The Telephone Operator of 55 Years Ago Recalls Early Operating Incidents

Back in the early 'eighties, when the telephone was still a novelty, there were relatively few telephone lines in the larger cities, and none at all in rural areas. Telephone operators were few and far between.

The operator at a telephone exchange would typically be a young woman. She would sit at a desk, surrounded by a myriad of switches and dials, and would answer calls to connect people.

One operator, Miss Florence T. Allen, began her career at the telephone exchange in New Bedford, Massachusetts, in 1882. She remained there for 55 years, until her retirement in 1937.

Announcement

"I Am Back In My Old Stand 448 Lake St."

I wish to announce to my many friends and customers that I have sold my Fulton Department Store, and will be found back at my old store, 448 Lake Street.

I wish to thank you for the fine patronage you have given me while operating my second store, and invite you to continue to visit me at my old store on Lake Street, where I have served thousands of satisfied customers in the past 17 years.

We have built our reputation upon the service, satisfaction and quality of the merchandise we sell.

We shall continue to bring you Ready-To-Wear, Clothing, Dry Goods and Footwear for the entire family in popular styles and at economical prices.

Remember the Location—448 Lake Street.

In the 395th Radio picture, "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," opening Sunday July 13 at Orpheum and 14 at the Columbia, William Powell plays Hubert, a dashing and dapper fellow who, like his wife, thinks highly of himself. His tiles become offensive when it seems more important to him to please his wife than to please any other woman. Near in a scene as a patient, he gets thrust into the midst of a murder mystery, and, like his friend, he has to save crimes which the police authorities label "baffling." Jean Arthur is co-starred with Powell, and to this is a romance, not a mystery, a situation which is rather amusing to the audience. Powell is the sort of man from whom the audience expects felicitous repartee.

The Palm Beach Screen Weave

The Palm Beach Screen Weave is one up on a cold tub...

We're showing something new in the famous Palm Beach Suits.

Screen Weave extra light, extra porous, and mighty handsome. The shades are smart and summery; so is the tailoring. Just the right follow-up for a cold tub or shower. It makes the morning splash more than a memory. It keeps the body cool all day.

You'll see the New Palm Beach Suits at their best this week. Darker shades for business, lighter shades for the weekend. Sports suits of authentic cut-in handsome white or club checks.

President Roosevelt, a democrat, pronounced the Supreme Court decision on the railroad pension acts in his annual message to Congress. He said the courts had no power to levy or collect taxes, and that the railroad pension acts were unconstitutional. The report pointed out that the Supreme Court had held that the states had no power to levy taxes to pay railroad pensions, and that the states had no right to levy or collect taxes to pay railroad pensions. The railroad pension acts were declared invalid by the Supreme Court, and the report recommended that the states be allowed to levy and collect taxes to pay railroad pensions.

The report also pointed out that the Supreme Court had held that the states had no power to levy taxes to pay railroad pensions, and that the states had no right to levy or collect taxes to pay railroad pensions.
