THE LISTENING POST

● Eighteen years ago yesterday, late in the evening of a blowing, rainy November day, five men sat around a desk in Frank Carr's law office and discussed a business deal that had just been made. Various papers were signed and the five men shook hands and wished each other luck. It was rather an important matter for three of the men, and the other two, lawyers, were interested as friends are always interested in what their friends do.

● Eighteen years ago today I became responsible for the publication of this newspaper. The transaction was closed late in the day of November 30, 1920, and the next morning, instead of following my usual route to town and coming to the office where I now come each morning, I made my way to Lake Street and entered the Leader office, which then was located where Mr. Williams has his printing office now. I will confess that I started on the job with some trepidation and with considerable misgiving. I had never worked at a daily newspaper, and while I thought I knew what I was doing I still had some mental fears.

● In that first issue we who became publishers pledged our best efforts to publish a newspaper that would render service to this community. We were sincere in this pledge and we have never wavered from it. It is true that we have failed in many ways, but never because we wished. We have done all that we could to give the town a newspaper that would accurately mirror life as it is lived here, and a newspaper that was vitally interested in the progress of the community. There is no need in claiming that various things have been done—for that is not the purpose of this memory sketch. What is done is past and what is to be done remains to be done, and I am content to allow others to estimate what has been done or what will be done.

● The thing that strikes me so forcibly in thinking of the then and the now is that so many changes come in such a relatively short time. It does not seem long to me since that rainy evening in Frank's office, but when I think of the changes I realize full well that it has been a long, long time. Three of those men who sat around the desk are gone, and as I remember the men with whom I talked during that period I am struck by the fact that so many of them are gone. Several business firms which were here then are gone, and there are many of the younger folks who do not remember when this firm was here. Other firms have gone through vast changes. Some have gone up, some have gone down, others have ceased to exist.

● But really the time does not seem long. For the most part the years have been pleasant ones. The work itself has been pleasant, and never a day passes without me realizing that publishing a newspaper in Fulton is really made a pleasant task by the friendliness of the people of this town. Other towns may be just as friendly, although I doubt it, but there have been so many times when I felt the friendship of this town so completely that it left me humble and thankful and more than a little puzzled. It is amazing to see how friendly people can be, and as I remember the many times I have felt the warmth of friendship here in Fulton I have wondered why it should be extended to me. But never once have I failed to appreciate it deeply and truly.

● The only wish that I might express is that I might have twice more the years that have been given me in Fulton. They have been happy years, indeed, and I can only hope that now and then I have repaid in small measure some of the debt of friendship I owe to the people of this community.

Gov. Says He Hasn't Right To Ban Nazi Goods

Urges Condemnation Of Hitler's Policies But Says Can't Ask Boycott

Frankfort, Ky., —Gov. A. B. Chandler stated late today he had "urged the vigorous condemnation on the part of all our people against the present policy of Hitler in Germany," but that it was not within his province to call upon Kentuckians to boycott German-made products.

The statement was made in a letter to Edward H. Weyler, of Louisville, secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky State Federation of Labor. Weyler had requested the Governor to advocate a boycott "until the persecution of Jewish, Catholic and laboring people in Germany has ceased and they are allowed their religious freedom and their rights as human beings."

The Governor replied that in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation he had called "upon my fellow citizens to take cognizance of the persecution of certain minorities in some countries of Europe" and had "repeatedly through public statement manifested my interest in the problem of the Jews and Catholics in Germany."

He explained the country's foreign policy "is dictated by our President and his advisers" and added "I assure you of my wholehearted co-operation in any plan that may be suggested by the President in voicing a vigorous protest against the wholly undemocratic and non-Christian policy of Hitler."

Austin Store Is Managed By Mrs. Isabell Butts

B. L. Austin and Company, grocery store on East State Street, near the Illinois Central railroad crossing is now under the personal management of Mrs. Isabell Butts, and new stock has been added to make it one of the best groceries to be found in the city. Mrs. Butts is fully experienced in the grocery business, and has a host of friends who will be interested in her success. She promised to render real service in groceries, and an advertisement on another page of today's issue reveals some attractive prices. Mrs. Butts invites her many friends to call around and see her new location.

TENANT HOUSE BURNED

A four room tenant house on the Lake Wright farm was demolished by fire Tuesday night, while the occupants were away from home. The fire truck from Fulton was called to check the fire and no further damage was done.

