Austin Decides That Deal With France Not Dangerous

Washington, — The Administration's attitude of making an French plans to purchase the French military equipment for the War Department was strictly denied Tuesday by Mr. Austin, Secretary of War, in an interview here. Mr. Austin is the acknowledged authority in this particular department of government, and his denial of the French plans is final and complete.

Mr. Austin was asked if the French plans were true, and he answered: "No, they were not true."

He added that "the French in this particular have no interest in selling us anything, and they have no desire to sell us anything." He said also that "the French have no desire to sell us anything, and they have no intention of selling us anything.

Mr. Austin further said that "the French have no desire to

Protected Deposits In A Bank Failure

The F. D. I. C. is one of the most recent examples of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), which was established to protect deposits in banks in the United States. The FDIC insures deposits up to a certain amount, typically $250,000 per account, for each insured depositor at a bank. This insurance helps to prevent bank failures and protects consumers' savings.

Deficit Put At Four Billion

The financial situation of the government was in need of urgently needed funds to cover the budget deficit. The deficit at the time was four billion dollars.

Where's Elmer?

Elmer was a popular figure in the comic strip, known for his various exploits and adventures. The question of where Elmer is often posed, which adds to the humor and curiosity of the strip.

DANIA BEACH HOTEL FLORENCE

This could be a reference to a hotel or a place of interest in Dania Beach, Florida. The mention of Florence could be a playful way to connect the two locations.
Under operation by Adams, TVA had now expended about half the total planed for addition, dams would leave flood control and navigation objectives which was contemplated to reduce large floods in the lower Mississippi.

"Well, that is one of the purposes that were agreed to the Cyprons, Adams said; "I do not think Congress ever seriously considered navigation."

Parker explained that when all dams were set, the next step was to "rough out the navigation channel" and to "establish the Salah Line of Steamers." Parker spelled out the longrange plans for dams, canals and harbors. Parker said that the TVA officials were working on a plan to establish a new line of steamers, and that this plan would be the first step in the development of a new navigation route for freight and passenger traffic between the upper and lower Mississippi.

"Yes," replied Parker, "I agree that the engineers with the lower Mississippi objective were represented in the Cyprons. We have a plan to establish a new line of steamers, and that this plan will be the first step in the development of a new navigation route for freight and passenger traffic between the upper and lower Mississippi."
