THE LISTENING POST

I wish to a bit of quarrelling at the state board of health today and incidentally fill this column, as I have nothing else in mind today. The basis of my quarrel is the fact that I find grave difficulty in getting my coffee properly sweetened at various restaurants, and while I fully realize that the present day sugar containers are designed for sanitation they make me mad every time I have to use one.

Coffee, to be good, must be just right. By using a spoon and with long years of steady and unremitting study, I have reached the point where I can dump in just exactly the right amount of sugar. I do not believe that I vary more than a couple of grains when I use a spoon to dip the sugar from an open container. In another year I think I could better that record, and not miss the mark by more than one grain.

Then, just as I near a perfect mark, along comes the state board of health and tells all the restaurants that sealed containers must be used. These containers resemble a syrup jar more than anything else, and in theory you are supposed to hold one over your coffee, press a dojigger and then the sugar pours out. When you have enough you release the dojigger and this cuts off the flow of sugar.

Trouble is, that weather conditions cause the flow of sugar to vary. Some days the sugar will merely trickle out in a thin stream, and again it will pour out in a white stream. The poor customer never knows what to expect, and at times is beset by both conditions. The flow may start off slowly, and you give a sudden punch or shake, and then the sugar flows so swiftly that your cup of coffee will contain about a pound of sugar. This is not well—in fact, if any one gets three grains too much of sugar the coffee is more or less spoiled. Likewise, if you get three grains too little, you get a bit too much coffee taste and this is not well. I have been wrestling with this problem for several months, and the only solution I see is to take the top off the container and spoon the sugar out. In doing this I am always afraid I will look up and find three or four spies from the state board of health and they will throw me in jail at once.

As a matter of fact, I always look carefully down the counter in any restaurant these days, and if I see any strange faces, I begin to loan about their feet and if I see any brief cases, I remain discreetly silent, for I have learned that a fellow can never know when spies are listening. I invariably suspect any man with a brief case these days, and if I see one coming into the office I try to get out the back door before he gets in the front door. One day, in a local coffee saloon, I was careless and had not looked around a great deal. I got started to griping and was weaving along in a big way when I suddenly spotted a stranger about three stools away. There was a brief case at his feet, and he was turned toward me listening intently. I cut off a sentence in midair and left so hastily that I failed to pay my check. I lived in dread all day that the stranger would come to see me, but he never did. I am afraid, however, that the incident is still charged against me in some reference book.

So it seems that I am whipped about the coffee situation. All I can do is to keep on trying and perhaps learn to operate these state board of health sugar containers.

House Passes Record Army Air Corps Bill

Huge Measure Goes Through Without Single Amendment

Washington, —A record-breaking, $499,857,936 appropriation bill for the Army won House approval today amid warnings in the Senate that congressional failure to keep close tabs on American foreign policy might drag the nation into war.

The huge supply measure, largest since 1922 and carrying the first funds for a proposed $300,000,000 expansion of the air corps, rolled through the House without a record vote or a single amendment.

Representative Snyder (D-Pa.), in charge of the bill on the floor, declared the fact that no amendments were offered was without parallel in the nation's constitutional history and constituted "a firm expression of America's attitude toward such dictatorships as might attempt to disturb the peace of the Western Hemisphere."

The measure carried actual funds for the operation of the Army and is distinct from a measure which the House passed two weeks ago and which "authorizes" a $358,000,000 expansion of the Army, including the Air Corps. The latter measure carries no funds.

In addition to the purchase of 748 military planes, mostly combat types, today's bill would provide for reinforcement of seacoast defenses, for semi-automatic rifles, anti-tank guns, modernized field artillery and mobile anti-aircraft guns.

Mid-Night Show At Malco Tonight

For the third time, Boris Karloff is portraying the role of the Frankenstein monster of the screen. Wearing a hideous make-up, weighted down with heavily padded clothes, and lead-soled shoes, Karloff will be seen at the mid-night preview tonight at the Malco Fulton Theatre in the same character he portrayed in "Frankenstein" and in "The Bride of Frankenstein." His present picture is Universal's new "Son of Frankenstein."

The new "Son of Frankenstein," also stars Basil Bathbone, Belo (Dracula) Lugosi, Lionel Atwill, Josephine Hutchinson, and Donnie Dunagan. The preview will start tonight at 11 p. m.