State Income For November Tops Estimates, Showing Real Upswing

Frankfort, Ky., —The recent increase in liquor production and general upswing in business was reflected today in reports to Gov. A. B. Chandler by the State Finance Department that the State's November revenue had exceeded estimates.

Governor Chandler gave out the finance report showing general fund income of $3,275,530 for November, always one of the best revenue months, and a balance on the Finance Department's books of $1,279,130 at the close of business today. That was $83,130 more than had been estimated. The Finance Department took in an additional $100,000 too late to be included in the November totals.

The State Highway Department balance at the close of November was reported by the Finance Department as $1,108,000.

"These figures certainly make me feel good," Chandler said and

Strike Of 60 Lasting Day Ties Up 14,600

Detroit, —A strike of sixty automobile workers that caused a day of idleness for nearly 14,600 employees of the Chrysler Corporation and the Briggs Manufacturing Company ended this afternoon when night shift workers reported for work.

Officials of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers ordered their members to resume work pending negotiations, and termed the short-lived strike "unauthorized."

Wage Increase Demanded
The stoppage occurred at 7:30 a. m. in the body handling department of Chrysler's Plymouth plant here. Union employees of the department have demanded a wage increase.

Because the department is a key one, the entire Plymouth plant employing 6,000 men on the day shift was closed. An hour later, the Briggs Mack Avenue plant, which employs 6,900 making bodies for Plymouth, also closed, and at noon Chrysler's Dodge division sent home 1,700 employees who had been assigned to Plymouth work.

Man Declared Legally Dead Duplicates 2nd Wedding Again

Pasadena, Calif., —Davis R. McDonald, legally dead for several years, married Ethel May Ellis of New Orleans today in a ceremony duplicating their wedding 14 years ago.

McDonald, a Pittsburgh broker, deserted his first wife in 1924, leaving a note for her and their daughter saying he was ending his life. The same year he married Miss Ellis, who knew nothing of his previous life until he was arrested recently for forgery and identified through "war service" fingerprints.

McDonald's third wedding was made possible by a decision of Superior Judge Frank Collier, placing him on three years' probation.

PROFIT MELON SPLIT BY FIRM

Cambridge, Mass., —One hundred and forty employees of Harmon P. Elliott, Cambridge addressing machine manufacturer, tomorrow will divide $4,375 as the first payment of a "share the profits" plan. The checks, averaging $31.25 will come from a $250,000 trust fund which Elliott established eighteen months ago by setting aside 2,500 shares of the firm's stock.

At the 17-a-share dividend the stock was paying at that time $17.50 would have been on hand for distribution tomorrow. Instead, the dividend fell to $1.75 because of increased wages and additional taxes, Elliott said.

Checks will go to all employees who have served the company for ten years or longer. Eventually some 375 employees will become recipients.

Attack On Laws Dividing Races Held Invalid

Birmingham, Ala., —Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, today blamed failure to "understand fundamental Southern conditions" for action of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in condemning racial segregation laws.

"It is regrettable," Bankhead said, "that the many splendid delegates to the conference were mis-treated by the majority responsible for the passage of the foolish racial resolutions."

During its inaugural session here November 30-23, the conference condemned Southern "Jim Crow" laws and endorsed anti-lynching legislation.

Sir Oswald Mosley Admits Marriage After Son Born

London, Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, announced today that he married blonde, Nazi-admiring Mrs. Diana Guinness about two years ago and that a son was born to them last Saturday.

In a long statement in "Action," the journal of the British Union of Fascists, Sir Oswald said "it is now necessary to publish the facts of my marriage," and that "both mother and son are doing well."

The statement omitted the place and exact date of the ceremony, Sir Oswald denied, by implication, two days ago that the wedding occurred in Munich or Berlin last December with Hitler or other high Nazi officials present.

Sir Oswald is 40. The bride is 28. Like her younger sister, Unity Freeman-Mitford, Lady Mosley is a close friend and admirer of Hitler. She and Bryan Guinness, of the brewing family, were divorced in 1933. By that marriage she had two sons, Desmond and Jonathan, who greet callers with up-raised arms and "Heil Hitler!"

The flaxen-haired Unity, sometimes with her sister accompanying her, has been a frequent guest of the German chancellor. Once Unity fought with a Hyde Park "Communist" for a swastika button Hitler had given her.

Sir Oswald's Curzon, daughter Cynthia Blanche Curzon, daughter of the late Marquess Curzon of Kedleston and a granddaughter of the late Lord Z. Leiter of Chicago, died in 1933.

