MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY JUNE 10, 1909.

ONE PER YEAR.

CROP REPORT

Kentucky Department of Agriculture Keeping In Touch With the Condition.

Commissioner of Agriculture M. C. Rankin gives out the department's monthly bulletin of crop conditions in Kentucky. The department is keeping very closely in touch with the farmers of the state. The report June 1 says:

There has been a very large amount of rainfall during the month of May hindering the farmers greatly in their work.

The condition of wheat has shown a considerable tendency toward improvement over last month and with weather favorable will make a fair yield.

Corn planting has about all been finished, except in several sections where the rainfall has been very great. A larger acreage will be planted and more attention to this crop will be given than in many years.

Much rain has been favorable to those that had their ground prepared for tobacco setting. Many say that much ground is not ready and on account of so much rain there is a large percent not planted. There is also some complaint about plants being scarce. Oats are looking well and promise to be a larger crop than for the past few years.

Alfalfa is doing well and making a splendid yield, but the weather is not good for cutting the first crop. There is not enough sunshine to cure it as it should be. The price of alfalfa ranges from $12.50 to $16 per ton, and with such conditions as these we think the people plant more each year for there is no doubt it has more feeding qualities than any other hay grown. Clover is looking well and will make a fine crop with favorable weather.

The prospects for a good fruit crop are not as good as they were last month.

Horses are very high, prices ranging from $125 to $150 and hard to buy at that.

Mules are not as many in number as they were at this time last year and are very high. Prices range from $150 to $200.

Cattle are not so high, prices ranging from three cents to four and one-half cents per pound.

Sheep are doing very well, prices from four and one-half to six cents per pound.

Hogs are high, prices ranging from six to eight cents per pound. There is very little or no complaint of any disease among them.

The price of poultry and eggs have been for the past year and are still higher than ever known before at this time of year, prices of eggs ranging from seven to twenty cents per dozen and hens and chickens from twelve to twenty-five cents per pound.

There are good prospects for a good berry crop. There is a full crop of blackberry blooms and others in proportion.

Hemp is looking well. Prices good, ranging from five to six and one-half cents per pound.

Callahan Shot From Ambush.

Jackson, Ky., June 7.—Ed Callahan, former sheriff of Breathitt county, was shot and fatally wounded this morning early in front of his store at Crockettville by an unknown assassin hidden in ambush. It is supposed to have been one of Callahan's former henchmen.

Callahan was in the lumber business in Jackson when he became allied with the Hargises and figured with them through all their bloody feuds. He was elected sheriff when Hargis was elected county judge and during his term the assassinations of Cox, Cockrell and Marcum occurred. Callahan was a dead shot. The fact that his opponent didn't meet him fairly stirred Callahan's immediate followers.

A battalion of national guards will be ordered into Breathitt county to keep order. Callahan's followers declare they will kill every adherent of the Cockrell-Deaton faction. Callahan had known for some time that his life was in danger.

To the Tax Payers of Calloway County.

GENTLEMEN:—The Tax Books are now ready for you to pay your 1909 taxes. And as I have gotten my books about one month late the County and State obligations are pushing me. Now this is the last year of my term and I will be compelled to settle in full so don't ask me to wait for I will not do it. I am going right after the taxes so if you want to save cost you had better come in and settle while you have got the money. Most of the tobacco is out of the hands of the farmer, and you have got all or a part of value; hence no excuse for any man who has either sold or delivered any part of his tobacco to the association. Now a hint to the wife is sufficient. I shall go leaving for these taxes this fall. So don't take any chances but come now and pay these taxes for they are higher this year than ever before and we are going right after them.

Yours to serve,
J. A. EDWARDS,
Sheriff Calloway County.

FINED $75.00

Christian County Farmer Who Sold His Pooled Tobacco Pleads Guilty.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 9.—Tuesday was a busy time in circuit court, quite a number of cases being called and disposed of, some being dismissed, others being continued while several defendants accepted fines.

In the last named class was the indictment against John Redd, a farmer, charging him with unlawfully selling pooled tobacco. This case was set for hearing Friday but the defendant asked that it be set forward, which was done and he accepted and paid a fine of $75. This is one of the several indictments returned at the last term of court charging violation of the Creel law.

