FOR MURDER

Preliminary Trial of John Lewis
Mayfield.

Mayfield, Ky., May 17. —

Promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday morning according to previous announcement, County Judge Ed Crossland convened court in the big court house for the purpose of holding the examining trial of Policeman John Lewis, charged with the murder of James Buck.

ett in this city Tuesday night, May 11. After consultation by the counsel for the prosecution, County Attorney J. H. W.

County Attorney J. H. Weaks and County Judge R. T. Lightfoot, of Paducah, they announced ready.

Sam Crossland, on behalf of the defense, asked continuance on the ground that Mr. Lewis had so far failed to have employed his counsels and that the trial be set for Monday, May 17, but Judge Lightfoot said⁶ it was impossible for him to be here before

Friday, May 21, and asked if the case be continued that it be set for that day. This was agreed on by the counsel on both sides.

and that date was fixed by Judge Crossland.

Attorney Lightfoot then said, in as much as the defendant is charged with murder, that the court order him to jail to await his examining trial. On this point there was some examina-point here was some sparring between the attorneys for the prosecution and the defense, but no action was taken by the court.

and the prisoner will continue to be guarded."

Frankfort Physicians Meet to Devise Means to Put a Stop to Criminal Operations, and Adopt Resolutions Urging State Board of Health to Act.

Frankfort, Ky.—That 500 criminal operations have been performed in this city during the past five years is the belief of Dr. J. W. Hill, former superintendent of the Institute for Feeble Minded, who made the statement after a meeting of the physicians here to devise means to put a stop to this criminal practice in this city. Strong resolutions were adopted urging the state board of health to take immediate action and calling upon the county officials and the citizens at large to take steps to lessen the crime. Thirty-one physicians signed a pledge to go before the grand jury and tell all they know. Mayor Hume stated that he would call a mass meeting of the citizens to urge the grand jury to investigate a number of suspicious cases.

50 PER CENT ADVANCE.

Kentucky Wool Growers' Union Disposes of Pool Consisting of About 500,000 Pounds.

Louisville, Ky.—At an advance in price of 50 per cent over that paid last year directors of the Kentucky Wool Growers' Union have disposed of the American Society of Equity, disposed of its entire pool to the Huntington Produce and Eros Co. of Huntington, W. Va. The conference between growers and purchasers lasted two days, five concerns offering to buy the pool. While the price paid per pound would not be stated either by buyers or sellers all admitted that the figure set the record for prices paid for wool in this state. The pool contains about 500,000 pounds. C. U. Stuart, president of the purchasing company, conducted the negotiations. By the terms of contract dates for delivery and grading of the pool were fixed. The first consignment will be received at Beaver Dam, Ky., May 20. Following the successful consummation of the deal plans were made by the officials to pledge a pool of wool which it is expected will amount to several millions of pounds.

$1,000,000 INCREASE.

Convention of Baptists Considering Increasing of Pool Consisting of Louisville Baptist Seminary.

Louisville, Ky.—To raise more than their share of $1,000,000 for the endowment of all the heathens and to increase the endowment of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville $1,000,000 are some of the projects before the convention of the Baptists of the south, who held their annual meeting here with a banquet. Col. Thomas D. Osborne, prominent both in the memories of the confederacy and in general philanthropic work, was toastmaster. The convention will be adjourned at 4 o'clock Saturday, the delegates may be permitted to attend the unveiling of a monument over the grave of Rev. Dr. T. T. Eaton, long a trustee of the seminary and editor of the Western Recorder. On Sunday a devotional service in the sign language will be held for all the deaf mutes of the city.

EDITOR WATKINSON

Declares He Will Not Support Democrats if Senator McNutt is Renominated.

Louisville, Ky.—Henry Watkinson stirred up local political circles by declaring that if the democrats of Louisville renominated State Senator H. S. McNutt he would not support the democratic ticket. It will be recalled that Senator McNutt, along with Senator Albert Charlton, of Louisville, the late Representative Chris Mueller, of this city, and Representative E. W. Lillard, of Boyle county, voted for W. O. Bradley for United States senator against J. C. W. Beckham, the democratic nominee. The election of Senator Bradley was made possible by the defection of the four democrats in joint assembly.

Bishop Galloway No More

Jackson, Miss., May 16.—Bishop Charles B. Galloway, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Mississippi's most distinguished divine and best-known pulpitist, who for the past twenty years has held rank among the greatest pulpits of the South, died at his residence in this city at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning after an illness of several days with a mild form of pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble.

The end was not unexpected, as Bishop Galloway had been in a dying condition for several hours. He survived longer than the attending physicians expected, and, despite the fact that he was in an unconscious state, showed wonderful vitality almost to the end.

Suffered for Years.
On several occasions during the past three years Bishop Galloway suffered acvere attacks, due to enfeebled heart action and hardening of the arteries. Although only in his 60th year, the prodigious volume of work he performed as the "Mission Bishop of Methodism," had greatly weakened his once powerful physique, and he was in no condition to withstand the lung congestion that caused his death.

The passing away of the foremost bishop in Methodism was quiet and peaceful. There were no death agonies, no suffering, no anguish of flesh or spirit. It while the sands of his life slowly ebbed away. Save for the labored breathing incident to the pulmonary trouble that was the direct cause of death, he dropped into eternal slumber like a little child cradled to sleep by the lullabies of a loving mother.

Until toward 3 o'clock Wednesday morning the grieving loved ones and anxious watchers at the bedside could observe no perceptible change in his condition. At that hour the breathing grew more irregular, the pulse slowly ebbed away, and at the hour of 5 o'clock, just as the sun was peeping over the horizon to illumine with its brightest rays a community plunged into the darkest depths of grief and gloom, the soul of Charles B. Galloway winged its flight to the God who calls it.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

At Every Stage of It He Was a Brilliant Man.

Bishop Charles Betts Galloway, one of the general superintendents of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was born in Kowalski, Miss., Sept. 1, 1842. His father was a prosperous physician and a man of taste and culture. The son was tenderly reared and early imbued with clear and strong religious convictions and followed high purposes and ideals. After attending the common schools he graduated with distinction from the University of Mississippi. He was then scarcely 18 years of age, and had given before this began preparation for entrance into the Christian ministry, which high office he had long adorned with an almost unexampled devotion of service and eloquence of message. Even at this early age he gave evidence of remarkable gifts as an orator. One of his professors at the University of Mississippi was the late Associate Justice Lamar of the supreme court of the United States. When young Galloway was leaving his alma mater the great jurist said:

"Charles, I and others are glad to learn that you are to enter the ministry, some of us would like to go to congress from this district."

