THE LISTENING POST

I sometimes get terribly provoked the way promises work out in politics. It appears to be so very easy to make a promise and then so much easier to forget that promise after the election is past and done with. I am thinking now of a promise made a year ago regarding a certain road and of the difficulties of getting the promise carried out.

A year ago Governor Keen Johnson was making the campaign to succeed Governor Chandler, and naturally state administration officials were helping him in this campaign. Bob Humphreys was highway commissioner and certain people here were interested in getting the State Line road west of town graveled and improved. That isn't much of a job. I don't know what it would cost, but the cost would be nothing large as such things go. These men who were working on the project took up the matter with Mr. Humphreys and he readily agreed to see that the road would be built. For once I really thought the matter was settled, for there was no provision left uncarried for. But I found that I was wrong again.

The election came and Governor Johnson won hands down. Mr. Humphreys then resigned as highway commissioner, and was succeeded by Mr. Donaldson. That did not worry me any about the road, for I was certain everything was all right and the road would be built. But it was not. It has not been built, although everything possible has been done to get the job done. The men here who wanted the project are still wondering why the job cannot be done. It is such a small thing as highways go, and it would serve a section that really deserves a road. The people who live down there are still looking to the men here who got the promise for the road, and who in turn gave their promise to them. They are wondering who threw the monkey wrench into the machinery. I am wondering also, for this was one case where I really believed a promise was going to be carried out. It all goes to show that political promises are not always good assets.

Really the road should be built. The State Line road west is one of the most important roads, from a trade standpoint, that Fulton has. It is thickly populated all the way to Jordan, and some of the most substantial farmers of the county live adjacent to the road. Within a year or so there will be a high type road running from Clinton down through Moscow, Cayce, Jordan and thence into Union City, and if State Line is left undeveloped it simply means that we are going to lose a great deal of trade to the Tennessee town. Those are the facts in the case, and these facts prove that the road should be built.

With shortened road funds from the federal reservoir it appears likely that less mileage will be built during the next few years, and it appears wise for us to put forth every effort right now to get this road built. While it has been announced that the smaller federal appropriation will have no immediate effect on Kentucky, it is quite likely that with the deepening of war, and the steady flow of tax money into defense costs there will be less construction in future years than in the past. What we can do should be done at once, for it is my opinion that roads are going to be more difficult to secure soon than for many years.

Right To Call National Guard Sought By FDR

Delay Is Seen In Senate Action On Training Measure

Washington, —A request from President Roosevelt for authority to order the National Guard and Army reserve officers to active training duty was received today by a Congress engaged in a deep-seated controversy over the question of compulsory military training.

"The developments of modern warfare are such," Mr. Roosevelt said in a letter read to the Senate, "that only seasoned and highly trained troops can hope for success. x x x This group of men who of necessity must be among the first to fight in the nation's defense have a right to the best preparation that time and circumstance permit."

In some quarters, and principally among the opponents of the pending Burke-Wadsworth compulsory training bill, there was an immediate disposition to link the two proposals. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), said that if the conscription bill were withdrawn he would be glad to support Mr. Roosevelt's new suggestion.

Part Of One Program
Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), also a critic of the draft bill, advanced the opinion that the two were part of one program. Meanwhile, Senator Austin of Vermont, the assistant Republican floor leader, said it was his understanding that if Mr. Roosevelt were given the power requested, the National Guard would be called out to train recruits drafted under the Burke-Wadsworth bill, if the later were passed.

From Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, came a statement that the Guard bill probably would be introduced by Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.), of the Senate military committee and that action would be expedited.

It was suggested by some legislators that the Guard bill might be brought before the Senate ahead of the conscription measure. The leadership was obviously in no hurry to proceed with the later. An intense controversy has surrounded it and it was the apparent hope of some that a compromise might be worked out if the issue is not pressed for a time.

FAST TRAIN KILLS BUFFALO

Yakima, Wash., —In an accident that harked back to the pioneer days of the railroads, two buffalo were killed by a fast passenger train when they bolted across the tracks. The animals were part of a herd belonging to O. D. Gibson of Yakima.

Anti-British Policy Is Decried By France As New Order Is Started

Vichy, France, —The fundamental revolution which the government of Marshal Philippe Petain has outlined for France is partly a program borrowed from foreign totalitarian sources, partly original, of an anti-British trend in its foreign policy, and frankly geared to the Nazi economic machine.

It has been stated publicly that the program must be adjusted to circumstances. The circumstances are that France, defeated in war, at least for the time being is dependent both economically and politically.

Europe's Food Held Enough To Meet Needs

Washington, —If Europe's food supplies are "proportionately distributed" during the coming fall and winter, the Agriculture Department forecast today, there will be no abnormal shortage and "certainly no widespread starvation" among the war-torn peoples.

It raised the question, however, as to whether available supplies could be distributed so as to prevent hunger.

Services Are Disrupted
"Communications have been disrupted, distribution disorganized, and people in great numbers have left their homes," said a report issued by the department's foreign service.

The report said Continental European supplies of the bread grains—wheat and rye—appear to be between 5 and 10 per cent below peacetime requirements. This year's crops apparently will be 15 per cent below normal. However, fairly large reserves in Germany and Italy, the department said, would tend to offset the smaller production.

I. C. Safety Meeting Tonight

A safety meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in a coach at the passenger station for employees of the Illinois Central Railroad System. Mr. T. K. Williams, Superintendent, will preside over the meeting with local officials assisting him.

A good representation of employees is expected.

DR. J. P. KIRKSEY OF MAYFIELD DIES; FUNERAL TUESDAY

Mayfield, Ky., —Dr. John Franklin Kirksey, 65, Mayfield businessman and physician, died at his home on the Backusburg road early Sunday morning as a result of a stroke of paralysis suffered Friday. Funeral services will be held at the home at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the Rev. W. H. Horton, assisted by Dr. D. M. Ausmus, officiating. Burial will be in Maplewood cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Sue Kirksey, his mother, Mrs. Emma Kirksey, a niece, Mrs. Roscoe Canady, New York City. John Kirksey, county attorney of McCracken county, is a cousin.

Dr. Kirksey, a native of Calloway county, taught school in that county for several years. He was graduated from the Louisville School of Medicine in 1927 and moved to Sealeville where he practiced medicine until 1930 when he moved to Mayfield to become president of the Mayfield hospital. He left that hospital in 1939 because of ill health.

Reds Parade Naval Might In Many Areas—Will Add Further Strength

Moscow, —Russia celebrated national navy day with marine exercises and parades in the Pacific, Baltic, Black Sea, Caspian and far-north areas Sunday, while newspapers hammered home assertions the Red navy soon will be second to none in the world.

Commisar of Ship-building Ivan Kosenko declared by 1942 "Soviet dockyards will ship one of the world's first places in annual production of tonnage." Saturday night Admiral Nikolai Kuznetsov, commissar of navy, said Russia would add 168 warships to her fleet this year. He urged that Russian sea-power be stepped up to parity with the country's army and air strength.

Editorials Back Strengthening
Newspaper editorials took the line that the international situation calls for strengthening the Red army and navy, as well as tightening their discipline.

Admiral Kuznetsov in a speech referred to Former Defense Commissar Marshal Voroshiloff as "our immediate superior," indicating that Voroshiloff as vice chairman of the council of commissars is co-ordinating and directing the various phases of national defense.

Clarence Pickering presided as master of ceremonies and conducted a number of clever contests. Prizes were presented to the following:

Largest family present, R. L. Craig of Reeseville, Ill.; second largest family present, L. C. Williams, Fulton; oldest man in service, J. J. Coe Coy, Champagne, Ill.; foot race for men 40 years or older—first, Pete Roberts, Fulton; 2nd, A. E. Crawford, Fulton; fat man's race—Glenn Whittenburg, Centralia, first, and J. C. British Soldiers To Be Quartered In Luxury Flats

London, —British soldiers, whose fathers fought the last war in muddy, vermin-infested trenches, may be billeted this winter in luxurious London apartments, many of them with swimming pools and squash courts.