It is believed that both the buyers and farmers who have violated the law for selling pooled tobacco will receive heavy fines. In many cases the penalty will be heavy.

N. W. Utley's Damage Suit.

Henry Bennett, who figured in a suit against Western Kentucky "night riders," has had the case of N. W. Utley against him. United States District Attorney George Du Ruelle, J. Wheeler Campbell, Sr., James Campbell, Jr., and Earl Henderson transferred from the Lyon county circuit court to the federal court at Paducah. Bennett was the only nonresident of the state among the defendants.

Utley sued the defendants for $25,000, claiming he was sued as a night rider when the defendants knew he was not implicated. He alleged he was made a defendant in Bennett suit for the purpose of getting money out of him. Utley was dropped from the suit when it came up in the federal court here last April.

Questions Stolen.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Crabbe has discovered that prior to the examination for colored school teachers held in each county in the state on May 25 and 26, that proof sheets of the questions prepared for that occasion had been stolen and sold all over the state to applicants for certificates and he believes that by the use of these questions and studying answers some practical illiterate persons have secured certificates to teach. He is already at work investigating the matter and it may be that the examinations in several counties will be nullified and new ones held. It is said that the questions brought $25 per set to the sellers.

Two colored women who were found with the questions in their possession are already under arrest these being Almira Long, of Elizabethtown, and Lucy Jackson, of Louisville. The counties now under suspicion and where the investigation will be most rigid are Jefferson, Lincoln, Hardin, Christian and Scott.

The Fly Abomination.

The most dangerous animal in the world is the common house fly. This is the statement of science back by conclusive evidence. A writer in Harper's Weekly summarizes these facts about this animal most dangerous to health, and the means of fighting it:

The common house fly is a carrier of disease. Typhoid fever, diarrhoea, dysentery, and tuberculosis are carried by flies. Flies feed on food and also on filth. They go from one to the other. In this way they carry disease germs to the table. One fly can convey six million bacteria.

Flies breed in manure heaps, outhouses, refuse ash-pits and all decomposing animal or vegetable matter, and unclean places. Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises. If such exist, cover with lime or kerosene, and remove early as possible.

See that your sewerage system is in good order.

Screen all food; cover food after a meal; burn all scraps and refuse.

Screen all windows and doors.

Burn pyrethrum powder in the house if flies should gain an entrance.

If there is no filth there will be no flies.

Though many will fight in vain for the opportunity to hunt big game, anyone may enlist in a more useful service in working toward the extermination of this very small "game" which is a million times greater enemy to mankind than all the savage beasts of forest, swamp or jungle.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy made at Des Moines for many years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narcoossee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—E. S. DOW. HANBERRY

Wins Nomination for Circuit Judge, Defeating Judge Thos. P. Cook.

The primary election in Calloway county last Saturday was a very quiet affair. A total vote of 2,104 was polled which indicates that but little enthusiasm was aroused in the contest between Judge Cook and Mr. Hanberry. With the exception of a ten days joint canvass with Mr. Hanberry Judge Cook did not spend a single day in Calloway in the interest of his candidacy, and no fight was made in his behalf by his friends. Upon the other hand active interest was taken in Hanberry's behalf and money was freely used in his interest.

The vote of the county as shown by the official returns is as follows:

	C.	H.
W. Murray	169	296
L. Murray	156	190
Hazel	102	129
Fair	21	68
N. Swann	42	59
S. Swann	69	97
N. Concord	88	23
S. Concord	90	35
Almo	66	51
Jackson	40	76
N. Brinkley	28	25
S. Brinkley	70	38
N. Liberty	90	50
S. Liberty	111	33

Total 1104 1002

The official returns also show that Denny P. Smith, who had no opposition for commonwealths attorney, polled less than one-half the votes cast.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 7.—By a majority of one hundred and thirty votes, Judge J. T. Hanberry, of this city, is shown by the unofficial returns of Saturday's primary to be the Democratic nominee for circuit judge in the Third judicial district, defeating the incumbent, Judge Thomas P. Cook, of Murray.

