Progressing At A Rapid Pace
Fulton may appear to be a slow growing city, but there is a push from within that is causing it to make great strides in the future.

The people of Fulton are taking pride in their city and are determined to make it the best it can be. The past few years have seen a great deal of progress, and the people are looking forward to even greater things in the years to come.

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce has been working hard to promote the city and attract new businesses. With the completion of the new sewer system and the modernization of the city's streets, Fulton is becoming a more attractive place to live and work.

The people of Fulton are also very proud of their schools and educational system. The local school board has been working hard to provide the best possible education for the children of the city. They have invested in new facilities and equipment, and are committed to ensuring that every child has the opportunity to succeed.

In addition to the schools, Fulton is also home to a number of other important institutions. The hospital is well-respected and has a reputation for providing high-quality care to its patients. The local church is also an important part of the community, and is a source of comfort and support for many residents.

The people of Fulton are looking forward to the future with optimism and confidence. They are committed to continuing to work hard and make Fulton the best it can be.

FORD HAS A NOVEL PLAN

$100 Down and $12.50 Month service charge

New York, Nov. 4.—In introducing his new novel to automobile owners soon, Henry Ford will present a novel plan to the trade. The plan is expected to create a sensation in the industry, linking that plan of his announcement a few years ago of the famous “$5 car.”

Under the new scheme, to be known as the “Club Plan,” Ford promises to sell the new model for $135 down and $12.50 a month, the monthly payment being required as a contingent service charge after the car remains with the customer. Under such an arrangement it may be turned back to the user for his immediate payment. Under the arrangement it is

The plan, according to the company, is to pay the first-day wages to be made in the customary way at an established price, was not going to be a permanent feature of the plan, as in the case of the original “Club Plan” subscription plan, and the new plan would be offered as an alternative, available for the drivers who did not wish to have a large cost or a car performing as a service charge.

The Ford plant service wages would permit adoption of such a plan, according to Wall Street, resulted, Ford knew that such a radical change would be taken in adjusting to new business. The scheme would mean making the payment of the amount of capital tied up in the electric car in three years. There was pointed out that a year or two at the present average rate of interest would ruin millions of dollars of capital.

THE LAW OF RATE MAKING

The law which governs the making of railway rates contains two major requirements. One of these is the management of the railroad, efficient and economical. The other is that the rates of the railroad shall be such as to provide for the railroad company a sum sufficient to cover the cost of its operations. This is the essence of the law. Should the company no longer find it possible to operate at a profit, the law requires the company to secure either an increase in rates or an increase in the volume of its business.

The success of the law rests on the belief that the public will never sustain or permit rates which do not provide for a profit sufficient to cover the expenses of the railroad company. But the law requires two major requirements. The law requires that the public shall support the railroad company if it will operate at a profit. There is no such law as "make a profit and no profit will be made." The law requires that the public shall support the railroad company if it will operate at a profit. Therefore, it is the purpose of the law to provide for a profit sufficient to cover the expenses of the railroad company.

The cost of electrical service includes the cost of the supply, the cost of the transmission, and the cost of the distribution. The cost of the supply includes the cost of the fuel, the cost of the labor, and the cost of the equipment. The cost of the transmission includes the cost of the lines, the cost of the poles, and the cost of the buildings. The cost of the distribution includes the cost of the poles, the cost of the wires, and the cost of the connections.

The cost of electrical service is determined by the company, and the public has no control over the cost of electrical service. The public has no right to require the company to reduce the cost of electrical service, and the public has no right to require the company to increase the cost of electrical service.

Electricity—The Foe of Drudgery

Says Mrs. John D. Sherman
President, General Federation
Women's Clubs,

"Electrically equipped homes mean happier and more healthful homes. The cost of electrical service has been reduced many times by the saving, the increased efficiency, the protection to health and the contribution to the general well-being of the family of such devices."

The constructive efforts of the forward-looking electric power companies of the United States have released an ever-increasing number of women from the exacting duties of the household to more congenial and interesting pursuits of life.