The Government announced today it was taking over many apartment houses, including some in which apartments originally rented at $15.00 a year. The luxury dwellings were taken over since the war started the owners are having to get the Government to pay.

Rotary Club Has Many Guests At Meeting Today

The Rotary Club today was host to a party of 125 men from Ripley, Miss., the Ripley Rotary Club bringing a large party of farmers on a tour of inspection of farms and live stock in West Tennessee and Kentucky. The Ripley Club has been planning this trip for several years and reported today that thus far the trip had been most successful.

The dinner today was held at the Country Club, with long tables set up in the beautiful grove. Joe D. Davis made the principal address for the Fulton Club, telling the visitors what plans had been used in developing better farming conditions in this section during the past fifteen or eighteen years. Lee Cox, who was in charge of the trip for the visitors, told the Fulton people the purposes of the pilgrimage and Jimmy Finger, president of the Ripley club extended the appreciation of his club for the reception given here.

New War Head Given 1st Salute Of 18 Guns

New York, —Secretary of War Stimson got his first eighteen-gun salute this morning.

Stimson and his new assistant, former Federal Judge Robert Patterson, arrived at the Army's Mitchell Field, on Long Island, from the Secretary's West Hills home to take a plane to Washington.

Field officials thanked the regulation books and found that the Secretary of War is entitled to an eighteen-gun salute on entering office and an additional salute once a year and figured that while they had him handy to some guns, they might as well do him the honor.

Unique Farewell Given Priests Who Will Sail Soon For Orient

Ossining, N. Y., —To a low Oriental-looking field-stone building on the high green banks of the Hudson, all the more incongruous because it is the center of a Catholic institution, hundreds of people flocked Sunday, as they have each year since 1918, for a ceremony unique in the American scene.

It was the bon voyage services for the contingent of earnest young priests sent out each year to the Orient by the Maryknoll Society, an organization established by the Catholic bishops of the United States for the uplifting and maintenance of overseas missions.

80 Bombers Raid Port In Waves

Assault Leads Many To Believe Frontal Drive Is At Hand

London, —(Tuesday) —German pre-dawn raiders struck again today through the darkness at black-out towns of Southeastern England where massed dive bombers yesterday pounded at the key defense works of Dover, within sight of the Nazi-held coast of France.

Bombs smashed down on at least one southeastern town as other attacking planes streaked inland from the northeast and the southwest.

Adolf Hitler hurled his greatest aerial thunderbolt against Dover, the logical debarkation point for any invading force, in a day-long series of savage attacks yesterday.

For an explosive half-hour wave upon wave of dive bombers and fighters—80 in all—blasted at the channel port, only 22 miles from the French coast and possible initial objective in the first major invasion attempted against England in 847 years.

British fighters, long-awaited just such an attack, swarmed into the skies to tangle with the attackers. Official figures placed the bag of Nazi craft downed in this engagement at 20, but unofficially, the total was given as 23.

Dover Is Named
The ministry of information, relaxing its restrictions against naming towns attacked, gave permission to name Dover as the scene of Sunday's major attack. The action was referred to only as over a "southeastern port."

Some of the most important military concentrations in England are at Dover, a town of 40,000, and it was at these the Germans apparently were aiming their bombs.

Towering above the city is an ancient fortress, modernized in recent years. Military men say it can withstand virtually any assault. Protecting its fine harbor are huge, stone breakwaters through which in peacetime pass ships on the cross channel route between Dover and Calais.

From the Dover cliffs the shores of German-occupied France may be seen on a bright day.

Chamberlain Has Operation

London, —Former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, 71, underwent a successful abdominal operation tonight in a hospital, his physicians reported. VAST CHANGES COMING

Results of the present World War are bound to be far reaching and these changes will have a profound bearing on life in the Western World, according to many students of such matters. These changes will come, no matter what the result may be in the coming clash between Germany and England. For, according to these observers, there is little hope in the future for the great middle class of England, even if England accomplishes the impossible and defeats Hitler.

The cost of the present war is staggering. England is now spending in the neighborhood of forty million dollars every day and this expenditure will become greater and greater as the war progresses. England has thrown everything she has into the scales and cost is no longer considered. Along with this tremendous cost has come such a terrible tax load that, no matter what the outcome may be, there will be little hope of the middle class man in England ever being able to make a living. He has lost practically all that he ever had in the great upheaval and disruption of business since the war started. If young enough he has had to leave his business or his job and enter army service, and thus his earning power has ceased to exist. All that he has now is a bare living provided by the government.

If, by some miracle, England wins the war and he returns to his job or his business he will find that the tax load is more than can be carried, and in effect he would be compelled to work merely for the government. This is what has been going on in Germany for years and to meet this condition England would be forced to adopt the totalitarian scheme of government. There is no room for freedom of enterprise in a nation which takes all wealth by taxation, and win or lose, this is the condition which confronts the middle class of the British Isles.

So, these observers point out, the end of the war is going to bring about a great exodus of these people from the British Isles. They will realize that there is no longer any opportunity in those crowded islands for private enterprise, with any hope of reward, and in looking about they are likely to look towards the colonies as they did many years ago. It seems probable that the next decade or so will see thousands, perhaps millions, of Englishmen making their way to Canada or Australia, where they might again find freedom of enterprise with some hope of opportunity and reward. The war, with its crushing cost, these observers profess to believe, has ruined England for perhaps a century or more. The situation is something on the order of the one in which thousands of English came to America prior to the Revolution. In those years England had been at war constantly and opportunity seemed remote in the islands. Perhaps the same thing is to be repeated in years which lie just ahead.

Such an exodus, if it comes, is bound to have profound effect in the Western World. The United States is no longer a young nation. It has almost reached its growth, but to the north of us Canada is still a great sprawling expanse of undeveloped territory with a tremendous future ahead. A great migration of English

PHONE COMPANY'S PRECAUTIONS WISE

If you've wondered whether all those precautions the telephone company is taking versus getting blown up weren't a bit overdone—guards on constant duty, identification cards for employees, a general bank-vault atmosphere—consider for a moment what would happen were a good big bomb to go off in the right place in that sleek, newish building. It is the center of the town's communicative nerves. Printed and spoken word—news, radio, long distance telephone, telegraph—all depended in large measure for their throbbing, humming life upon that building's equipment remaining in top-flight shape.

Newspapers would see their rattling teletype printers die down dimly, the outside world shut off. Radio trunk lines would be useless. You couldn't even get a long-distance call through to a place as close as Shelbyville. You couldn't call up Fort Knox for soldiers. You couldn't call a hospital from the downtown exchanges. Ringing power would be off. Business would have to put its phones away. A night of silence even more gloomy than that which descended upon the city at the depth of the 1937 flood would occur, at least for a time. Can you blame the telephone company for being jittery?

While we're on the subject, let us remark that people in general, while they know that something unusual is in the offing, haven't appreciated what mobilization will mean. True, the local bookstores are selling a lot of copies of the book entitled "My-Day." True, newspaper readers are turning eagerly to the stories on conscription, etc. But the full truth hasn't yet dawned.

Likely not until the first of the youngsters go marching off to training camps this fall—and the voices in the wilderness which now are raised against conscription long have been forgotten—will the general public wake up. The M-Day bills will be swooshing through Congress so fast a comrade named Stalin will realize his Five-Year Plan was only a kid game of cops and robbers by comparison. And before one knows it, everybody will be working for the Government, when the Government says, as long as the Government says, at what the Government says.

families could transform that land into another great and powerful nation, and this is exactly what may happen.

LYNN TAYLOR

Louisville.

Quiet and unassuming in his manner, but true as steel to his principles, Mr. Taylor, according to his own admission, did not make friends readily. He frequently said that he knew he had missed many friendships because of his own reserve, but once a friendship had been established no one ever forgot him. He was loyal to a fault with his friends, and no task was ever too great where friendship might be concerned. Deeply interested in church and Sunday School work he has been a vital force in community life for many years and he will be missed by a wide circle of friends.

