640 MILLION DOLLARS have been invested in new railway trackwork alone in the last six years.
The Fulton County News, Fulton, Kentucky

Citizens of Fulton August 12, 1906

And Vicinity.

The month of August has been designated by the livestock associations as "meat packer's month" as a period to feature Beef and Veal sales for that month. This nation-wide, so we are asking all our customers and friends to join in with us to push the sales of beef and veal as we have never done before, and to encourage our patrons to eat more beef than they ordinarily do. The purpose of this is to encourage the raising of more livestock at satisfactory prices.

At this time most all meat markets are handling the highest grade beef and veal to be had. Always call for the Reelfoot brand of shade storage beef and you will never have cause for complaint of the quality.

Important Factors in Brooder Fittings

There are three important factors which must be considered in setting up the right kind of apparatus for raising your young stock.

1. Accurate Fronts: The fronts should be the correct size and shape for the birds being raised. They should be made of strong, hard wood and be well fitting. The openings should be large enough to allow the birds to move around comfortably, but not so large that they can escape.

2. Ventilation: The fronts must be properly ventilated to allow fresh air to enter and to expel stale air. This is especially important when the birds are young, as they are very sensitive to changes in the air.

3. Insulation: The fronts must be insulated to retain heat during the winter months. This can be done by adding a layer of insulation material to the inside of the fronts, or by using a special type of wood that is naturally insulated.

Creating a Good Environment

A good environment for raising young stock is essential. It should be clean, dry, and well-ventilated. The temperature should be kept at a constant level, and the humidity should be controlled.

Breed Selection

Choosing the right breed of bird is crucial. Each breed has its own unique characteristics that make it suitable for specific purposes.

- Meat Birds: These birds are raised for their meat and are best suited for large-scale commercial production.
- Egg Laying Birds: These birds are raised for their eggs and are best suited for small-scale production.
- Dual-Purpose Birds: These birds are a hybrid of meat and egg-laying birds and are best suited for smaller-scale production.

Care and Feeding

Proper care and feeding are essential for the success of raising young stock. They should be fed a balanced diet that meets their nutritional needs. Regular health checks are also important to ensure their well-being.

Conclusion

Raising young stock requires careful planning and attention to detail. By considering factors such as breed selection, care and feeding, and creating a good environment, you can ensure the success of your venture.

Silage and Dairy Products

A bumper crop should be ensiled and, if necessary, carried over for several years. There is no reason why a great drought should cause such a fearful loss. The proper use of the silo would prevent the over-production of corn as grain. It is estimated that we need one million more silos in the United States if we use them as Wisconsin is now doing.

Poultry-Dairying and Agriculture

Livestock and other farm exhibits are expected to be finest in the history of the Fair because of the large number of entries from all over the country. The fair horse stake, which will be one of the most important events of the season, will be held on September 14th and ending with the world's largest horse race.

Mile Markers

The Mile Marker is a useful tool for keeping track of progress. By placing markers along the route, you can easily keep track of how far you have traveled and how much farther you have to go.

Miss Elizabeth King was married to Mr. Ted Garvin, Jr., at the First Baptist Church on Saturday, Aug. 25. The wedding was performed by the Rev. Dr. Bartins. The couple will return to their home in Paducah.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of Mathias. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Garvin of Mathias.

The wedding party included the following:

Bride: Miss Elizabeth King
Groom: Mr. Ted Garvin, Jr.
Matron of Honor: Mrs. Mildred Garvin
Maid of Honor: Miss Linda Garvin
Ushers: Mr. Jack Garvin and Mr. John Garvin

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple plans to make their home in Paducah.

The wedding was a joyful occasion for all. The bride and groom were beaming with happiness as they exchanged their vows. The guest list was long and the atmosphere was filled with love and celebration.

The wedding was a beautiful ceremony, and the reception was a wonderful celebration of love and commitment.

The bride and groom were the picture of happiness as they cut their wedding cake. The wedding cake was a beautiful centerpiece for the reception, and the guests were thrilled to enjoy a slice.

The couple thanked everyone for their kind words and wishes. They were overjoyed to begin their new life together.

The wedding marked a special occasion for the couple and their families, and everyone was filled with joy and excitement for the future.

The couple plans to spend their honeymoon in a romantic setting, away from the hustle and bustle of their everyday lives.

The couple and their families are grateful for the love and support they received during this special time in their lives. They are looking forward to a bright and happy future together.

Washington—There seems to be little doubt any longer that Presidents Roosevelt and Coolidge are getting ready to make some changes in their respective administrations. The President recently had a career of his own in the railroads department and it is well known that he is interested in the subject.

In this connection, the President told the railroad men that he

Olympic Games Formally Opened in Berlin

With the heaviest entertainments, the games were opened by a signal given by a gong in the Panathenaic stadium when a great pine caromed the ground. The field was said to have been the scene of the ancient Olympic games. The Panathenaic stadium was filled with spectators from the opening ceremonies, which started from Greece, and the Greek riding master was acknowledged the best of the world.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

"You mustn't worry, dear. I'm sure it's nothing, not now—too much to-day.
"It's all right, Mother. I'm going to take a ride with no. I know it's nothing."

"No, dear, don't. You've had enough. Let me go."

"Oh, no, Mother, you can't."

"I know, dear. I know. I've been talking to him."

"Who?"

"Your father."

"What did you talk about?"

"Your father."

"Oh, he's coming, Mother."

"Yes, dear, I know."

"I'm going to ride with no."

"I know, dear."

"Oh, Mother, I don't like it."

"Don't worry, dear."

"I know, Mother."

"Oh, dear, dear, how foolish I was"

"No, no, dear."

"I'm not going to ride with no."

"I know, dear."

"Oh, dear, dear, what a mistake."

"No, dear, dear."

"I'm not going to ride with no."

"I know, dear."

"Oh, dear, dear, I'm not going to ride with no."
