THE LISTENING POST

● Last Saturday I looked at my old typewriter, made a deep bow, not to say a salaam, and remarked to its unresponsive keyboard: "You may now go to thunder with my compliments. You have given me four columns in advance, and now I am going to leave you. I am not going to touch you or any other typewriter until next Wednesday or Thursday. Yes, you can go to thunder right now." Gosh, how rich and powerful I felt at the moment. I thought, however, there was a slight leer on the typewriter's face, for that machine knows I have been its slave for too many years to ever definitely escape.

● The machine is right, too. I will never escape as long as life lasts and on those rare occasions when I thumb my nose at my captor, both of us know it is only a gesture and only a brief parole. As stated, I was four days ahead and felt good. This morning I am behind the eight ball, with a linotype waiting for this column and a certainty that other days are crowding along, each—demanding the same thing. I have had my fling and the old typewriter seems to be looking at me with an evil glare and a pleased look about its chops—if it has chops.

● But I had my fling. For four days I have been on the loose. I even stayed a day longer than I intended just to show my home folks that I am not such a sissy that I always have to come running home after about twenty four hours. The only concession I made was one telephone call home, and that was justified by a matter of business.

● For four blessed days I never touched a typewriter or answered a telephone. Well, the telephone did ring a few times, too, but it was nothing connected with missing papers or errors in the paper, or anything like that. I never bought a newspaper, and read very little of them even accidentally. I just let the world go. I did not know until I got back home how the war was getting along, and did not keep up with baseball scores. I just lived as I pleased, except for the fact that I did have to attend some meetings and absorb some information about building and loan matters. Even here, however, I was as a stranger in a strange land. In my own meetings which I attend in Louisville I know most of the men who run newspapers over the state, but in these building and loan meetings I knew very few. There were some from Mayfield and perhaps another town or two who were known, but in the main it was gathering of strangers.

● But it had to end. Yesterday morning I woke up with a delightful feeling of going home. I had forgotten what day of the week it was and had to ask N. G. Cooke what month it was. After some study he surmised that it was still the merry month of May, and with these facts in mind we steered out of Louisville about noon and headed down towards God's country. I had enjoyed life to the fullest, there being few disappointments during the trip, but heading home I began to feel a great desire to get there. I did not object even when Bob White and Ernest Fall slammed the car up to 80 miles or more per hour, for all of us were really anxious to get back.

● But this morning, ah me, what a different feeling. These daily columns now loom up as stretching on and on into infinity, and I can hardly touch the right key on the old typewriter. No, not for the reasons you think—merely the fact of being out of practice.

May Try For Senate Seat In '42 Field

Road Commissioner Says Best Interests Served By Decision

Frankfort, Ky., —J. Lyter Donaldson announced tonight he would not oppose A. B. Chandler for the Democratic Senatorial nomination this year.

Whether by specifying "in 1940" he meant he might oppose Chandler for the full Senatorial term in 1942, and whether he would support Chandler in this year's primary campaign were questions the state highway commissioner left unanswered.

Ending speculation that had existed since mid-January, Donaldson issued the following brief statement before a group of newsmen, friends and state highway employees who crowded into his office:

"Best Interests Served
"Being convinced that it is to the best interest of my state, my party and the present state administration, and believing that I can better serve my people and that I can have greater opportunities to accomplish those things in governmental activities in which I have the most interest in Frankfort, rather than in Washington, I have concluded not to be a candidate for United States Senate in 1940, though not unmindful of the great interest that has been manifested in my possible candidacy."

"How about 1942?" he was asked. "That's my statement," he smiled and replied, and under further questioning added, "of course, I can't commit myself for 1942, '43 or '44—you wouldn't want me to plot my course for future years?"

Donaldson's demeanor had been solemn, but now he was smiling broadly under questioning. To the question "will you support Chandler?" Donaldson first replied: "he's the only candidate I know of," and later added "I can't commit myself."

Gov. Kenn Johnson, whose campaign Donaldson managed last year in both primary and election, had no comment to make on the development.