In his family life there were few men like Mr. Taylor. He loved his family with the steady and glowing love which passes all human understanding. They loved him in the same manner, and it was a joy and a revelation to see this lovable family at close range and to see what depths of family love existed there. Men like him are all too few in this world, and his sudden going is a blow to the entire community.

To those who sorrow deeply, who will miss him through the years to come, this newspaper extends its deepest sympathy. There are no words which will lessen the sorrow, but there is comfort in knowing that his life here was such a benediction to the family and to the entire community in which he moved so quietly and so lovably for so many years.

A PERSONAL WORD TO THE PEOPLE OF THE FIRST DISTRICT.
As every individual knows a grave emergency threatening the peace and security of the American people has kept Congress in session and the adjournment date is yet uncertain. I am not unmindful that the primary date is very near and I would like very much to be at home looking after my political interests but I feel that the DEFENSE OF OUR COUNTRY IS FAR MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE POLITICAL FUTURE OF ANY INDIVIDUAL therefore I shall remain at my post of duty so long as I am needed. I am humbly grateful for the co-operation you are giving me and have always given me during my service as your Representative in Congress. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merryman, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fry, Erskine Barrett of Decatur, Ill., Mrs. Myrtle Morris and daughter, Geneva, of Detroit, and Vern Potter of Detroit spent Sunday in Dyersburg, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Merryman. The day was spent out-of-doors and at noon a picnic was enjoyed.

MISS MARTHA MELTON COMPLIMENTS BRIDE-ELECT

Complimenting Miss Sarah Helen Williams, whose marriage will take place next month, Miss Martha Melton was hostess to a bridge party last night at her home on Pearl street. Twelve were present.

At the conclusion of the games high score for the evening was held by Miss Treva Whayne and Miss Lillian Cooke cut consolation. They were presented attractive prizes and the honoree was also given a lovely gift.

Miss Melton served frozen fruit salad and iced tea to the following: Miss Williams, Miss Whayne, Miss Cooke, Miss Margaret Hardin, Miss Jane Lewis, Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander, Miss Ruth Graham, Miss Jane Alley, Miss Rebecca Boaz, Miss Jane Scates, and Miss Mary Virginia Whayne.

W. M. U. HOLDS GENERAL MEETING

The general meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist Church was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church with the president, Mrs. Earl Taylor, presiding. The meeting was opened with a song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," followed with prayer led by Mrs. Ed Bondurant.

During the business session reports by chairmen of different departments were made and these were very encouraging, especially the report made by Mrs. Carl Hastings, personal service chairman, and by Mrs. J. C. Suggs, young people's chairman. The devotional on "Prayer" was given by Mrs. J. S. Mills who took her scripture from the fifth and sixth chapters of Matthew.

The program, entitled "Cementing Bonds of Friendship with Our Neighbors—Cuba, Mexico and South American," was very ably given by Mrs. L. V. Brady, telling of the work of the Baptist in these countries. The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Dan Horton.

AUTOGIRO MAKES 'JUMP TAKEOFF'

Willow Grove, Pa.,—A "grasshopper" type airplane able to take off and land in a space no longer than a tennis court is aviation industry's latest contribution to flying.

Developed by the Pitcairn Autogiro Company the new type autogiro literally hops into the air, its predecessors could land at a dead stop, but required a runway for the takeoff.

In its first public demonstration yesterday, the new ship leaped skyward more than twenty feet, easily clearing an eighteen-foot-high rope barrier.

This "jump take-off" ability, said Harold F. Pitcairn, president of the company, makes possible the use of landing fields one-eighth the size of regular airports.

The take-off is made by speeding the overhead motor blades to 300 rotations a minute while the blades are in a horizontal position. The pilot then tilts the blades and the "giri" shoots vertically into the air.

HIGHWAY SURFACES DAMAGED BY HEAT

The heat wave has brought the "usual amount" of damage to West Kentucky's highways, District Engineer Jerry Spears reported.

Concrete slabs have "buckled" in some places, but the damage has not been any greater than usual, Spears said. He added most of the damage comes because of a marked change in temperature.

Sanford Bests Jess Webb As

Tigers Hit In Timely Fashion

Glenn Sanford bested Jess Webb, across when least expected and Jackson ace, for the second time this season last night at Fairfield, emerging the victory 6 to 3 in a game which was tighter than the score indicates. For six innings the little left hander worked with a two run lead and in the seventh the Generals finally knotted the score. The Tigers came back to break the tie in the last half with one run and led the game in the eighth with a three run burst of scoring. The Generals added one run in the ninth.

Sanford was in good form last night, with his slow ball falling ning the Tigers failed to score on a double and a single, and in the second they failed to plate a run after putting the first two men on. In the third, however, they got to Webb in resounding fashion. Mullen walked and Filchock singled. Pawelek was passed, but Peterson crossed up this strategy singling in two runs.

The Generals are here again tonight and tomorrow night. By last night's victory the Tigers finally climbed one notch above Hopkinsville and are now in seventh place.

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Fulton, Kentucky, Thursday Afternoon, August 1, 1940

THE LISTENING POST

● Believe it or not, and all eyes fall to prove it, Kentucky is going to have a primary election Saturday. When one remembers the clamor and noise and disturbance of the past few years in these primary elections, it can hardly be believed that there will be an election this year. But there is to be without doubt. And it will be the quietest primary election I remember.

● We are going to nominate a Congressman from this district as well as from the other districts in the state—but none of these men have been able to come back from Washington to make any campaign. They are held in the national capital by reason of Congress remaining in session, and in the First District the incumbent, Noble Gregory, has entrusted his case to the hands of his friends. He has a couple of opponents, a Murray newspaper man and a Paducah lawyer, and these two gentlemen have been making a campaign for several weeks. The odds naturally favor Mr. Gregory for reelection, but his friends are not taking any chance on the matter and have whipped together a rather strong organization for getting the votes out. About the only part which Mr. Gregory will be able to take in the primary will be a couple of radio speeches over the Paducah station. However, dopesters see little chance of his defeat, as it does not appear that his two opponents have cut deeply into his organization. Of course, there is a chance of an upset, but experts call it a long, long chance.

● Too, Happy Chandler is making the race for the balance of Senator Logan unexpired term. In this case the Chandler luck has held good. Back early in the year it seemed likely that he would be opposed by Lyter Donaldson, present highway commissioner. If Mr. Donaldson had made this race Kentucky would have had a torrid race again this year. For Mr. Donaldson would have had the power of the state machine behind him, and the race would have been much on the order of the Chandler-Barkley and the Johnson-Brown campaigns, when the full power of the state machine was thrown into the campaigns. But at the last minute Mr. Donaldson decided against the campaign, and so Senator Chandler goes to the post with four or five opponents who are merely running for exercise. We may see a race between Chandler and Donaldson when the Logan term expires, but nothing has been said of this as yet. On the face of the situation now Chandler is going back to the Senate in a breeze.

● It seems strange that here in Kentucky we can have such a quiet campaign for these offices. During the past few years these primary races have been red hot and wide open, and perhaps it is well that we do have a breathing spell this year. Next year things will be different, for next year, if my memory is not at fault, we will have the usual county races.

● This breathing spell, however, seems strange after the heated campaigns we have had in past years. The Barkley-Chandler campaign, while won in a walk by Barkley, still set a new high in excitement—and cost, and the Johnson-Brown battle a year later was much on the same order. Both brought the full power of the state administration into play and in the first the state was largely opposed by federal power. It was really a sort of civil war, and no one can say with any assurance what the total cost amounted to. Perhaps it is just as well that we are spared another campaign of this sort this year. It gives us time to catch up.

Nazi Raider Chased In S. Atlantic

Gayda Says Blitzkrieg Tactics Not Practical Against England

Berlin, —(Thursday)—The concentrated dive-bombing attack on Dover last Monday was pictured by German sources today as starting the next phase of preinvasion action against England—systematic destruction of her vital ports one at a time.

