Senate Votes To End FDR's Silver Buying
Panes Pittman Bill Over Impassioned Barkley

Barkley declared that this was the first time to dispute world monetary policies or to give nations a chance to adopt a common currency.

Bill would provide a gold standard, and United States would be left to adopt its own currency at a later time. Barkley and Democrats opposed the bill, while Republicans and some others favored it.

Physician who signed the bill was a writer for a Sunday newspaper and was a member of the opposition party. He said he could not support the bill, but did not say why.

When the bill was introduced, it was presented to the House by Speaker Barkley, and was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On the second day, he left for a trip to Louisville and never returned.

A VAST ENTERPRISE

It was the pleasure of the writer during the past few days to get a mental picture of what building and loan organizations are doing over the entire United States. For many years we have known of the significant work being done by the local institution but no idea "how" of the scope of the national movement. During the week of the 9th to the 15th of this month we attended a joint meeting of the state organization and the national organization, the Southeastern Group, which embraces a considerable territory, and heard not only speakers from all parts of the country, but representatives from other countries.

We have attended many conventions, most of them being newspaper workers, of course, but this convention was a different type completely. Looking at the delegates as they went to and from the hotel, studying them in the business sessions, one got a pretty definite conviction that they were a high type, alert and visionary men. The speakers were convincing as they demonstrated the various methods of addressing the welfare of the building and loan associations, and the delegates who were there were aware of all the advances that have been made in this work. It can readily be seen that the men who work separately that they are deeply interested in building and loan work and that they really understand what is going on.

One address which struck the writer forcibly was made by H. F. DeMyer, of Peoria, Illinois. He was speaking on the subject, "Appraisal Problems of a Recovery and Boom Period." Mr. DeMyer, evidently a man who knows appraisal problems thoroughly, gave his audience much to think of. He showed clearly that a practical program can only be worked out where a period of years can really indicate such details as early as 1925 foretold the competition that has come into building and loan associations, is more convinced than ever that it is a great mistake to be affiliated with a strong, influential national organization. The buildings and loan associations appear to have a firm grip on the entire nation and it is a splendid thing for the country.

Tigers Donate Game To Hounds In Early Rounds

In the second game of the United States Baseball League, the Tigers were on the scene with gifts in the early morning. The game was exciting. The Hounds ran for the Hounds to win, 9 to 6. In the late innings, however, the Tigers took a mighty notion to take the game back and were knocked hard at the doors of opportunity, driving in four runs in the eighth, ninth, and tenth, and being voted with great difficulty 2 runs of the winning run in the eleventh. The final score was 9 to 6. The game was a thrill in giving and receiving appreciation. So choose one of the many gifts and know that friendship and Springtime is all Swift's Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream.

Taste this delightful mingling of cream and strawberries, frozen into a miracle of deliciousness! When Swift's Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream melts in your mouth, it's like eating the fragrant strawberries among vines and green leaves wet with dew. These ruby-red Beauties have just been danced and blended with the purest of cream—to make a thrill in giving and receiving appreciation. This is not strange, for Sterling is fine beer—itself gently blended with the purest of cream to make a delight in giving and receiving appreciation.
