THE LISTENING POST

● I called on a fellow publisher in a neighboring town some days ago—a man with whom I had no previous acquaintance. I have known of him for some time, and had formed some opinions of him by the things which he writes from week to week, but in some ways he surprised me with his unorthodox beliefs. All in all, he proved an interesting character, although there were not many points on which our minds—if any—could meet.

● This publisher, and I will not name him, is a confirmed fatalist. He holds to the theory apparently that every human action has been foreordained from the beginning of time, which is pretty good Primitive Baptist and perhaps Presbyterian doctrine, although he seemingly makes no pretense of any formal religion. That is more or less of a paradox, it appears to me, for such a fatalistic belief presupposes some divine power—or at any rate, so I hold. I have never been very strong on foreordination, being rather on the order of an old time Indian scout I heard of years ago.

● This Indian scout, spending most of his time in hostile country, with daily exposure to death at the hands of enemy tribes, professed to believe that everything was pre-determined and that when a man's time came to die he would die, so what the heck? Yet he always carried his carbine and his six shooter and his scalping knife. One day some of his friends grew curious about the matter, and asked him, if he believed he would live until his time came and there was nothing he could do about it, asked him why, then, he always carried his weapons.

● There was a grim twinkle in the scout's eyes as he made his drawing answer: "Well, you see, as I go about in Indian country I am always running into Indians whose time has come, and I am the instrument to carry out that decree."

● This publisher refuses to be alarmed over the European situation. He holds that this nation has grown so fat, lazy and slothful that it must be "purified by fire," as he expressed it. He adds that now is just as good a time as any for this process to take place. "Why this is the most interesting period in our national history," he exclaimed. "Don't you think so? Isn't it interesting to you?"

● Well, I must confess that there are many things which might prove interesting but which I do not wish to see. I have an idea that it might be interesting to fly above the battlefields of France and see the fighting going on below. Merely flying in a plane would be interesting to me, but I have no desire to probe this interest. Or, it would no doubt be interesting to arrange for a major operation and taking a "local," be permitted to watch the surgeons as he went about his job. But none of these things are so interesting that I want to see them.

● Nor can I regard the "purification of this nation by fire" with any great composure, interesting though it might be. I have heard that expression many times, and one time I remember as a child some other boy told me, when I had hurt my hand that it should be burned to prevent infection. I did not have much sense then, and that day I held that wound momentarily to a flame. Since then I have held no brief for purification by fire. That was my sole burnt offering and I have never forgotten it.

● Further, this fellow publisher says that it doesn't matter a hoot what happens, in any event. "The world will go along as though nothing had happened," he said "It may be inconvenient for a lot of us here now, but the next generation will look back at us pityingly and say 'what fools they were,' and then go right along being the same

President Roosevelt, In Fireside Talk, Tells Nation Of Dangers Here From 5th Column Activities

Urges Nation To Be On Guard Against Foreign Foes In Sabotage Efforts

Washington. —President Roosevelt warned the Nation tonight to be on guard against the "undiluted poison" of foreign forces which, he said, seek to disunite the people and to disrupt the preparedness program by creating dissension.

Reporting on the state of the Nation's defenses in his fourteenth radio "fireside chat," Mr. Roosevelt called upon private industry for "the best speediest and most efficient mass production of which it is capable" and offered Governmental financial aid if it is needed.

On top of the billions now receiving the approval of Congress, he said he would not hesitate to ask for more defense funds if they prove necessary, renewed his pledge not to surrender "the great social gains" made in recent years, and urged protection for the consumer against any rise in the cost of living.

As for the Nation's present defenses, he disputed all contentions that billions spent for that purpose had "gone down the rathole." As a matter of fact, he said, the Navy is stronger now than at any other peace-time in history, the Army had been vastly strengthened and the Air Corps has grown and developed. To help the Administration direct the big industrial program involved in arming the Nation against any eventuality, Mr. Roosevelt said, "Patriotic Americans of proven merit and unquestioned ability in their special fields are coming to Washington to help the Government with their training, experience and capability."

