Congo Told Reserving Should Emerge None

Roosevelt said Tuesday that he was holding an excess profit tax bill for signature "in order to keep" the war taxes "at a proper level." The bill, now set for a Senate vote, would place a tax on private industry profits earned over fixed figures during the war. Roosevelt halted the tax proposal by saying it was not necessary for the war effort.

GERMANY URGES AMERICANS TO OPEN BANKS IN PARIS

Germany's foreign minister, Robert Ley, has urged Americans to open banks in Paris to facilitate economic relations between the two countries. He said the establishment of banks would help to stabilize the French franc and improve the country's financial situation.