Bank Reduces Interest Rate On Residence Mortgage Loans

New York — A windfall turned up today for the small home buyer, as mortgage lending rates felt the pressure of idle money accumulating in big investment institutions.

On the threshold of the spring and summer building season the Bowers Savings Bank, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country cut the interest rate on first mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration to 4 1/2 per cent. The prevailing rates have been 4 1/2 and 5 per cent.

Henry Bruers, president of the Bowers bank, said it was prepared to invest $10,000,000 this year to encourage new home building and to help make 1939 "a big building year."

Rate Lowest In History
Veteran mortgage men said as far as they could recall 4 1-2 per cent was the lowest rate ever

TVA Power Is Now Supplying City Of Fulton

It may not be generally known, but since last Tuesday night electrical power in Fulton has been supplied from the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. This is not permanent, merely being some form of exchange between the TVA and the Kentucky Utilities Company.

While a certain substation was being erected in Weakley county the local electrical company supplied certain areas in that section, and last Tuesday night, when the new substation was put into use, the TVA began repaying this borrowed current. Local people who have been instrumental in the work of voting bonds for a local electric plant point out the fact that Fulton now drawing power from TVA lines is also proof that TVA can be brought into Fulton permanently.

It is not known how long the present situation will continue as it is purely an arrangement between TVA and the Kentucky Utilities Company.

Scout News

Troop 43 was presented with a new troop flag at the weekly meeting last night, bearing the number of the troop and the sponsor, Mormon B. Daniels Bible Class of the First Methodist Church.

The troop also received from the local council an Old Trails Round-up certificate in recognition of the achievement of organization, budget, and membership.

Three more boys passed the tenderfoot tests, Howard Grissom, Henry Neal, and John Hornsby. The following boys passed second class first aid: Buddy Steele, John Mac Travis, and Jack McKinnen. Signaling was passed by Robert Whitesell and Joseph Omar.

The following boys received their tenderfoot badges; John Hornsby, Harold Grissom, and Jerry Jones. These were presented with their registration cards, Bill Parham, Paul Gholson, John Mac Travis, Howard Todd, and Harold Todd. The troop has taken in more boys due to the special permit and now has a membership of forty.

The Presbyterian Church will be attended by the boys in a group tomorrow morning.

Prudent Drunk Imprudently Gives Car Away

Atlanta, —A prudent drunk hailed Ira Smith on the street, asked him to drive his car.

Smith took the job. Soon the inebriate ordered a stop. He climbed out, waved his hand said "you can have the automobile," and walked swiftly away before Smith could recover his breath.

The impromptu chauffeur turned the automobile over to police and they expect the generous owner to claim it as soon as he conquers his hangover.

Tax Burden Always With Us, Even From Colonial Days

Washington — The nation winds up 150 years under the Constitution today with Congress still worrying over two problems that were the chief troubles of the first Congress — taxes and the national debt.

Whatever other chores the members in 1789 had on their minds, it was the job of raising money and paying the national debt that haunted them as they rode toward New York through the mud and snow of a wintry March.

The meeting of that first Congress was more than just the rallying of a debating society to legislate. The first Wednesday in March had been set by the Continental Congress as the time for the old government to expire and the new to take over. It was the first day of government under the new Constitution.

Crowd Overflows At Boxing Matches

The athletic fans of Fulton are going in for the recently organized Athletic Club, located in the Old Meadow Block, in a big way and last night was only the second week since its organization but after the first few bouts a great number of people were turned away from the door with not even standing room left.

Promising young fighters of Fulton and surrounding towns are being matched in these bouts, under the instructions and direction of Bobby Matthews and other fighting authorities. Last night ten good bouts were enjoyed with a battle royal. The feature of the night was the bout of old Uncle Charlie, the colored man of Fulton who claims to be 112 years of age.

Make your plans now to attend next Friday night and be among those enthusiastic crowds.

Mr. Walker was preceded in death eleven years ago by his wife. He is survived by six sons; Cleve, of Saginaw, Michigan; C. M. of Chicago; Clint, of U. S. Army; Cleo, of Dresden, Tennessee; C. D. of Washington, D. C.; and Cole, of St. Louis.

Wood Named Business Aid To Hopkins

Washington, — Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins has appointed Gen. R. E. Wood of Chicago as his official adviser on business relations.