Roosevelt And Taft Monopoly Eliminates Ohio Primary Fight

Columbus, Ohio.—Ohio's fifty-two coveted votes in the national conventions—a prize for and Presidential aspirant—are sewed up for President Roosevelt and Senator Robert A. Taft.

If Mr. Roosevelt wants renomination Ohio's Democratic delegates will vote for him. They'll go to Chicago with favorite son Charles Sawyer, national committeeman, as first choice, but that's just to meet a State requirement, since the President's name is not entered. Sawyer is a third term advocate and controlling committees committed the delegation to Mr. Roosevelt.

Taft Lone Contender
Republican delegates are perched on the Taft bandwagon, not only because he's a leading national candidate. He's the lone contender of either party in the State's Presidential preference race. Taft got into it mainly to keep out

Tigers Beaten 7-5 By Hounds In First Game

Kitty League Season Is Formally Opened At Fairfield Yesterday

Mayors, city officials, baseball officials, Y. M. B. C. members, American Legion Color Guards, Fulton High Band, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Colored Scouts, Fulton and South Fulton grade students and others participated in the colorful parade to Fairfield yesterday afternoon, preceding the opening tilt of the 1940 Kitty League season, in which the Fulton Tigers were defeated by the Union City Greyhounds in a ragged game, 7-5.

Appropriate ceremonies and formations were carried out for the raising of the flag, with M. L. Parker in charge. Each of the Tigers was introduced to the fans after the introduction of Manager "Sunny Jim" Poole and members of the Fulton Ministerial Association spoke briefly.

All runs except one was scored in the first three frames and the game did not settle down to decent fielding or pitching until after that inning. Only 2 of Union City's 7 runs were earned while the Tigers scored all unearned runs. Welby "Perk" Madsen started on the mound for the local club while Averill Spohn did the hurling for the visitors.

In the first inning, after 2 were out, Mike Sacovich, U. C. third baseman, connected for a double and went to third when the ball went by John "Tex" Quick, in right field for the Tigers. Sacovich stole home. Another run came for the Greyhounds in the second inning when Jimmy Cookson, centerfielder, sent one for a ride over the fence for a home run, going over in right center.

In the last of the 2nd frame the Tigers scored their 5 runs and sent Spohn to the showers when he was relieved by Fisher. Jess Kosha, first baseman, led off with a hot single down the 3rd. base line and "Tex" Quick got a base on balls. Carl "Pappy" Yount, the catcher was safe when a throw was made for Kosha at third, Spohn threw wild. Madsen was safe on a fielder's choice when the pitcher again erred and two runs scored because of the error. With Yount and Madsen on base, Hensler, third baseman, flew out to center field, and Al Noulett, left fielder, was given a base on balls to fill the bases. Frank Filchuck sent a hard hit ball back against the fence to score all 3 runs, and that sent Spohn from the mound. Fisher then took over the hurling job for U. C., and held the Tigers to 2 hits for the remainder of the game, one of which was a double to the credit of Ralph Jesh, shortstop.

With the Tigers leading by 3 runs, the Greyhounds came back in the 3rd. to score 4 on errors by Ralph Jesh, "Perk" Madsen, and Tom Hensler, a base on balls, a double from the bat of Bill Gregor, U. C. leftfielder, and a single by U. C. manager and catcher, Charlie Martin. Their last tally came in the 9th, when Fisher led off with a triple and scored when Stanley Womack, shortstop, flew out to center field.

The Tigers go to Union City tonight for the second game with the Greyhounds at Turner field, beginning at 8 o'clock and appropriate opening ceremonies will be held there.

The home club comes home Friday.

ANOTHER HEMPHERE LINK

Within a month another link in the chain binding the western hemisphere into an economic unit is expected to be forged. The creation of the Inter-American Bank by five countries, Brazil, Columbia, Mexico, Nicaragua, and the United States, is likely to be accomplished soon.

