, Wednesday night; Cayce School Thursday night; Sylvan Shade Friday night, and a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce quarters,

Saturday Morning at 10:30 will close the campaign.

Be Sure and Meet Us There.

line of its intersection with Walnut Street.

Plain Street from the center line of its intersection with Walnut Street to the north line of the State Line Road.

Walnut Street from the center line of its intersection with Lake Street to the west line of Norman Street.

Section 2. That the construction of said streets and parts of streets and curbs and gutters shall be in strict accordance with the grades, plans and specifications prepared by Messrs. Black & Veatch, Consulting Engineers of the city of Fulton, Kentucky, or as made or changed and modified by the Board of Council of the city of Fulton, Kentucky, which grades, plans and specifications have been approved and adopted by the Board of Council of the city of Fulton, Kentucky, and are now on file in the office of the clerk of the Board of Council of said city, and the same are hereby made a part hereof by reference as fully as if copied herein.

Section 3. That the cost and expense of said improvement, construction and reconstruction (except as otherwise provided in this section) including storm sewers and appurtenances shall be borne exclusively by the owners of real estate abutting on that portion of each street so improved and according to the number of the front feet of the real estate abutting thereon and in proportion to the whole number of the feet of the block fronting or abutting on said street or part of street; the cost of improvement of each separate block on said streets and parts of streets so improved shall be taken separately as aforesaid against the real estate abutting thereon. The cost and expense of the improvement, construction and reconstruction of street intersections and street and alley intersections shall be paid one-half by the owners of the real estate abutting on each of the respective streets and parts of streets so improved and apportioned and assessed equally by the front foot against the real estate abutting on each of said respective streets and parts of streets so improved, in each block adjacent to the intersections improved; the owners of more than one-half of the number of feet of property upon each of said streets and parts of streets having heretofore filed with the Board of Council of said city of Fulton a petition requesting it to pass an ordinance requiring said improvement to be made at the expense of the owners of property abutting on each of said streets and parts of streets and that one-half of the cost and expense of the improvement of street intersections and street and alley intersections be assessed against the abutting property owners on each of said streets and parts of streets, the remaining one-half of the cost and expense of the improvement of said street intersections and street and alley intersections shall be paid by the city of Fulton, Kentucky. The remaining one-half of the cost and expense of the improvement of said street intersections and street and alley intersections shall be paid by the city of Fulton, Kentucky together with the cost of said improvement abutting upon any property owned by a cemetery company, public school district, county, state or United States Government, unless such cemetery company, public school district, county, state or United States Government, shall as provided and authorized by law contribute thereto; and further the said city of Fulton shall pay the cost and expense of said improvement apportioned, as hereinabove provided, against any real estate owned by said city abutting upon any of said streets and parts of streets improved, and in addition thereto the said city shall pay the cost and expense apportioned, as above provided, against any property owned by a cemetery company, public school district, county, state or United States Government for the improvement of said street intersections and street and alley intersections. The entire cost of the construction of curbing and guttering shall be assessed against the property where such curbing and guttering is made and exclusively against the real estate abutting on said streets and parts of streets where such curbing or guttering is made.

Section 4. The construction of said streets and parts of streets shall be let in one contract embracing all of the streets and parts of streets hereinabove described and designated as constituting said Improvement District Number One. Said contract shall be let on competitive bidding to the lowest and best bidder after advertisement as herein provided, but the right is hereby expressly reserved to reject any or all bids at the discretion of the Board of Council of said city. The Board of Council of said city after the bids are received and opened and before any contract is awarded for said construction will determine which kind or type of material and surfacing shall be used in the construction or reconstruction of each of said streets and parts of streets. The Mayor of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids for said improvement by the publication in the Fulton Advertiser, a newspaper published in the city of Fulton, Kentucky, and of general circulation therein, for two consecutive weeks, and he will require said bids to be furnished in accordance with the instructions to bidders as outlined and specified by the said Messrs. Black & Veatch, Engineers, and which instructions are attached to and made a part of the plans and specifications hereinbefore referred to. Said bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Street Improvement Bid," and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Council of said city who shall keep them and open them in the presence of the Mayor and Board of Council of said city. Each bid shall be accompanied by a cashier's check on a solvent bank in the sum of $3,000.00 made payable to the City Treasurer of Fulton, Kentucky; checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned when the bids are rejected and the check of the successful bidder will be cashed and deposited by the City Treasurer and returned to the contractor when the required bond, deposits and contract have been furnished and approved by the city, which the contractor shall do within ten days from the time the said contract is awarded to him and upon failure to execute said contract within said time the proceeds of said check shall be forfeited to the city of Fulton, Kentucky, as liquidated damages.

Section 5. Upon acceptance of the bid and awarding of the contract by the Mayor and Board of Council of said city, the Mayor and City Clerk shall enter into written contract on behalf of the city of Fulton, Kentucky, with the successful bidder in accordance with the terms of the ordinance and shall incorporate therein as a part thereof the plans and specifications above referred to or those parts thereof according to which the said Board of Council shall elect to improve said streets or parts of streets.

Section 6. The contractor shall execute a bond in the full amount of the contract with a surety and guarantee company authorized to do business in the State of Kentucky as surety to be approved by the city of Fulton, Kentucky, through its Board of Council for the faithful performance of such contract in the form and nature as appears in and as a part of the plans and specifications and instructions to bidders as hereinbefore mentioned and approved.

Section 7. The contractor shall execute a further bond in the sum of 25 per cent of the amount of the contract with such surety as shall be approved by the city guaranteeing the pavement as built to comply with the paragraph of the specifications entitled "Guarantees" and guaranteeing the replacement of any and all pavements not meeting the conditions of the guarantee at any time if notified by the city within five years after the date of the acceptance of the work by the city, which bond is to be executed upon the completion of the work and before payment is made therefor.

Section 8. Where any duty is imposed herein or under the law upon the city engineer and power and authority given Messrs. Black & Veatch, Consulting Engineers of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, are hereby designated as such engineers and representatives of said city in such construction work, and they shall have the power and authority herein imposed until discharged by said Board of Council, and they shall perform such acts only by and with the consent of the City of Fulton, Kentucky.