General Wood, a former regular Army officer who now is chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., will serve for about four months, without title or administrative duties.

A Hopkins aid said Wood had accepted the job on condition that it be temporary.

In Line With Speech
Hopkins indicated in his maiden speech on business policy at Des Moines that he was particularly interested in seeking a means of stimulating private investment in industry as a method of promoting business recovery, and Wood is expected to work especially on the investment idea.

Mrs. J. R. Luten has returned to her home in Fulton after spending the winter in Paducah, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Emery.

S. Fulton Wins Over Gleason In First Game

The South Fulton Angels played their second game of the girls regional basketball tournament, in Union City, last night against the classy girls from Martin, Tenn., and were defeated by a top-heavy score of 54-16, after winning over the Gleason sextet yesterday morning, by a score of 25-21.

In the Gleason game, the last of yesterday morning's session, the South Fulton girls came from behind to score a victory of five points. At the half Gleason was leading 12-7. But a determined scoring drive in the third period while their defensive play was practically airtight put South Fulton into a commanding lead, 22-13. A Gleason rally in the last period fell five points short of tying the score. For South Fulton, Ray, Redmon, and Terrell were outstanding. For Gleason, Vinson, J. Margraves, and A. Mitchell played spectacularly.

Line-up:
S. Fulton (26) Pos. Gleason (21)
Hastings (11) F. B. Mitchell (6)
Terrell (15) F. A. Mitchell (13)
Harwood C. J. Margraves
Redmon C. Castleman
Ray G. Vinson (2)
Bowlin G. A. Margraves
Substitutions — South Fulton — Reed and Lancaster. Gleason — Hobbs, Woodard, and Parks.

S. Fulton Council Meets Last Night

The South Fulton Board of Aldermen met in monthly session last night in the South Fulton city hall and all members of the board were present.

Representatives from various companies were present for the purpose of talking with the men on the problem of purchasing fire trucks and hose. No action was taken on this, however.

The power plant and water mains now progressing rapidly, were discussed at length and it was decided that several changes will be made in laying the water pipes. The council voted to add a number of mains to those already laid, some of which will be on East State Line, near the Swift plant, and others in the west end of South Fulton. This addition will mean approximately $3,000.00 more in the total cost.

The board passed a law by which all trucks parking any place on Paschall Street or Central Avenue are limited to a one-hour parking time.

The recorder, J. L. Crockett made the following financial statement: Fines and costs assessed, $149.50; Taxes collected $1,657.25; License collected, $39.00; and a total of $6,251.02 in the bank funds. Cunningham reported eight arrests made during the month of February.

Parents Protest As Jury Clears 2 In Girl's Death

Philadelphia, —A Coroner's jury exonerated Dr. John Raftery, a physician, and Pearl Borow, pharmacist, today over the shouted protests of the parents of a girl who died after taking medicine.

The jury had heard testimony that the medicine prescribed for a minor ailment, was too strong and that the two found out too late.

When the jury reported 18-year-old Esabella Frantz died of poisoning "by mistake," the girl's father, William Frantz, cried: "This is an outrage!" The mother leaped to her feet with him.

Board Advises Zoning State For Wage Law

Frankfort, Ky., —Division of Kentucky into three zones of different minimum wage and maximum hour levels for women and minors was recommended by the State Wage Board following a public hearing today.

Industrial Relation Commissioner William C. Burrow has ten days to accept or reject the recommendation, which relaxes the present minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, with 37 1-2 cents an hour for all over 48 hours, for the entire state.

The new plan provides the following minima:
Zone 1—Cities of 20,000 population or more, 25 cents for the first 44 hours and 37 1-2 cents an hour after that.
Zone 2—Cities of 8,000 to 20,000 22 cents for the first 48 hours and 33 cents an hour after that.
Zone 3—Cities up to 8,000 population, 18 cents an hour for the first 52 hours and 27 cents an hour after that.

In all cases, the maximum working week would be 60 hours.

Two Vote Reluctantly

It was learned authoritatively that two employers' representatives on the board were opposed to fixing any wage floor, but voted for the new plan to avert continuance of the present regulation.

These two, Fred Seitz of Louisville and James W. Smith of Campbellsville, reportedly declined at first to vote, but did so later when a three-to-three deadlock appeared that would have kept the present regulations effective.