Sir Oswald said in the newspaper article his wife is an enthusiastic worker in his cause. He said the marriage was secret because "it is obvious that certain risks are attached to my life and it was my strong desire that no woman should share them."

Farley Sees No Chance For 3rd Party

Chicago, —James A. Farley stated today President Roosevelt "is just as popular as he ever was."

The chairman of the Democratic National Committee told reporters at the end of a two-day conference with Western leaders:

"If the Democratic Party takes steps to cure the conditions which caused them to lose several seats in the recent election there is no question about the outcome in 1940."

Farley opined 1940 was "too far off" to mention any candidates or to speak of strategy, but he professed to see "no chance for a third party nationally."

Wisconsin Democrats, meanwhile, demanded Federal patronage control of Farley as first move in a fight to unseat Senator Robert M. La Follette in the 1940 election.

State Chairman W. D. Carroll charged thousands of Federal jobs have gone to the La Follette Progressive organization.

Dirty Turkey Day, Sloppy Christmas, Spotty New Year

New York, —Americans either ate better or more carelessly this Thanksgiving than at any time since 1929, Phil Cooper the cleaner reported today.

From reports made by 40,000 firms—a statistical service he started as a hobby—Cooper said he learned that the Nation's cleaners were given 6,450,000 spots to erase the day after Thanksgiving.

Of the total, 3,500,000 were on women's garments, but Cooper hastened to add that the ladies were not worse-mannered than men but merely quicker to have their clothes cleaned.

The cleaners are looking forward to a sloppy Christmas and a spotty New Year.

Completes Hop Across Nation In Tiny Airplane

New York, —Curly-haired Johnny Jones, former Broadway "hoofer," completed in 30 hours, 47 minutes today the first non-stop transcontinental flight in the lightest airplane made.

The 25-year-old Van Nuys, Calif., airplane salesman landed his 800-pound, one-seater (Aeronca) at Roosevelt Field at 4:18 p. m. (EST) —with no apologies for flying the 2785 miles the right way.

He did admit to one miscalculation.

"I couldn't find Roosevelt Field at first," he said.

Nearing the city, Jones said he swooped down over Bendix Airport in New Jersey and dropped a note asking the location of Roosevelt Field. A plane was sent up and he was escorted the last few miles.

Jones pushed his long legs out of the tiny plane and scooped up some snow from the runway.

"We don't have this in California," he said, "It was a nice trip. I left Los Angeles at 9:31 a. m. (EST) yesterday. Averaged 91 miles an hour. From Los Angeles to El Paso I had heavy headwinds, and from there on tailwinds."

Jones had loaded his plane—about one-third the size of Douglas Corrigan's plane—with 146 gallons of fuel and had enough when he landed to fly another four hours.

Special Liquor Export Licenses Ruled Invalid

Frankfort, Ky., —Announcement that Attorney General Meredith ruled that special liquor export licenses could not be issued and two granted were recalled was made by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board today.

The board announced November 23 approval of such licenses for five border towns to firms which would agree to employ certified public accountants to record their invoices and vouchers. Meredith advised Revenue Commissioner Martin that while the General Assembly gave the board "wide latitude in making regulations," it forbade a special license to a wholesaler.

Towns where special licenses had been tentatively approved were Fulton, Franklin, Guthrie, Middlesboro and Pine Knot.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

This is to notify any one concerned that it is our intention to engage in the alcoholic beverage business, and due notice is hereby given the public that the necessary application has been filed with the proper state officials. Earl Collins and Lloyd Bone, doing business as Collins and Bone. Adv. 288-9t.

Suicide Wave Follows New Nazi Edicts

Berlin, —A wave of Jewish suicides was reported by responsible persons today to have spread throughout Germany as the Nazi decreed new "Ghetto" measures. Rabbis worked overtime conducting funerals. They and other authoritative sources were forbidden to disclose how many killed themselves or died suddenly of causes attributed directly to anti-Jewish actions.

Police all over Germany were empowered to forbid Jews to appear in certain districts or to leave home at certain times.

New Attack On U. S. Made
A new attack on the United States was opened by the Fraenkeische Tageszeitung, newspaper of strongly anti-Jewish Julius Streicher, Nazi leader of Franconia.

The newspaper called the United States a "land of lynch justice, kidnapping, false prophets and strip dancers," and added:

"While America mixes in the most violent manner in the inner affairs of Germany and laments over the Jews without helping them, it forgets completely to tend to its own affairs. They are dirty enough and we all have reason enough to remind them."