Section 9. When such improvement of the streets and parts of streets hereinabove described and composing said Improvement District Number One shall have been made and the contract therefor completed, the City Engineer shall make a full and correct estimate of the total cost thereof, showing the total number of fronting or abutting feet of property, the names of the abutting property owners, the number of abutting feet of property owned by each person and the proportionate part of the cost of the improvement to be assessed against the property of each abutting property owner to be determined as hereinbefore provided, and the part payable by the said city of Fulton, to be ascertained as hereinbefore provided. One copy of this estimate shall be delivered by the City Engineer to the chairman of the Board of Council of said city and another copy to the Mayor of said city, which is to be by him transmitted to the said Board of Council. Upon receipt of such copy from the said engineer, the chairman of the Board of Council shall, by notice by one insertion in a newspaper published in said city, namely, the Fulton Advertiser, give at least three days' notice of a time and place fixed by it for the inspection and reception of the work, which notice shall state the cost per abutting foot of property as shown by the engineer's estimate. At the time and place fixed in said notice, the Street Committee of the Board of Council shall inspect the work and the owners of property liable for the cost of the improvement, the contractor, their agents and representatives, may appear and be heard before said Street Committee as to whether the work has been done and the cost thereof estimated in accordance with this ordinance and contract therefor. The said Street Committee may adjourn such hearing and inspection from time to time and of such adjournment all interested parties shall take notice without further publication of notice. Any protest against the acceptance of the improvement or the estimated cost thereof shall be made in writing to the Committee and be transmitted by said Committee to the Council, together with a written report of the Committee accepting or rejecting the work accordingly as it may be of opinion that the work had or had not been done, and the cost thereof estimated, in accordance with this ordinance and contract therefor. Upon receipt of the Engineer's estimate and the report of the Street Committee as hereinbefore provided the Board of Council shall carefully consider and investigate any protests which may have been filed against the acceptance of the work or the confirmation of the Engineer's estimate of the cost thereof and shall hear any competent and proper evidence which may be offered thereon prior to the acceptance of the work and confirmation of the estimate, and the Board of Council may then accept the work and confirm the Engineer's estimate of the cost thereof, or, if it be of opinion that the work has not been done in accordance with the contract or that the Engineer's estimate of the cost is incorrect, it may require the contractor to perfect or complete the work in accordance with the contract, or it may modify the estimate of the cost of the work to conform to the facts, or both. The determination of the Board of Council shall be conclusive and binding on all parties and shall not be questioned or contested in any court, except on the ground of fraud or collusion on the part of the Council. Upon acceptance of the work and confirmation of the Engineer's estimate of the cost thereof by the Board of Council, it shall, by ordinance, apportion the cost of the work, less any part to be paid by the city, equally among the owners of the abutting property on both sides of the street improved according to the number of fronting or abutting feet owned by them respectively apportioned on the basis of the block as hereinbefore provided. Provided, however, that the entire cost of curbing and guttering shall be apportioned among the owners of the property abutting on the side of street on which such improvement is made, each corner lot having its intersection included in its frontage; and shall assess and levy a local tax on the several lots or parcels of abutting property at a rate per abutting foot sufficient to produce the part of the cost of the improvement apportioned to such abutting lots or parcels of property, and there shall be a lien upon such lots or parcels of real estate for the cost of such improvement so assessed. The Board of Council shall apportion to the city such part of the cost as it may be liable for. The lien herein before provided for shall take effect upon the publication of the ordinance making the assessment and levying the tax and shall take precedence over all other liens whether created prior or subsequent to the publication of such ordinance, except state and county taxes, general municipal taxes and prior improvement taxes and the same shall not be defeated or postponed by any private or judicial sale or by any mortgage or by any error or mistake in the description of the property or in the names thereof. Nor shall any error of the proceedings of the Board of Council exempt any property from the lien for, or payment of, such taxes after the work has been done and accepted as hereinbefore provided; but the Board of Council or the courts in which suits are pending shall make all corrections, rules and orders to do justice to all parties concerned, and the city shall in no event be liable for any part of the cost of such improvement except as herein provided. Such liens may be enforced as other liens on real estate by action brought in the name of the city or the contractor entitled thereto, and in any such action an allegation in substance that the improvement had been made and the work accepted pursuant to and by ordinance of the city duly passed in accordance with the law shall be a sufficient pleading of the ordinance and proceedings under which the work was done and accepted without setting out the same in full. Any number of lots or parcels of land on which any local tax or installment thereof is in default and the owners thereof may be joined in one proceeding, and the court shall make all proper and necessary orders for the enforcement and collection of the taxes as to the several lots or parcels of land. Where a person is the owner of two or more lots subject to such tax the court may direct that one or more of such lots be sold for the whole tax of such person, allowing such person to designate the lots to be sold first, if he so desires and indicates.

Section 10. That said improvement shall be done upon the ten year payment plan and when same shall have been completed and accepted, and the cost thereof apportioned to and a tax therefor levied on the property liable for the payment thereof as hereinbefore provided, the city treasurer shall give notice by one publication in the Fulton Advertiser, a newspaper published in the said city of Fulton, requiring all persons to pay the local taxes levied upon their property within thirty days from the publication of the ordinance accepting the work and assessing the cost thereof. Such local taxes may, at the option of the property owners, be payable in cash, without interest, within thirty days, or in ten annual installments as herein provided. Any property owner who desires to exercise such privilege of payment by installment shall before the expiration of the said thirty days enter into an agreement in writing with the city that in consideration of such privilege he will make no objection to any illegality or irregularity with regard to the taxes against his property, and that he will pay the same in the manner herein provided with specified interest. Any property owner entering into such agreement or who exercises the option to pay in installments shall be concluded thereby and shall not be permitted to set up any defense whatever against the payment of such taxes. Such agreement shall be filed in the office of the City Treasurer, who shall file, retain and record the same as a record in his office. In all cases where such agreements have not been filed within the time limit the entire cost shall be payable in cash without interest before the expiration of said thirty days. Any such tax not paid within said thirty days shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from the date of the publication of the ordinance assessing and levying the same. If any property subject to such local tax be owned by an infant or person of unsound mind or by a life tenant, the agreement herein provided for may be executed by the statutory guardian of such infant or committee or curator of such insane person with the same effect as if executed by a person free from disability or by the life tenant. In cases where the option to pay in installments is exercised the local tax, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, shall be payable as follows: One-tenth of the tax with interest on the entire tax, at the time fixed by law for the payment of general city taxes occurring next after the expiration of the thirty days allowed for payment in cash, and annually thereafter one-tenth of the entire tax, until the whole is paid. At the end of each six months from the time the first installment of the tax becomes due, interest shall be due and payable for such six months on all unpaid installments of the tax; provided, that any person may, at any interest-paying period after the fifth annual installment of his tax becomes due, pay the entire assessment of tax against his property with accrued interest. All installments of such special assessments and interest shall be placed upon the tax duplicate with other taxes of persons liable for such special assessments, and the tax bills for such special assessments may, in addition to the other remedies given under the law, be sold and collection thereof enforced in the manner provided by law for collection of municipal taxes. In default of payment of any installment of tax or interest for one month after the same becomes due a penalty of 10 per cent of the installment in arrears shall be added thereto, which shall constitute a like lien as the tax, and all unpaid installments of the tax or any bondholder whose bonds or interest thereon are in default of payment, forthwith become due and payable. It shall be the duty of the treasurer, upon order of the Board of Council to properly apply all money paid in on such installments to the payment of bonds and coupons which may be issued as provided in anticipation of the collection of such local taxes. If the fund accumulated from the collection of assessments, interest and penalties for any particular improvement be more than sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds issued in anticipation of such collection, the Board of Council shall make a ratable reduction from the last installment of each person's assessment. Should there be any deficit, the Council may provide for payment of same out of the general fund. Failure on the part of the city to collect any such local tax or installment thereof, when due, shall create no liability against such city, but the person entitled to such tax, or the owner of any such bonds, shall have the right to proceed in any court of competent jurisdiction to foreclose the lien for any such unpaid assessments, recovering interest and costs, and may have the proceeds of the property applied in settlement thereof.

