Look On The Inside of the Bridge-Beach Superior Circulator

It is built like a furnace—a store within a store. Will heat three or four adjoining rooms.

The cold air enters at the bottom, is heated and circulated between the pre-set temperature in all rooms. It passes out through the top, CIRCULATING the warm, mild, beautiful air to the most distant corners of the desirable rooms. The wonderful jet-like spray kept at a steady temperature by four rows of firebrick in the oldest weather-tight the place of several stoves and receives no more that than an ordinary stove. The price is less than a store of such outstanding superiority. Shown in various homes—the remarkable finished is especially popular.

Old Fiddler's Contest

When music is planned and put over at a real contest, our neighbor's contest is a real contest. Cruthfield knows how to handle them. The Hi-line Fiddler Contest which was put on last Friday night over the kentucky station proved to be an occasion of much excitement as well as a real feat of good music.

The first entries were for the String Drag, and that opened up the evening in fine style. We refer to "Mary the Mauve," which was won by J. W. Hodges.

The French Hop was won for prizes given by Mrs. Freeman and was won by Ledy Latta. In the contest for best country playing "Arkansas Traveler" the prize was offered by Mrs. W. D. Higgins and was won by Mr. Dillahuny, who also won the prize offered by W. W. Williams & Son, of Clinton.

The special contest of "fiddle hop callins," the prize was offered by Mrs. W. D. Williams & Son, of Clinton, and was won by Mr. Wadley.

Made a Stated Instead of Special Day Is Only Change That Has Taken Place.

Thursday, Nov. 28, the order of worship in the Plymouth Congregational Church did not follow the prescribed order of the Revised Church Directory, since the text of the Psalms and readings was changed. The service was held in the main hall of the church.

The service opened with a reading from the New Testament, Luke 17:11-19, which tells of the miracle of the leprous man who was healed by Jesus. This was followed by a reading from the Old Testament, Isaiah 30:15-20, which speaks of the restoration of Israel.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. W. E. White of the University of Chicago. He spoke on the theme of "The Thanksgiving Sacrifice." He explained that the Thanksgiving sacrifice was the first that was made by the Israelites after their liberation from Egypt. It was a symbol of their thanksgiving to God for his care and protection.

The service ended with a benediction and the congregation sang "Praise Ye the Lord." The service was well attended, and the atmosphere was one of thanksgiving and prayer.

Electricity—The New Helper on the Farm

Says William M. Jardine

Secretary of Agriculture

Electricity has already made important contributions toward to labor saving on the farm and to a more modern, satisfying rural life. It is important to point out that electricity is a necessary part of modern farm life. It is the key to the success of the modern farm.

The offering is made to the farmers of the nation, to the farmer, and to the farm. It is made with the understanding that the farmer is the owner of the farm, and that the farmer is responsible for the success of the farm.

W

WHAT cheap and abundant electric power has done for the industrial worker and his family in the alleviation of drudgery and the betterment of living and economic conditions, it now promises to do for the farmer.

Through the activities of the Committee on Rural Electrification, with the cooperation of electric power companies, farm electrification is a fact today in twenty-three states.

One hundred and forty practical applications of electricity to the farm have already been developed. As a result of the cooperation between farmers and the power companies there has been an increase of approximately eighty-three percent in the number of farms using electricity to do the last three years.

In simplifying the labor problem on the farm, lighting the load of physical toil, and increasing the comfort, convenience and efficiency of farm life, this extension of electrical facilities to rural communities is rendering a social and economic service of utmost national importance.

To assure the continued extension of farm service, it is essential that the American principle of individual initiative by means of which these advantages have been made possible, should be encouraged and maintained.