These sources said Britain's trade and supply lanes and the port facilities through which she brings in food and war supplies are the weak link in her tight-drawn defense chain.

Observation planes which since have studied the havoc wrought by the Stukas at Dover reported to Berlin that at least three ships were sunk in the harbor, harbor facilities were wrecked and the port definitely was out of commission.

By The Associated Press
British men o'war ploughed through the South Atlantic today on another grim hunt for a German raider menacing British commerce, bringing Europe's naval warfare to the western hemisphere once more.

Great Britain extended her blockade of Europe from the Arctic to Africa and issued regulations to make it virtually world-wide.

The British admiralty reported its armed merchant cruiser Alcantara fought a brief engagement with the German raider, a fast converted merchant ship, in the South Atlantic. The Nazi ship turned and fled behind a smoke screen after she was hit, the admiralty said, adding that a "lucky" hit on the Alcantara reduced her speed permitting the German to escape.

South American reports indicated the battle probably occurred Monday night near the Brazilian-owned island of Trinidad, 680 miles off Brazil and within the American neutrality zone.

Britain reported the loss of her 29th destroyer to be sunk since the war began. The admiralty said the destroyer Delight, 1,375 tons, suffered damage from an enemy air attack and later sank. It did not disclose where the action occurred.

Warning Yelled From Air Puts Firemen On Job

Brunswick, Maine, —Enter this one in the superservice department. Aviator Frank Simpson saw a house afire on a country road, swooped low over a neighbor's house and shouted the news, urging his audience to call the fire department. They did, and the department extinguished the blaze.

Choctaws Seek Indian Trial For Chief Accused Of Murder

Macon, Miss., —The red man's plea that he be allowed to live by his own code is being resurrected here, with Choctaws demanding that Chief Cameron Wesley be tried for murder by the supreme council of his tribe rather than in the white man's court.

He is indicted on a charge of killing a fellow tribesman, Evans Tubbee, in an argument.

Agreed to verbally but unwritten into the Dancing Rabbit Treaty of 1830, says Chief Jackson of the Choctaw Reservation, was a provision that if an Indian killed a white man he would be tried by a white man's court, but if he killed an Indian he would be tried by an Indian court.

Stand Firm On Issue
These stole Choctaws—a people who exist on scattered tenant farms throughout Mississippi but who gather periodically to keep alive the traditions of their once mighty ancestors—are unyielding on the issue.

Great Britain May Outlaw Home Cooking

London, —Home cooking soon may be forbidden in Great Britain, to be replaced by communal feeding for the populace—rich and poor alike sharing simple fare in Government-controlled "mass-production" dining halls in an effort to strengthen the war effort by economizing on food supplies.

Whitehall circles disclosed that the groundwork is being laid for the possible introduction of such a far-reaching project, but said that details have not been worked out.

Cafe Control Planned
It is believed that the program might include either the replacement of home kitchens by low-cost "assembly-line" cooking or derivate restaurants and other establishments under direct Government rule to feed the people.

Labor quarters are described as especially enthusiastic about the proposal, since they see it as the solution to their protest against "luxury dining-out" by persons who can pay the price.

Censorship Is Explained

London, —Alfred Duff Cooper, Minister of Information, told the House of Commons today the news of the sinking of the British transport Lancastria was withheld six weeks because it was evidently from German radio reports that the Germans were "totally unaware" of her identity.

The Lancastria was sunk June 17 and the news was published July 25.

Duff Cooper was besieged by questioners regarding the Lancastria.

Bomb sinking of the former Cunard liner off St. Nazaire, France, left 2,823 persons missing, the largest marine casualty list of the war.

Duff Cooper declared it was contrary to general policy to announce loss of individual merchant ships. Tonnage of the Lancastria, however, was included in the weekly statement of July 2, he said.

Non-Resident applicants for Kentucky operators licenses who can present a valid operator's license from their home state will not be required to take the examination, given by the highway patrolman.

These licenses can be secured at the FULTON DAILY LEADER OFFICE or the WEST KENTUCKY FINANCE COMPANY.

—J. E. ATTEBERY, Circuit Clerk.

Showers Bring Some Respite But It Is Only Temporary

Showers brought a welcome respite from intense heat in scattered sections of the nation today but apparently provided only a temporary check on torrid temperatures.

In Kentucky, Louisville which had a high of 100 yesterday, apparently alone got temporary relief from a sudden thundershower that lowered temperatures. At 10 a. m., the reading was 85 against 93 yesterday at the same hour. Skies were overcast.

It was 89 at Frankfort and slightly cloudy but no rain had fallen during the present heat wave. Richmond's high yesterday was 93 and low 68 with a 85 morning reading. Hopkinsville's high yesterday was 98 with a morning reading today of 90.

Owensboro's high was 99 yesterday and at 9 a. m., it was 74. Ashland also had a 99 high yesterday and it was 86 at a morning reading today. Cincinnati's morning reading was 79 with overcast skies.

Forecasters said there was no sign of general relief but predicted more rain for the plains states, Great Lakes region and Upper Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures remained far above normal for much of the continent east of the Rockies.

The mercury touched 107 degrees at Wynoka, Okla., yesterday afternoon.

Deaths attributed directly or indirectly to the heat numbered 858 today. They included 448 heat deaths and 410 drownings.

Hillman Says Labor's Gains Will Be Held

St. Louis, —Labor standards will not be lowered or social gains impaired as a result of the national preparedness program, Sidney Hillman, C. I. O. vice president and representative of labor on the National Defense Council, told the convention of the United Automobile Workers of America today.

"Some say that the beneficial labor legislation which has been enacted during the past seven years will interfere substantially with the accomplishment of the program of national defense," he said.

"They urged, therefore, unlimited hours of labor and the relaxation of those protective measures for which labor struggled for so long."

"I wish to state as emphatically as I can that there is absolutely no basis for that position."

All agencies of the Government are observing existing labor legislation, he reported.

Penny Parking Fine And Costs Add Up To $82

Pittsburgh, Penn., —The overtime parking charge against Isreal Elmsner, of Scranton, added up today to a neat total of $50, fine and $32.50 costs.

Alderman Michael A. Grace assessed the fine and said Elmsner ignored summons to appear for hearing. Most of the costs, he added, would go to over expenses of sending a constable to Scranton on three occasions trying to locate Elmsner.

FIREMEN SEARCH FOR BODIES IN PAINT FIRE
Camden, N. J., —Braving sickening fumes and stifling heat, firemen in asbestos suits began exploring the smoldering ruins for bodies of persons missing in the explosion fire that destroyed a paint plant and sixty-seven homes adjacent yesterday.

Two persons are known dead, seven are definitely missing and five others are unaccounted for. Other firemen continued to pour water on the debris to speed up the search.

HORSEWOMAN, ESCORT DROWN IN ROADSIDE POND LATE LAST NIGHT

Springfield, Ky., —Anne Washburn, 19, Louisville socialite and horsewoman, and Lieut. Delano Edgell, 24, Newport, N. M., a West Point graduate, were drowned last night ten miles north of here when their car left the road on a curve, struck a retaining wall, and threw them into a roadside pond. They were returning from the Mercer County Fair, where Miss Washburn had participated in the horse show.

White man history all wet, Chief Jackson replies to suggestions that the pact is outworn. "The treaty was signed for as long as the green grass grows, as long as the sun shines, as long as the clouds come up and the water falls."

The Choctaws have asked Sheriff Charles Fraley to release Wesley "on his honor" to appear before the annual tribal council in September. The circuit court is scheduled to try him next month.

"We'll go ahead according to law," said Sheriff Fraley.

NOTICE WATER CONSUMERS
August payments for water are now due. Please call at CITY HALL and settle same.

—PAUL DEWEY, Mayor.

5 Life Terms Given Slayer Of School Folk

Los Angeles, —Verlin Spencer, bespectacled former principal of South Pasadena High School, was sentenced today to five consecutive life terms in San Quentin Prison for slaying five associates and an additional twenty years for wounding another.