This is a highly important step. It may result in an almost revolutionary change in financial and economic relations between the countries of the Americas.

This undertaking is completely different from the present Import-Export Bank. This not an undertaking of the United States, but a joint undertaking of the five countries, and perhaps later of others who may join. It will be more like the Bank for International Settlements.

It will be controlled by a board consisting of one member from each participating country. Capital will be subscribed by each in proportion to the dollar value of the foreign trade of each in 1938.

The object is broad—to promote trade between the Americas, to foster good will, to help stabilize currencies, to aid industrial development and monetary equilibrium.

Certain immediate results should follow: (1) It would be the first step on the part of the United States to redistribute its gold and silver among countries with which it seeks to stimulate trade and friendly relations. (2) It would tend to supplant private capital ventures in foreign fields by joint ventures of all American countries, thus minimizing clashes which have always been a source of diplomatic friction (as in the oil cases in Mexico at present). (3) It would tend to make less dependent on Europe. And all American countries know now that European trade and financial invasions are arms of the new imperialism.

If the American countries can together supply their own capital needs for expansion and industrial and economic progress, so much smaller is the chance of European penetration.

If it be argued that the United States faces a chance of once more holding the bag as the "rich uncle," let it be remembered that leadership in economic affairs is thrust into the hands of "rich nations" whether they like it or not.

It is only a question of whether they are willing to strike out boldly and exercise that leadership, or sit idly by while it crumbles away from them, to fall into the hands of those who will grasp it by pressure and violence for political ends. —Park City News.

IT COSTS TEN DOLLARS IN LITTLE RHODEY

It is reported that Rhode Island has passed a law which will assess a fine of ten dollars upon anyone found driving on worn tires. The idea is good. Just how it will work remains to be seen. It does seem queer though that we should have to have laws to make people do what their common sense ought to tell them to do, for the fellow who drives on worn tires is not only risking his own neck but the neck of everyone he meets on the road. Maybe now—in Rhode Island anyway—drives will find it cheaper to buy new tires than to pay a ten dol-

SUNSHINE AND SHADOWS

New York—Martin Buran surprised a prowler in a friend's room got chummy with him and invited him out for a drink.

While they stood at the bar, Buran's friend came in and in an aside conversation with Buran learned what was what. He excused himself, called the cops, and—

New London, Wis.—The Clark filling station was entered five times within a year and varying amounts of loot were taken. In the sixth burglary, robbers carried away the station's 500-pound safe.

Chicago—There ought to be a law, Judge Rudolph Desort believes, in this matter of newly-weds living with "the folks."

The judicial opinion was touched off by a divorce granted to a woman who told the court she and her husband lived with the latter's parents until she was told to leave.

"Flee your in-laws as you would the plague if you can't get along with them," advised the judge.

LESS FRICTION?

As we look around the country we seem to see signs that there will be fewer strikes and acute labor troubles this year than last. We don't want to be overly optimistic on this matter because there is still talk of plenty of trouble, but the point which impresses us is that both labor and industry seem to be anxious to settle their difficulties without resort to strike, and it is perfectly obvious that the public has lost all patience with the so-called jurisdictional strike and the so-called sympathetic strike. Labor and industry seem to be getting a clearer view of each other's problems and of their common interests.

MEMBERS GOING AWAY ARE HONORED AT CHURCH SUPPER

A pot-luck supper and "going away" party at the First Christian Church last night honored Mrs. Frank Henderson, Mrs. Lon Berninger and Mrs. Sebra Evans who will leave Fulton in the near future. The affair was given by the Christian Endeavor Society. Mrs. J. D. Ferguson, Mrs. Charles Andrews, Charles Gregory and Billie Stephenson.

Following the dinner a clerical contest was enjoyed in which Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander walked through the church basement as the guest were at the tables, her arms burdened with numerous articles. The person naming the number of articles she carried was declared winner. Mrs. Buckingham won the prize.