Section 11. In order to provide a fund for the immediate payment of the cost of the improvements made on the installment plan as provided in the preceding section the Council may issue and sell after reasonable advertisement improvement bonds in anticipation of the collection of such part of the local taxes assessed and levied therefor as may not be paid within thirty days from the time of the assessment, pledging such taxes and the liens on the property for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds and apply the proceeds thereof to the payment for the particular improvement in anticipation of the assessment for which the bonds are issued. Such bonds shall bear the date of publication of the assessing ordinance and shall be made payable to bearer. The bonds for said improvement shall be numbered consecutively throughout and shall be divided into ten series as nearly equal as possible, the first series including the lowest numbers and so on. The bonds with interest shall be payable at the City Treasurer's office as follows: The first series of such bonds with accrued interest on all series shall be due and payable one month after the date on which the first installment of the tax becomes due as provided in the previous section, and the remaining series shall be due and payable one each year annually thereafter for nine years. Interest on all unpaid bonds shall be due and payable semi-annually at the end of each six months from the time the first interest becomes due. The bonds shall be of the denomination of $100.00 or its multiple, provided, however, that any odd amount over $100.00 or its multiple may be included in the last bond to mature. No bond shall be issued for less than $100.00 unless the total amount for which bonds are issued for any particular improvement is less than $1,000.00. All improvement bonds shall have the name of the street, alley or other public way, or part thereof, for the improvement of which they are issued, printed, engraved or written thereon and shall state the character of the improvement and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent per annum from the date of the assessment of the tax, and shall have suitable coupons attached thereto evidencing the semi-annual interest. The bonds and coupons shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer, but the coupons may be signed by lithograph. The Clerk shall attest the signatures to the bonds under seal of the city. Said bonds need not recite the steps taken in ordering the improvement or in making the assessments but only a general reference to such proceedings and to the statutes under which the same are issued, to-wit, Section 3577 of the Kentucky Statutes. Such bonds shall be negotiable as inland bills of exchange and shall be free from all defenses by any property owner and exempt from all taxation and shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest; provided, if no offer is made for said bonds equal to par and accrued interest, after reasonable advertisement, the city shall have the right to turn them over to the contractor in full payment of the contract price of the improvement for which they are issued. Any premium realized from the sale of such bonds and any penalties collected on delinquent installments of taxes as provided in the preceding section shall go into the fund for the payment of such bonds and interest thereon. Said bonds and interest thereon shall be payable exclusively out of funds actually paid to and collected by the city on account of the improvement taxes in anticipation of which the bonds are issued, and except as herein provided the city shall in no event be liable on any such bond except to the extent of funds actually paid to it as above set out. Any and all of such bonds shall be subject to payment and redemption at any interest payment period thereon that does not occur within five years from the date thereof, provided that the City Treasurer shall give the owner of the bond proposed to be redeemed at least twenty days' notice by registered letter. The owner of any bond subject to redemption as herein provided shall notify the City Treasurer of his post office address and any changes

HOW FAKE AUCTIONS GET YOUR MONEY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

(This is one of a series of articles exposing the wiles of sharpers who are after your money.)

NEARLY everyone is ready "to take a fling" at getting something for nothing or at least for less than it is worth. Because of this many are duped into paying more than regular market prices for things they buy. This class of people is especially susceptible to the appeal of anything resembling an auction. Fake auctions with the cards stacked against the buyer are very common. They rank high among the fraudulent schemes of the country.

The "here today and gone tomorrow" auction faker rents a fine looking house in some high-class section of the city in which he plans to operate. He furnishes this house with the cheapest imitations of high-class furnishings, with here and there a fine piece which is to serve for bait. Certain pieces are alleged antiques with a thread of glorious history behind them. Of others it is claimed that they have been handed down for generations, originating with some person noted in history or with some famous Southern family. Of other pieces it is maintained that they are made of rare and precious woods imported from far across the sea. The overstuffed furniture, it is claimed, is all high grade of standard manufacture.

Regardless of its superiority and antiquity, the furniture must be sold at once, for the owner is compelled to take an extended trip, the family physician having ordered travel and a change of climate as a means of saving his life. Nothing is to be spared and the deep slashings of the auctioneer's axe must go on with no price too low. Individual pre-auction sales, of course, will be arranged for persons who are unable to attend the auction.

The day of the sale is here. Purchasers are arriving. They are met at the door by the woman member of the outfit—a dramatic person who knows when to shed tears at the thought of having her happy home broken up and her valuable furnishings they find hanging in the front window a sign, "For Rent." The birds have flown, without leaving any address.

Fake auctions are not exclusive to residences, but are sometimes staged in stores. We have reports of a certain furniture firm that failed, having on hand stock valued at $12,000. An auction sale was announced. As usual the stock must be closed out to satisfy creditors within a few days, regardless of cost. On the windows appeared glaring announcements of big bargains. Although represented as a legitimate sale, it had the earmarks of an auction by ings torn from her. She tells her sad story—how she must leave her home and go to distant lands with her husband whose health is broken and life in danger. But she is resigned to her "awful calamity" and will sell all her lovely furniture even at a great sacrifice.

As she directs attention to certain pieces of furniture her voice quavers. She almost sobs aloud as she names the price she is forced to accept. "Less than half the original cost, but price is no object. We must take the train tomorrow," and she wipes a tear from her eye. Fully convinced the sale is genuine, and sympathizing with the unfortunate woman, buyers clamor for the furniture.

But no sooner are the articles transferred from their setting in the slightly darkened rooms of their original owner and displayed in the sunlight of the purchaser's home, than the truth about the sale begins to dawn in the mind of each new owner. Close examination reveals that evidently this wonderful collection of furniture was but odds and ends and unsalable pieces picked up from second-hand stores by these fly-by-night fakers. Some prove to be the rankest of imitations of the cheapest grade, and the overstuffed is so poorly constructed that it squeaks and weaves under the lightest weight.

TRUST COMPANIES RANK NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING HIGHEST

The outstanding trust institutions of the United States are those that were pioneers in using advertising as a means of selling their services. A speaker told a conference of trust companies held in New York recently he presented the results of a questionaire sent out by the Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association, making an inquiry into the advertising practices of institutions doing a trust business. Three out of every four trust companies and banks engaged in extending trust services were found to be advertising. The opinion was expressed by the speaker that their growth would closely follow the amounts spent each year for advertising.

The local newspaper is the most highly regarded advertising medium, it was disclosed. In all, 929 companies answering the questionnaire used the local papers and 328 did not. The institutions buying space in local papers are evenly divided among all sections of the country. Comparing six media for selling personal trust services and considering their effectiveness from the standpoint of producing results, the speaker declared that the local newspapers should head the list. Folders and booklets can reach a limited audience, he observed, but the newspaper is the best medium for acquiring prestige and mass circulation. It should never be omitted, he urged.

YOUR SPRING SUIT NEEDS THE WRINKLES TAKEN OUT

You know what a beauty shop can do for faces—how it can remove wrinkles from cheeks and crow's feet from eyes. But did you ever visit a "beauty shop for suits"—a modern dry cleaning and sanitary pressing establishment? Here, again, is a "fountain of youth"—this time for clothes.

For example, take one of your own suits to the O. K. Steam Laundry—one you've worn often. If it's a light suit, the grime is plainly visible at collar and cuffs; perhaps there is a bit of grease on it from your car. If the suit is dark, the dirt may not show—but it's there. One cannot ride in automobiles and taxis, and not gather dirt.

But see what your dry cleaner, the O. K. Laundry, can do for this suit.

First, it is tumbled in warm, drying air; the moisture is removed, the dust shaken out, obstinate spots loosened. An expert "spotter" then goes over the garment by hand—stains and spots vanish before his skill. Next, the suit is soused gently, thoroughly, back and forth, in the purest of cleaning fluids. Soil embedded in the fabric is filtered out; grime and grease are dissolved away. After most of the moisture has been whirled out, the suit is carefully dried in a breeze of fresh, warm, sterile air, then with the warm air sifting thru it, it is fluffed softly. The nap comes to life, the cloth becomes fresh and smart again.

Nor is this dry cleaning "magic" limited to men's suits and overcoats. Hats and gloves, women's coats, suits, dresses and blouses, children's clothes—almost every article of wearing apparel can be given this same renewing, refreshing treatment. And how much longer clothes wear when they receive it. Truly dry cleaning pays its own bills.

Of course, we make a specialty of dry cleaning draperies, rugs, etc. Don't overlook this when you begin your Spring housecleaning—just phone 130 and we will do the rest.

With the Help of His Sisters

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

"THE trouble with you, Ken," cried Kenneth's sister Jane, "is that you want the moon!"