Denny P. Smith, of Cadiz, was renominated without opposition for commonwealth's attorney. The district committee will meet June 10 at Eddyville to canvass the returns and issue certificates of election.

Judge Hanberry carried Christian and Trigg by 315 majority, and Judge Cook carried Calloway and Lyon by 185.

In his home county Judge Hanberry wins by 306 majority. In Trigg the race was exceedingly close, the Hopkinsville candidate being victorious by the narrow margin of nine votes.

Judge Cook carried his home county by 102 majority, and Lyon county by 85.

The expenses of holding the primary Saturday in Christian, Calloway, Trigg and Lyon, the counties comprising the district, was $1,000. Half of this is paid by Commonwealth's Attorney Smith, though he had no opposition.

The race between Judges Cook and Hanberry has, in one sense, been a strenuous one on their part, requiring the exercise of great physical endurance. They stumped the entire district together, holding joint debates in every section, and usually speaking twice a day. The campaign has been notable for its freedom from anything like personal abuse or mudslinging. The amenities have been preserved at all appointments, and no bitterness has been engendered by the race. In their speeches, Judge Cook and Judge Hanberry have been uniformly courteous and Judge Cook said Sunday on arriving in this city: "If the result of the race, as officially announced, is in favor of Judge Hanberry, nobody will offer him more hearty congratulations than myself."

On account of the closeness of the primary election, Judge Cook said he did not care to be quoted further until the returns are given over by the district committee.

Denny Smith, who ran without opposition for commonwealth's attorney, received about half of the votes cast in the judge's race. His vote in Hopkinsville was 390.

Victim of Runaway Horse.

Little Clare Louise Wall, the six year old daughter of Herbert Wall and wife, was the victim of an accident Tuesday afternoon that nearly cost the child her life. The Smith & Parker delivery horse ran away, starting at the McDaniel boarding house and turned into North Elkins street where the little girl was playing near the front gate of the family residence, the hub of the vehicle struck the child in the temple fracturing her skull and rendering her unconscious for several hours. Her life was despaired of for some time but she has since rallied and it is believed she will recover.

Made Highest Average.

The highest general average made by any Trigg county teacher who took the May examination for teachers' certificates was that of Miss Lillie Matheny, of Calloway county, who will teach this fall at Golden Pond. On account of being in school, she was unable to be present at the examination in Cadiz, but took the examination at Murray, and her papers were sent to Trigg county to be graded by the Trigg county examiners, and her general average was 93.3-11. MURDER THEORY GAINS STRENGTH

CHICAGO AUTHORITIES SAY NEW COMPLEXION OF SINKLEY CASE DISPLACES SUICIDE.

Autopsy Physician Declares Doctor Could Hardly Have Fired Shot Himself—Chief Shipley Takes a Hand

Chicago, June 5.—The inquest on the death of John F. Sinkley, the man who shot himself in the chest in his apartment in the Wellington hotel, Wednesday, was continued today in the coroner's court.

This action was taken by Deputy Coroner Kennedy after Dr. Reinhardt, who conducted the autopsy, had testified that the location of the wound made the possibility of the man shooting himself almost impossible. The police have also abandoned the suicide theory and are of the opinion that the man was killed by a hotel sneak despite the contention of Manager T. C. Capen of the hotel that the man committed suicide.

John T. Hinkley, Jr., son of the man who was shot, has announced his intention of foregoing a trip to Europe, which he had planned, and remaining here until the mystery surrounding his father's death is cleared up. He is absolutely convinced that his father was murdered by some person who entered the room for the purpose of robbery, and is hoping that the police department will make a serious attempt to apprehend the guilty person.

"I do not wish to reflect in any way upon the police, but it seems to me they ought to make it their business to hunt out the person who murdered my father, and that it is foolish, with the evidence before them, to assert that it is a case of suicide," said Dr. Hinkley.

Police investigation lags. Up to Friday evening the police had only made a perfunctory investigation into the case, and both Inspector Lavin and Capt. P. D. O'Brien, in charge of the detective bureau, declared that they were convinced that the suicide theory advanced by the hotel management was correct.