● The President spoke from the "diplomatic cloak room," on the basement floor of the White House, beneath the south portico. He was surrounded by radio men, photographers and a few friends specially invited to hear him in person.

Julius Spillers, Hickman, had his tonsils removed today.

● Nor did this attitude bring a great deal of comfort. I feared that perhaps he had something there. It sounded very much like true human nature.

Kentucky Employers Must Pay Larger Amount To Unemployment

Frankfort, Ky. —Approximately 9,000 Kentucky employers face the prospect of paying an additional three-tenths of one per cent of their annual payrolls because of a Court Appeals decision having an effect tantamount to cutting off a $750,000 annual grant to the State Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Beginning July 1, the employers are being notified, they must pay the additional sum to provide the commissioner's operating expenses. Robert Hensley, commission counsel, estimated the increase would total about $1,000,000 a year.

The Court of Appeals ruled yesterday the $1,040,000 contributed by Kentucky railroad workers before federal unemployment insurance

RED CROSS CALL

The call of the American Red Cross to raise $400 in Fulton for the European Emergency Relief has been given and Fultonians always responsive to the calls of this worthy organization, have planned a concerted drive for Thursday morning of this week at 9 o'clock.

Every person should make a contribution, no matter how small it may be. The Leader is glad to join with the Red Cross committee in making this appeal for this emergency situation so graphically described by President and Mrs. Roosevelt in their Sunday afternoon radio appeals to the general public.

Let us make this drive a big success. It has been done with a united effort on the part of our citizenry. The terrible sufferings of war stricken peoples calls for action on the part of every public spirited citizen of this and every other community.

WE MUST NOT FAIL THE RED CROSS IN THIS EMERGENCY SITUATION

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of Union Cumberland Presbyterian Church was held last week at the home of Mrs. Elbert Bondurant, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, with 17 members and 7 visitors present.

The Aid meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. C. Lawson. The meeting was opened with a song, "Love And Help Each Other." The minutes were read and rolled by the secretary, Miss Clarice Bondurant. Other reports were given and officers were elected. After a year of excellent work, the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. C. Lawson, president; Mrs. C. R. Burnett, vice-president; Miss Clarice Bondurant, secretary; and Mrs. Tom Bell, treasurer.

The meeting adjourned and turned over to the Missionary Society with Mrs. C. R. Burnett presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Clyde Burnett. The devotional service was led by Sam Lovelace of Union City, followed with prayer and a song. Mr. Lovelace and Mrs. Jim Bruce rendered a duet. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Burnett, president; Mrs. Daisie Bondurant, vice-president; Mrs. Elbert Bondurant, secretary; Mrs. Malcolm Inman, treasurer; and Hebert Howell, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Fred Worth took a check on goals for the convention, following with a Bible study from the book of John using the subject "Witnessing For Christ."

The meeting was closed with prayer. Visitors present Mesdames Ernest Huffman, Nallor Ward Burnett, Kenneth Oliver, Joyce Bondurant, Tom Stallins, Jim Bruce of St. Louis, and Mr. Lovelace of Union City.

was provided for them must remain in the state commission's works fund.

The court rescinded an earlier order for the money to be returned to the workers and prohibited specifically its payment to the federal fund for use for the commission's administrative expenses.

Unless the Kentucky congressional delegation succeeds in its effort to amend the federal railroad workers' unemployment insurance law, the state will lose its annual federal grant of $750,000 for administrative expenses.

Under the federal act, the Social Security Board can stop its annual grant until the total withheld balances the $1,040,000.

State Assessments Are Raising County Taxes—Census Is Studied

Frankfort, Ky. —County taxes are being raised by State Revenue Department assessments and half a dozen Kentucky cities may be in position to increase their tax rates after the federal census returns are in.