The transcendent powers of the bishop, as afterwards displayed before great audiences in both the Old and the New World, showed that his early professor had not underestimated the possibilities of his career. As a public leader he would have gone to the highest civic sta-ing and his words always carefully weighed.

EULOGIZED DEAD BISHOP.

His Colleagues Pronounced Funeral Orations—Tributes Were Beautiful—Six Thousand Attended the Obsequies.

Jackson, Miss.—In the presence of a sorrowing concourse that filled every niche of the large sanctuary and the three streets surrounding the funeral of the late Bishop Charles B. Galloway took place at the First Methodist Church at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and all that is mortal of the Southland's most gifted divine now quietly sleeps beneath the stately cedars and a flower-strewn mound in Greenwood cemetery.

Never before in the history of the capital city or the commonwealth has there been such a manifestation of universal sorrow as that shown during the obsequies over the still remains of this most beloved churchman, statesman, orator, educator and publicist, whose untimely death has plunged a nation into mourning and whose passing away deprives his church of its greatest leader.

Not less than 5,000 people assembled at the church and the cemetery, all manner of business throughout the city was suspended during the funeral hours, the State, Federal, county and municipal departments of government closed, courts suspended their sittings and class exercises in all educational institutions were cancelled during the day, while the commonwealth bowed in reverent tribute to its most beloved and distinguished citizen.

In announcing the order of exercises, Mr. Murray feelingly alluded to the manner in which Bishop Galloway had passed away. He described the slight right at the bedside, the sweet, second and joyful look his face assumed as daylight approached, and urged the friends and loved ones of the dead divine not to speak of him as dead, for those who serve God as he did will never die.

Bishop Hendrix delivered the first funeral oration. He selected as his text the first chapter of the Second Book of Samuel, David's tribute to Jonathan, "How are the mighty fallen!" Bishop Hendrix drew a striking comparison between Prince Jonathan of the House of David and "Prince Charles," as Bishop Galloway was affectionately known in the College of Bishops, saying that he would speak of only two of his many great qualities—a renowned leader and a passionate lover of men—for these were his leading characteristics. It was as a mighty leader that his church knew him best. He was wonderfully efficient as a pastor, brilliant as an editor, eminent as a bishop and wonderful as an orator, whose voice was heard in all the land, inspiring men to better lives and nobler actions. It was as a lover, intense, loyal and devoted, that he was known to thousands of friends.

Bishop Hendrix spoke at some length of the rare beauty of Bishop Galloway's personal character, of the love for his fellowmen with which his heart expanded. He was a great lover, not in his family alone, but his love was as broad as the universe, full of the deepest tenderness and love for mankind. No one can be a great lover of others who loves himself. Bishop Galloway had a love like unto that of Jonathan, which he poured out lavishly, and we are lonely and broken-hearted today because he loved us so.

Bishop Hendrix's closing remarks brought tears to many eyes in the congregation, and when he closed by saying that "There is but one place for a great soul like this, and that is in the arms of God," the scene in the church was deeply affecting.

Bishop Candler Overcome.
Bishop Candler was so overcome by his personal grief that he could not find words to speak the funeral oration that was in his heart. He said that he felt more as a mourner than one called to speak at a funeral, and was unequal to the task. His tribute was brief but eloquent, dealing with Bishop Galloway's life.

Pastor, editor, educator, missionary and statesman, and he compared the dead divine to David, for he was always magnanimous to those who opposed him. His picture of Bishop Galloway was graphic and accurate. He spoke of his wide sympathies, of his grace of person, his universal love of mankind, of the friendship he inspired and held among the people of all classes, and the wonderful achievements he wrought for the church. In conclusion he said: "Our prince has come over the seas, never to return, and we shall not see his like again."

Large Floral Designs.
There was a notably large number of elaborate floral designs sent by church boards, educational institutions, district conferences, etc.

One exceptionally beautiful design received at the residence shortly after the noon hour was from Lamar Lodge No. 29, Knights of Pythias, of this city.

A Venerable Mourner.
Levin Lake, of Oxford, Mississippi's oldest traveling man, who is now in his 91st year, made an all-night journey from his home in order to be present at the funeral.

A beautiful affection existed between this venerable knight of the grip and Bishop Galloway. For more than sixty years Mr. Lake was one of the best known traveling men in the State, and was a familiar figure on railway trains and in hotel lobbies. He had often expressed the hope that when he passed away Bishop Galloway would be within call to conduct his funeral service, and when he reached the residence this morning it was a sad and affecting greeting given to this aged and honored friend.

DEYFUS SCANDAL IN RUSSIAN COURT

TRIBUNAL THAT EXILED POLICE OFFICIAL ACCUSED OF BEING AUTOCRAT'S TOOL.

INTRIGUE SYSTEM IS SHOWN

Betrayal of Azef, a Spy, to Terrorists Aroused Reactionaries at St. Petersburg—Was a Hired Assassin.

St. Petersburg, May 16.—A Russian "Dreyfus scandal" has fair to develop from the trial and conviction of Lopukhin, former director of police, who has been sentenced to Siberia for five years for betraying Eugene Azef, a police spy, to the terrorists.

The court that tried Lopukhin is being openly accused of being the tool of the autocratic reactionaries, who demanded to make an example of Lopukhin in order to prevent future interference with the system of "agents provocateurs" which they use to further their intrigues.

Was a Hired Assassin.
Lopukhin's exposure of Azef developed the fact that the latter was employed by many of the leading figures in Russian political life to carry out schemes to assassinate persons who stood in the way of the reactionaries' plans.

The reformers are demanding that the duma take up the question of Lopukhin's alleged victimization and the prostitution of the court in bringing about his conviction. A majority of the duma is said to be in favor of a thorough investigation.

OLD COUPLE DEAD IN RUINS

Texas Authorities Think Home Was Fired to Conceal Double Murder.

Brenham, Tex., May 16.—What is believed to have been a double murder, followed by arson to conceal the greater crime, occurred two miles south of Carmine.

Neighbors discovered the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rudolph in flames. By the time the scene of the fire was reached the walls were ready to fall in. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph burned beyond recognition, were found in the ruins.

It is known that the aged couple kept a considerable sum of money in the house, and robbery is the apparent motive for the crime.

The husband was about 76 and his wife was about ten years younger. A daughter, Mrs. John W. W. W., resides here.

Baby's Body in a Suitcase.
Jamestown, N. Y., May 16.—A suitcase which was left in the women's waiting room at the Erie station here a week or more ago, and which has remained without a claimant, was opened by the station master and found to contain the partially decomposed body of a three or four-day-old baby. The child was well dressed and a $10 bill was pinned to the clothing.