Inspector Quinn and O'Brien were working on the case today, said Capt. O'Brien, and they report to him that it is a case of suicide. It seems to me the most natural thing in the world for a man to reach around with his right hand and shoot himself in the left chest, and as for the robbery, I can't find out that Dr. Hinkley had any money on him when he came to Chicago.

Inspector Lavin said Friday afternoon, after receiving a report from Detective Tom Sweeney, who was working on the case.

It looks to me like a plain case of suicide. The fact that the man was crippled in his left hand so that he could not handle a gun with that member is not significant, and as for the money, well, it must have been carried by a thief because it can easily be concealed in the hand.

Chief Shipley Takes a Hand. After receiving a report of what happened at the coroner's inquest, and especially the testimony of Dr. Reinhardt, Chief Shipley took a personal hand in the case and telephoned to Inspector Lavin to run down every possible clue.

"We shall be able to tell by tomorrow whether it is a case of murder or suicide," he said.

The revolver with which the 32-year-old physician was shot was a small one, having a barrel not over an inch long, and it is the kind frequently carried by a thief because it can easily be concealed in the hand.

Steamer Burns to Water. Detroit, June 5.—The steamer Iron Age was burned to the water's edge in Lake Erie off Barr Point. The crew of nine men and one woman fought the flames until the deckhouse was only a heap of ashes and the after part of the boat was nearly eaten up by the fire. Then they put out in a yawl and later were picked up and brought to Sandusky, near Windsor, by the steamer Verano.

STRYCHNINE WAS FOUND

CHEMIST REPORTED POISON IN LARGE QUANTITIES.

Inquest on Body of Mrs. Archer May Be Held at Earliest Possible Moment.

Galesburg, Ill., June 5.—Further corroboration of the suspicion that the death of Mrs. Josephine Carlin Archer was due to strychnine poisoning was revealed when in an interview with the coroner, Chalmers, reported that he had received a partial report from the chemist who is making an examination of the organs of the body, and that the report showed that strychnine had been found in large quantities.

This report had been made in the most positive manner and it impressed the coroner with its importance.

Inquest May Be Held at Once. The importance of the coroner's attention to this report may be imagined when it is learned that he has notified the relatives of the report, and has expressed a willingness to hold the inquest on the remains at the earliest possible time and without waiting further for the formal report of the chemist.

Dr. Chalmers is of the opinion that this preliminary report of the chemist is sufficient on which to base a coroner's verdict as to the cause of death, and that it will be as strong as the formal report can be made, though not going into such detail.

Report to Be Basis of Verdict. Coroner Chalmers further declared that he would like to hold the inquest on the body in the Onida cemetery not later than Monday, and if he can get the consent of the relatives that is the time at which it will be held.

C. E. Marsh, who in behalf of his wife has been pushing the investigation, was not at home Saturday morning, and there was no way of determining just what would be done in the matter of holding the inquest. Mr. Marsh has been anxious, however, to have the suspicion either confirmed or set at rest, and it is not thought there will be any objections to having the inquest held at the earliest possible time.

CLAIMS WHITLA REWARD

Merger County, in. Petitioner Moves, Wants $15,000 From State of Pennsylvania.

Merger, Pa., June 5.—The county has put in a claim for the $15,000 reward offered by the state of Pennsylvania for the kidnapping of Billy Whitla. The stand is taken by the county authorities that it was Mercer county which apprehended the Boyles and convicted them and that the county should be reimbursed for its expenditures through the reward the state has offered.

Back of the move lies an internal feud of politics. For years Frank Muhl, rich uncle of the kidnapped Billy Whitla, and James P. Whittle, the child's father, have been political leaders of Mercer county. There is now much ill feeling in the county, and the fact that the kidnapping of the boy was a political move is not surprising, and as for the money, well, it must have been carried by a thief because it can easily be concealed in the hand.

THE BACK-YARD JUNGLE!

WOMAN KILLED IN HOME

Body Is Found in Room Robber Had Ransacked.

Vicious Dog on Guard Led St. Louis Police to Think Assassin Knew This Remiss.

St. Louis, June 5.—The brutal murder of a woman for the purpose of robbery has been added to the long list of similar crimes recorded in the police annals of St. Louis.