Voting for the new plan from the start were Chairman Frank D. Peterson, state comptroller, and W. H. Fraysure, director of the state re-employment service, representatives of the public, and Robert Graham, Bowling Green, an employers' representative. Voting against the new plan, on the grounds that the present 25 cent minimum should not be lowered, were Mrs. Rueben Post Halleck, Louisville, public's representative, and R. F. Kirk, Louisville, and George Titler, Harlan, labor representatives.

Omer Stubbs, Covington, the other labor representative, was absent.

Warship Bringing President Home Nears Charleston

Miami, Fla., —The cruiser Houston, bringing President Roosevelt home from the fleet war games, sped through a choppy sea today for Charleston, S. C., where she is due to dock tomorrow.

Before closing temporary White House offices in Coral Gables, Fla., Acting Secretary William D. Hassett received word from the Houston that it was making steady progress northward from Puerto Rico, despite heavy seas whipped by "intensified trade winds."

The President, who sailed for the fleet maneuvers February 18 from Key West, will entrain for Washington between 7 and 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Lawrence Tibbett Expresses Desire To Swing It

Cincinnati — Lawrence Tibbett would like to swing it, but not for a while yet.

Here for two concerts with the Cincinnati Symphony, the Metropolitan Opera Company baritone vowed today to include jazz and blues numbers on his recital programs. He confessed, however, he has not yet mustered up the courage.

Congressmen Push Proposal To Cut Taxes As Business Aid

Washington — The powerful movement to ease taxes on business to stimulate recovery gained momentum today when the chairmen of two Congressional committees requested Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, to submit plans for revenue law alterations that would "encourage private industry to increase employment."

Hailing Morgenthau's recent hints that tax changes were in the wind, Senator Harrison, Mississippi Democrat, of the Senate Finance Committee, and Representative Doughton, North Carolina Democrat of the House Ways and Means Committee, asked for the recommendations as soon as possible after the March 15 income tax collections are analyzed.

MAYFIELD YOUTH GETS APPOINTMENT TO ACADEMY

Washington — Representative Noble Gregory, Mayfield, Ky., announced he had selected Henry Clay Shelton, Jr., Mayfield, as his candidate for entrance to the United States Naval Academy for 1939.

Senator Van Nuys, Indiana Democrat, declared in a statement that the Administration's recent assurances to business were "encouraging" to believers in economic stability. He suggested that President Roosevelt implement the assurances by withdrawing the nomination of Thomas R. Amle, Wisconsin Progressive, to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Senator criticized Amle on the ground he proposed a Constitutional Amendment permitting the Government to engage in business and industry.

Senator Byrd, Virginia Democrat, issued a statement that fiscal policy pronouncements by Chairman Marriner S. Ecosis of the Federal Reserve System Board and the "recent active resistance of the President of the United States to the President's efforts to reduce the deficit" were "a serious threat to the stability of the United States."

Social-Mindedness Pays Dividends

"Honesty is the best policy."
"Crime doesn't pay."
"Virtue is its own reward."
These maxims long since have been graduated into the category of truisms, universally accepted as incontrovertible. But consider this one:

"Social-mindedness in industry pays stockholder profits."
This expression of a social concept that frankly admits selfish benefits should not detract from the high-mindedness of the board program that is behind it. No one will begrudge the reaping of rewards from a sound social philosophy effectively promulgated.

This new maxim comes from one who should know whereof he is speaking—Paul Garrett, director of public relations of General Motors. His more complete expression on the subject was: "It will be through a greater degree of social-mindedness that industry can best expand its opportunities to serve people and pay stockholder profits. Previously, purely economic considerations too often determined success. Perhaps I should say that it is through its better understanding of these social responsibilities that industry must find its future for, if not through industry, how else can the insistent demands of people be satisfied?"

Mr. Garrett, speaking recently on "Industry's No. 1 Problem—Defined," gave this definition: "Good public relations is nothing more than good human relations multiplied endlessly." He listed three ears through which modern industry has evolved: the financial era—acquisition of capital and organization; the production era—integration of productive processes, leading down through the war period; the distribution era—developments in merchandising and advertising techniques, following the war.

"Fourth, then," the public relations director asserted, "we find ourselves in an era apparently where social values rank with economic values; where HOW a thing is done has assumed equal importance with WHAT is done."