Prince Sees Cody Fly Mile.
London, May 16.—Capt. F. S. Cody, whose failures in his experimental airplane work for the British army have become a standing joke in the London newspapers, now seems at last to have achieved success. In the presence of the Prince of Wales he flew nearly a mile at Aldershot. Capt. Cody is an American.

STEPS TO FREE HELEN

Pittsburg Lawyer Thinks Faulkner Woman Did Not Have Fair Trial.

Pittsburg, May 16.—The initial steps looking toward the freeing of Helen Faulkner, alias Boyle, convicted of aiding in kidnapping of Willie Whittle and sentenced to serve 25 years in prison, were taken here. A prominent local attorney, believing she did not secure justice in the Mercer county court, has interested himself in her case.

The first move in reopening the case will be to secure a transcript of the testimony given at the trial in Mercer county. When this is done it will depend largely upon the exceptions saved by her counsel as to whether the case will be appealed. If the exceptions are not adequate for this purpose, then the only course remaining will be for the federal court here, of which a writ of habeas corpus will be demanded.

QUAKE VICTIMS' HOME

Duke of Litta Offers Plans to Government for Colony of Five Thousand in Florida.

Rome, May 16.—The Duke of Litta has sent an Italian inspector of emigration to his big estate on the Manzo river in Florida to study the economic and hygienic conditions with reference to the proposed colonization there of 5,000 earthquake sufferers.

The duke made his offer to the government shortly after the earthquake which devastated Messina and Reggio. He owns great tracts of land in southwest Florida, which he proposes to permit quake victims to farm on shares.

Mistaken for Thief, Slain.
Detroit, May 16.—Mistaken for a burglar, John Petka, 25, was shot in the right side and seriously wounded by Edward Lyons. Lyons is under arrest. Petka was in a fight with two Poles. In trying to get away from them he ran into Lyons' yard. Thinking Petka was a burglar, Lyons ordered him to throw up his hands. Petka put up only one hand and started toward Lyons, whereupon the latter fired.

Famous Bandit Is Caught.
Foggia, Italy, May 16.—The Carabiniers at Foggia captured the famous bandit Cordara and several of his followers, who for months have been harassing the entire province with the boldest robberies ever committed in this part of Italy. Cordara is a former friar, who, under the name of Pietro Piccolo, went to New York in 1905 and figured in several police episodes there.

Gives $300,000 to Charity.
Chicago, May 16.—The will of the late S. A. Sprague of Sprague, Warner & Co., admitting to probate an estate valued at $3,500,000, bequeaths $300,000 to charity, $500,000 each to Mary Sprague Miller, Lucy Sprague and Albert Sprague, and $250,000 in trust to Nancy A. Sprague. The four persons named are children of the deceased.

Few Persons Own New York.
New York, May 16.—New York city's taxable property is estimated to be worth about $6,800,000,000, according to Lawson Purdy, president of the board of tax and assessments. Two-thirds of this property is land and less than one hundred thousand persons own it.

Philippine Delegates Elected.
Manila, May 16.—The legislature elected Benito del Carda and Manuel Quizon delegates to congress. There was no opposition to the re-election of Del Carda. Quizon is floor leader of the Nationalist party in the legislature. He visited America in 1908.

JAIL FOR TWO TRUST MEN

THREE OTHER OFFICIALS STORES GET FINES.

Spencer Shotter Given Three Years' Sentence and J. F. Cooper, Myra Three Months.

Savannah, Ga., May 16.—Judge William H. Sheppard sentenced the five men found guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

Spencer P. Shotter, chairman of the board of directors of the American National Stores Co., was sentenced to serve three years in jail and pay a fine of $5,000.

Edmund N. Nash, president of the company, was fined $2,000.

J. F. Cooper, Myra, vice-president of the American company and president of the National Transportation and Terminal Co., was sentenced to three months in jail and to pay a fine of $2,500.

George Mead, boardman of New York, treasurer of the American Naval Stores Co., was fined $2,000.

Carl Moller of Jacksonville, Fla., agent of the American and general manager of the National Transportation and Terminal Co. in Jacksonville, was fined $5,000.

Second Offense for Two.
Mr. Shotter and Mr. Myra were sentenced to terms in the Chatham county jail because they had been before the court two years ago, entering pleas of guilty.

Mr. Moller's sentence was made heavy because of his connection with the terminal yards in Jacksonville, where regrading and rehauling were alleged to have taken place.

The case will be appealed to the United States court of appeals. A writ of error citing fifty-three grounds was filed immediately after sentence was passed. Nearly everything the court permitted to come before the jury, to which the defense entered protest, was attacked.

Bond in the sum of $20,000 was given for the defendants and they were released pending the determination of their appeal. The costs they must pay if the convictions and sentences stand will, it is said, reach $17,000.

CAR IS RAMMED; 1 DEAD

Boom of Paving Machine at Memphis Wrecks Car With Deadly Result.

Memphis, Tenn., May 16.—One man was killed and five seriously injured in a peculiar accident here Saturday, when the projecting boom of an asphalt machine used in paving work penetrated a street car of the East End line.

Running at a speed said to have been about forty miles an hour, inbound East End car dashed into a projecting boom from an asphalt machine on Madison avenue, near the Auditorium.

An immense hole was torn in the side of the car and E. J. Rawlings was seriously injured that he died when the city hospital was reached.

The asphalt machine is owned by H. P. Streibner & Co., of Toledo, who have the contract for paving Madison avenue a distance of three miles.

PREACHER A BIGAMIST

Rev. Adams, Former St. Louisan, Now Sayville (L. I.) Resident, Said to Have Two Wives.

New York, May 16.—The peaceful village of Sayville, L. I., is greatly wrought up over the discovery that the Rev. C. G. Adams, formerly rector of St. John's Episcopal church in St. Louis, may be shown to be one of the most accomplished bigamists recently discovered.

Adams, who was known to Sayville as "the man with the golden beard," was a universal favorite with the fair sex. Recently he married Miss Ada Baxen of Canada. When Mrs. Adams found love letters from another woman in her husband's pockets, an investigation was started which revealed a former marriage, broken neither by death nor divorce.

The "man with the golden beard" is now without wife or a job.

Election Officers Indicted.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 16.—The grand jury made public indictments against Charles Reichel and Frank Friederick junior, Republican election officers, and John Carrigan and Frank Knott, Democratic election officers, the charge being fraudulently writing in poll books, during a Republican primary to select delegates to the convention that nominated Judson Harmon for governor.

Three Killed by Dynamite Explosion.
Key West, Fla., May 16.—In an explosion on a quarterboat at Codjoe Key, about 20 miles from here on the Key West extension of the Florida, East Coast railway, three men were instantly killed and 12 others badly injured. It is believed that others were blown to atoms. As 300 pounds of dynamite went off.

Women Teachers Lose Again.