General Strike Ends Quickly By French Premier

Paris, —By a nationwide array of armed force Premier Daladier today quickly broke the 24-hour general strike which constituted organized labor's first big challenge to his government and its economic program.

The stocky premier, whose enemies have accused him of dictatorial ambitions, met the issue head on.

Inside of a few hours there was nothing left of the movement, directed by the powerful general confederation of labor, except isolated postal strikes in some private industries, dock workers' strikes in some ports and a few street car strikes.

Mobile guards, police and in many cases army units were in abundant evidence to prove the premier's determination to smash the labor demonstration against his decree laws.

In cases where active opposition was shown trouble makers were hustled off to police stations.

Approximately 500 arrests were made in the Paris district and several dozen arrests were reported from other points.

Members of Parliament branded the day a fiasco for labor and a resounding triumph for Daladier and his government.

It was predicted that Daladier would have a majority when Parliament meets again next month.

The first big break in the strikers' front came four hours after the strike began, when the Subway Workers' Union in Paris conceded defeat and revoked its strike order.

Lewis Asserts Profit-Sharing Plan A Delusion And A Snare

Washington, —John L. Lewis, head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, today told a Senate committee that industrial profit-sharing plans are a "snare and a delusion" to workers, and described President Roosevelt's projected annual wage as "desirable but impossible."

He also warned that incentive taxes to encourage industry to share profits with employees would wreck the Nation's internal economy.

Charging that profit-sharing plans have been used in many instances as a "device to avoid the payment of an immediate decent wage" and that they have made labor "dependent upon high-minded

Statistics Show Upward Trend For Business

Production, Retail Trade Increase More Than Seasonal Gain

St. Louis, —Statistical data for October and the first three weeks in November reflected today continuation of the upward trends in business which began in the Eighth Federal Reserve District last summer.

The Federal Reserve Bank said production in the principal and many minor industries increased somewhat more than the seasonal amount and there was a well-defined improvement in employment in a majority of the manufacturing centers.

Retail trade expanded moderately, despite the handicap of unusually high temperatures which served to hold down the movement of all descriptions of seasonal merchandise. Measured by sales of department stores in the large cities, the volume of retail trade in October was 2.9 per cent greater than in September and 7.5 per cent less than in October, 1937.

Steady gains in the volume of wholesale distribution, noted during the preceding three months, were reversed in October, total sales of reporting firms decreasing 7.9 per cent under September and 1.9 per cent below October of last year.

The bank's monthly report said the warmer weather during October and the persistent policy of retailers to purchase only for immediate or well-defined future requirements were the principal influence accounting for the declines.

The losses, however, were considerably less than in any previous month this year and since the first of November there has been a noticeable pickup in wholesale trade, with extensive covering on holiday merchandise.

Heroic Detective, Escaped Convict Slain In Gunfight

Chicago, —A furious gun battle, fought in a West Side tavern while the proprietor and four patrons sprawled on the floor, ended today in the death of a detective hero and an escaped convict.

The victims were Sgt. Edward Lynn, who twice was cited for bravery for killing robbers in pistol duels, and James Wood, 33, a fugitive from Missouri.

Lynn and Sgt. Allen Mulvey were called into the place after Tom Williams, the owner, learned Wood was carrying a revolver.

Wood was dozing at the bar. Lynn sought to rouse him. Wood whisked out his weapon and fired. Lynn fell, a bullet through the head. Mulvey opened fire and Wood toppled with six bullets in his body.

Being On Guard

"Don't believe all you hear," is a good rule wherever hatred is being voiced. Whether it is a race, a nation, a class or an individual that is attacked, one is well advised to be on guard, as to what he accepts and to require proof of what is charged.

Lately wide circulation has been given to copies of a purported speech by Benjamin Franklin in which he is said to have warned the Constitutional Convention against permitting Jewish immigration. An accompanying heading usually describes the copy as an excerpt from the journal of Charles Pickney of South Carolina and says the original is in the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

But both the Library of Congress and the Franklin Institute say no such diary or journal is known to exist. The account of the speech apparently first appeared in 1933 in an anti-Semitic publication sponsored by William Dudley Pelley of the Silver Shirts, now Silver Legion. Mr. Pelley said the diary had existed only in manuscript form and was destroyed in Sherman's march to the sea except for a fragment in the hands of a descendant in Georgia.