Spencer's plea of guilty was accepted on the statement of Arthur Veitch, deputy district attorney, that the State had been unable to establish a motive for the homicidal outburst of the ordinarily quiet school executive. He was known, however, to have had altercations with some of his associates over his school work.

Spencer on May 6 killed Dr. George B. Bush, superintendent of South Pasadena Schools; John E. Alman, principal of South Pasadena High School; Will R. Speer, business manager of the district; V. V. Vanderlip, manual arts instructor, and Ruth Sturgeon, art instructor, and wounded Dorothea Talbert, secretary to Dr. Bush. Spencer also shot himself but recovered.

Deaths attributed directly or indirectly to the heat numbered 858 today. They included 448 heat deaths and 410 drownings.

1,000 Nickels Pays For Baby Of Ashland Couple

Catlettsburg, Ky., —The daughter of Dr. Hubert J. Prichard and Mrs. Prichard is a rich child today because of old Mr. Stork.

She is the possessor of 1,000 Jefferson nickels paid to her father for the delivery of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Callihan of Ashland.

Callihan paid the nickels to Dr. Prichard this morning and the doctor gave them to his daughter.

Truce Proposed On Countryside Political Signs

Montpelier, Vt., —Commenting that "a wild clematis is far more attractive to our guests than either your face or mine tacked on the side of a tree or barn," Gov. George D. Aiken proposed to Ralph E. Flinders, his opponent for the Republican senatorial nomination, that they place an embargo on roadside political advertising in the current campaign.

The Governor suggested that the two candidates agree not to "despoil the State's natural beauty" by tacking pictures of themselves up throughout the Green Mountain State's verdant countryside.

Motorists May Repaint Own Faded Plates

Frankfort, Ky., —Motorists who have faded license plates may paint them themselves or have it done if they prefer not to wait until the State again is in position to replace them.

R. L. McFarland, associate revenue commissioner in charge of the division of local relations, said today he had advised the Louisville Automobile Club to that effect. In some cities garages are offering to do the painting free.

The State license plate shop which has been replacing the faded plates without charge has been delayed in its work by moving to the State Prison Farm at La Grange and was not expected to resume operations for about a week.

INTERFERENCE WITH MINORITY PARTIES IS PROTESTED

New York —The American Civil Liberties Union charged today that "interference" with or "conspiracy" against "minority political parties"—specifically the Communist and Socialist Labor parties—was widespread in 13 states, and asked Attorney General Jackson to investigate.

The union said evidence showed there was "either a conspiracy to prevent members of minority political parties from entering candidacies, or so widespread interference as to demand any protection which the federal laws afford."

The states cited are West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Arizona, New Hampshire, Maine, Illinois, New York, Michigan, Georgia, Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee.

Flames Kill Most As Fuel In Car Burns

Coach Is Wrapped Around Front Of Engine, Pushed 200 Yards

Akron, O., —A head-on collision on the Pennsylvania Railroad carried 41 persons to flaming death tonight.

A gasoline-propelled railroad motor coach, shutting from Hudson, O., to Akron, crashed into a double-engine freight train of 73 cars. The motor coach, pushed back 200 yards along the track, burst into flames.

Most of the victims were burned to death, he added. The clothes were burned off many of them.

Coroner Amos said his information indicated the death toll might reach 42.

Removal Takes Time
The last of the bodies was taken from the flame-seared wreckage at 9:15 p. m., three hours and 15 minutes after the collision.

One of the survivors was Tod Wonn, 24, of Akron. He was brought to a hospital here with leg and arm injuries.

Wonn, a railroad employee, told this story:

"I was riding home in the baggage compartment when the conductor came running back and yelled:

"We are going to crash!"

"The conductor leaped and I followed him.

"My clothing caught fire.

"I rolled in some bushes at the side of the track and put out the flames.

Pal Is Missing
"My pal, Bruce Kell, who lives at the same place I do, was with me in the car and I did not see any more of him."

Charles Taylor, who lives two blocks from the scene, said the wreck "was the most terrible scene I have ever witnessed."

He told the following story:

"I was ready to sit down to dinner a little after 6 when I heard what I thought was an explosion followed by a rumbling noise. A few minutes later I heard ambulance sirens and I raced to the scene.

"The first thing I saw was firemen playing water on a Pennsylvania coach which was half wrapped around the front of a double-header freight train. The coach was burning furiously with flames licking around the top.

"The fuel in the gasoline coach had exploded and caught fire when hit by the freight train.

"The firemen played water on the wreckage for three-quarters of an hour before they could get to the bodies.

President Bars Sale Of Aviation Gasoline Outside Of Hemisphere

Washington, —President Roosevelt, by his power under the export license system, today barred export of aviation gasoline outside the Western Hemisphere.

He permitted only one minor exception. American-owned aviation companies outside the hemisphere which need such gasoline for their operations will be permitted to obtain it.

The order followed Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation last week subjecting petroleum products and scrap metal to the export control system. The original proclamation, however, merely subjected these essential war materials to export licensing. Today's action specifically bars exports of aviation fuel outside the Western Hemisphere.

Great Britain Included
Under the order, Great Britain as well as the axis powers—Germany, Italy and Japan—is barred from access to supplies of aviation fuel in this country.

Britain, Italy and Germany have been obtaining most of their aviation fuel from other sources, Japan, or with today's order.

That single exception will permit such companies as Pan-American Airways to transport United States aviation gasoline to their terminals outside this hemisphere for their transatlantic and trans-Pacific services.

The earlier proclamation placed aviation gasoline and scrap metal under export control beginning effective tomorrow, August 1, together with today's order.

"HULL OF THE UNITED STATES"

No matter how many or how lately the South American republics hold to the agreement which was framed at Havana a few days ago, the fact remains that in winning the agreement, which vitalizes the Monroe Doctrine and which brings all Western Hemisphere nations into the agreement to uphold this theory, Secretary of State Hull of the United States won his greatest diplomatic victory. If the nations which signed the agreement live up to it the agreement may well be the decisive element which will keep the Monroe Doctrine in existence. Without the agreement it appears that the United States might have been compelled to withdraw from such a stand in the face of events which are taking place abroad.

That there is a great deal of pro-German sentiment in a few of the South American republics is certain. United States officials know this and have known it for a long time. German efforts have been strong to set up opposition to the United States in those nations, down under the Southern Cross. It was good strategy, for Nazi Germany is today looking over plans for complete military and economic domination of the world. Naturally such plans must contemplate some form of aggressive action against the United States and in South America the Nazis saw a fertile field for the beginning of such aggression. In one or two South American nations much progress has been made in this direction.

This was the stage on which Secretary Hull appeared in Havana. He knew that in certain nations the cards were stacked against him. He knew that he faced a hard a bitter task, knew that compromise and patience were needed. But the greater fact of which he was aware was that the national security of the United States demanded that some form of agreement be reached. With this in his mind he went into the conference and through days of trying effort he labored with many divergent views until he finally reached an agreement which may be far more valuable than any of us now realize. Under this agreement the Western Hemisphere faces across the Atlantic and tells Hitler that we face him with united determination; that the Hemisphere way of living and governing is to continue despite any attack.

In passing, it might be fairly said that this same Hull, from the hills of Tennessee, has had more to do with shaping the foreign policy of the United States during the past few years than any other living man. His work has not been spectacular, nor have the results been happy in many cases. The war which broke last September brought many of his plans crashing down about his ears, but he quietly picked up the wreckage and began putting things together again. Today he is working just as hard to prepare and protect the Western world as he was to preserve peace and extend trade and commerce a year ago.

Hull is just an ordinary Tennesseean in his manner. He makes no great claims. He knows how to work with people and is an adept at winning his way against heavy odds. The tale they tell of him when he went into the first Good Neighbor meeting

WOULD FRANCE, AS ORGANIZED, HAVE BEEN WORTH ONE PINT OF AMERICAN BLOOD?