New York, May 16.—Mayor McClellan has repeated his action of last year in vetoing the so-called equal pay bill passed by the legislature, with a veto making the salaries of women teachers equal to those paid the men. The mayor said that the bill would cost the city $17,000,000.

HAVE QUIT DANCING.

In referring to the recent general convention held in Paducah, the Litton Gazette very truthfully remarks:

"The Federal News-Democrat is not pleased because a number of country exchanges are organized in demonstration of the methods secured in the Democratic convention at Paducah, Ky. The editor of the News-Democrat will find it will wake up that the country newspapers have departed from the rule of dancing every time the party whip is popped over their heads."

The Gazette is one of the best edited county papers in the state, and Editor Walker is one of the most ardent advocates of all true democratic principles, but like all honest advocates of majority rule serves notice that the time of party lash and ring is past and that country newspapers have quit dancing at the crack of the party whip or at the command of rotten ringsters. No healthier or more loyal or more ready champion of the party principles can be found than the country press, but on the other hand in the same medium can be found a ready defender of the rights of the people to express themselves in all contests, upon every issue and have such expressions maintained. The result of the Paducah convention and the recent shameful over-riding of the expressed wishes of more than 2,000 Calloway democrats are instances, fraught with menace to the party, but will tend to build up a healthy sentiment for honesty and fair dealing. The great majority of party members will adhere only to the mandates of party leaders so long as party leaders adhere to party principals. When the party leaders stray and would attempt to drive the rank and file with the lash a revolt will come and in no unmis-takable terms.

WHAT IS BEST.

The time has now come to sigh up pooling papers for the 1909 crop and the editor desires to present the question to the farmers fairly and squarely.

Naturally the question with the tobacco raiser is, "What is the best thing for me to do?" In the light of the past experience in dealing with the Trust and in dealing with the Association, it would seem the answer would be easy.

Before the organization was formed the Trust was paying an average of about $3 per hundred. Since the organization became effective the price has fully doubled and the farmer now receives a living price for his toil and sweat.

What has the farmer to gain by again placing himself at the mercy of the Trust? Nothing but starvation prices again.

What has the farmer to gain by standing with the Association? Holding fast to the good prices he received the past few years and getting good prices in the future.

The Association has put money into every farmer's pocket. The Trust took it out. That's the difference.

Some may say the Association is not managed just like they want it managed. That may be true. But did the way the Trust managed to take your tobacco for less than half price suit you?

The Association has been managed in such a way that the farmer has got more than twice as much for his tobacco as the Trust paid him before the Association was organized. That is the best evidence that the Association is a good thing and has done good work, even if some little details don't just exactly suit anyone. The main object has been accomplished--the price has been raised to more than double what it was. By standing together, now that the victory has been won, means continued good prices. By breaking down the Association means going back to the tender mercies and highway robbery of the Trust. It is going to be one of the other. Just as sure as the Association goes down, tobacco goes down to what it was or even lower.

Shrewd fellows in the employ of the Trust directly or indirectly will do all they can to foment trouble and keep the farmer out of the pool.

Don't be fooled. Look at the actual results accomplished. That tells the tale. The stronger the Association the better the prices will be. The weaker the Association, or with no Association the lower the prices will be. Isn't that the sound sense and logic of the proposition?

There is no way on earth for a farmer to be hurt pooling his tobacco and standing by the Association. There is every reason why he should do so, because of what the Association has already done for him.

There is no reason on earth why the farmers should again want to place himself absolutely in the hands of the Trust and be compelled to take just what the Trust is willing to pay. There is no doubt that the farmer will be hurt if the Association goes down.

Think about these things, and then act according to your judgment. If the Trust, which is interested in getting tobacco as cheap as it can, is a better friend to you than your own organization which is interested in making the Trust pay you a good price and which has made it pay you a good price, then take your chances with the Trust. But if the Association has proved itself a better friend to you by making the Trust pay you more than twice as much, then stand with the Association. Henderson Gleaner.

Browns Grove.

Yes the railroad is coming. Tobacco plants are scarce. James Hanley is keeping batch party of the time, while Miss Daisy is at her sisters' to recuperate for her health.

Mart Chunn and wife, of Hazel, attended services at Antioch Sunday.

Miss Daisy Hanley, who has been very sick, was able to be carried to her sister's, Mrs. Den Cavitts, in Graves county.

Jake Shultz is the first to set tobacco in this neighborhood.

Uncle Theophas Brown is still lingering, but the merciless cancer is making rapid headway.

Lee Singleton came down from Hazel Thursday to visit his parents, J. L. Singleton and wife.

There will be speaking at Brown's Grove Saturday, the 22nd, at 1 o'clock, in the interest of the tobacco association. Hope Mr. Jennings will be on hand.

On last Thursday, the 13th, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Wilkerson (better known as aunt Mary) gathered at her home to celebrate her 63rd birthday. The female portion of the family tried to excel each other in the culinary arts and each one seemed to be an expert in that sphere. Time and space would fail me to try to itemize the different kinds of delicacies that were brought out and piled on the long table that was erected on the grassy lawn in the shade of the trees. To say that we all enjoyed the occasion and did full justice to the repast would be putting it very mild. Mrs. Wilkerson has raised a family of children that are respectable and high-toned men and women.

Bad Attack of Dysentery Cured.

"An honored citizen of this town was suffering from a severe attack of dysentery. He told a friend if he could obtain a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, he was confident of being cured, to say the least. He used this remedy in the West. He was told that I kept it in stock and lost not time in obtaining it, and was promptly cured," says M. J. Leach, druggist, of Wolcott, Vt. For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Information was received here the past week that Frank Nicholson, brother of Mrs. Joe Nicholson, had been killed in a storm near Kansas City. Information received here that a Mr. Nicholson was seriously hurt but not killed, and it is not yet known whether it was Frank Nicholson or not.

Dr. Will Mason left Monday morning for Washington, D. C., to attend a meeting of the International Medical Society. He is on the program for a paper. He will go from there to Johns Hopkins University, Boston, to attend the lectures, and will also visit Atlantic City before returning. He will be absent about three weeks.

John Lannon, of Paris, was here Sunday.

Advertised Letters.

After one week the following mail will be sent to the Dead Letter Office:

Motey Burnett, W. B. Bedwell, B. R. Cain, Martha Estes, Frank Ellis, Jim Key, Miss Ola Morris, L. P. Moore, J. B. Naney, William H. Overby, W. S. Paschall, Geo. Robertson, Gatlin Rowland, Mrs. Lola Torras, West Kentucky Industrial College, Mrs. C. B. Grimes, (package).