"It is of the essence of public relations—and certainly this brings the subject down out of the academic realm—that industry must not only interpret itself in terms of others, but must operate broadly in their interest. A sound public relations program has its basis in sound management policies and sound management practices. It must provide actual, measurable benefits for employees, for the community, for suppliers, for customers. Only thus can it serve most profitably the owners of business."

Frozen Food Locker

Since the beginning of time not only necessity, but natural animal instinct has caused man to safeguard his food and to store away his various rations when they were in season. Man has always endeavored to provide himself with a means of existence during the season when food-stuffs were unobtainable or scarce and prohibitive in price.

Now, as always, man is endeavoring to store his surplus food safely and economically. Refrigerated lockers are the answer. Thousands of farmers and townspeople have discovered how and why to take advantage of the service and economy of the most needed and appreciated industry in any community. . . .

THE FROZEN FOOD LOCKER

THE CHILL ROOM

● First, it is to the Chill Room that carcass meats are brought for the removal of animal heat and for conditioning. Since this is the primary step in the proper preparation of meats, exact temperature and humidity are maintained. Correct humidity conditions are necessary to keep meats from drying out and discoloring.

The PROCESSING ROOM

● Second, in the Processing Room the carcass meats are prepared to the renter's orders. Here they are cut into steaks, chops and roasts; then wrapped identified, dated, and stamped with the owner's name or locker number. Any other desired processing operations may be undertaken here, such as making hamburger and sausage.

QUICK-FREEZE ROOM

● Third, the processed meats (as well as fruits, berries, vegetables and other items) are brought into the Quick-Freeze Room and placed upon the refrigerated shelves until completely frozen. This freezing preserves the flavor, tenderness and texture of the food products.

THE LOCKER ROOM

● Fourth, after being thoroughly frozen, the food products are placed in the proper lockers in the Locker Room. Here is where the foodstuffs will remain in bulk for long periods of time and they are constantly held at sub-freezing temperatures.

Arrange for a Locker NOW

For a few cents a day you can get a Frozen Food Locker. Enjoy fresh food the whole year 'round. It is with great pride and pleasure that we present the locker system to you. Reserve a locker now before it's too late.

FARM AND HOME WEEK RE-VIEWED BY MISS MORRIS

Mrs. Dean Collier invited the McFadden Homemakers to tea Thursday at her home on the Clinton-Hickman highway, honoring Miss Maude Morris, the club's delegate to Farm and Home Week which was held in Lexington, Ky., and which is a statewide conference to promote a more satisfying home life.

The afternoon was spent in a discussion by Miss Morris on the work done at this conference. She pointed out that the theme of the Women's Session at Farm and Home was "Building a satisfying Rural Life. To have a satisfying home we must have health, peace, and happiness. Also an opportunity to grow mentally, physically, and religiously. Then, too, have time for recreation, not recreation. Do not talk of being poor before children for they will get a spirit of defeat. Dr. Link says "What Shall America do for our youth? should be "What will our youth do for America?" Let our children get away from the "grime" idea, thus inducing them to go forward, doing things for themselves. "Come Let Us Be Joyful," a philosophy of recreation, was given by Mr. R. Bruce Tom, Extension Sociologist of Rural Organization,

Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Tom said "Take time to know, look, see, and forget about half. Look beyond self. Cultivate seeing beauty."

"The Homemakers As A World Citizen" by Signora Olivia Rossetti Agresti, an interpreter of League of Nations, a linguist, and an authoress. An interpreter, not only of languages but of people during the World War. Signora Agresti, with Mr. Lupin of Sacramento, California, went before the King of Italy with the idea that a farmer must be recognized, that nations rest upon the farmer. Within eight months the King of Italy called a meeting of thirty-six nations.

Dr. Frank L. McVey spoke on "The Meaning of Democracy". Dr. McVey, of the University of Kentucky, stated that the democracy is slow in reaching decision. People should have an understanding government. Democracy lives in hearts of the people. It is essential that we behave as if we believe in democracy. Be democratic if you want democracy. An attitude of love in our hearts for our fellow being makes a democracy.

At the conclusion of this very interesting discussion and review of Farm and Home by Miss Morris, Mrs. Dean Collier spoke briefly on books which should be read by members of this club and an article was also given from "Farm Family Outlook," major project.