The Revenue Department, Commissioner H. Clyde Reeves said, is working toward the day when counties will tax property at 100 per cent of its value and has been busy for the last two weeks discussing its tentative assessment increase with county officials.

The census returns are expected to enable some cities whose governing bodies wish to do so to raise more money by upping the tax rate itself.

Bowling Green Grows
Bowling Green with a 1930 official population of 12,348, was shown in preliminary 1940 census reports to have grown to something over 14,500. If it tops 15,000, its city tax rate could be increased from the present $1 per $100 to $1.50—the maximum for any population.

Five other cities—Corbin, Dayton, Jenkins, Mayfield and Winchester—had more than 8,000 population ten years ago, and if they are shown to have passed the 10,000 mark, their tax rate could be raised to $1 from the present 75 cents.

Preliminary reports to show whether any of them have achieved sufficient growth to top 10,000 were not available here, however. Bowling Green appeared to be the only city in the state with a chance to climb above the 15,000 mark.

Plans Are Made For Red Cross Drive Thursday

This morning in the Woman's Club room an important Red Cross meeting was held for the purpose of arranging a drive to be held Thursday, May 30 beginning at 9 o'clock, to solicit European Civilian Relief funds. Supt. J. O. Lewis, chairman of the Fulton chapter of the American Red Cross, presided at the meeting this morning, and introduced Anne Byrd Vaughan, field representative of the American Red Cross, from Richmond, who graphically described to the members of the assembled local committee the dire need for immediate funds in the European situation. Acting upon her suggestion and that of Chairman Lewis the board elected Joe Davis chairman of the drive and Dr. Don P. Hawkins, vice chairman, and set the time for Thursday of this week.

Various teams were named by Chairman Davis and these will be notified at once, that a whirlwind campaign may start Thursday morning.

It was explained that all European nations are to be helped except Germany and Russia and Japan in Asia, these three having sent word to the Red Cross that they did not need their assistance.

Chairman Davis and his committee are urging a contribution, no matter how small, on the part of every citizen of the community to meet this emergency call. Many Sunday listeners to appeals from Washington by President Mrs. Roosevelt and other national leaders of the dire need for immediate help.

It is believed that Fulton's quota of $400 may be easily reached in the concerted drive Thursday morning if every citizen will do his part in making it a success. Chairman Davis said this morning that in case the various committees do not call on citizens that they are urged to give their contributions to Mrs. Mary Boyd at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, or leave it at the Leader office or the City Coal Co.

Local Girl Is Initiated Into Cwens

Miss Myrtle Binkley, daughter of Mrs. Chester Binkley of this city, was recently initiated into Cwens, national sophomore women's honorary society, at the University of Kentucky. She was reelected secretary of the University Home Economics club also.

Miss Binkley is a freshman at the University this year and is a student in the College of Agriculture.

Rate City's Affair

Whether the city councils take advantage of the state tax rate regulations depends entirely upon them, Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman said.

"The state law does not make such increases mandatory," he explained, "and the tax in question is exclusive of school taxes which are limited to 50 cents on the $100."

State law limits the city tax rate to 5 cents per $100 in cities of less than 10,000; to $1 in those between 10,000 and 15,000, and to $1.50 in all over 15,000. Taxation by districts, such as those supporting schools, levies and drainage, are limited to 50 cents per $100.

Commissioner Reeves said the Revenue Department, which fixes franchise assessments for the counties under a 1936 act, had raised them to 80 per cent of actual value and was endeavoring to get the counties up to "an 80 per cent average" for property taxes. He said the present average was 75 per cent.

"About one third of the counties to which we sent tentative assessment schedules do not protest," he added. "Of the others who do, about one in ten has a real protest. Many simply come here to make a showing before the home folk."

Reeves added that where county officials have shown "good reasons" that the assessment fixed by the department was too high, it has been reduced.