The Most Common Cause of Suffering.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that Chamberlain's Liniment will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. In many cases the relief from pain, which is at first temporary, has become permanent, while in old people subject to chronic rheumatism, often brought on by dampness or changes in the weather, a permanent cure cannot be expected; the relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Deaths Of A Week.

S. E. BYNUM.
S. E. Bynum, one of our oldest and very highly esteemed citizens, died last Saturday night about midnight after a lingering illness of several months. He was 77 years of age and had been a resident of our town many years. He is survived by an aged wife and several children. Funeral services were held at the family home Sunday afternoon conducted by Revs. Leake and Pool. After the services at the home the Masonic order, of which deceased was a member, took charge and laid the remains to rest in the City Cemetery. A very large crowd attended the services, attesting the high esteem in which Mr. Bynum was held by the community.

MRS. J. F. SUMMERS.
Mrs. J. F. Summers died last Thursday afternoon at the family home in South Murray. She had been an invalid for eight years and her death was not unexpected. She was born Nov. 20, 1851 and was married to J. F. Summers, who survives her, Jan. 20, 1888. She was a highly esteemed Christian woman and while she never affiliated with any church organization led an exemplary life. Besides a husband and one daughter, Mrs. Will Cochran, and one son survive. Funeral was preached by Rev. Chandler and burial was at Sinking Springs.

HELEN LINN WILLIAMS.
Little Helen Linn Williams, eight months old daughter of Tom Williams and wife, died Monday morning at the family residence on North Curd street after a lingering illness of brain fever. Funeral services and interment Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The young parents have the sympathy of many friends in their great sorrow.

MISS MOLLIE WATERS.
Miss Mollie Waters died at the family residence on South Curd street Wednesday afternoon after an illness of less than twenty four hours of diabetes. She was a daughter of Mrs. Susan Water and was about 45 years of age. She was a well known lady, numbered her friends by the score and her sudden death came as a shock to the entire community. She is survived by a mother, two brothers, Lee Waters, of this place, and Richard Waters, of Waverly, Tenn., and three sisters, Miss Alice Waters, Sungkong, China, Mrs. Ligon, of near Mayfield, and Mrs. Lee Whittell, of this city. Funeral services were this afternoon in the Methodist church after which the burial took place in City Cemetery.

Boys will be Boys and are always getting scratches, cuts, sprains, bruises, bumps, burns or scalds. Don't neglect such things—they may result serious if you do. Apply Ballard's Snow Liniment according to directions right away and it will relieve the pain and heal the trouble. Price 25c, 50c and 1.00. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield and H. D. Thornton & Co.

Clothes Cleaned and Pressed.
Clifford Melugin has bought the Virgil McLean pressing shop and will continue work at the same stand, over the pool-room. Clothes called for and delivered. Give him a trial.

CAPT. W. J. STONE
Capt. W. J. Stone will speak here next Monday at 1 o'clock in the interest of the tobacco association. Every grower is urged to come and hear him.

GOOD NEWS

Many Murray Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Murray are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is had no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Virgil McLan, Murray, Ky., says: "I feel that I am doing no more than my duty in telling of the great benefit I derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were badly disordered, the secretions being irregular in passage. My back ached continually. I had dull pains in the top of my head and I also suffered from dizzy spells. In the morning on first arising I was so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about. After using three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store, and the backaches disappeared, the kidney secretions became natural and my health was much improved."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Lynn Grove.

People are getting along fine with the farm work; most all are done planting corn; tobacco plants are scarce.

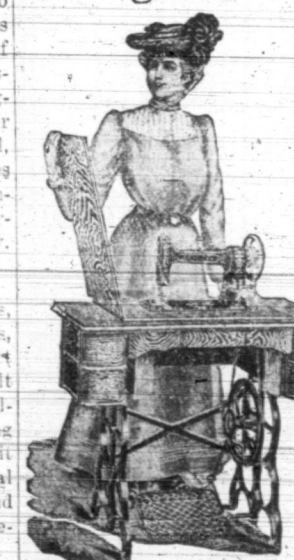

Tom Wilkins and family left Friday for Arkansas. Mr. Wilkins is an agent for Watkins remedies. These are good people and we regret to see them leave.

Mr. Drummons, of Murray, has moved back here and will occupy the Wilkins residence.

George Brown and Bun Crawford started to Tennessee Tuesday after a wheat thrasher.

Childrens exercise was held at Lynn Grove last Sunday also at South Pleasant Grove. A large crowd attended. SOOKEY B.

PLEASE NOTE—Some changes in this weeks Bulletin. My Prices started right—they are always right, in keeping with anyone's prices who expects and asks only a legitimate profit in doing a credit business. If you want to pay the cash across the counter or to our delivery boys upon receipt of goods, please state so when making your order, for you are entitled to a reasonable discount from above prices, and don't forget at all times we want to conduct our business on the mutual plan. We have no kick coming to the trade as to the progress of our business. Our business is only three months old and has gone far beyond our expectations. All we ask and desire is, that our friends who have started with us continue in line, and any new customers who may be disposed to turn their patronage my way will be very much appreciated and receive the same courteous and fair treatment as is our custom to accord EVERYONE.

Cedar Lane.

Dr. C. O. Gingles has bought the Jim Griffith farm near Kirksey.

Handsome Tom Radford, of Kirksey, has been appointed deputy sheriff for Brinkley and Wadesboro districts. Tom is a deserving young man and we are proud to see him honored thus.

Martha Morgan, widow of the late Bill Morgan, died Saturday morning at her home east of Backsburg. She was aged about 65 years, and was a good christian lady.

By the by our good friend, Jack Smith, the Backsburg blacksmith, is building himself a handsome shop, 40x60 feet, and has ordered him a mill outfit and at an early date will have in a special corn and grist mill.

The many friends of that grand old man, Uncle Dempsey Bear, will be greatly pained to learn that he is in feeble health. He is about 80 years old. There never has been a man in this section who has done more for the poor people than Dempsey Bear. He does not profess to be a christian, but he has a true heart in his breast.

Hallie, oldest son of Daniel Ransom, died Saturday morning after several days duration of sickness. Hallie was a bright and smart boy, and he will be greatly missed by his playmates and host of friends. His remains were buried Sunday at Liberty church, 14 miles north of Mayfield.

A Living Skeleton

is the final condition of any child that has worms—if it lives. Think of having something in your stomach that eats all you take as nourishment. Nine tenths of the babies have worms, may be yours has. Be certain that it has not by giving it White's Cream Vermifuge—it expels all worms and is a tonic for the baby. Price 25 cents. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield and H. D. Thornton & Co.

A Happy Father

is soon turned to a sad one if he has to walk the floor every night with a crying baby. McGee's Baby Elixir will make the child well, soothe its nerves, induce healthy normal slumber. Best for disordered bowels and sour stomach—all teething babies need it. Pleasant to take, sure and safe, contains no harmful drugs. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield and H. D. Thornton & Co.