During the afternoon Mrs. Collier served spiced tea and sandwiches to the following: Mesdames Ernest Carver, Othel Slayden, George Gordon, Herman Sams, Marion Daws, Wales Austin, and Miss Maude Morris. A tea guest was Maggie Mae Slayden.

LOCAL BOY ELECTED SECRETARY OF MURRAY CLUB

Ernest Jones, junior from Sedalia, was elected president of the Agriculture Club at a meeting Wednesday, February 22. Other officers chosen were: H. E. Brandon, sophomore, Hazel, vice-president; James Browder, junior, Fulton, secretary-treasurer; and Ross Brandon, junior, Dover, Tenn., club reporter.

The Agriculture Club is sponsoring a campaign to increase its membership and a committee composed of Charles Williams, Wayne Williams, and Lynnwood Morris was appointed to head the drive.

Plans for a social to be held jointly with the Home Economics Club were discussed. James Browder and Evan Routen were appointed as the social committee.

SCHOOL-AGE GROUP OF MOTHERS' CLUB

"The Fast Changing Job of Parenthood" was the subject of discussion at the monthly meeting of the school-age group of the Fulton Mothers' Club which was held this week in the home of Mrs. Roper Fields, Fourth Street.

The lesson was given by Mrs. J. C. Hancock who stressed the point that "we live in a world of bewildering change. Your relationship to your children must change and grow to keep step with the development and increasing needs for freedom. Children need the security that comes from at-homeness in their environment, from the sense of being loved and cared for and of having their own place in the world."

One new member, Mrs. Carl Puckett, was welcomed into the club. The next meeting of this group will be held in April with Mrs. W.

I Shupe at her home on College Street.

DRAMA DEPARTMENT PRESENTS PROGRAM AT WOMAN'S CLUB

The Drama Department was host to the monthly open meeting of the Woman's Club which was held yesterday afternoon in the club rooms, and presented a very enjoyable program.

The hostesses, Mesdames Don Hill, Warren Graham, J. C. Hancock and Bertie Pigue, graciously welcomed the good attendance of members and these visitors: Mrs. J. C. Scruggs, Miss Mayne Bennett, Mrs. J. W. Elledge, Mrs. Pearl Pigue of Water Valley, Misses Jane Allen, Florence LeGate, Betty Goldsmith, and Mary Mozelle Crafton. Pages were Mrs. Woodrow Fuller and Mrs. Wilmon Boyd.

A brief business session was held, presided over by the club president, Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr., and reports were made by the treasurer, Mrs. Don Hill, and librarian, Mrs. Wilmon Boyd. In the absence of Mrs. Mansfield Martin, Mrs. Charles Gregory made a report from the nominating committee and the following officers were announced to serve during 1939-40: Second vice-president—Mrs. Leon Browder; Fourth vice-president—Mrs. Robert Bard; Recording secretary—Mrs. Ruth Milner Hubbard.

Mrs. Fall made an announcement regarding the Junior Woman's Club's major project for this year, the fashion show to be presented at the Malco Fulton Theatre on March 8, and the proceeds will go for the benefit of the public library. Mrs. Fall also announced that the next meeting of the club will be held in the Baptist Church at which time the Music Department will present a program of organ and piano music.

The meeting was then turned over to the chairman of the Drama Department, Mrs. Bertie Pigue, who introduced Fulton High Girls' Trio, composed of Misses Alley, Goldsmith, LeGate, and accompanied by Miss Crafton. They very beautifully sang, "The Night Has A Thousand Eyes" by Noble Cain, and "The Dairy Maid" by Frank LeForge.

Miss Betty Hastings, in her usual charming and most interesting manner, reviewed the book, "All This and Heaven, Too" by Rachel Field. Miss Hastings is to be complimented on her splendid discussion of this book and the Drama Department appreciates a talent such as hers.

The choral club, under the direction of Mrs. M. W. Haws, sang, "Who Is Sylvia" by Franz Schubert and "Nursery Rhyme" by Pearl G. Buffan, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. L. Maddox.

This concluded the very enjoyable program and late in the afternoon the hostesses served a lovely ice course, decorated with shamrocks and other St. Patrick suggestions.

The club rooms were beautifully decorated with vari-colored spring flowers.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL WILL MEET
