SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 6

AMOS 9:17

"And I will set a corn hydrant in the land; I will pour waters into the dry ground; I will pour my spirit upon My people, and they shall prophesy. And I will multiply upon them the language of the circumcised, and it shall become to them for a figure of speech and for a shadow; after that they shall administer the corn hydrant among the Gentiles; and they shall recompense them."—Amos 9:17, 18.

The above passage is a prophecy from the Old Testament of the Bible, and it is a key text for a Sunday School lesson. The lesson could focus on understanding the metaphorical language of the circumcised and the prophecy of the corn hydrant, as well as its historical context.

Kentucky Utilities Company

Electric Power!

A consumer-owned industry.

Says Halie Fiske, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"There can be no double doubt that light and power distribution is a most important aspect of our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the home. It is a new service, a new electric light and power companies are now in the hands of more than 2,000,000, 660 direct investors in public utility stocks, have purchased by the employees of these companies. These men are found in every walk of life, both men and women, and nearly four thousand consumer stockholders, representing the whole of the American people's ownership under public regulation."

Since Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million.

It is estimated that during 1938, nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen thousand independent electric power companies serving the American public.

The movement toward consumer ownership of industry is an important factor in the growth of independent electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the people.

Operated under the American principle of individual initiative and directed by a cream of trained technical and public-spirited men, these companies have had no definitely identified themselves with the interests of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress costs a large degree upon their service.

American Electric Power Company has been an unqualified leader in the development of the industry, and its policies are a model for others to follow.

The complete text of Mr. Fiske's statement will be furnished upon request.