Carnell will be sorry to learn that his mind is becoming effected. We truly hope that he may recover soon.

We notice in the Ledger that there is to be quite a lot of land sold at the court house door in Murray the 24th. There is a certain piece of land in west Callo-way that is to be sold that day that if somebody don't be mighty careful they won't only buy the land but a good stiff law suit on top of it. Besides a splendid chance to some fellows to get a free trip up north on the coast. Be sure you are right and then go ahead.

Tobacco plants scarce in this section, won't be enough to plant a small crop.

Corn planting progressing rapidly.

The good people at Kirksey are proud of their fine Sunday school. It is said by those in attendance to be the grandest Sunday school in the history of Kirksey, and there seems to be a lively interest with all to take a willing hand. Mr. G. H. W. Dulaney is the superintendent and under his management, of course, is where the honor lays. There is also a good Sunday school at Ashbury that is said to be doing much good. Let the good work keep moving along. It means better boys and better girls.

We are proud to see the interest that is being taken in the Ledgers' popular lady contest. We note there are many away over in Graves county who are taking a great interest in it.

Best wishes to the printer boys and our good editor, we will close for this time. - RATTLE.

Hoarseness, bronchitis and other throat trouble are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar as it soothes and heals the inflamed throat and bronchial tubes and the most obstinate cough disappears. Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by all druggists.

Beautiful Spanish Dancer Gives Praise to Pe-ru-na.

NERVOUS prostration is usually the result of a vocation which requires a continual strain on the nervous system. In such cases it would be wise if a change of vocation could be made. But this is not always possible and a good tonic becomes a necessity. Peruna is a tonic that invigorates without producing a drug habit.

Peruna is not a beverage nor a bitter, but an honest, straightforward tonic that increases the appetite and encourages digestion. There is a great demand for tonics during the depressing heat of summer, and especially in countries where hot weather is very prevalent. Such a demand is exactly met by Peruna.

Miss Pilar Monterde Praises Peruna as a Tonic.

A letter sent to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co. from the popular Spanish dancer, Miss Pilar Monterde, is as follows:

Teatro Principal, City of Mexico, Nov. 3, 1905.
The Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, U. S. A.
Gentlemen: Having used your justly celebrated remedy, "La Peruna," for some time, I have the pleasure of informing you that I consider it the best tonic I have ever used.

It is a wonderful fortifier of the nerves after exhaustion and it increases the vitality of the whole body, and in my own case has produced the most complete and permanent restoration. It is also pleasant to the taste.

I do not hesitate, therefore, to recommend this remedy to all women as the best and most pleasant tonic that they can possibly take.

Yours very truly,
(Miss P. Monterde.)

A Smile
Many weak, nervous women have been restored to health by Foley's Kidney Remedy as it stimulates the kidneys so they will eliminate the waste matter from the blood. Impurities depress the nerves, causing nervous exhaustion and other ailments. Commence today, and you will soon be well. Pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

After a heavy meal, take a couple of Doan's Regulets, and give your stomach, liver and bowels the help they will need. Regulets bring easy, regular passages of the bowels.

GATHERED SMILES

HE WAS THERE, TOO.

A young man came up to the polling place on election day and offered his vote. It was his first appearance in the character of an elector and he had the independence of audacity to differ politically from his father. His father challenged his vote.

"On what grounds?" demanded the presiding officer.

"He isn't 21."

"No, you're not," said the father.

"You won't be 21 till tomorrow."

"I say I will," cried the youth.

"He was born on the 12th day of November."

"It's down in the old Bible."

"Then it's a mistake," said the old man.

"He was born on the 12th of November, I can vow."

"How can you?"

"How?" repeated the old man indignantly. "Goodness gracious, wasn't I there?"

"Well," returned the son, with proud defiance, "wasn't I there, too?"

The young man voted—Judge.

Gossip.

Mrs. Blighie—The Smiths have been married ten years today.

Mrs. Gable—And they haven't given each other yet.

Temperamentally Unfit.

"No," said the statesman, thoughtfully, "political life will never do for me. I shall never run for the presidency."

"But you have all the qualities that would grace the office."

"So my friends say."

"You possess a grasp of the questions of the hour and have splendid executive ability."

"Perhaps. But I don't like to make open air speeches nor ride in sleeping cars."

Fooling Him.

"That young man stayed very late last night," said the girl's mother, sharply.

"Yes, mother, she replied. "I didn't send him home because I was afraid he'd get next to the fact that I have to get up early in the morning to go to work."

A GRAVE ERROR.

Sambo—Mistah Henpeck done made a scene at his muddah-in-law's funeral.

Lambo—Sho' Go way?

Sambo—Yessah. He done forgot hisself an' lets er onion drop out of his handkerchief.

No Secret.

"You have kept one good cook in the family for 20 years, Mrs. Hipperly."

"How in the world have you managed to do that?"

"I married him. And he comes in snuggly hands; let me tell you, when a kitchen girl leaves me without warning."

An Important Distinction.

"I have discovered," remarked the cousin, "that Mr. Higgins owns every body."

"Indeed!" replied Miss Cayenne. "Does he borrow small sums or enough to entitle him to respect as a financier?"

His Waterloo.

The Brigid—Your husband is the funniest man I ever heard of in the village stage. He amuses everybody, doesn't he?"

The Wife—He does not. He can't amuse the baby for five minutes.

SONG OF AN OFF DAY.

Strange that when the sun is shining
And the sky is fair and blue,
Days may bring so much of sorrow,
Hearts may hold so much of rue.

After all, 'tis not the weather,
But ourselves we ought to blame,
If we're brave in storm and sunshine,
Smiles will ripple just the same.

Every bloom by frowns is shattered,
Shall yet have succor's sweet,
Walls of sadness and weeping
Shall grow light to troubled feet.

Even cast down shall be uplifted,
Sighs shall hush the soul to rest,
Life is always worth the living,
And the best still lies before.

KIND THINGS.

Miss Nosenachin—He said he could tell that I had a strong character by my nose and chin.

Miss Spiffel—It seems a pity doesn't it, dear, that you couldn't have had the strong character without the nose and chin?

Not a Sport.

A well-known clubman of Boston was married during the early days of the last winter to a charming Wellesley girl, who, of her many accomplishments, is proud of her cooking.

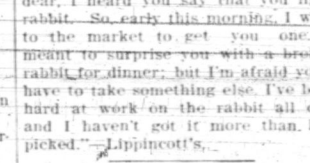

The husband returned late one afternoon to his home in Brookline, to discover that his wife was "all tired out."

"You look dreadfully fatigued, little one," came from hubby, in a sympathetic tone.