Instead of the document being on file in the Franklin Institute, the Librarian of the Institute, Alfred Ringling, declares that there is, on the contrary, "positive evidence that Franklin held Jews in high esteem." Carl Van Doren, recently biographer of Franklin has been answering queries about the purported speech by citing some of the facts here given and adding that there is record of Franklin's contributions to the Jewish synagogue in Philadelphia.

It is strange that an effort should be made to attribute intolerance to Benjamin Franklin, who was of all men one of the most gentle and tolerant. His principal speech in the Constitutional Convention that might be construed to pertain to the subject was in favor of Jews rather than difficult requirements for naturalization of immigrants generally. Many would gain by perusing some of his accredited writings or speeches and observing their uniform urbanity and kindness. Christian Science Monitor.

Bridal Dinner Held
In U. S., Ceremony
Across Atlantic

Rochester, N. Y. —The wedding ceremony was in Paris, but the greetings and wishes (without the bride's blushes) were at the bridal dinner here, 3,600 miles away.

After religious and civil ceremonies united Richard H. Deyong and Clarice M. Keenan, both former Rochesterians, yesterday in the French capital, they talked by transatlantic telephone to thirty-seven relatives and friends gathered around a dinner table here.

For twenty-five minutes, at $5 a minute, the newlyweds greeted the party and spoke to other relatives in Newburgh, N. Y., and Detroit who were on the same hook-up.

"O-o-o, I'm so happy: everything is so fine," the clear but nervous voice of the bride came through the amplifiers.

Mrs. George Elferink, Richard's mother, asked if they were well. But Father Elferink, undaunted by marvels of science, spoke with the proper paternal approach: "Remember, Dick and Clarice, life is both sweet and sour."

NEW U. S. AIRBASES TALKED

Washington, —President Roosevelt's defense program, military circles heard today, may include establishment of new Army air bases at several of the Nation's strategic outposts.

Officials said the President may ask Congress for funds to build bases in New England, Florida and Alaska in the projected expansion of the Army air fleet.

A special War Department official board already has inspected possible sites in New Hampshire, and advocates of a base in Florida to protect the Caribbean and the Panama Canal have been especially active since Roosevelt declared national defense involved the entire Western Hemisphere.

Lively Debate Seen

An aerial inspection trip to Alaska last summer by Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War produced a hint the high command again might seek funds for the long-projected Alaska base.

Meanwhile, comments by returning members of Congress indicated national defense will be the subject of lively discussion at the next session.

Representative Engel, Republican, Michigan, estimating a 10,000-plane air force would cost as much each year as either the Army or Navy, asserted if Congress was to provide such a fleet "we should go into it with our eyes open as to the cost."

CROSSROADSSEEN BY HULL

Cristobal, C. Z. — Secretary of State Hull said today the world was at a crossroads, with one course leading to peace and the other to war and anarchy.

He issued a statement of greeting to this arrival here on the S. S. Santa Clara, en route to the Pan-American Conference at Lima, Peru. "I am confident the coming meeting at Lima," his statement said, "will be a constructive factor in favor of the first course (peace) which is the way of the American republics."

MANY new business firms are born each year and their growth and success must come through the power of advertising. A comparison of the advertising columns of today's publications with those of only 15 years ago shows that advertising has received a mighty impetus because Americans, perhaps more than any other group in the world, realize that advertising is the shortest road to market.

Because advertising men must understand how to study people, merchandise and marketing, they must be properly trained. Successful advertising requires something more than mere literary ability on the part of the creator. A few years ago the chief qualification of the advertising man was the ability to write more or less "cleverly."

The business man who spends his money in advertising today demands that the man who directs the spending of his money be thoroughly grounded in the principles of advertising practice. In other words, the advertising representative must obtain systematic training in his field of work quite as much as the civil, the electrical or any other engineer or technical worker.

The world will not beat a path to your doorstep today merely because you build the best mousetrap, but the chances are that a goodly number of persons will find the way to your doorstep to purchase your services or product if you advertise well in the right media.

Ideas, culture and friendship. "When we return from Lima I am sure all of us will have a stronger faith in the development of an international order in this hemisphere which will embody the best of our respective institutions, cultures and civilizations."

to death Mrs. Florence St. Angelo, 35, his wife; Mrs. Carmella Conte, 65, his mother-in-law, and wounded two persons before committing suicide shortly after he dashed from the murder scene.