Mr. Bullitt, American Ambassador, thinks the Petain Government tops, and would see this country deal with it as an independent Government.

The Petain Government, whatever it is in fact and at heart, has created a high court which is expected to try at least eight former Cabinet Ministers for their lives.

If it is what Mr. Bullitt believes it, and if its proceedings should result in honest convictions of former Cabinet Ministers, preceding Governments, in whose behalf the military aid of the United States was sought, made France, as organized when she went to war and until she surrendered, as rotten as

If the Petain Government is merely Hitler's servant, and that is a reasonable belief, this country was expected to feel increased sympathetic interest in France when Petain was called into emergency service as a commander, and as a matter of fact he was unfit for anyone's favorable consideration.

Feet of American soldiers would have, at all events, sunk deep in a quaky bog had the United States been sufficiently prepared to go to the aid of France in May, or earlier; if she had gone to war, motivated by quixotic loyalty to European democracy, of by hope of making the Maginot Line American democracy's first line of defense against European totalitarianism.

Would France, as organized, have been worth one pint of American blood between September, 1939, and June, 1940?

Would repetition of this country's 1917-18 military adventure in France have been anything but involvement in vast tragedy without chance for good results?—Louisville Times.

Today's Oddity

Brunswick, Me.—Enter this one in the super service department.

Aviator Frank Simpson saw a house on a country road, swooped low over a neighbors house and shouted the news, urging his audience to call the fire department.

They did, and the department extinguished the blaze.

Wichita Fall, Tex.—Ten-year-old Virginia Gregory responded to the cries of brother James, 5, and found a cat-like animal under the kitchen table.

Thinking it was an opossum, she choked it to death. It turned out to be a skunk.

Chicago.—Mrs. Roland K. Smith spent a day recently beside the pool of a private club, alternately taking a dip and penning notes to friends. Then she gave the club a check.

A few days later a bank official phoned and inquired if she had made out a check to the club. "Why, yes," said Mrs. Smith. "What's wrong?"

"Well," replied the banker, "you signed the check 'affectionately Martha.'"

SOUTHERN TURKEY SHOW PLANNED FOR KENTUCKY

Plans for an "all-southern" turkey show at Lexington in December were announced at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Kentucky Turkey Breeders' Association. Ralph Lusby of Owenton was named show manager. He will be assisted by John Lantz, Middletown; Mrs. Anna J. Buton, Glasgow; Mrs. J. Leslie Brown, Paris, and W. E. McCauley and E. Y. Van Deren, Cynthiana.

Mrs. Charles Irion of Frankfort, general secretary of the association, reported progress in plans for cooperative marketing of turkeys this year.

In South America last year is characteristic of the man. Without fanfare, without ostentation, Secretary Hull walked into the meeting, saying, "Howdy, folks. I'm Hull of the United States." Hull of the United States is quite a man.

Snake Kills Boy, Slays Teacher

Sao Paulo, Brazil — Soon after a school teacher in the village of Oleo had locked a misbehaving pupil in the basement, she heard him crying out that he was being attacked by a huge snake.

Not believing him, the teacher went on with her classwork. Later, she found the child dead in the coils of a serpent.

Learning of the tragedy, the boy's father ran to the school and, after gazing in horror at the gruesome spectacle, he pulled out a revolver and shot the school mistress dead.

MRS. JOHN E. BARD
HONORED ON ANNIVERSARY

Eleven members of the Sew and So Club and five visitors were entertained yesterday afternoon with a pot-luck dinner and party at the home of Mrs. Joe Armstrong on West street. The affair was planned in special compliment to Mrs. John E. Bard, celebrating her wedding anniversary.

The guests arrived at 11 o'clock and were invited into Mrs. Bard's beautifully decorated dining room. The dinner was served cafeteria style and the guests were seated at card tables. The dining table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth and centered with a huge bouquet of snapdragons. On each end tall tapers burned in crystal holders. A profusion of vari-colored garden flowers were tastefully arranged about the dining room and living room. The cake, made by Mrs. Thomas Browder, was very attractively decorated.

After the dining they went into the living room where Mrs. Bard was surprised with a lovely rose chintz bedspread. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in games of bingo and those winning prizes for the club members were Mrs. W. D. Holloway, high, and Mrs. Boyce Dumas, low. Among the visitors high score was made by Mrs. Irving Bard and Mrs. Will Moss, low.

Those present were: Mesdames Bard, Armstrong, Dumas, Holloway, Thomas Browder, Harry M. Latta, W. D. Holloway, Carl Puckett, H. I. Cheatham, Kenneth Watt, Parrish, Roy Bard, and Louie Bard, all club members, and the following visitors: Mrs. Bard, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Matthew DeMyer, and Mrs. Herman Holloway of Memphis.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday with Mrs. Harry M. Latta, south of town.

LODGESTON CLUB HAD FISH FRY

The beautiful and spacious lawn of the Lodgeston Homemakers Club house was the scene of a fish fry for the members, their families and guests Saturday night, July 27, from 6 to 9 o'clock. An enormous amount of fish was the table feature. Entertainment consisted of games.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hill, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. UNION PRESBYTERIAN
MEETING LAST WEEK

The Ladies' Aid Society of Union C. P. Church met last week with Mrs. Clyde Burnett at her home with the vice-president, Mrs. C. R. Burnett, presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. C. Lawson. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Clarice Bondurant and other routine business was transacted. Twelve members answered the roll call with five visitors and one new member, Mrs. Jim Daws. The Aid meeting closed with a song and the meeting was turned over to the Missionary Society, presided over by Mrs. C. R. Burnett, president. After the opening prayer a vocal duet was enjoyed, "Tread Softly" by Mrs. Daisie Bondurant and Mrs. Burnett.

A beautiful and inspiring scripture, taken from John 14 and 15, was read. Study work was given by Mrs. Clyde Burnett and Mrs. Elbert Bondurant. A poem which was very spiritual was read by Mrs. Herbert Howell. The pledge service was directed by Mrs. Burnett, with each one present taking part by telling "what is needed to carry on the work of God." The closing meditation was a hymn, "Take My Life."

WARNS WPA WORKERS OF HATCH VIOLATIONS

Louisville, Ky.,—George H. Goodman, state WPA director, warned Kentucky Works Progress Administration employees today against possible Hatch Act violations in the August primary.

The act deals with political activities of federal employees.

"There is no change in the policy of WPA relating to right to exercise the voting franchise," Goodman said, adding, "every citizen has a right to vote for any candidate he selects."

Goodman said that if project schedules work to prevent WPA employees from voting, he must be given time off, to be made up later.

BRITISH ARS NOT
COWARDLY, SAYS NAZIS

Berlin.—A note of reluctant admiration for Britain's stout resistance appeared yesterday in the German press even while the Nazi bombers renewed their deadly attacks on the Island Empire and the High Command reported fresh destruction of British merchant shipping and men of war.

Adolf Hitler's own Voelkischer

Beobachter, conceded that the invasion "will be anything but a pleasant stroll through the countryside."

"Englishmen and Seamen are not cowardly," said the paper, "and no doubt will defend themselves courageously."

However, the Boersen Zeitung found what it described as a fatal weakness in the haste with which England is trying to "improvise" its national defenses, and insisted ominously that the real attack on Britain had not yet begun.

LITTLE POTATOES
POISON LIVESTOCK

Several cases of animals poisoned by potato vines or by the little green potatoes seen on top the ground at digging time, have come to the attention of the department of animal pathology at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Potato tops when wilted about digging time are known to be poisonous to stock. Turning livestock into the patch after digging sometimes results in the loss of hogs from eating the little green potatoes.

TIME MARCHES ON!

Yes, we believe TIME is truly one essential in the building of a satisfactory enterprise. It's true that some business firms seem to spring up over night, while others grow into their own along the lines of progress.