"I am," was the reply. "You see dear, I heard you say that you liked rabbit. So, early this morning, I went to the market to get you one."

"I'm sorry to hear that," said the husband, "but I'm afraid you'll have to take something else. I've been hard at work on the rabbit all day and I haven't got it more than half picked."

WHY HE SMILED.

Young Lady (with music case)—Yes, I've just bought a few of the latest pieces. All novel and strong in composition. And the wonder how my friend smiled. She didn't know one end of her case was broken and that those "saxophones" were peeping out!

In Ancient Rome.

The Roman senators rushed up and found Nero roasting up his bow.

"Cut that out!" they commanded.

"And you have the nerve to object to my playing on the 'bajo'?" he demanded the great man.

"Sure! Get busy and play on the fire with a hose."

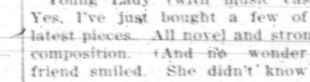

And after the town had burned down Nero was blackballed in the Roman auxiliary fire department.

Waiting.

"What are you going to plant in your garden this spring?"

"I haven't made up my mind yet whether I will be flowers or vegetables. I'm waiting to see what three seeds the congressman sends me."

CRUEL.

Yesterday afternoon a tiny boy sat on a terrace seat. Around him were four other tiny boys, all of them excitedly interested in a metal basin which the boy on the terrace seemed to have opened with a brick. It looked very like a hold-up, but when a passing woman asked for details a cheerful, whose lawful abiding place seemed to be on a valentine card, explained that the basin belonged to his aunt, who had "diverged" it to him.

So, of course, it was all right. Only if anybody's aunt was asked a check the size of a cigar box with contents therein, why—er—don't blame the maid—Washington Star.

Worn Out by Society's Demands.

In 15 months Alice Roosevelt attended 103 dinners, 211 receptions, 175 balls, 750 teas and shook hands with 37,000 people. After this strenuous season she was compelled to go to bed.

PROGRESS IS RAPID

GOOD WORK BEING DONE IN BEAUTIFYING CAPITAL.

Carefully Arranged Plans, Placed in Capable Hands, Thoughtfully Carried Out—Magnificent Buildings Nearing Completion.

Development according to plan is the order of progress in the national capital. The work of improving the beautiful city on the banks of the Potomac is not going forward in a haphazard, hit-or-miss fashion, but is proceeding along lines carefully planned and assigned to the duty by authority of congress.

This commission had as its chairman Daniel H. Burnham of Chicago, the other members having been Augustus St. Gaudens, Charles McKim and Frederick Law Olmsted. First preparing a sculptured model of the city as it existed in 1902, they then caused to be made a model showing the plan of it should be built, according to an ideal plan. The senate committee on the District of Columbia was headed by the late Senator McMillan of Michigan at that time, and had as its secretary Charles Moore of Detroit.

In one of the rooms of the magnificent library of congress may be seen the plans of Washington as the commission found it in 1902, and as they hope to have it appear in the general plan of the future city.

The city to come is not merely a dream. Already the work is in hand. New boulevards have been laid out, the office buildings for the senators and representatives in congress have been erected, the new office of the department of the interior has been completed, the site for the home of the department of commerce and labor has been selected, the national museum is nearing completion, the marble home of the bureau of American republics—the old Andrews Carnegie—is building rapidly, the great Union station, the most magnificent as well as the most perfectly appointed railway depot in the world—its cost $25,000,000—is already a reality, while the preliminary plans for many groups of new public buildings, notably that of the bureau of engraving and printing, on which is to be expended $2,000,000, have been approved. Avenues of more sufficient than those of which Mr. T. F. L'Enfant dreamed are already in their formative state and it will not be many years before the inaugural parades will forsake the great thoroughfares of Pennsylvania avenue and proceed to the capital directly west to the great monument along a boulevard, the like of which has not yet been seen.

The entrance hall to the library of congress, reputed to be the finest marble interior in the world, was covered by the architect and sculptor, and is now in progress. Despite the admonishment of silence, impressive upon all who visit the building, various expressions of admiration escape. Even when not couched in felicitous phrase, they embody genuine appreciation. One woman stood still a long time, noted the magnificent columns, the sculptured capitals, the glow of color in the ceiling decorations, the play of light on polished marble surface—sighed deeply and said solemnly: "Now, this is what I call scrupulousness."

Mrs. Taft Goes About Alone.

Mrs. Taft differs from Mrs. Roosevelt in taking her walks abroad unaccompanied by her lady-in-waiting. The Miss Hagges now settled down temporarily to a desk in the war department, she says she enjoys her new job—attended every footstep of her presidential patroness. Mrs. Roosevelt never budged unflinchingly. The royal social scene was over the most conspicuous figure on the official landscape at the White House.

She ran the show. Now Mrs. Taft looks no dictator. If she has a social secretary she doesn't complain of her public. Mrs. Taft is self-reliant. She does her own thinking and her own walking. "One meets the president's wife any morning trudging busily down F street in a plain little gray tailor suit and black toque and common-sense heels, unadorned and unchaperoned, darning in and out of shops, democratically, usually unrecognized. She is becoming proficient in driving her own electric runabout, which is one of a tiny number of machines in the White House stables nowadays.

The Cherub and the Bank.

Yesterday afternoon a tiny boy sat on a terrace seat. Around him were four other tiny boys, all of them excitedly interested in a metal basin which the boy on the terrace seemed to have opened with a brick. It looked very like a hold-up, but when a passing woman asked for details a cheerful, whose lawful abiding place seemed to be on a valentine card, explained that the basin belonged to his aunt, who had "diverged" it to him.

ALWAYS THE LATEST STYLE.

Costumes Worn by Mrs. Longworth Are the Admiration of Society at the Capitol.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth still is regarded as the best dressed woman in Washington. She has worn such an array of distinctive and empire robes since the season began that it seems she spent as long part of the summer talking with dressmakers. Many of her robes show little details which are new to America. She has a gold brocade directoire, which is without the least vestige of trimming save a belt of gold thread across the waist, black and a similar fold. Facing the long yellow sleeves. The gown is exceedingly straight and narrow.

Around the waist is a heavy golden cord, which, descending right and left from the front panel of the train. Mrs. Longworth has every detail of her costumes to match, so with this gown her slippers and hosiery are golden. She wears her hair dressed low on her neck without puffs of any sort, but with a single short of golden wheat. Mrs. Longworth wore to a diplomatic dinner recently a gown of peacock blue satin. The corsage was round, with a ruffling of cream lace, and then the skirt descended to the knees as narrow and tight as a bolt of case. The train was almost a ribbon, but the slender outline of the former president's daughter made this severe mode a success.

Mrs. Taft's Log of Travel.