Covered with wounds and bruises, the body of Mrs. Katy Teal, 43 years old, was found in her room at her home, 515 Old Manchester road, Friday night. Blood-spattered walls and disarranged furniture told the story of a desperate struggle. An intruder, evidently had ransacked the room in a search for valuables.

When a few hours after the discovery of the body of Mrs. Teal, an other attack on a woman was reported to the police. It is not thought there is any connection between the crimes.

The murder of Mrs. Teal recalls the long list of similar crimes recorded in the police annals of St. Louis and engaged the attention of the police during the past few years. No fewer than six brutal murders have occurred, and three of the crimes have not been solved.

A long knife was used by the slayer of the woman, according to the police. The woman often had told neighbors that in her younger days she was a famous beauty and that she was a descendant of an old English family.

It is believed she was killed some time Thursday afternoon or evening. A mysterious feature of the crime is that no person had any sound made during the desperate struggle which must have taken place.

For Skull Fractured. A knife had been driven into the woman's brain through the forehead. A dozen stab wounds and cuts were found on her body, her throat had been bruised by the clutch of brutal fingers and her face and arms bore the marks of bruises. In the palms of her hands were found cuts which showed she must have tried to wrest the knife from her assailant.

Rumors that the woman kept a large sum of money in the house caused the neighbors Saturday, but no valuables were found.

Slitting about the heels of the policemen, showing his teeth and snarling his protests at their intrusion, a black and tan dog, for the second time in the past few days, had been barked by the clutch of the room where Mrs. Teal's body was found. The dog seemingly plays an important part in the tragedy, as he is known to be vicious.

PAYNE INSISTS ON TARIFF CUTS

SENATORS MUST RESTORE REDUCTIONS HOUSE MADE, RE CHAIRMAN'S SDICT.

TAFT TO HAVE MORE VIEWS

Joint Conference Probably Will Consider Schedule to Meet Consumers' Demands—May Have Downward Bombardment.

Washington, June 5.—Members of the house committee on ways and means are determined to force the senate to adopt all the reductions and duties that are provided in the Payne bill. It is said to be the intention of the house conference, all of whom will be drawn from the ways and means committee, to sanction all the reductions which the Aldrich bill has made and which do not appear in the Payne bill.

With these concessions on the part of the house, added to the reductions which they hope to force from the senate, the bill as it will go to Taft will have some semblance of a downward revision measure. It is probable that before the conference is over the conference will know what additional reduction Taft thinks are necessary.

From the viewpoint of the consumer, the house bill is much better than the senate bill, but neither measure in its present form meets the pledge of the party or the views of the president. While the senate has been discussing the tariff the house as a legislative body has been for the most part inactive, but the members have had masses of correspondence to read.

Consumers Demand Reductions.

Most of the letters which they have received are not of the pleasant reading kind. Their consuming constituents have been telling the members that the Payne bill is for the few and not for the many, and that the Aldrich bill is "more so."

The ways and means committee made its own measure, for none of the members of the house outside of the committee's membership had anything to do with its framing. Of course, after the bill was reported, the members were free to express themselves vigorously, but when the voting came the majority of the Republicans, aided by some of the Democrats, carried the day for the measure.

As far as the house is concerned, conditions have changed somewhat since the bill went on its passage. Many of the Republican members know now that they made a political mistake in supporting some of the measures as reported by Payne. They took it for granted that their constituents would stand by them, on the ground of the necessity of party regularity and of making the bill a Republican measure. The members probably thought they had made it the Republican measure, but the letters they have received from the party voters in their districts have to a considerable degree undeceived them.

Preacher Sells World's Highest Road. Denver, June 5.—A syndicate, headed by Gov. Shaffner and Mayor Speer, has bought the Argentine Central railroad, geographically the highest in the world. The owners expect to make the road pay better than the former owner, Rev. E. J. Wilcox, a Methodist minister, who made $5,000,000 in mines. Billboards Win in Court. Judge Holds City Cannot Prohibit Them When Erected on Private Property.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 5.—The city council passed an ordinance some time ago forbidding bill posting in this city. Councilman Bowman protested, claiming the billboard was the poor man's art gallery. The case was appealed to court and Judge Fuller, in an opinion, decides that the council had no right to pass such an ordinance, as the boards are erected on private property.