Those attending then assembled in the church auditorium for a most interesting program, in charge of Mrs. Ferguson, Woman's Council president, and Miss Virginia Howard, C. E. president. A number of school girls gave a vocal selection, followed with a solo by Mrs. J. B. Manley. Mrs. Ferguson then presented Mrs. Berninger, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Evans with lovely gifts from the church and its organizations. Appreciation for the cooperation and service from these three members was expressed by the minister and in turn each gave a short talk expressing appreciation for the gifts and fellowship in the church.

Dr. Hawkins closed the program with an exposition of the work being done by the local society with its fine attendance and good interest and made the announcement that the society will send two members to a summer conference. There delegates will be Miss Virginia Howard and Miss Betty Jean Bowles, secretary-treasurer.

IN MEMORY OF

OUR MOTHERS

I have reached an hour in my day of life when the downward gliding throws a lengthening shadow behind me. As the softening light touches here and there the path when I look back, I see with increasing clearness the personality of the one who held my hand and steadied my first uncertain steps upon that path—my mother.

There were dominant attitudes in her life which, more and more, I recognize as unordinary beyond the average. These stand out in retrospect as clearly as sculptured marble against a background of evergreen. From my full heart of gratitude to God for the richness of her influence, there comes an intense longing to extend that influence to touch the heart of every young mother of America today if it were possible.

A fact I wish every mother of young children could fully grasp is the fact that the mind of a child begins to be made up as soon as he or she understands words. May I give an instance to prove this statement. A between-four-and-five-year-old girl said to her mother, describing the man her favorite doll had just married, "He's as straight as a string, even if he is the most millionaire in New York. He believes in Prohibition and gives a hundred dollars to missions every Sunday." No one had talked to this child about any of these things but her mind was made up on four definite points. How? Entirely from conversations carried on in her hearing.

Mothers, are you careful as you can be while the white page of your child's mind is being marked that it is not also being marred. Mothers, try to impress on the child's mind that he must keep his blood stream free from nicotine and alcohol. What a reduction there would be in broken hearts, wasted lives, wrecked homes. Mother, if you could see the trusting face of your darling boy or girl as it might look fifty years from now, I beg you in the name of our heavenly Father, play safe. Help them to make up their minds so definitely on this matter of drink that when they are grown it will not even be temptation to them. Are you informed? Can you tell your child why alcohol and nicotine are dangerous.

SAXON CONTINUES INTERESTING SERMONS

Tuesday night there was a splendid congregation gathered at the First Methodist Church and listened intently to the pastor, Rev. W. H. Saxon, discuss what Peter called the Coming of the Holy Ghost as he quoted from Joel: "This is that which was spoken by the prophet, Joel; It shall come to pass in the latter days saith God that I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh." Then he proceeds to tell what will happen, according to this prophet and both assumes and asserts that it has already happened.

Refusing is the one thing in this world that makes people have some sense. Every dispensation of God has worked to that end and anything that makes people crazy, regardless of what pious name one may give it, is not the religion of Jesus Christ. If ever a man were filled and thrilled, washed and dropped, with the Holy Ghost it was Jesus. If ever a man were well poised mentally it was Jesus. Jesus simply refused to fit into any picture of insanity men may manufacture for Him. You simply cannot imagine Jesus as handling snakes, sitting down on a red hot stove or taking poison to prove to a curious world that He was filled with the Holy Ghost. Always He replied to the demands of the world for such things that no sign would be given them and always he replied to the Tempter of such, "get the behind Me Satan." Yet there are people today who try such things and call it Christianity!

This prophet says that the lowest of the lowly will come in for a large part in the Kingdom of God.

Weather Inquiries Leave Firemen Hot

Manitowoc, Wis.,—Fire Chief John Gaedke wants it understood that the fire station is no weather bureau. It seems that residents suffering from insomnia have taken to calling the station in the middle of the night to inquire about the temperature.

Every time the telephone rings, Gaedke complains, 15 firemen leap from their beds, jump into their boots, pull up their trousers and slide down the brass pole—to hear someone ask what about the weather.