July marks our 32nd. Anniversary. Maybe that doesn't sound like such a record; but in the milling business, 32 years is a mighty long "grind." Of course, there's been some change since 1908, but the principles upon which this business was founded are as unchanging as the name itself.

Rail Workers Assured More Idle Benefits

Washington.—The Senate approved larger unemployment benefits for railroad workers Monday in accepting a number of amendments to the 1938 act establishing a Federal system of railroad unemployment insurance.

The amendments, which will affect nearly 1,000,000 railroad workers, were approved after the chamber rejected a substitute sponsored by Senator Gurney (R., S. D.), and other Republicans. This sought to increase unemployment benefits slightly while reducing unemployment taxes upon railroads when the insurance reserve reached specified levels.

Larger Benefits Asked

The larger benefits were urged by Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), who asserted that a $150,000,000 reserve fund already had been accumulated.

Senator Wagner contended that average weekly payments of $7 to unemployed railroad workers under the Federal Act were "inadequate," and below an average of $10 weekly for State unemployment programs. "These additional benefits can be provided without one cent of additional taxes on the railroads," he added.

LOUISVILLE NOW IS NATION'S 24TH CITY

Washington.—Louisville, Ky., is the nation's 24th largest city, according to preliminary census figures, with a population of 318,713 as compared with 307,745 in 1930.

New York is the largest with 3,802,599 and Chicago second with 3,384,556.

The list of the first 25 generally includes the same cities as in 1930, but 13 of them have different ranks than 10 years ago.

Houston, Texas and Denver, Colo., made the grade for the first time, crowding out Jersey City, N. J., and Portland, Ore. Houston claimed the biggest jump, from 26th to 21st. Jersey City had the worst fall of the big cities from 23rd to 30th, but Washington, D. C., registered the SELECTION of people for jobs is in itself a job. Human nature being what it is, and being variable in both the interviewer and the person interviewed, it is no wonder that there are almost as many methods of selecting employees as there are employers. While it is possible to determine physical capacity, it is not so easy to penetrate within the individual and to learn what he has that will enable him to fill a particular position satisfactorily.

Many firms use questionnaires and tests of various kinds in the selection of employees. These tests and questionnaires are not devised to find fault with a person's knowledge, but rather to disclose how well he is prepared for a certain kind of work. The individual is the supreme consideration. Ten men with a similar educational and social background may apply for the same kind of position. If all are hired, it will be found that a few will not be suited to the work and that one or more will definitely turn out to be square pegs in round holes.

The matter of selecting employees, however, is not as important as the training of them. Many businesses frankly state that new employees need not be experienced in any particular line of work. These concerns prefer to train new workers themselves, provided the employees have certain desirable qualifications with which to begin. While it is true that many firms conduct group training plans, such plans only provide a limited amount of instruction. Extensive training is today as in the past the individual's own problem.

Nassau Sees Ducal Boom

Nassau, Bahamas.—Business men here are hoping the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will prove the attraction to revive tourist trade to this British colony.

When the new governor-general arrives with Baltimore-born Wallis he will find the colony on the wrong side of a long series of ups and downs. Tourist business has suffered a sharp drop since the European war started.

Islanders believe dowagers, debs and American tourists will come to see the former British King and the woman for whose love he quit the throne. Not since prohibition rays have the Bahamas prepared for such a lush season as may be expected.

The colony's social and business life is built around the governor and his lady, upon whose activity depends largely the activities of the island.

Publicity Assured

The Winsors opened such spontaneous new avenues of publicity that the Nassau press agent, upon hearing of the Duke's appointment, hastened to cancel his clipping service for fear he'd never be able to pay for clippings of all stories appearing in the American press about the Duke and his new job.

Gish Sisters On Stage Together After 39 Years

Chicago.—Lillian and Dorothy Gish appeared on the stage together Saturday for the first time in thirty-nine years, and audience didn't know it. Dorothy had been here visiting her sister, who has the leading feminine role in "Life With Father."

A member of the cast became ill and Dorothy stepped onto the stage at the last moment, playing the part of a maid. She was unannounced and the audience apparently did not recognize her.

The early stage play in which they appeared together, as small girls, was "Her First False Step," in 1901.

EXPERIMENT STATION MEETING EXPECTED TO ATTRACT CROWDS

Plans are being made to accommodate large numbers of farmers and other persons at the meetings at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington August 7, at the Western Kentucky Experiment Station at Princeton August 9, and at the Robinson Experiment Station at Quicksand August 10.

A large amount of experimental work is under way at these Experiment Stations, testing different kinds of hay and pasture crops, including clovers, alfalfa, bluegrass, orchard grass and soybeans. Extensive work also is being done with tobacco and hybrid corn. Then there are rotation experiments, and tests of limestone and phosphate and other ways of building up the soil and maintaining fertility.

At Princeton, farmers will see how worn-out soils were made to produce good grass, and how such land can be made profitable pasture for cattle and other livestock.

MUCH WORK HAS BEEN DONE AT THE Substation to learn how good grass can be grown in the various properties of the State. Notable results have been obtained all over the State in increasing hay yields and in improving pastures.

The possibilities in growing more hay and grass, and in raising more and better livestock, as a means to improving farm incomes and also to build and preserve soil fertility, will be stressed at all meetings.

'WARTIME JITTERS' ARE BLAMED FOR INCREASE IN TRAFFIC FATALITIES

Chicago.—"Wartime jitter" the war's psychological effects on American motorists were held partly responsible today for a sharp increase in the nation's traffic deaths.

Reporting an 8 per cent increase in traffic deaths for the first half of 1940 compared with the same period last year, the National Safety council attributed the rise to greater travel and "wartime jitter."

THAT WAS 10,740 persons killed in motor accidents during the first six months of 1940, or 1,040 more than the same period in 1939.

The council found that traffic deaths began to increase sharply almost simultaneously with the outbreak of war and that the rise reached a peak in June when 1,900 persons died.

The June death toll of 2,280 was 19 per cent greater than that of June, 1939 and the largest for any month since March 1937.

GERMAN PRISONER WHO JUMPED SHIP, SWAM TO U. S. SAFE FROM BRITONS

Bangor, Me.—The first German war prisoner to make a swimming escape to the United States while en route to internment in Canada was saved by international law today from being handed back to his enemies.

But 25-year-old Kurt Riech, a captured submarine mechanic's mate, was held in the county jail for deportation action. After he leaped overboard from a British prison ship in the St. Lawrence river July 15 and swam to safety, a U. S. border patrol seized him at the Maine border.

Attorney Arthur Teale of Boston had him freed of illegal entry charges under an international law holding that a neutral power receiving escaped prisoners of war shall allow them liberty.

SAY KENTUCKY NEEDS MORE SMALL FRUITS

Some one is passing up a good opportunity to grow raspberries for local consumption, according to a statement of Prof. A. J. Olney and W. W. Magill in a new Kentucky College of Agriculture circular called "Raspberry Culture in Kentucky." Not enough raspberries are grown to supply the local demand in most sections of the state, they declare. Another circular, written by Prof. C. S. Waltman, deals with cherry growing.

Safer Capital

Washington. — President Roosevelt cruised up the Potomac River toward the Capital today, convinced by a study of defense operations around Norfolk, Va., that Washington could "feel a whole lot safer" a year from now.

At the moment, the Chief Executive informed newspaper men, he feels the success of an attempt to invade the Capital, as the British did in the war of 1812, would "depend entirely on when it came and who it was" making the attack. Roosevelt put in seven hours under a scorching sun yesterday looking over defense installations at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay, the water route to Washington. He said similar inspections of additional Navy yards, Army forts and air bases might be expected.

The statement emphasized a belief of many politicians that such visits might afford opportunity during the election campaign for expression of his views on defense and aligned problems.

Aid To Migrants
By U. S. Urged

New York. — Federal money grants to States to help finance resettlement of destitute migratory workers was advocated today by Assemblyman James J. Wadsworth of Genesee, N. Y., testifying before a special congressional committee investigating interstate migration. Care of transients costs New York State approximately $3,000,000 annually, he said, adding, "This figure does not begin to cover the costs which we bear for the care of persons . . . who are in hospitals, institutions and elsewhere.