Acting Police Superintendent John M. Anderson said the dead man was entirely responsible for the wholesale shooting. His pistol, empty, was found on the scene.

The two wounded were identified at Boston City Hospital as Dominic Conte, 65, his right arm broken by a bullet, and Philomena Diodati, 17, shot in the face.

Police were informed by neighbors that an argument preceded the shooting.

Why Make a Sunset of the Sunrise?

For some people the day is over just as soon as it begins—a tiresome twin of an empty yesterday.

There are others who meet the challenge of each new day with the hearty confidence of our pioneer forefathers, who believed—and proved—that success was never final and failure never fatal. Despite yesterday's success—or failure—they greet every new dawn as a dare. They have seen people in America rewarded more generously with comforts and conveniences than the peoples of other lands. They know that each sunrise in America ushers in new opportunities... to those who keep their chin up... who never lose that lusty courage and willingness that made ours the most envied nation on Earth.

THROUGH the growth of the motion picture business the public is becoming more and more picture-minded and advertisers have resorted in a large degree to the creation of pictures to increase the effectiveness of their advertising. The importance of good illustrative art in advertising is realized and advertisers are employing the best artists and illustrators for maximum work and to a certain degree for newspaper advertising.

If you are interested in advertising art it is well to develop some knowledge of the value of the picture. If you are a picture-minded person in advertising you will not waste the money that should be spent on the picture. Will the picture create a selling? Will it add to the complete appeal of the advertisement? Will it make the advertisement more dominant in competition with other displays? Will it carry quickly, a completed picture? Will it possess vigorous human appeal? Will it be timely? Will it attract attention? Will it convey an instantaneous impression? In these days these things are to be expected of illustrations.

While the value of good illustrations in advertising is recognized, modern typography has improved to such a degree that in many cases the type itself is so attractive that an all-type advertisement can be made more effective than one with illustrations. It is, therefore, an advertiser's duty to become broadly acquainted with the latest trends in typography and to employ the best of both worlds in his advertising. The use of type and illustrations together is the most effective way to create a lasting impression in the mind and heart.

Swope Asks Incentive Tax

Washington — Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, told a Senate committee today he believed Government must adopt some form of incentive taxation if it hoped to induce industry to stabilize employment through an annual wage.

The gray-haired industrial leader testified that he "hoped" profit-sharing with employees was "good business," but added "I don't know it."

Swope said that his company had paid out approximately $100,000,000 in shared profits to 60,000 employees during the last twenty-two years.

Amendment Praised

Swope said he thought the undivided profits tax had been wisely amended by Congress in the last session, when little more than the form of the tax was left in the revised tax law.

This has operated to "earmark" earnings for plant expansion, thus providing more capital for business and more jobs for labor, he said.

The General Electric executive said his company had abandoned a profit-sharing plan established in 1916, under which employees with five years' service were paid an additional 5 per cent of their earnings yearly, because the plan was not geared to company profits.

It established in 1934, he explained, a plan by which employees are given 12½ per cent of the net profits. Under this plan, he testified, $5,700,000 was paid out in 1937 about $600,000 in 1936 and nothing in 1935. He said little would be paid in 1938.

STOCK AND HOME FOOD SUPPLY BEST BET IN HILL LAND FARMING

Farmers in the limestone hill land in the intermediate bluegrass region of Central Kentucky get two-thirds to three-fourths of their income from livestock, ac-ording to a study of 134 farms in Anderson, Garrard, Mercer and Washington counties, made by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky.

The farms studied were representative of farms in 21 counties comprising a belt of 2,500 square miles surrounding the inner bluegrass region of the central part of the state.

Dairy cattle and sheep were found to be the most important livestock. Dairy cows are preferable to sheep because they return more income for the amount of feed and pasture used, and usually labor is available for the additional work that dairying requires, says the report.

In this region farmers spend considerable time producing a home food supply. John H. Bondurant, who wrote the report, says: "As a result of natural conditions that influence the farming practice in the area, the production of an ample supply of garden and truck crops to supply fresh vegetables and sufficient quantities for canning for home use is highly desirable. In addition, the production of milk and milk products, poultry and poultry products, and in many cases the entire meat supply for the family is advantageous."

Farmers in this intermediate bluegrass belt also grow tobacco, which is usually profitable, especially if it does not interfere too much with raising livestock. Some farmers, especially where good crop land is limited, might even find it profitable to grow more tobacco and less corn. Mr. Bondurant believes.