Boulogne Falls Before Thrust Of Armored Nazi Columns After Hard Fight

Mrs. J. W. Hackett Dies Sunday After Suffering Fall

Mrs. Margaret Letitia Hackett, wife of J. W. Hackett, 76 years of age, died yesterday morning at her home on Norman street, after a brief period of illness. A week before she suffered a fall which resulted in a broken hip, and while the injury seemed to be mending a weakened heart was the direct cause of death.

Funeral services will be held from the First Methodist Church tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, with Pastor W. H. Saxon in charge. In the meantime the body will remain at the Hornbeak Funeral Home until one o'clock, when it will be carried to the church to lie-in-state preceding the funeral services.

Active pall bearers will be Ernest Fall, Joe Davis, J. W. Stockdale, Leon Browder, Smith Atkins and Hoyt Moore. Honorary pall bearers named included Joe Bennett, R. H. Wade, A. G. Baldridge, J. E. Hanneppin, M. I. Boulton, K. P. Dalton, Dick Bard, Tom Boaz, L. S. Phillips, Frank Cole, Tom Franklin and Walter Joyner. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Hackett, born November 20, 1863, in Obion County, near Fulton, was the daughter of the late John and Mary Welch Roach, and practically her entire life has been spent in Fulton. She was married to J. W. Hackett on January 10, 1886, and their companionship through all these years has been ideal. Mr. Hackett, with one daughter, Mrs. Oral Margaret Rogers of Boise, Idaho, survive. One grandson, James H. Rogers of Boise, also survives, with a brother, L. B. Roach of Austin, Texas. A niece, Mrs. Wade Cunningham, of El Paso, will arrive tomorrow to attend the funeral.

For many years Mrs. Hackett aided her husband in his business. The two operated one of the busiest grocery stores in the city for many years, and while both devoted much of their time to this business, they never failed to give full attention to their duties as citizens and church workers. In the Methodist church, which Mrs. Hackett joined in early life, she was a tower of strength for many years, and in recent years, since retiring from active business Mrs. Hackett has been a prominent figure in all woman's work in the church.

Perhaps the keynote of Mrs. Hackett's life might be called kindness. During her long life she was always interested in her friends and neighbors and was never too busy to be doing something for them. During those years many different young people had apartments in her home, and in those people she never lost interest. Particularly was this true with children who happened to live in her home, and one of the most characteristic things of her entire life came a few days before her death. One of the youngsters she had known from babyhood days was to graduate at the time she was confined in the hospital. From that bed she sent him a graduating gift.

Fulton will miss Mrs. Hackett, for she has been a vital part of community life for so many years that the town can hardly realize that her gentle, kindly life has ended. For "Mr. Billie," the grief stricken husband, and for the daughter the sincere sympathy of the entire community is extended.

DR. FOGUE COMING

Dr. Francis Fogue of Murray State Teachers College will talk to the Fulton Rotary Club tomorrow on the "International Situation in Europe." Dr. Fogue studied in Europe during the year 1938-39 and is well informed on the present situation.

Paris. —The ancient port city of Boulogne on the English Channel fell to the German invaders today after a bitter siege and fighting in the streets but a military spokesman declared stubborn Allied resistance had stalled at least temporarily the German surge through France and Belgium.

The French High Command's night communique acknowledged that Boulogne was captured after the garrison there held out for days against overpowering German forces massed around the stronghold. Germans Assemble On Beaches, Charge Into City.

German armored columns led the assault. They rushed through their narrow corridor to the sea, assembled on the fine sand beaches and charged into the streets of the city.

French troops still held out this morning in the old citadel dominating the city, which was fortified in the Seventeenth Century by Marshall Vauban, builder of Verdun and other celebrated forts. The small band of French soldiers prevented the Germans from completing occupation of the port. The fate of the garrison was not announced.

The Germans reached the Boulogne region Thursday.

French Fight to End In Streets of Boulogne.

British forces there withdrew to a new line farther north but the French resisted to the end, fighting in the ancient slate-roofed stone houses and on the narrow, winding streets.