"Exactly," chimed in his other sister, Carlotta. "You have a limousine appetite on a silver purse. If you'd only pick one of our crowd to take around Linstead of Miss Mighty-tightly Vandeeveer, you wouldn't have to bother with taxi bills and orchid bouquets."

Left alone, the two girls discussed the situation with the frankness of extreme youth.

"You know she's just keeping Ken dangling," declared Carlotta bitterly. "When Polly Vandeeveer gets through with Ken she'll simply discard him as she does last week's hat!"

"I know," agreed Jane. "Ken's such a good looking and peach of a fox trotter, and all that. But if there were anyone else around—"

Carlotta grasped her sister's arm. "I've an idea!" she cried. "Let's have a party and introduce her to Mr. Van Dyke Beard next door. They're two of a kind and if they should fall for each other, it might, so to speak, release our Ken."

"Think he'll come?" asked Jane.

"Come? Of course, he'll come if we tell him we're going to have French ice cream with strawberry marshmallow sauce!"

As a matter of fact, it wasn't their next-door neighbor who hesitated to accept the invitation to the Misses Malcolm's lawn party. Mr. Jonathan Barnes—his name was not actually Mr. Van Dyke Beard, he merely wore one—declared at once his pleasure in being asked and his intention of coming.

It was Ken who introduced difficulties. At first, he flatly refused. "Nothing doing!" he said. "Hate parties myself, and so does Polly. You think she's snobbish, but I tell you she's just plain shy."

"I guess she'd come quick enough," snapped Jane meekly. "If you told her that the well known portrait painter, who has been secluding himself all summer, has decided to come out of his shell and show himself. None other than Jonathan Barnes!"

"Think so?" retorted Ken. "All right. I'll tell her he's to be here and you see if it doesn't make her stay away all the more!"

Poor Ken! It was with a hurt and bewildered air that, on the following day, he meekly sought his sisters.

"You win," he said. "I don't understand it myself, but when I told Polly about your old artist she said to tell you she'd be simply delighted to come. Girls are certainly darn queer!"

Jane and Carlotta exchanged glances. Clever little matchmakers they thought themselves.

They fairly spread themselves for the garden party in the way of decorations, refreshments, entertainment. Secretly, each felt she was assisting in the noble work of snatching a beloved brother from the arms of a Cicerone, and at the same time, getting a mighty lot of fun out of it.

Kenneth, morose and unhappy, had gone after Polly and his heart fairly quivered when he saw what a lovely vision she was in yellow crepe and wide-brimmed yellow hat. What man, artist or otherwise, that would not be smitten dumb at sight of Polly?

Jane introduced Mr. Barnes to Miss Vandeeveer, while Carlotta, of choice and Kenneth of necessity remained in the background. But all three of them were thunderstruck by the words with which the other two greeted one another.

"So you do remember me—"

"Three years ago at Wake Robin Lodge—"

Jane and Carlotta left them and when hidden by a clump of syringas, hugged one another.

"It's Fate!" said Jane.

"Who would have dreamed they had already met! Our work is half done!" Poor Ken! cried Carlotta.

They decided they must be very kind to poor Ken. He would need their sympathy, even if, in the end, it was the very best thing that could happen to him, to be jilted by a Vandeeveer, and left free for some girl of simpler tastes. Carlotta had a friend coming to visit her—a nice, domestic little thing.

When Ken came back from taking Polly home, he heard his sisters talking in the couch hammock.

"Congratulations on your party," said Jane.

"Thanks," said Jane.

"Congratulations me, too," he said gaily.

"You, Ken? This from both girls."

"Exactly! You know I've been wanting to get a definite answer from Polly for ages, but she's held off and I just learned why. Seems three summers ago she had a crush on a man. She was just a kid, but she kept wondering if it was the real thing and if she ever saw him again if she'd feel the same way. Well, she's seen him and says she wouldn't marry him if he was the last man on earth! You know who I mean. Our neighbor—the artist!"

"Mr. Van Dyke Beard?"

"I'll be jiggered!"

"Yes," said Kenneth. "So, thanks to you, I've got—"

"Your limousine!" said Jane in a sunny little voice.

"Exactly," said Kenneth calmly.

"Thanks to us!" said Carlotta. "Oh, Jane!"

POULTRY FACTS

USING LIGHTS IN WINTER HOUSES

It is wise to be thinking about the lighting of the poultry house for the winter. There is no longer any question that for the short days, many of which are cloudy, the egg production can be very definitely increased by supplying artificial light to the laying flock. This has been tried out at many experiment stations and by thousands of practical poultrymen.

The idea is perfectly simple. The hen eats only when it is light. If the days are short she eats only a short time. She eats all her crop will hold, but when she stays on the roost from early afternoon, all night and until late in the morning in the winter, she has not been able to eat enough food to last her the whole time. Therefore, she is idle for several hours when she could just as well be eating more food and manufacturing more eggs.

The method of using the lights is to turn them on for 20 minutes to half an hour in the evening perhaps about nine o'clock, or near bedtime. The hens soon learn what it means when the lights go on, and they hop off the roost immediately and begin to eat scratch feed. As soon as they get their crops full they start back onto the roosts and in half an hour they are all back and the lights can go out, and the day has been made just that much longer for them.

In the case of acetylene lights, which have often been used, some arrangement of a pilot light is necessary which turns on the bright lights when wanted. In the case of electric lights these can be turned on by hand from the house or from the door of the poultry house or in some cases they are operated by clockwork, being turned on at a certain time and automatically turned off after a certain time.

Fattening Ration Urged for All Market Fowls

The common practice of hastily catching up a lot of cockerels, cull hens or turkeys, ducks or geese, without first making some assurance that they are in proper market condition, is sure to bring dissatisfaction to the producer, dealer and consumer alike.

Cockerels confined closely and fed a wet mash of the consistency of pancake batter for from ten days to two weeks should gain from 20 to 35 per cent in weight and at the same time they are a better market product, plumper bodied, with softer and more tender flesh, and they make a more pleasing appearance, hence command a higher price.

Equal quantities (measure) of wheat, oats and corn, or wheat, oats and barley ground fine and wet with either buttermilk or sour milk make a good fattening ration. Use two pounds of milk to one pound of ground feed. If the milk is not available, add 15 or 20 per cent of meat scraps or tankage to the ground feed and wet with water, using one and one-half pounds of water to one pound of ground feed.

Feed three times daily, but only what will be consumed in ten to fifteen minutes.—O. A. Barton, North Dakota Agricultural College.

Poultry Facts

The big fat yellow-legged hens seem to be doing anything but laying eggs.

There is no cure for tuberculosis in fowls and it is known that the disease will spread to swine.

If each bird has four square feet of floor space all the litter should be removed once a month.

Houses should protect the fowls from severe cold but they should not be too warm even in winter.

Some breeders will find it practical to install trap nests in the poultry house and know which hens are laying during the winter.

There is one absolute rule in poultry sanitation and disease control—prevention first, last and always the aim.

Exercise generates heat and promotes health. Make the poultry flock work for the grain by feeding it in a deep, clean litter of straw.

The laying quarters should always be as comfortable as it is possible to make them, but making a house warm at the expense of dryness is never a wise thing to do.

Disease control and sanitation are of greater importance in poultry raising than trying to cure the disease if the flock becomes affected.

Spray the poultry houses with kerosene. Get it into every crack and crevice, for a few mites left today will be a million next week.

Mash feeding throughout the year not only increases egg production but gives a higher average weight when the hens are culled and marketed and the scattering death losses reduced.