Capital Housing Contract O. K.'d

Holiday Foods -- They're Wonderful!

So feast and grow merry and let nothing deter you

Says Dorothy Greig

THE days from now until after the New Year are the feast days of the year. Calories and dieting! Perish the very thought of them! We are going to eat and enjoy ourselves. Proud turkeys plump chested with savory stuffing, heartening soups that lift the spirit, spicy pies with tender crumbly crusts, rich fruit cakes, plum puddings and all the rest of the delectable foods bequeathed to us by generations of cooks who cooked with enthusiasm, unhampered by inhibitions. Grandpa may have conquered the wilderness but grandma made the country worth living in. And besides, fortified with grandma's cooking, grandpa could conquer anything.

So let's feast to our heart's content and in our turn pass on to grateful (we hope) generations our own creations in foods. A turkey stuffing like this, for instance, achieves fine flavor through the use of a modern canned food:

Oyster-Gumbo Stuffing

6 cups grated bread
2 dozen oysters, chopped finely
2 cans condensed chicken-gumbo soup
4 tablespoons butter
Grate or chop 2-3 day old bread. Chop oysters very fine and mix with the bread. Then add 2 cans condensed chicken-gumbo soup and the melted butter.

A delicate moussé on this order is a truly gala dish for a buffet supper.

This Holiday Mousse made with cold turkey and vegetables makes a festive dish for a party.

Holiday Mousse

2 cans condensed chicken soup
2 eggs, separated
1½ tablespoons gelatine (softened in ¼ cup water)
1½ cups turkey
1½ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup cooked carrots, diced
1 cup cooked green peas
1 cup celery, diced

Sprinkle the gelatine on the cold water and let it soften. Strain the chicken soup and heat the consommé in the upper part of the double boiler. Put the turkey and the rice, chicken and celery from the soup through the food chopper, using the small blade. Beat the egg yolks and add the hot consommé to them, then cook 3-4 minutes in the double boiler. Pour this hot mixture over the softened gelatine and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Cool and when the mixture begins to thicken add the ground turkey and rice-lemon juice, diced cooked carrots, cooked green peas and diced celery. Then fold in the beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Pour into mold and put in the refrigerator until firm. Turn out on a garnish of lettuce, watercress or chickory. Makes 10-12 portions.

that city.

Under the contract the U. S. H. A. will lend $6,000,000, of 90 per cent of the total estimated cost of four building projects. The Washington Authority, a White House announcement said, will defray the "10 per cent balance of the capital cost, most of which will be raised through public sale of bonds."

"These projects," it said, "will provide decent homes for approximately 1,257 families in the shelter rentals will not exceed $4 per room per month.

Labels Held Not Necessary

Washington, —The wage and hour administration advised employers today that they were not required to label goods or stamp invoices to show compliance with the fair labor standards act.

Paul Sifton, deputy administrator, said there had been many inquiries as to whether such evidence of compliance was required.

While the law makes no provision for them, labels or certificates of compliance "may serve a useful purpose in some cases," he said.

"Mushrooms Are a Treat"

Cream of Mushroom, a lavish soup, rich with cream and butter, is liked by one and all.

Once a rare luxury, mushrooms are now available to all

By Dorothy Greig

As though it were yesterday I can hear mother saying, "It certainly is a shame to waste these lovely mushrooms on youngsters." "There now, mother," dad would reply. "We're having a treat tonight." And he would cut us a big piece of steak smothered in the mushrooms. At that, there was point to mother's comment for the mushrooms were expensive button size French canned mushrooms, on our table only because dad was an importer of luxury foods and liked to sample his own merchandise.

I also remember trotting along to market with mother one time and, spotting some big white puffy things with stems asked what they were. When the grocer said "mushrooms" I was indignant. Didn't he know that mushrooms were tiny and came in cans? All of which is a long way from today when mushrooms are sold almost everywhere. They are still, however, a festive touch in any meal.

One of the most delicious and luxurious ways to serve mushrooms is as cream of mushroom soup. Rich with cream and butter, thick with mushroom slices, cream of mushroom soup is at once a party soup, a family dinner soup, a soup that brings mushrooms to everyone in season and out, all over the country.