The loss of Boulogne was a heavy blow. The city, a British base in the World War, was an important port for traffic between France and England. Its 60,000 inhabitants thrive on the fishing industry.

Calais, the next German objective to the north was reported here to be still in Allied hands, despite the German High Command's claim it had been captured.

In the fighting between the Aisne and Meuse Rivers, the French reported, "entire sections of German infantry" were "mowed down" by the French fire.

French Claim Advances

The Allied forces are attempting to close the twenty-mile bottleneck, bounded by the Bapaume and Peronne sectors, through which the Germans rushed to the sea. The military picture drawn here by authorities indicated that the general position of the lines running from Belgium to Northern France had not changed materially in the last day.

Library Drive Held Tomorrow

The drive for library funds will be held tomorrow and early in the morning workers will canvas the city asking for donations to the library fund. The library board is composed of Mrs. Wilmon Boyd, Mrs. J. E. Fall, Mrs. P. R. Binford, Mrs. Walter Willingham and Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Jr.

Members of the Woman's Club who will assist in the drive are Mesdames Moselle Terry Smith, W. M. Atkins, Clint Reeds, Vester Freeman, Sam Winston, R. M. Belew, Aaron Butts, Walter Voelpel, Ira Little, Hendon Wright, Jack Edwards, Charles Robert Bennett, Joe Hall, James Warren, Mansfield Martin, J. E. Fall, Jr., Ward Bushart and Miss Mary Catherine Bondurant.

DIES IN HOUSTON

C. W. Dickey, 61 years of age, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home in Houston, Texas, and burial will take place there tomorrow. Mr. Dickey was a brother of Mrs. J. W. Fenwick and Mrs. W. H. McAnally of this city.

Editorial

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Many intelligent people in this nation are carefully examining our national political scene in connection with the impending defense program, and there can be no doubt that many honest opinions will emerge without reference to partisan politics. It is to be earnestly hoped that any defense program which may be adopted will make use of the highest intelligence we have without regard to party labels. It is deeply unfortunate and it may be tragic that the question of a third term for a President should come before the American people at such a critical period in the history of the world.

(This writer, in order to forestall any criticism or any accusation of evading or hedging, will say flatly that he will never vote for any man for a third term for the Presidency. It is something entirely foreign to our belief and something which we cannot endorse. That way lies dictatorship.)

Much opinion is now being expressed that the present President should at once renounce any third term ideas. It is true that this comes mostly from the Republican side, but one can find many life long Democrats who have no love for a third term for any man. Governor Landon, defeated candidate for the Presidency four years ago, recently called on the President for such a statement—without tangible results of course. It would be natural for a Democratic President to heed not the words of a Republican candidate, but this question will become more acute as the national conventions meet, and an open fight over the issue may do the Nation untold damage. At this critical hour, when all our energies need to be devoted to the problem of national defense, and perhaps even to active help of the faltering Western Democracies, such a bitter fight might lead to untold consequences. In the World War we did not have a national election at such a critical time. It is true that we did enter the war shortly after Woodrow Wilson was reelected for his second term, but none of the dangerous conditions which now confront us were present in 1916.

One can hardly blame Governor Landon for declining to be interested in any sort of coalition arrangements when such coalition seems to mean endorsement of a third term for any man. Many other Republicans will have the same feelings about the matter, and thousands of Democrats will go along with them. This is, of course, a strange time. There are problems which this nation has never encountered before. There are uncertainties which may become certainties before the election is held. Perhaps our national leaders are confused over the triple problems of the defense program, the national election and the third term issue.

But whatever the problem, and no matter how many of us feel, one fact stands out. That is, America must be made safe. America must not be caught in the condition which France and England have encountered. Whatever it takes to avoid that bitter lesson must be done at whatever cost, and if it be necessary to forget partisan politics that must be done. The world is in a flux today and what lies in the future no man can say. Some close observers claim that the President could render the greatest patriotic service

"ENGLISHMEN SHALL NEVER BE SLAVES"

"Englishmen shall never be slaves" has been the boast of Englishmen for nearly 900 years. Yet Adolf Hitler, who began by making slaves of his own people, has in effect destroyed the British boast.