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

THE SOFT JOB

I RAN onto Fred Patton on Michigan boulevard the other day. I hadn't seen him for fifteen years or so, and naturally we had a good deal to say to each other. He's been building dams in the Canal Zone and working on irrigation ditches over near Babylon, where Daniel had his run-in with the lions several centuries ago, and he tells about it all very interestingly. He says he hasn't had a soft job and that led him to tell me a story.

Incidentally I may say that Fred played end on the football team when he was in college, and he has apparently not been going into a decline since he's been out in the world.

During the war, he said, he was on engineering construction work for the government and held the rank of captain. He was working twenty-four hours a day most of the time and sleeping between times. One day a strong, husky fellow came into the office and announced that he wanted to join the army. "But I'd like something soft," he said; "you know."

As I said, Fred hadn't been sleeping much, and he may have been just a trifle irritable, but, be that as it may, he hauled back and knocked the prospective son of Mars into unconsciousness and called an orderly to throw him out of the office. There was a great fuss about it, for the young fellow had considerable political influence, but in the end the colonel came in and commended Fred and shook hands with him, a thing which the colonel was not in the habit of doing. "Anyway," Fred said, "there aren't any soft jobs in the world that are worth having," and he was right.

If the hours are short they're strenuous ones and if the salary is large the upkeep and the responsibility are more than proportionately heavy. The law of compensation obtains and nobody gets by without paying the regular price of admission. I heard a fellow who got five thousand dollars a year always earned twice that much.

The job may seem soft, but when you get into it you'll find usually that every job has its hardships and its responsibilities and that there's no such thing as a snap.

Patton's man finally got a job sitting in a swivel chair all day long, but the seat was hard and the pay was small, and there was no honor in it. (© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

GUINEAS ARE BEST PEST DESTROYERS

The guinea is a native of Africa and is best suited to a warm country, though they will do well in the latitude of West Virginia and Indiana, writes A. J. Legg of West Virginia in the Rural New Yorker. There are two breeds of guineas in this country, the pearl and the white guinea. Both are about the same nature, the main difference being that of color.

Both breeds are of a wild, nervous nature and enjoy traveling all over the farm in search of bugs and worms. They can be taught to return home at night and to roost in the poultry house.

Guineas are about the best insect destroyers that I have ever tried; they prefer worms and bugs to grain, though they will eat some grain. I have seen them eating currant worms and Colorado beetles, two pests that chickens pass by without molesting. I have also seen guineas killing field mice. To anyone who wants to turn crop pests into a valuable product I would recommend a flock of guineas for the purpose.

The guinea is a good summer egg producer, begins laying in April and it kept from sitting she will continue to produce eggs most late in the fall. The hens lay an egg every day while they do lay and an average of about 100 eggs to the hen may be expected from a flock in a season. The eggs are not as large as the chicken eggs, but are of a better flavor and have a harder shell.

To anyone who is thinking of raising guineas I would recommend that they buy eggs and hatch them under chicken hens rather than to buy old guineas, as the old guineas are liable to range away and not come back to their new home. The best season for the young guineas to be hatched is June and July, as they delight in warm, dry weather but cannot stand a cold, wet season.

A good-sized hen can cover twelve eggs very well. As soon as they hatch they should be inclosed in a close box or coop for a few days until they learn their adopted mother's call, else they may stray away in the weeds and grass and get lost. A young guinea is like the grouse or quail and will hide when scared.

After the guineas are a few days old they become very much attached to their adopted mother and will follow her until grown. They should have free range with shelter, by when it is raining.

Only a few male birds should be kept about, one for eight or ten hens. In this way they will go in flocks and several hens will lay in the same nest.

Poultry Diseases Cause Heavy Losses to Farmer

Heavy losses of poultry are being caused by a form of cold known as bronchitis or cold in the windpipe. D. C. Kennard, associate in animal industry, Ohio experiment station, who is receiving numerous reports of reduced egg production and losses from disease, attributes these losses largely to closing the poultry houses too tight and to overcrowding.

In bronchitis, apparently healthy birds die suddenly from strangulation caused by a thick mucus which fills the windpipe. This can be detected by opening the trachea, or windpipe from end to end with a pair of small scissors.

The disorder responds to preventive measures better than to treatment. Prompt relief may result from admitting an abundance of fresh air without drafts, providing ample floor and roost space, and replacing old litter with fresh, clean material. Epsom salts may be given to aid birds in overcoming the disease.

Ducks Demand Plenty of Water With Their Feed

A duck is contented so long as it has plenty of water with its feed, and a dry place to rest in. If water is not supplied, and if the roosting shed is damp and cold, the ducks first crouch, then roll over on their backs and die much as ducklings die from "fits" when they encounter digestive difficulties of any sort.

Give the ducks animal food of some kind—buttermilk or beef scraps. Give them also mineral feed in the way of bone meal, and of course most ground grain and green food. Keep water in deep pans before them at every meal.

Lemons' ration for ducks is good for either breeders or laying stock:

One bushel bran, one bushel low-grade flour, one bushel corn meal, one bushel green feed, one-half bushel either raw or cooked vegetables, one bushel in ten of beef scraps, one-half bushel in ten of cooked fish.

Fresh Ground for Chicks

Did you ever keep chicks in a small run, and after they were eight or ten weeks old notice that they began to droop their wings and make a slow growth? If you had plowed or spaded the run it would have helped. When chicks have only a small range they soon contaminate the soil. No other cause does more to promote tuberculosis among fowls than growing chicks on the same ground, year after year. Many cases of gaps may also be traced to this cause.

STANDING IN OUR OWN LIGHT

There is vastly more in the slogan "Buy at Home," than a mere appeal to local pride, local patriotism and public spirit and local self-interest. It ought not to be necessary to point to any of these things as the duty, or rather the high privilege of every resident of the community in keeping it prosperous. And it ought not to be necessary to point to the further reason for keeping money earned in his or any other town at work in and for the community, because the reason is self-apparent. Aside from considerations of pride and duty, the proposition involves a clear case of self-preservation.

If the money we make here is to be sent away to enrich other places, we are standing in our own light. We do not believe the evil is as great here as it is in some other cities, perhaps, but every individual case in which goods are purchased out of town when they could be procured here at no greater, or even at less cost, is a black eye for the business community.

It must be borne in mind that purchases made from door to door salesmen have precisely the same effect as though the money were sent direct to the mail order houses out of town. This city is poorer by the aggregate sum of all such purchases and the effect upon local trade and local prosperity is to obvious to require comment.

Thoughtlessness is responsible for it, but that is a poor excuse for making it more difficult for the local merchant to give full service, to carry full stocks, to expand his business and bring here the class of merchandise he desires to carry.

Another injustice is that the mail order business is all cash, whereas the local merchant is accommodating to his local trade. It is unfair to use the local man's capital for certain necessities and then to send away cash for the other things that could be had here. The practice is economically unsound and sooner or later those responsible for it will regret that they have ever been so blind to the best interests of their own town.

TREES

The city of Fulton is putting on her summer dress, and as usual, green is the predominating color. Nature never changes the style. But it is a fashion that never wears out its welcome on its return each year. Though green, the color of the leaves varies in shade, some of a delicate shade, so delicate in fact, that they look as if they might fade before the burning rays of a warm summer sun. However, they never do. Others are an olive green and still others are darker—a deep rich green giving the appearance of vitality and the power to resist the rigors of summer storms and the bleaching sun.

The shade trees in Fulton, that line the streets, have a most inviting appearance. As they leaf out in the springtime, they seem to grow in height and width compared with the time when they stood in their gaunt nakedness. On some streets they form an arch, providing a protecting canopy from the hot sun of the days to come.