"This is a national question," he asserted, "and the longer the States individually are expected to handle it, the more complicated and costly it will become."

Wadsworth expressed the opinion that the States should contribute about 25 per cent of the cost of rehabilitating transients in their jurisdiction.

STATE'S BUILDINGS
LANDS IS CREATED

Franfort, Ky. — An engineering and construction division in the finance department to supervise planning, construction, operation and maintenance of public lands and buildings has been created by Gov. Keen Johnson.

Ralph C. Wyatt, welfare department chief engineer, and his staff of approximately 60 were transferred to the new duties under Johnson's order, which extends Wyatt's previous authority over welfare department buildings to all those except the ones under the State Highway Department.

The Governor's order was issued under authority of a 1940 Act which transferred the "new lands and buildings" supervision from the welfare to the finance department. It specified the new division to coordinate its work with that of the division of purchases and public property.

Wyatt said that since the new division will have welfare department construction, operation and maintenance under its supervision, there would be no replacement in that department.

FURNACE ADDS INSULT TO INJURY AT BENTON

Benton, Ky. — Aggrieved because thermometers in the Marshall county courthouse registered 103 degrees while those in the sunny streets showed a "cool" 99, heat-besieged occupants of the building investigated and found that:

1. Jailer Java Gregory, wishing to dispose of some scrap paper, had put it in the courthouse furnace.
2. Some of the building's radiators hadn't been turned off since the last cold spell.
3. The heat was pouring forth.

Final Jackson Game Is Washout By Heavy Rain Here Last Night

The final game between Jackson and Fulton was washed out last night and will be played at some future time when Jackson comes to town. The two teams broke even in two games played.

Tonight the Hopkinsville team comes to town. On the last meeting of the two teams the Hoppers won three straight, and of the total won this half a majority of the victories came over the Tigers. If the local team can win three from the Hoppers this week it will give them a firm hold on seventh place, to which they are barely clinging at present.

The Hoppers will be here for three nights.

LEWIS PREDICTS NEW PARTY; FIRES BROADSIDES AT OLD

St. Louis, —Skirting any mention of the coming presidential campaign, John L. Lewis CIO president, declared yesterday both major political parties had failed to face the problems of unemployment and inadequate income for millions of Americans.

Lewis said there were 10,700,000 unemployed in the country, including 3,500,000 young men and women between the ages of 19 and 24, and a national study of 29,000,000 families had shown that 19,000,000 "subsist on a family income of $69 a month."

Speaking at the convention of the United Automobile Workers of America, second largest union in CIO Lewis said:

"Some day the people of this country are going to lose confidence in the existing political parties to such an extent that they are going to form their own party."

That, he added, was "for the future to develop."

Lewis denounced proposals for universal compulsory military training and demanded that the Government "refrain from giving its business to concerns that deny the rights of labor."

"I wonder," he commented, "if in our zeal to protect our country from the shadow of Hitler, we are not using some of Hitler's methods that will in the end prescribe our civil liberties and create social conditions and unrest to the point that will bring about the very bad conditions we are trying to escape."

RUMANIA WILL NOT YIELD TERRITORY

Bucharest, — Foreign Minister Mihail Manolescu expressed today the Rumanian government's determination to keep Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims "within certain limits"—by the use of force if necessary.

In a declaration after a cabinet meeting which had discussed Adolf Hitler's talks with Manolescu and Premier Gurgutu in Salzburg, the foreign minister said Rumania was determined not to permit further

The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston
Dean, Schools of Business
International Correspondence Schools

THE youth who for the past several years has been eagerly awaiting an opportunity to get ahead on the job should take a self-inventory now. The state of affairs which has developed recently in the United States as the result of the war in Europe means that more and more highly trained people will be needed by business and industry. There will be no great number of new types of jobs, but there will be an increased demand for skilled and trained persons.

Of course, it is not possible for the youth to acquire great skill and technical training overnight, but he can begin a program of study and self-improvement which will make him a decided factor in the nation's plan of preparedness and self-defense. With the steadily increasing tempo of business, jobs will appear and he who has the necessary training and background will be given the first call.

Our great factories and plants are beginning to hum with activity and thousands of men who have been "marking time" until they could get back to a regular job, are returning to work. Some of these men, many, in fact, have gone into other fields of work. There will be a certain number of vacancies at the bottom of the scale, but the great demand will be for men with special training. Here is the chance that the young man with ambition has been seeking—the chance to show what he can do with the knowledge he has been acquiring. Much depends upon these young men in this hour of concern for our American way of life.

loss of this country's territory in the manner by which Russia took Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina. His remarks were interpreted in diplomatic quarters as meaning that the government was determined to drive with Hungary and Bulgaria a hard bargain in the forthcoming negotiations with those countries—negotiations to be held at Hitler's orders.

Dead Are Picketed As Grave Diggers Strike For Raise

Detroit — Thirty-five striking grave diggers, bearing placards, picketed Woodmore Cemetery, one of the city's largest burial grounds, today. The striking members of the United Cemetery Workers-C. I. O.

demanding higher wages and vacation with pay.

John W. Gibson, State C. I. O. secretary, said about eighty of the eighty-five maintenance men and grave diggers employed in the cemetery belong to the union. None of the sixty-one grave diggers appeared for work this morning as the strike began.

Americans Lose Taste For Grits And Cornbread

Washington, —Americans are fast losing their taste for two native dishes—hominy grits and cornbread.

Twenty-five years ago, upward of 200,000,000 bushels of corn were required annually for processing corn meal, corn flour and grits for table use. The Agriculture Department reported today that in recent years only 50,000,000 bushels have been needed. Consumption of these products, it said, is now confined largely to the South.

ARGUMENTS INVOLVING STATE FAIR'S FUTURE TO BE RESUMED TODAY

Frankfort, Ky. —With the future of the 1940 Kentucky State Fair admittedly hanging in the balance, further efforts for reconsideration of a temporary injunction against sale of $300,000 State Fair bonds are to be resumed tomorrow.

This was decided late today after a Louisville underwriting firm expressed unwillingness to bid on only $200,000 of the issue, which three members of the Court of Appeals indicated they would approve. Judge Will H. Fulton and Gus Thomas said the other third of the issue would be "illegal."

Today's arguments were in an effort to have the judges reconsider the injunction which five of them issued yesterday against selling the entire issue, pending a hearing of the merits of the case before the whole court, now in vacation.

Two-thirds of the issue, authorized by the 1940 Legislature, would be sold to match federal building funds in a building program, and the other third for a "continuing" fund designed to end annual appropriations for the fair.

FORD WARNS AGAINST INDIFFERENCE ON HIS 77TH BIRTHDAY

Detroit, —Henry Ford who has sometimes been called the world's leading optimist as well as one of its outstanding mechanical geniuses observed his 77th birthday anniversary today with a normal routine interrupted only long enough for him to reiterate his conviction that the future will bring a prosperity "greater than any we have known in the past."

"It will come," he said, "when we all realize that the things worth while and the things worth having are worth working for."

"The cost to society of a philosophy of indifference and carelessness has been strikingly demonstrated in what has happened to certain European nations in the last few months. It is of the utmost importance to our own future that we avoid falling into that same attitude."

WESTERN NATIONS ARE WARNED TO COOPERATE TO PROTECT INTERESTS

San Francisco, —Nations of the western hemisphere were told today they must stand together to protect their imperilled foreign trade, or risk having their economic destinies fall under control of conquering totalitarian powers.

The imminent danger of current wars resulting in a regrouping of European and Asiatic countries into a few economic regions each arbitrarily dominated by a totalitarian nation or bloc, was the major problem concerning the national foreign trade convention.

"It is clear that the countries of this hemisphere cannot afford to stand idly by and let their economic destinies be controlled by external forces of an arbitrary character," asserted Edward J. Noble, under-secretary of commerce.