The British people voluntarily accepted an absolute dictatorship, when Parliament voted approval of an emergency war measure on Wednesday giving the government full power to conscript wealth and labor in the defense against German might.

Under this law, no worker may quit his present job without permission; his wages and even his job are prescribed for him. Private property is no longer under the owner's control. The government may use all wealth in whatever manner it finds necessary for the national defense, destroying property, closing business, directing what shall be produced and how.

The English guarded their traditional liberties jealously, tenaciously, until the last possible moment. They refused to inaugurate universal military training, in the face of a militarized continent, until this war began. They permitted an almost peace-time civil liberties situation until the recent fifth-column developments abroad forced their recognition that such liberties are likely to be dangerously abused in war-time.

Now the threat of invasion has forced the English to relinquish all they have fought and died for centuries in the way of democracy. The instinct of self-preservation has risen above the instinct for freedom. Britain has sacrificed individual liberty in order that it may continue as a free nation. Her people are slaves now, to necessity. But that is not an ignominious slavery.—Sun-Democrat.

Minneapolis—Every man has his limit of patience and in Andrew Olson's case it involved his shoes.

Olson's told the court that Alvin Moe first stole all his food and his alarm clock. Olson forgave him when he returned the clock, but when Moe subsequently stole his shoes it was too much. The court thought so, too, and sentenced Moe to 30 days.

right now by publicly renouncing any third term ambitions; others say he is vitally necessary for the defense program. The chances are that neither premise is entirely correct, and if we can find the middle ground we will make progress.

STUDENT GROUP URGES "FREE" COLLEGE PRESS

Hamilton, N. Y. — Suppression of the campus press by "dictatorial" methods of college administration and faculty supervision is condemned in a resolution adopted by the National Student Federation of America at its conference here.

Other resolutions urged academic freedom for faculty members regardless of social or religious beliefs, and denounced the New York City board of higher education for failing to support Bertrand Russell in his fight to serve on the C. C. N. Y. faculty.

Miss Janet Skinner of Adelphi College, Garden City, N. Y., was named federation president.

Paducah Gets Break To Defeat Tigers Here Yesterday 7 To 5

The Paducah Indians made it two out of three yesterday by winning a nip and tuck battle 7 to 5. Apparently easy winners in the beginning, the Indians had to use all the breaks that came along, and they were many, to finally win, and twice a Tiger single would have changed the complexion of the game.

Perhaps the greatest break of the game for the Indians came in the seventh inning. In that frame, with the score knotted at three-all, Paducah filled the bases with two outs. The hitter lifted an easy fly to Frank Filchok in center, and all the fans felt a sense of great relief as Frank started after the ball. Just as he seemed set his feet flew out from under him and down sat Frank in the grass, the ball rolling on for a double and two runs clattered across the plate, to be followed by another a moment later on an infield hit.

Paducah jumped Hoppe for a pair of runs in the first frame on a single, a triple and another single from Blasco, Kramer and Grissom. This Kramer, Paducah first sacker, was in the Tigers' hair all afternoon, driving out three hits, including a triple and a double.

Hoppe lasted five innings before being relieved by a pinch hitter, and Bunkin got in in time to lose the game, as the Tigers tied the score after he began pitching. He also went out for a pinch hitter, and curiously, the two pinch hitters both hit safely. Lockman, hitting for Hoppe, banged a single to drive in two runs, and big Harry Sprute poled a double to drive in one run. Hensler, another pinch hitter, was hit by a pitched ball.

McGlothlin, a lefty, started for Paducah and lasted six innings. Kulp relieved him and got credit for the game.

The Tigers play a double bill in Mayfield today, the first one starting at two o'clock this afternoon and the other at night. Tomorrow night they will play in Union City, and on Wednesday night the Hounds come here for a game.