Sometimes I serve it in all its glory as plain cream of mushroom soup. Sometimes I blend it with other soups. Here are three of my combinations and I don't know which is my favorite... they are all so good:

Cream of Mushroom and Noodle Soup

(fine as a main dish for a light meal)
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can condensed chicken noodle soup
2 cans of water

Empty the cream of mushroom soup into a saucepan and stir until smooth. Then add the chicken noodle soup and 2 cans of water, using the soup can for a measure. Heat, but do not boil. Serves 5-7.

Pepper Pot and Mushroom Soup

(the man of the house thinks this is tops)
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can condensed pepper pot soup
2 cans of water
Combine the pepper pot and cream of mushroom soups. Then add the 2 cans of water, using the soup can for a measure. Heat, but do not boil. Serves 5-7.

The Hand Of Friendship

Nothing is more heartening in times of stress than a warm handshake from those who know and like you. That really means something.

Likewise insurance really means something when you have a loss, and you realize that a strong company is back of you to share the loss -- to enable you to rebuild and go ahead. Why not take advantage of this support. Let us show you how.

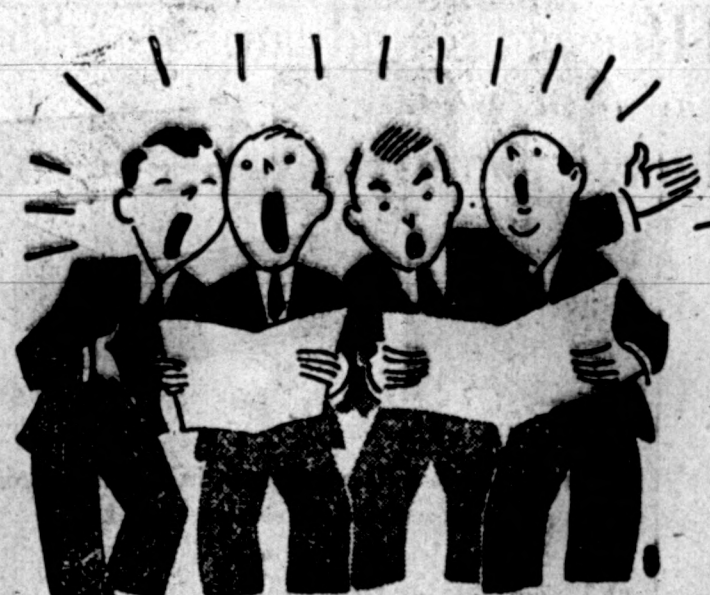

We are glad to talk over insurance matters with you at any time.

County Agent Notes

Bert Watkins, Johnson county, has built a model dairy barn in which to put recently purchased purebred cattle.

Farmers in Harrison county are trying to stop winter erosion by seeding rye on all sloping and cultivated land.

Copper sulfate treatment for parasites in sheep has been tried successfully in Anderson county.

To lower expenses during the winter months, Grant county farmers are culling their poultry flocks.

Since January 1, 12 purebred bulls have been brought into Pike county.

Twenty-five Caldwell county farmers are keeping poultry records.

Carlisle county farmers sold two carloads of sweet potatoes for 8 1-2 cents per hamper above market price.

Best methods of stripping tobacco were demonstrated by J. Y. Steele, Adair county, before about 100 farmers.

Many Hickman county farmers are having coil tests made with a view to gradually improving their land.

Seven cows belonging to R. C. Hays, Washington county, last month produced milk and butterfat that sold for $145 above feed costs.

In Nicholas county, two farmers cooperated to buy a carload of western black-faced ewes.

The Kiwanis club sponsored a horse show as part of the fall festival in Clark county.

426 HOURS A YEAR
INTO THE DISHPAN

Estimating that housewives average 426 hours a year, or an hour and 10 minutes daily, washing dishes, Miss Ida Hagman of the home demonstration section of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture comes out with suggestions which she says will make the job easier and pleasanter.

In the first place, she admits that most women consider dishwashing distasteful. Yet the job has to be done. So Miss Hagman says the first step is to "make the task pleasanter by approaching it with the right attitude of mind."

Her second suggestion is that "working conditions" be made as good as possible. Ventilation and temperature in the kitchen should be proper; the sink or table should be the right height; maybe a stool provided to sit on.

Then follows several suggestions about washing and drying dishes including what dishes to attack first, second, third, etc.; the preparation before washing; scrubbing and stacking or arranging dishes for washing, rinsing and drying, and the like.

Special devices and methods, such as a wire dish drainer to save drying; a handy cupboard close at the left of the drain board, etc., may cut dishwashing time by half, according to Miss Hagman.