Now and then the tree roof that makes the streets pleasant even on the warmest days, is broken because some tree butcher ruthlessly sawed and chopped off limbs and make it impossible for the tree thus assaulted to form the protection for mankind that it was intended it should.

These stripped trees, unclothed as they are, look as if they might apologize if they could but speak, for their nakedness. Their unsightly condition is accentuated by their gorgeously arrayed brothers and sisters which were more fortunate in their selection of owners.

Do You Know

A better plan for success than the systematic accumulation of a portion of your earnings?

Life is either a series of stepping stones or a treadmill. Some get on and some stand still.

"Thrill" is a broader word than merely "saving." It involves an intelligent and profitable use of your savings.

To get the highest earning power, consistent with absolute safety, you should buy stock in the FULTON BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

Just a Little Smile

A TIMELY BEARD

Sniff—What time is it, old boy? Or haven't you your watch with you? Billfuzz—It's 11:15 a. m.—but I never carry a watch.

Sniff—Then how do you know what time it is? Billfuzz—I shave at 7:30 every morning, and I can tell what time it is, day or night, by feeling how much my beard has grown.—Exchange.

Pig-Headed or Soft-Hearted?

"He says he will be miserable unless I marry him," said the pensive girl.

"You must decide for yourself," answered Miss Cayenne, "whether he is a devoted lover or merely one of those people who can't be happy unless they are having their own way."—Washington Star.

His Gain

"So Maude refused to marry Jack after all. I suppose he's heartbroken." "Oh, no. He says things worked out pretty well. You see, he asked for a raise in pay thinking he was about to get married and received it, so he's that much ahead of the game."

SOMETHING TO SUIT

The Cook—Shall I make a nice cottage pudding for dessert? Mrs. Justwood—Certainly not. Don't you know we're not living in a cottage? Make a flat pudding instead.

No One Hurt

Little Willie had a gun; Pulled the trigger just for fun; No one changed to be in-funne; (This sounds very, very strange.)

Fooled Him

She—According to Pliny, kissing is an infallible remedy for colds. He (with a slight one)—I'd like to try the old boy's recipe. She—You may. It is: "Three kisses on the mouth of a mule."

Criticism

Two men in London were discussing a certain novelist. "She's a wonderful writer," said one.

"Yes," replied the other, "the mystery to me is where she gets her marvelous lack of knowledge of life."

A Misnomer

A sailor was asked about his better half.

"What d'ya mean 'half'?" he exclaimed. "She's double what I am. I'm only a tar and she's a tartar."

HIS CLASSIFICATION

She—Men are beasts—all of them. He—My folks think I'm about perfect. She—Yes, you're a perfect beast.

Man With Cancer

For the man with a cancer. Here's a message of hope: Consult a good surgeon. But forgo the dope.

Anticipatory

She—Your lips certainly look nice. He—Don't talk about things that may be used against you later—Georgia Tech Yellow Jacket.

Who Wouldn't?

"I wish I had enough money to marry on." She (shyly)—What would you do? He (quickly)—Travel.

Caviar Not an Author

"Do you like caviar?" "That's too old for me to bite. Caviar is a dessert and not an author."

O. K. LAUNDRY HAS COMPLETE SERVICE

The modern laundry of today is an expression of complete service for the whole family. Laundering has become the approximation of an exact science. Laundrymen of today are specialists and have learned the secret of improved cleaning in the most sanitary way, and the way that will have the least wear on linens is taught every employee in the modern laundry.

This class of laundry cleans more thoroughly, makes garments look whiter, with less wear and tear than the washer-woman in the own home. Different clothes need different methods.

The laundryman sorts the family bundle and each article goes thru the process of cleansing that will give the owner the best result, both in wear and cleansing. The O. K. Steam Laundry is modern in every department and has kept abreast of the progress made in improved cleansing for every garment. They give every article you send to them a special care, which is part of the routine of their work.

AIR DRIED CLOTHES

Do you realize what it means to receive a bundle of thoroughly washed and air dried clothes from a modern power laundry?

It means that at last the only remaining barrier between the housewife and the laundryman has been broken down. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immemorial, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned clothes line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

The greatest development in years and years, comes to this steadily growing industry in the perfection of a natural drying process. This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in our laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes; it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundering process. It puts the work of the power laundry on par with that of the housewife's own private laundry.

Be sure to see this wonder machine in our laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

Chestnut Glade

Mr. Crit Matheny lost his brooder house and hens and 300 young chickens by fire last week. But not at all daunted, Mr. Matheny at once put in a bill of lumber for a new house and an order for more chickens.

Mrs. Mason is not as well this week.

The Ladies' Club met Wednesday with Mrs. Asa Phillips. Several visitors were present and a goodly number of members. Mrs. Flora Nanney, chairman of garden work, reported very little done on account of unfavorable weather. Lots of chickens dying or sick. Whole flocks in bad condition. A poultry tour is being planned by Mrs. Ruth Finch, chairman of Poultry. This will include a visit to the Latta and Guyor poultry plants, where several thousand hens are kept, near Crutchfield, Ky., around the first of June. Quite a number are planning to take this trip.

Mrs. Finch was delightedly surprised at the conclusion of the business meeting, when Mrs. Temple, in her own inimitable way, expressed the appreciation of the club for her work as president, and in behalf of the ladies, presented to Mrs. Finch a lovely Pyrex casserole. Miss Guthrie arrived at this time, and while preparations were being made for the demonstration, the health program was given. Several expressed a wish to have their wells tested. Mrs. Lowe discussed hemorrhage and various first aid remedies.

The nut and brown bread and brown rice demonstrated by Miss Guthrie also her talk on foods was very very interesting. Meeting adjourned, subject to Mrs. Ellis' call. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Stella Nanney.

Chestnut Glade baseball boys went over to Water Valley, Ky. Friday afternoon for a game, winning by a score of 6 to 12.

The class play, "Bread Upon the Waters," was given Saturday evening to a large and appreciative audience.

Mrs. Pernie Grissom and little son arrived for a visit to her mother, Mrs. Johnnie Etheridge last week.

W. H. Finch has added to his dairy herd, a thoroughbred Holstein calf, great grandson of the 9-gallon Holstein cow of Martin fame. Two hundred and thirty more baby chicks on Diamond Square farm, 100 of which are "Fertis' best" which are to add to value of the flock by introducing the very best new blood for next year's breeding pen.

Lesson for May 22
PETER HEALS THE LAME MAN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 3:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Neither is there salvation in any other for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved—Acts 4:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Heals a Lame Man.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Gifts That Money Cannot Buy.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Giving Our Best for Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Gifts That Are Better Than Money.

I. Peter Healing the Lame Man (Acts 3:1-10).

1. The place (vv. 1, 2).

Peter and John were on their way to the house of worship. This man had been placed at the entrance of the place of worship where he might receive the sympathetic attention of worshippers.

2. The man (v. 2).

This beggar was infirm from his birth. He was now more than forty years old (4:22) and had brought his ailment with him into the world. When he saw Peter and John he asked alms.

3. The method (vv. 3-8).

(1) The man's attention gained (v. 4).

Peter and John commanded him to look on them.

(2) Peter commanded him in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to rise and walk (v. 6).

(3) Peter took him by the right hand (v. 7).

This was meant to give impetus to his faith—not strength to his ankles.

4. The man's response (v. 8).

Strength came to his feet and ankles; he stood, he walked, he leaped and shouted praises to God.

5. The effect (vv. 9-11).

The people were so filled with wonder and amazement that they ran together to behold this wonderful thing.

Note:

(1) This helpless beggar had to be carried to the temple gate. Men and women out of Christ are so helpless that they need to be brought where the light of God can be applied to them.

(2) Peter taking the man by the hand shows the manner of helping the lost.