In his opinion, the judge sided with the billboard, saying one of the pictures displayed on a board is a certain recompense to the public for the development and progress of the city.

Trolley Strike Over, Men Satisfied to Accept 22 Cents an Hour Tentatively.

Philadelphia, June 5.—For the first time in a week, cars on all lines are running as usual, manned by their old crews. Where there was excitement and rioting throughout the week, there is quiet. The strike is dead.

When the compromise was submitted to the conductors and motormen, Friday night, a few barns voted against any proposition which did not carry the men and the vote stood 3,258 for peace and 619 against settlement. The officials of the strikers state that if, after an investigation of the books of the company, by the city comptroller, it can be shown that some $200,000 was paid without crippling the finances of the company, the men will insist upon a further advance in wages.

TOOLS OF TRUSTS

REPUBLICAN SEATORS SEEN IN TRUE LIGHT.

"Protection" Cry Invoked by Them to Tax the People in the Interests of a Few Eastern Manufacturers.

Recently in the United States Senate, the Republican Senators, in the interests of a few Eastern manufacturers, have been invoking the cry of "protection" to tax the people in the interests of a few Eastern manufacturers.

Every sane political economist, from Adam Smith or John Stuart Mill down to the present school, defines "protection" as the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, plus reasonable profits to home manufacturers.

We developed, in this republic's economic struggle following the civil war, from a tariff for revenue back to a "protective" tariff basis. Now, nearly more than 40 years later, we are pushing "protective" tariff aside in favor of a tariff for the special benefit of rubber trusts.

If that seems a strong statement, scan the hundreds of schedules in the Aldrich tariff bill that go beyond the true principle of "protection." Aldrich and his allies are probably the least scientific of any tariff framers in American history. They boldly and arrogantly attempt to levy taxes upon American consumers for the benefit of manufacturers who have long since ceased to need tariff protection.

The essence of tariff "protection" is its inherently temporary nature. Real political economists are unanimous in declaring that "protection" is something to be ended as soon as possible. It lays burdens on home consumers that should be removed the moment an industry has become financially self-sufficient.

As a nation's industrial growth progresses, the protective tariff crutches should be thrown aside in favor of a simple tariff for revenue. Aldrich and his high-tariff allies in the Senate merely work the "protection" fetish in the interests of eastern trusts. Their policy is one of trickery and deceit. Critics within their own party ranks, like Dilliver of Iowa, have convicted them of juggling schedules, not to increase government revenues, but to line the pockets of manufacturers.

Ordinary Americans are heartily tired of being robbed under the guise of a "protective" tariff. They have abandoned hope of relief from a Senate dominated by crafty fools of the type.

MEANE TO PUBLIC MORALITY

Los Angeles Morals Police Out the Ostentatious Effect of Saloons High Tariff.

In discussing the high tariff because of its harmful effect on morality, Senator Rayner of Maryland merely made a public statement which has often been made in private. Honorable declarations of any kind are hard to obtain, therefore it is not surprising that the human nature should be tempted to get the better of their regulations because many men are so constituted that it is absolutely impossible to persuade them of the justice of high tariff taxation, while probably most of the women of the United States are free traders, totally unaware of the legal morality or moral legality of any kind of taxation on imports.

"When we pay what the goods are worth why should we have to pay a fine for the privilege of buying the goods?" That is the feminine argument, and beyond that and into the house of economics very few women will condescend to go. In view of this condition and the accuracy of our description of it may easily be ascertained by our readers that the tariff in Washington is such that you cannot get the truth out of anybody. I am very fond of liars, I have studied them by day and by night, but I never in my life saw such an aggregation of liars as are assembled in this capital, and they can lie with equal facility upon one side or the other of the same question.

High tariff is a menace to public morality. Its effect on any nation in the long run is detrimental to the best interests of that nation. This is the result of a spiritual law in the natural world, and that law is as unalterable as were the physical laws of the Medes and Persians. —Law Abiding Herald.

The Sugar Trust's Outrage. One of the amazing developments of the tariff negotiations is the aggressiveness of the south for particular duties. The most determined high protection manufacturers have been made by certain southern representatives and senators.