In Mrs. Taft's tally of miles she easily outstrips the wives of all other American presidents, since that historic day when Liberty bell rang out the queer native rigodon in the Philippines; over the snows of St. Petersburg she has had, for untold sleighrides, as only Russia knows; and to beguile transatlantic hours she has played shuffle-board with that gold-brained gentleman, the captain, whose word is law on the liner.

On practically all of the missions as a popular peace envoy, Mrs. Taft has accompanied her husband—in the matter of distance, this woman has traveled more than one would care to figure, for the American, outside of the navy, has ever covered so much of the earth's surface in behalf of the government as the new president.

Tafts Have Beautiful Curios.

Those who delight in curios should get in the good graces of the new president and obtain permission to examine his Philippine rugs and tapestries at least. Over the wide hospitable hearth in the state dining room of the White House, where during the Roosevelt administration the famous fifteenth century tapestry of the Arceadian peasants used to claim attention, Mrs. Taft has hung at its exquisite beauty the brilliant and colorful tapestries of the Philippine weaving.

The other tapestry was a personal gift of Charles F. McKim to Mrs. Roosevelt after the White House renovation, and it went to Oyster Bay with her other treasures. Many fine rugs collected in various oriental countries now adorn the White House floors and walls. Some of the Philippine rugs of woven grass with flowers, birds and landscapes surpass the best efforts of the French and Flemish in silk and velvet. Mrs. Taft also has one of the most complete and beautiful collections of pine cloth table linens. Mrs. Roosevelt was partial to Porto Rican nappies, and she laid in a large stock. Mrs. Taft fell in love with everything Philippine, and nothing else fills her needs.

Outdoor Social Center for Washington.

President Taft has decided to make the Marine band turn its salary and at the same time create in Washington an outdoor social center similar to the Molecon in Havana, the Lunetta in Manila, Hyde park in London, and the Court of Honor in Florence. He will have the band play twice a week on the banks of the Potomac river, at a point on the Speedway near the Washington monument.

The idea is said to be Mrs. Taft's, and many prominent Washington people are expected to turn out on the days designated. In order to give the inauguration an effective character, the president and Mrs. Taft will attend the first concert on April 14 and all subsequent concerts while they are in town.

Was Determined to Wed.

Swathed like a mummy, and lying on a cot in the Punksutawney (Pa.) hospital, James Sharkey, who a week previous fell 90 feet from a bridge, peeped with one eye from his bandages and watched the ceremony that made Miss Bessie McLaughlin, daughter of Justice of the Peace I. B. McLaughlin, of Somerville, was the bride. The marriage register was signed by the injured man, but he had to hold pen between his teeth to do it, making his mark. Sharkey fell from a railroad bridge and both arms and one leg were broken, his abdomen was tipped beyond recognition, and bruised almost beyond recognition, and one eyelid split. He did not lose consciousness and demanded that his wedding plans be carried out.

KILLS MUCH GAME

Government Hunter Brings in Many Wild Animals.

Nimrod Tells of Some of His Thrilling Experiences in the Cascade Mountains Where He Kills Beasts.

The killing of 600 wildcats, 20 bears, 12 cougars and four lynxes—that is the record of E. C. Peterson of North Bend since he was appointed government hunter of the state of Washington two years ago.

There are some persons who assert there is not much big game in that state, but Peterson says the reason such statements are made is not because of a scarcity of the animals, but because of the difficulty of finding them in the heavy timber.

Peterson has hunted all over the United States and in nearly every part of the world, and he declares the sport he has had in the Cascade mountains rivals any other parts of the country.

"I suppose it sounded strange to many persons to hear that I was hunting for a cougar inside the boundaries of Seattle," he said. "I did not find the cougar, but I found proof that he had been in the Fourteenth ward not more than 20 days ago. I discovered a piece of black and white fur which I supposed belonged to a shepherd dog he caught and devoured and some of the fur of a deer he also killed. I also ran across coyote tracks. That wild animals should be living within six or eight miles of Pioneer place is remarkable, but it may sound just as surprising to some persons to hear that mountain goats live within 20 miles of an air line from Seattle. I could name the exact location in the Cascade mountains, but I will not for the sake of the goats."

Peterson was appointed government hunter when the forestry service created like position in several other states at the suggestion of Theodore Roosevelt.

Only a few weeks ago Peterson faced a cougar that crouched within four feet of him in the forest. It was an experience that would have badly frightened most men, but Peterson's only regret is that he didn't have his kodak along so that he could take advantage of the opportunity to "shoot" the brute on close range.

"My dogs freed the animal after dark on the middle fork of the Snoqualmie river," said Peterson. "The cougar was so far up in the tree and the foliage was so dense that I could not get a glimpse of his eye to take a shot."

"I did not want to lose him, and, stationing the dogs at the bottom of the tree so that he could not escape down it, I climbed a small tree that grew eight feet from the one in which the cougar was. I got up high enough so that I finally caught sight of the cougar's eye from behind the tree trunk and fired. With a howl of pain the animal sprang out on a branch that extended to where I was in the small tree, and glared at me for feet away. He wanted to spring on me, but I kept shooting as fast as I could with my rifle and four bullets lodged in his neck."

"My position to shoot from was not good, as the little tree swayed with my weight and I was afraid it might break any time. But when the cougar got on the lower limb I drove a bullet behind his ear and killed him."

"Cougars are treacherous. They will often allow a hunter to pass under the tree in which they are located before jumping down and making their escape. Cats are, of course, not so dangerous. I had a funny experience with one last spring on the north fork of the Snoqualmie. I had only one dog with me, and he tackled the cat before I arrived. The cat got the dog by the neck and was having the better of the fray. I could not shoot for fear of hitting the dog, so I dug in and kicked the cat with my hobbled boots."

"In the tussle I fell over backward and the two animals rolled on top of me. We had a lively time of it then for a few minutes, with the cat trying to kill the dog, the dog trying to kill the cat and myself kicking wildly with both feet at the conglomerate mass of fur to keep the combatants off my face. The dog won the day, however."

The cat got the dog by the neck and was having the better of the fray. I could not shoot for fear of hitting the dog, so I dug in and kicked the cat with my hobbled boots."

"In the tussle I fell over backward and the two animals rolled on top of me. We had a lively time of it then for a few minutes, with the cat trying to kill the dog, the dog trying to kill the cat and myself kicking wildly with both feet at the conglomerate mass of fur to keep the combatants off my face. The dog won the day, however."

"Cougars are treacherous. They will often allow a hunter to pass under the tree in which they are located before jumping down and making their escape. Cats are, of course, not so dangerous. I had a funny experience with one last spring on the north fork of the Snoqualmie. I had only one dog with me, and he tackled the cat before I arrived.