II. Peter Witnessing Before the Multitude (2:12-20).

Though this miracle directed the attention of the people to Peter and John, Peter immediately turned their attention from himself to Christ.

He told them that it was faith in Jesus Christ whom God had glorified and whom they had deliberately betrayed and crucified that had healed this man.

III. Peter in Prison for Christ's Sake (4:1-4).

It was his fidelity to Christ that brought him this persecution. Observe:

1. The leaders—priests and Sadducees—in this persecution (vv. 1, 2).

The priests were intolerant because these new teachers were encroaching upon their functions.

2. The result (vv. 3, 4).

Though they were held in bondage by chains, Christ continued to work. The number of believers had greatly increased.

IV. Peter Witnessing Before the Sanhedrin (4:5-21).

1. The inquiry (vv. 5-7).

This inquiry admitted the reality of the miracle. They wanted to know what it signified.

2. Peter's answer (vv. 8-12).

Being filled with the Holy Spirit, Peter calmly and graciously answered. He showed them that they were not on trial as evildoers but for doing good to the helpless and needy man.

Since they could not deny the miracle he boldly declared that it had been done in the name of Jesus Christ whom they had crucified and God had raised from the dead.

3. The impression upon the Sanhedrin (vv. 13-22).

(1) They marveled (vv. 13-15).

They saw that Peter's behavior and words were as unusual as the miracle.

(2) They took knowledge that Peter and John had been with Jesus (v. 13).

(3) They forbade them to speak in Christ's name (v. 18).

(4) Peter and John's reply (vv. 19, 20).

They expressed their determination to obey God rather than men.

(5) Their release (v. 21).

Seeing the people were on their side, there was no way to punish them.

V. The Church at Prayer (vv. 23-31).

As soon as Peter and John were set free, they hastened away to their fellow disciples and told them their experience. They praised God for deliverance and prayed for boldness to speak the Word of God.

Thinking of Faults

Think of your own faults the first part of the night when you are awake, and of the faults of others the latter part of the night when you are asleep.

God's way of exalting His children is contrary to the flesh—Echoes.

Louisville greets You!

THIS Gate City of the South on the northern border of Dixie believes implicitly in the slogan, "United, we stand; divided, we fall."

Louisville's economic interests are largely in the South and its growth can only be commensurate with that of the South.

When business is good in the great tobacco, cotton and corn growing areas of the South—when mercantile business thrives there—when industry expands—when transportation facilities are extended, whether by rail, river or air—when flood or tornado visits the South—Louisville feels the effect.

The Louisville Board of Trade believes with better understanding, mutual sympathy, co-operation and reciprocity many of the problems of the South can be solved, and its development can be accelerated.

Louisville wants the viewpoint of Western Kentucky and West Tennessee and therefore 125 of its foremost business men are coming to make you a visit. They will arrive in

Plants Cow Peas or Soy Beans and Corn at the Same Time

Cow peas and soy beans enrich the soil. Both are valuable as stock food, and when either is fed with corn, it makes a balanced ration which puts meat on the stock more rapidly than when corn only is fed.

You can plant either cow peas or soy beans in the corn hill or drill them with the corn by using a

John Deere 999 Corn Planter with Pea Attachment

We can furnish this planter with the most simple pea attachment ever designed—it can be put in place or removed without disturbing the regular corn planter parts or the fertilizer attachment when it also is used. We can also furnish a spout attachment for drilling only, which plants the peas shallower than the corn. When buying a corn planter, remember the John Deere No. 999 is noted for its accurate "Natural Drop"—instant change, hilling to drilling or back to hilling; instant variable drop—2, 3 or 4 kernels per hill as desired; nine different drilling distances from one set of plates, convenient underhanging reel, absolutely automatic marker, tip-over hoppers and other conveniences.

Come in and ask us to show you the John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter with this pea attachment.

Crutchfield News

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gallimore, of Hickman, spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Strother.

Mr. and Mrs. Pressie Moore, Misses Marie, Nanie and Gladys Moore and Maud Bellew spent Sunday in Murray with Miss Ina Bellew, who is attending State Normal.

Dr. W. D. Henry attended the Medical Association in Paducah last week.

James N. Orr, of West Port, Tenn., spent the week-end here.

Mrs. J. E. Veatch continues ill.

After residing here four years Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Watkins have returned to their farm in Hickman County. They are splendid people and we regret losing them.

The commencement exercises of the Crutchfield High and Graded School are in progress this week. On Sunday night Brother Norman, presiding Elder of the Union City District M. E. Church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon at the Baptist Church. It was a splendid address and a full house greeted this great speaker.

Those finishing high school are: Elizabeth Byrd, Hilda Edwards, Nannie Kate Barber, Bessie Clark and Roy Ferguson. Those completing the eighth grade are: Clella Elliott, Magdalene Veatch, Marie Moore, Nanie Moore, Virginia Henry, Louise Inman, Aline Yates, Pauline Yates, Edna Childers, Rachel Hardison, Kathryn Kimbro, Arneeta Veatch, Charles Bruce, Fletcher Williams, Richard Jeffries, Geddy Hardison and Clarence Culver.

The graduating exercises will be Friday night, May 20. Dr. Bourne, of Murray, will deliver the address.

Lovelace Veatch, of Paducah, spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. James Veatch. Miss Ruel Flippo, of Fulton, is spending the week with Miss Willie Ruth Turner and attending commencement.

Mr. Russell Gaskins and Miss Augusta Little were united in marriage Sunday, May 15, in Union City, Tenn. The pastor of the Union City Baptist Church performing the ceremony. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Little, of Crutchfield. She is a graduate of Crutchfield High School, and has attended State University and Blue Mountain College. She has many lovable traits of character. The groom is the only son of Mr. J. S. Gaskins, of Crutchfield. He also received his early education at Crutchfield. He afterwards attended Union University and for several years has been a traveling salesman. He is now located at Shreveport, La., where they will make their home. He is a young man who numbers his friends by his acquaintances. We extend congratulations and best wishes.

C. A. Turner has returned from St. Louis, where he sold a car load of hogs. Mrs. C. F. Jackson and Mrs. M. I. Boulton, of Fulton, visited Mrs. J. R. Elliott Sunday. Mrs. O. M. Bruce has returned from Murray, where she visited a brother, Mr. Jim Inman, who is in the Mason Hospital.

Death visited our community and claimed for its victim, Mrs. Ruth Orleans, beloved wife, of Charles Orleans, on last Friday at 10 o'clock at the Riverside hospital at Paducah, Ky. She had undergone an operation on May 3. She rallied from the operation and all had hope of her recovery until the ninth day she took a relapse and quietly passed away on Friday, May 13. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Reece, deceased, with only one brother, Jesse A. Reece, of Stockton, Cal. She was married to Charles Orleans October 5, 1922. Mrs. Ruth was a true Christian, having professed Christ at the age of 15 years and joined the Methodist church at Shady Grove near Union City. There her membership remained throughout her life. She was 46 years of age. She was well loved by all and will be sadly missed by her sorrowing friends. Her only sorrowing relatives are one brother, Jesse, and one uncle, Giles Mitchell, of Union City, Tenn., and a host of cousins to mourn her death. The entire community greatly sympathize with her husband and relatives at the passing of this dear woman.

Therefore with the Father love us because we lay down our life that we may take it up again. She is dead unto sin, but alive unto God in Christ Jesus.

She was buried at Chapel Hill Sunday afternoon, at two o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lee, of Union City.

This city with thirty-four others in Western Kentucky and West Tennessee to be visited by the Louisville Board of Trade Heads of Houses on their annual spring tour of May 23 to 27.