And now comes that old, uncompromising democratic paper, "The New Orleans Picayune," with a vigorous demand that the duty on sugar be left undisturbed.

Of course, the real reason—the only reason—that the tariff is retained on sugar is that the American sugar industry demands it. The sugar trust has made itself so hideous as to plead for this tariff because it produces a large revenue. Yet the fact that its discount to foreign consumers is substantially the same as its protection in the home market shows conclusively that it does not need the tariff.

There is no more need for a tariff on sugar than there is for a tariff on tea or coffee. And a tariff on tea and coffee would also produce enormous revenue. But there is no American sugar industry, at least to demand a tariff, so the consumers are the justice of free coffee and free tea.

It is nothing short of a crime to tax the American sugar consumers to the extent of more than $10,000,000 a year for revenues a tax that is based on protection.

A bad back is a heavy handicap to one of us who have to work every day. Nine times out of ten, backache tells of kidney weakness. The only way to get relief is to cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills have given sound strength back to thousands of men and women. Mrs. Wesley Clouston, 111. Madison St., Rochester, N. Y., says: "I cannot work at a sewing machine because of kidney trouble. The kidney action was irregular and the pains in my back and loins an agony. I could hardly endure it. Doan's Kidney Pills made me feel better in a short time, and I took them until I was free from my trouble."

Found a Cure in Cuticura. "Our son, two years old, was afflicted with a rash. After he suffered with the trouble several weeks I took him to the doctor but it got worse. The rash ran together and made large blisters. The little fellow didn't want to do anything but scratch and we had to wrap his hands up to keep him from tearing the skin open till the blood would run. The itching was intense. The skin on his back became hard and rough like the bark of a tree. He suffered intensely for about three months. But I found a remedy in Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. The result was almost magical. That was more than two years ago and there has been the slightest symptom of it since he was cured. J. W. Luck, Yukon, Okla., Aug. 28 and Sept. 17, 1908."

The Selfish Invalid. Senator Dixon, discussing a certain tariff proposition, said: "It is selfishness, pure selfishness. It reminds me of George Cartwright at Missoula."

"George Cartwright took sick and spent a week alone. He carried on bravely with his grunts and complaints. His wife said to him one day: 'Well, George, I'd rather have the whole family sick than you!'"

To Check Spread of Trachoma. It has been reported that the disease known as trachoma, or granular eyelids, has been spreading rapidly among the Indians in one of the trouble Congress appropriated $12,000, placing it in the hands of the commissioner of Indian affairs, for the immediate investigation and treatment of the disease and to check its spread.

Burnt Eyelids. Who does not know the misery of burnt eyelids that crinkly and burning condition of the skin? Isn't it worth a great deal to know that Dr. Mitchell's Eye Salve applied to the eyes upon retiring will effect a complete cure before morning. On sale everywhere. Why, uncle, how are all the folks? "They're all well, thanks, except Bill. He's got the measles fever!"

Couldn't Stand It. A Raleigh, N. C., woman not long ago received into her home for "trial" a "cracker" girl from the mountains. She was made to incubate in the girl a love for order and cleanliness, but suddenly this discipline ceased for the "jazz" while she to her home in the fastnesses. Thither the Raleigh woman traveled her after some difficulty.

Why did you leave me, Mary Jane? she asked. "Well, I couldn't stay," explained the girl. "I was too cloyed with neatness!"

People Talk About Good Things. Fourteen years ago a poor fellow, known as a "pioneer" as a "pioneer" for the first time, after the epidemic of the Allen's Foot-Powder, he has been after year by year, it is a miracle, able to millions. It is a remedy, which, being used, and applied, and given rest and comfort to tired aching feet. It cures here you will find it is a testimonial. Imagination pay the dealer a larger profit otherwise you would never be offered a substitute for Allen's Foot-Powder, the original foot powder. Ask for Allen's Foot-Powder, and see that you get it.

A Significant Test. "So you don't think the common people have the nerve to defy those who seek a system of financial oppression?" "I am sure they haven't," answers Mr. Strickland. "Look at me. I'm just an amateur to injustice as anybody. And yet I never hesitate about handing a head waiter a comfortable slap for doing nothing except look haughty."