DAVID B. G. ROSE
President Louisville Board of Trade

There will be 125 of the foremost business men of the Kentucky metropolis in the party, including manufacturers, wholesale merchants, bankers, railroad men, and others. A band and newspaper staff correspondents will accompany them.

LOUIS K. WEBB
Director of Tour

They will also have with them a corps of capable speakers, one or more of whom are expected to speak at each stop on their itinerary, in response to addresses of welcome that mayors, presidents of chambers of commerce, or other distinguished speakers will deliver.

LIKE THIS TERRITORY

The entire trip will cover 1,201 miles. "The territory that we shall visit," says David B. G. Rose, President of the Louisville Board of Trade, and the official head of the party, "is one that has made itself extremely popular with us on previous tours made. Indeed, it would probably be agreed by veterans of these tours that nowhere in its numerous excursions north and south of the Ohio River has the Louisville Board of Trade ever been more delightfully received than in this territory."

"We visit this territory frequently because it is one to which Louisville is largely bound by economic relations and by ties of blood and friendship. Many of the foremost business men of Louisville today were born in this territory. Louisville regards itself as distinctly a southern city and feels that its problems are largely the same as those of the rest of the South. Therefore, the Louisville Board of Trade is interested in better railway connections, improved river transportation, highway extension, flood control, crop diversification, the development of pure-bred live stock.

E. S. WOOSLEY
Director of Speakers

education and reciprocal trade relations. It is not only willing but anxious to cooperate with the rest of the South in obtaining those economic and social conditions that will promote the welfare and happiness of the people of the South."

WOULD KNOW OUR PROBLEMS

"We are hoping that the speakers who greet us on these tours will tell us what they are working for and how Louisville can help them. If they have any suggestions to offer or complaints to make, we want them. Speakers need not be afraid of hurting Louisville's feelings. It is only through a frank presentation of facts as they appear that real progress can be made in remedying unsatisfactory conditions."

H. K. WEBB
Former Mayor of Louisville

Louis K. Webb, of Louisville, director of the tour, calls attention to the fact that the Board of Trade special train will carry six sleepers and two diners and that sleeping accommodations and meals will be provided on the train. For that reason the Louisville Board of Trade does not expect hospitality other than the welcoming receptions which practically every city on the itinerary has announced, including meeting the train with a reception committee and parading with the Louisville party to the place of speaking.

In view of the fact that the special is traveling on a rigid schedule, E. S. Woosley, director of speakers, announces that the men whom he assigns to speak for the visitors at each stop will speak briefly and to the point. In fact, he states, they are more anxious to hear than to be heard, and, in view of the limited time at each stop, they want to give local speakers ample time to present those matters that may be nearest to their hearts.

SALMON'S WEALTH GREATER THAN GOLD

Fish Lead in Exports From Far Alaska.

Ketchikan, Alaska.—From the island dotted waterways of Alaska's thousand miles of coast has come a wealth more precious, more vital even than gold. It is the wealth of the sea itself—the teeming millions of salmon that have been taken from the bosom of the North Pacific and placed on the world's table.

Since Alaska was purchased from Russia, sixty years ago, salmon has led the list of exports from the territory, with $810,750,000 to its credit—a figure which multiplies nearly eighty-five fold the price which Uncle Sam paid for the territory.

The romance of the Klondike has not dimmed in the hearts of the Alaskans, nor has the gold fever of the late twenties, which sent thousands into the territory, been forgotten anywhere in the United States. But, despite the mineral wealth of the territory, the salmon exports lead those of gold by $250,000,000.

Best Source of Revenue.

With agricultural production practically negligible, it is not for the Alaskan to gain his wealth—or even to earn his daily bread—through tilling the soil or trekking about on a sort of hill and valley hodge seeking "pay dirt." Rather it is his mission to don son-of-a-bitcher and boots and gloves; to board his boat and to steer for the fishing banks.

Thousands of men, many of them native Alaskan Indians, are engaged in salmon fishing or canning and subsidiary industries. The number during 1925 was estimated at more than 25,000. The investment at that time was set at $55,400,000.

Salmon fishing is perennally in several ways. Legislation of course, prevents taking salmon from the mouths of streams when they migrate each season to spawn, and recently, under the regulations perfected by the bureau of fisheries, closed seasons have been in effect at the height of the summer season in order to allow more salmon to get to the spawning grounds. This measure is being taken to assure perpetuity of the supply.

The most common form of fishing is the traps. These are built by various individuals and corporations at points approved by the government. Through a series of wire meshes migrating salmon are caught by the thousands. Once and twice a day the traps are baited (depending upon how the fish are "running") and the salmon taken to canneries in the vicinity. Another common form is trolling. Small boats manned by one or two men travel beside waters, allowing hooks and lines to drag behind. These are baited with "spoons" designed to represent hering.

Traps Largely Used.

The operations of the seine boats largely have been displaced by the traps. Natives, however, in the southeastern section still operate their boats. Larger crews are required for these boats, which throw out huge nets, the edges of which have cork floats. When the ends are joined the net is hauled in and—if good fortune has played its hand—hundreds or even thousands of salmon are taken in one haul.

Ketchikan offers an interesting sight for the tourist. The canneries, some of them located near the steamer landings, operate night and day during the season. Most of the work is done by machinery.

Salmon fishing, however, is not confined to the southeastern part of the territory, but is more or less common all along the coast. Due to the nature of the country, however, southeastern Alaska is more adaptable both to the salmon and the agencies which seek to can them.

In addition to canning, mild curing and the packing of fresh fish offer employment to hundreds the year around. During 1925 the value of these products was set at $1,751,369.

The total number of salmon taken from Alaskan waters during 1925 was 70,477,990. In 1922 the number was only 72,370,400.

Military Barracks

Now Used as Hospitals

Stockholm, Sweden.—Transformation of Sweden's empty military barracks into modern hospitals, historical museums and insane asylums has been recommended by a committee appointed by the government.

The problem of what to do with the buildings arose from the army reduction decided on two years ago. In Stockholm the collections of the state historical museum have long overcrowded the space hitherto available and the government antiquarian, Dr. Sigurd Curman, has found that the heavy artillery barracks can be reconstructed into display rooms.

In the provincial garrison towns use of the empty barracks as sanitariums or as regular hospitals is proposed and in Sala, Orebro, Venersborg and Jonkoping the committee favors the transformation of the barracks into institutions for the cure of idiots, imbeciles and the insane.

Guards Poodle's Body

New York.—A white French poodle struck by an automobile in the Bronx was shot. Before the body could be removed from the street along came a mongrel. For 24 hours it stood guard.

Give Your Clothes a Rest

THE weary waistcoat and the tired trousers—these are not fancies of the imagination but cold realities. You wouldn't make your horse go day after day without a rest or run your car without giving the engine a chance to cool off. And in just the same way your clothes have an occasional vacation coming to them once in a while if you want to get the most wear out of them.

It is known that even steel, when constantly used, gets what engineers call "metal fatigue." Wool is no exception. The sturdiest wool fibers become flattened and pressed out of shape by continuous use. Their strength returns, if they are allowed to rest up a bit.

Fortunately, you do not have to send fatigued suits to the seaside or mountains to recover their vigor. A nice, dark closet and well-fitting hanger make an ideal vacation for their faded nerves. What you do need, though, is enough suits to keep them from getting too tired out. Two suits worn alternately wear considerably longer than three suits purchased one at a time and each worn continuously every day until worn out.

What is true of suits is equally true of shoes. Besides the greater economy of having two or three pairs of everyday shoes going at once, the man who has to stand or walk a great deal will find it much easier on his feet to have a Monday-Wednesday-Friday pair to alternate with his Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday brogues.
